Snow Hits Wide Area In South

Warnings Given For Cold Wave Over Mid-West

By UNITED PRESS

Bitter winter storms gripped parts of the nation Saturday night, plunging midwestern temperatures below zero and imperiling eastern seaboard states with pileups of snow and ice.

A new cold wave, possibly the worst of the season, threatened the midlands with temperatures down to 35 degrees below zero while another snow-laden storm raced up the seaboard states from the lower Appalachian Mountain area.

The Weather Bureau in Washington warned motorists of hazardous 8-to-12-inch snow and heavy drifts from New England as far south as Virginia and predicted gales and heavy seas along the East Coast.

The toll of weather - caused deaths rose to 169, a United Press count showed.

Reports showed New York had 26 deaths, Oklahoma 19, New England 16, Ohio 14, Texas 12, Indiana 10, Illinois 8, Pennsylvania, Virginia and North Carolina 7 each, Michigan and Mississippi 6 apiece, South Carolina and Tennessee 5 each, Colorado, Missouri and Iowa 4 each, Minnesota 3, Maryland 2, and 1 each in Alabama, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Georgia.

35 Below Predicted

Northwesterly winds of 20 to 35 miles per hour shoved a cold front through the northern and central plains. Lows of 25 to 35 degrees below were expected across North Dakota.

The temperature fell to 14 below zero at International Falls, Minn., at midday.

Another storm moved northeastward up the seaboard at 45 miles per hour from eastern North Carolina.

Much of the deep South, already snow-blanketed, was immobilized by a hard freeze that followed a daytime thaw, causing a rash of traffic pileups and making scores of thoroughfares impassable.

Another Florida Freeze

The cold air from Canada was expected to sweep as far southward as Florida, hitting the peninsular with its sixth damaging freeze of the winter.

Many roads in the uplands of Alabama, the Carolinas and Ten-

Kuwait, Bahrein May Join With New Arab Union

AMMAN, Jordan (UP)—The oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikdoms of Kuwait and Bahrein may join the new Iraqi-Jordanian Arab Federal Union, informed sources said Saturday.

The two small countries would add greatly to the oil supply controlled by the new union. Saudi Arabia, although standing aloof from actual membership, has given the federation its blessing.

Kuwait is nestled at the southeast corner of Iraq. Bahrein is an island about 200 miles further southeast in the gulf.

Both have tremendous oil resources but their membership in the federation still would not break the supply line monopoly exercised by the Egyptian-Syrian United Arab Republic.

Most of the present oil pipe lines lie across Syria. Egypt controls the cheapest tanker shipping route—the Suez Canal.

Plans to break this supply line grip call for pipelines through Israel and Turkey.

Copies of the federation signed into being by King Hussein of Jordan and King Feisal of Iraq were distributed to all foreign diplomatic missions here Saturday.

A stream of diplomats visited the palace to offer congratulations.

Saturday and Sunday were declared national holidays in Jordan to celebrate the federation and the streets of Amman were jammed with crowds dressed in their Sunday best.

Knowland Opposes Use Of GOP Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said today he is opposed to acceptance by the GOP Congressional Campaign Committees of any of the $100,000 raised at Houston, Tex., dinner last week.

At the same time Sen. Williams (R-Del) said he thinks reaction to the methods used by Texas GOP National Committeeman H. J. Porter in staging the affair may force a Senate showdown on Williams' proposal to cut the oil depreciation allowance from 27½ to 15 per cent.

Atlas Launching Attempt Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—The Air Force failed in an attempt to launch the sixth intercontinental Atlas Saturday because of last-second "technical difficulties."

The trouble may have been failure of one of the big bird's engines to ignite properly. From distant beaches fire appeared to belch from only one side of the Atlas when the firing button was pushed.

The 100-ton missile apparently was undamaged. It still sat on its launching pad, gleaming impressively in the sun, after the smoke and steam from the aborted launching attempt drifted away.

There was no official word on what had gone wrong. In a statement, the Air Force said only that the flight test was postponed "after encountering technical difficulties immediately prior to launch."

"The test conductor cut off the engines when instrumentation indicated a possible malfunction. There was no apparent damage to the missile, which was rescheduled for firing in the near future."

Just when the next launching attempt will be made probably will not be announced.

Bad weather may have held up for a time Saturday's test of the 5,500-mile range Atlas, which has flown twice successfully and run into trouble on its other three flights.

Thick, low-hanging clouds swept over the cape while the Atlas was being readied and blotted the missile from view most of the morning. But skies cleared early in the afternoon.

For an hour before launch time,

Jes' Ramblin'

Gideons

In this war-torn world one of the movements for the betterment of mankind is that of The Gideons. This group, formed by Christian traveling men back in the last year of the past century, was organized in Janesville, Wis. Today it has encircled the globe. The chief purpose is to place a Bible in every hotel room and up to now two million have been distributed.

The Twin Cities the past week and ending today in local churches have been hosts to an interstate convention with delegations from Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Members go about their religious work in quiet yet highly forceful manner. Visiting members will fill a number of pulpits today in the Twin Cities, where they will preach straightforward, unvarnished truths in which religion is concerned.

Judging from the unprecedented crime wave that is attacking society today, especially as concerns teen-agers as well as adults, it appears that The Gideons can do a job that is of vital need to society.

Thanks

Jes' Ramblin' wishes to return sincere thanks for a rather unusual courtesy that was accorded by the up and ever stirring Pilot Club here. They are ever doing something where there is opportunity to lend a helping hand. At the meeting held recently

'Spaceman' Nears His 'Home Planet'

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—Airman Donald G. Farrell, cheerful and obviously pleased with himself, was bringing his mythical space ship back close to earth today.

If the few final hours go well the blond 23-year-old volunteer will step from an experimental space cabin at nearby Randolph Air Force Base at 9:35 a.m. CST tomorrow after seven days of make-believe space travel.

"There is no doubt in our minds that Farrell will come through with flying colors," Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine at Randolph, told a press briefing today. "Air force colors, of course."

"His voice sounded very cheerful today after he awakened. Ever since midnight he has appeared satisfied with himself that he has put on a good show."

Other than the apparent cheery tone in Farrell's voice, Steinkamp said the six-foot, 185-pound airman had made no outward sign this morning as he completed his sixth weary and lonesome day in the hermetically sealed steel chamber.

Steinkamp said Farrell's big crisis came yesterday. Throughout the day and until midnight he showed serious signs of increasing fatigue. His reactions became slower and judgment poorer in solving the experimental space travel problems flashed to him on a closed circuit television screen.

"We had expected the fatigue, but we were worried," Steinkamp said. "Then he slept from about 10 p.m. until midnight. Surprisingly he perked up. His discrimination and judgment were better. He did not skip any tasks. Our hopes soared."

Steinkamp said space scientists were "very enthusiastic" over expected results of the seven-day test. He predicted it would take about 60 days to correlate findings. Tentative findings of the experi-

Gunman Robs Grocery On DeSiard St.

A masked Negro gunman robbed a grocery clerk here last night while nervously holding several customers at bay, the clerk told police. Time of the robbery was shortly after 8:30 p.m.

H. M. Hildabridle, 49, operator of the Home Ice Store at 2309 DeSiard St., said the Negro took $30 from a cash register, and four dollars from his wallet. The gunman then fled south on 24th Street. Hildabridle said he was afraid to shoot at the robber because a cafe directly across DeSiard Street would be in line of fire.

The victim told investigators only he and a 9-year-old boy were in the combination grocery-ice plant when the Negro appeared and ordered the register opened. "This is a stick-up," Hildabridle quoted his assailant as saying.

Ordering Hildabridle to open the cash drawer, the gunman crouched behind a counter "acting very nervous," the clerk said.

Description

Hildabridle described the holdup as follows: "After I had opened the cash box, a Negro customer appeared and the armed Negro ordered him to stand aside. Shortly afterwards, a Negro woman appeared outside, and was ordered to come in. I told her to stay outside and she was allowed to do so after being ordered to lower her hands from over her head.

"After he cleaned the register of about $30, he took four dollars from my wallet. Then I was ordered to the rear of the store and the man fled.

"Grabbing a pistol from behind the counter, I ran outside and ordered him to halt but he disappeared around the corner of 24th Street headed south."

Stassen To Run For Governor In Pa.; Quits Post

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UP) — President Eisenhower Saturday enthusiastically accepted the resignation of his disarmament adviser, Harold E. Stassen who plans to run for governor of Pennsylvania on the Republican ticket.

The President did not fire Stassen, but the chief executive certainly bade the former governor of Minnesota a definitive farewell.

Stassen has been on the political firing line for some months. He has been building his political fences in Pennsylvania, trying to line up support for the forthcoming Pennsylvania primary.

Stassen telephoned the President here Friday, reaching Eisenhower at the Piney Woods Plantation of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

Full Of Praise

The President and Stassen agreed that Stassen should leave the White House staff if the balding former governor is to pursue his political ambitions.

The President, in accepting Stassen's resignation effective immediately, was full of praise for Stassen. The President, however, stopped short of endorsing him for governor.

Stassen bucked the Eisenhower "team" in 1956 by vocally advocating the nomination of Christian A. Herter, now the undersecretary of state, for vice president over

Prospects Bright For Pleasant Day

Prospects of a pleasant Sunday were voiced last night by the weather man. Today the skies should be generally fair, with slightly warmer weather than the Twin Cities have had for several days.

FAIR and WARMER

Tomorrow the mercury will rise even higher, and some cloudiness is expected.

High reading yesterday was 40 and the low was 34. The Friday high was the same, with the low 31.

Arkansas will also have a fair, pleasant Sunday, with increased clouds and warming temperatures tomorrow.

Report Major Crisis Among German Reds

BERLIN, Feb. 15 (AP)—East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl tonight was reported to have split with Communist party chief Walter Ulbricht in protest against th recent purge of so-called liberal Communist leaders.

Usually reliable Eastern sources said Grotewohl left East Berlin this week after defying seriously for the first time the Stalinist dictator he has served for eight years as government front man.

Officially, the 64-year-old Grotewohl is supposed to have chosen the moment of a major government reshuffle to leave for several weeks vacation. But underground reports persisted that he actually had left East Berlin in hopes of going to Moscow to plead the case of the purged leaders.

In Bonn, the West German capital, the press service of the Socialist party quoted underground sources as saying Grotewohl's departure at this time made it nearly certain he had fallen into disgrace.

Faces Breakdown

East Berlin sources said Ulbricht was facing a major breakdown in the governing machinery of the German state as a result of his dispute with Grotewohl and confusion stemming from last week's purge. To deal with the crisis, the party boss summoned a secret meeting Monday of the East Berlin Activists—the party organization embracing key Communist officials, the informants said.

Then Ulbricht hastened to Thuringia to whip local party organizations into line, they added, and trusted lieutenants were sent to

Missing Gretna Boy Is Located

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)—A missing Gretna boy has been found in Spokane, Wash., with a woman involved in a morals charge against his father, the FBI reported today.

Ray Abbaticcho Jr., agent in charge of the FBI office here, said four-year-old Walter Keith Hurtt Jr., was found after the arrest of his father in Spokane last night.

The 29 - year - old father was charged with transporting a woman across state lines for immoral purposes, the FBI said, and the child was found at the home of the woman. The FBI did not identify her.

Abbaticcho said the arrest followed letters to the child's grandfather George Rayner owner of a Gretna furniture store managed by Hurtt. He said the letter asked if Rayner would pay $18,250 to find his grandson and Hurtt.

The woman mailed the letters to Rayner, Abbaticcho said. He did not say who wrote them.

The FBI said Hurtt is charged with taking the woman from New Orleans to Tampa, Fla., for immoral purposes.

Hurtt and his son disappeared Dec. 7 and on Jan. 3 Rayner received an anonymous letter postmarked in Tampa, Abbaticcho said. The proposals involved communication through newspaper ads and setting up a bank account in Spokane with a $19,000 cashier's check, he said.

The writer said Hurtt would leave the country if Rayner did not comply.

France Agrees To Mediation

PARIS (UP)—France agreed Saturday to let the United States mediate its dispute with Tunisia. But it declined to withdraw its U. N. Security Council action against the North African country.

Tunisia, in turn, relaxed the pressure on the 16,000 French soldiers garrisoned on Tunisian soil and permitted civilian trucks to supply them with food.

Emile Claparede, secretary of state for information, announced after a cabinet meeting that "the good offices of the United States are accepted."

He made it clear that France was agreeing to mediation, not arbitration.

In Washington, U.S. officials quickly welcomed the announcement. They said the United States had no wish to act as arbitrator, but merely as a go-between.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba previously had indicated he would accept U.S. mediation. It appeared that American diplomats would start working on the dispute over the weekend. They already have been working behind the scenes to prevent a major conflict.

Would Drop It

Bourguiba said Thursday he would drop his U.N. Security Council action against France for the bombing last Saturday of Sakiet Sidi Youssef if France agreed to American mediation.

But France filed its own charges Friday night, asking the Security Council to condemn Tunisia for aiding Algerian rebels, and Claparede said it appeared that a coun-

Senator Raps Air Force For Slow Decisions

WASHINGTON (UP) —A Senator's attack on what he called Air Force "lack of decision" led Saturday to disclosure of plans for an 18,000-mile-an-hour manned rocket ship.

Air Force sources said they hope the craft, called the X15B, will put the first man into orbit around the earth and bring him back safely.

It would be an advanced version of the X15 rocket ship which the Air Force and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) plan to fly 100 miles above the earth at about 4,000 miles an hour early next year.

Sen. Dennis M. Chavez (D-N.M.) chairman of the Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee, revealed in a statement Saturday that he was briefed last October by the Air Force on plans for an X15B "manned recoverable space vehicle." Four months later, he said, Air Force chiefs still have not given the go-ahead to the project.

Chavez cited this as an example

New Orleans Again In Carnival Mood

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP) — Carnival parades took to the streets of New Orleans today with temperatures in the low 40s. Two carnival organizations paraded during the day and one at night, when a possible freeze was expected.

The Krewe of Babylon presented its "scenes from Operas" along St. Charles Ave. and Canal Street and past the city's new civic center. Spectators lined the route and competed to catch trinkets thrown by members of the krewe, or sponsoring organization.

Across the Mississippi River the Krewe of Grela paraded through the Algiers section of New Orleans and the small municipality of Gretna telling the story of "The Magic Key."

King of Grela was Mayor William White of Gretna. The name of the Babylon king is not revealed.

Babylon, postponed from Wednesday because of snow and unseasonal weather, had a dry day this time.

Adonis had a night parade. Six other organizations—Thoth, Choctaw, Mid-City, Venus, Zeus and Freret were scheduled to roll tomorrow.

All could hope for good weather, despite earlier cancellations because of rain and snow.

Only Tuesday, which is Mardi Gras, can expect to see more parades than tomorrow. Seven parades will take place then. Two parades are on schedule for Monday.

While the street celebrations attracted much interest, the carnival organizations also were busy with private costume balls and parties.

Weathermen predicted temperatures would go to a low of 30-34 degrees during the night. A warming trend was expected to set in tomorrow, with some rain predicted for Monday and clearing skies for the big holiday.

Bloody War Possibility As Result

PADANG, Sumatra (UP) — Anti - Communist Indonesia rebels Saturday night proclaimed a revolutionary government exercising "full sovereignty" over Indonesia. But they promised to step aside if President Sukarno named a new government free of Reds.

The rebel proclamation which risked plunging the island republic into bloody civil war, also demanded that Sukarno repudiate his concept of "guided democracy" admitting Communists to the government.

The rebels announced the swearing in of Sjafruddin Prawiranegara, a former president of the Bank of Indonesia, as premier and named Bukittinggi in central Sumatra as the new seat of government.

Sukarno, whose Jakarta regime rejected a five-day rebel ultimatum on Monday to rid itself of Communists, was flying home from a "health" vacation.

The rebel forces said they would step aside if and when assured Sukarno will return to a constitutional position and name a new Djakarta government under anti-Communist former Vice President Mohammed Hatta.

40,000 Witness Ceremony

Forty thousand persons witnessed the swearing in of Sjafriddin and his cabinet outside the broad-columned porch of the government mansion in Padang. The crowd cheered when the financier said:

"We are confident we will win. "We have talked, talked, now we must act."

Sjafruddin told the crowd that he was not leading a separatist movement and added:

"Our present struggle is not a struggle between the outer region and the central government, not a separatist movement to disrupt the integrity of the republic of Indonesia but on the contrary, it is a struggle to establish a just and prosperous Indonesian state based on the belief in God Almighty."

In Singapore, a spokesman for the revolutionary forces, charged that Abdul Haris Nasutin, chief of staff for the Jakarta regime, wants war and warned that the revolutionaries "will meet force with force."

He said Nasution had played a role of "divide and rule" in hopes of splitting the revolutionaries but that he was "indulging in wishful, thinking and the sooner he realizes the foolishness and danger of his policy the better for the country."

The cabinet ministers, most of them non-party members and residents of oil and rubber-rich Sumatra, were sworn in according to their faiths.

Crowd Roars Approval

The crowd roared approval as Lt. Col. Ahmad Hussein read the proclamation of a new government. Sjafruddin was greeted with loud applause as he appeared on the verandah.

Sjafruddin said most of Indonesia's foreign assets are in a U.S. Federal Reserve bank.

Three communiques by the regime promised protection to foreigners and their investments. It proclaimed the foreign assets of the government were frozen. And it said it would not be responsible for contracts made by the Sukarno government under Premier Djuanda after Feb. 15. No arms bought by Jakarta will be paid for, the rebels said.

The Bukittinggi government said it would "exert full internal and external sovereignty" over the entire country comprised of 3,000 islands.

Report Major Crisis Among German Reds

BERLIN, Feb. 15 (AP)—East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl tonight was reported to have split with Communist party chief Walter Ulbricht in protest against th recent purge of so-called liberal Communist leaders.

Usually reliable Eastern sources said Grotewohl left East Berlin this week after defying seriously for the first time the Stalinist dictator he has served for eight years as government front man.

Officially, the 64-year-old Grotewohl is supposed to have chosen the moment of a major government reshuffle to leave for several weeks vacation. But underground reports persisted that he actually had left East Berlin in hopes of going to Moscow to plead the case of the purged leaders.

In Bonn, the West German capital, the press service of the Socialist party quoted underground sources as saying Grotewohl's departure at this time made it nearly certain he had fallen into disgrace.

Faces Breakdown

East Berlin sources said Ulbricht was facing a major breakdown in the governing machinery of the German state as a result of his dispute with Grotewohl and confusion stemming from last week's purge. To deal with the crisis, the party boss summoned a secret meeting Monday of the East Berlin Activists—the party organization embracing key Communist officials, the informants said.

Then Ulbricht hastened to Thuringia to whip local party organizations into line, they added, and trusted lieutenants were sent to

France Agrees To Mediation

PARIS (UP)—France agreed Saturday to let the United States mediate its dispute with Tunisia. But it declined to withdraw its U. N. Security Council action against the North African country.

Tunisia, in turn, relaxed the pressure on the 16,000 French soldiers garrisoned on Tunisian soil and permitted civilian trucks to supply them with food.

Emile Claparede, secretary of state for information, announced after a cabinet meeting that "the good offices of the United States are accepted."

He made it clear that France was agreeing to mediation, not arbitration.

In Washington, U.S. officials quickly welcomed the announcement. They said the United States had no wish to act as arbitrator, but merely as a go-between.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba previously had indicated he would accept U.S. mediation. It appeared that American diplomats would start working on the dispute over the weekend. They already have been working behind the scenes to prevent a major conflict.

Would Drop It

Bourguiba said Thursday he would drop his U.N. Security Council action against France for the bombing last Saturday of Sakiet Sidi Youssef if France agreed to American mediation.

But France filed its own charges Friday night, asking the Security Council to condemn Tunisia for aiding Algerian rebels, and Claparede said it appeared that a coun-

Senator Raps Air Force For Slow Decisions

WASHINGTON (UP) —A Senator's attack on what he called Air Force "lack of decision" led Saturday to disclosure of plans for an 18,000-mile-an-hour manned rocket ship.

Air Force sources said they hope the craft, called the X15B, will put the first man into orbit around the earth and bring him back safely.

It would be an advanced version of the X15 rocket ship which the Air Force and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) plan to fly 100 miles above the earth at about 4,000 miles an hour early next year.

Sen. Dennis M. Chavez (D-N.M.) chairman of the Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee, revealed in a statement Saturday that he was briefed last October by the Air Force on plans for an X15B "manned recoverable space vehicle." Four months later, he said, Air Force chiefs still have not given the go-ahead to the project.

Chavez cited this as an example

Jes' Ramblin'

Gideons

In this war-torn world one of the movements for the betterment of mankind is that of The Gideons. This group, formed by Christian traveling men back in the last year of the past century, was organized in Janesville, Wis. Today it has encircled the globe. The chief purpose is to place a Bible in every hotel room and up to now two million have been distributed.

The Twin Cities the past week and ending today in local churches have been hosts to an interstate convention with delegations from Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Members go about their religious work in quiet yet highly forceful manner. Visiting members will fill a number of pulpits today in the Twin Cities, where they will preach straightforward, unvarnished truths in which religion is concerned.

Judging from the unprecedented crime wave that is attacking society today, especially as concerns teen-agers as well as adults, it appears that The Gideons can do a job that is of vital need to society.

Thanks

Jes' Ramblin' wishes to return sincere thanks for a rather unusual courtesy that was accorded by the up and ever stirring Pilot Club here. They are ever doing something where there is opportunity to lend a helping hand. At the meeting held recently

Search Halted

OURAY, Colo., Feb. 15 (AP)—A blizzard and the threat of new slides cut short an attempt today to find the bodies of four men buried beneath two avalanches.

"It's no use trying to get any bulldozers in there now," said Oscar Franz, Ouray County commissioner. "It's too dangerous."

Stassen To Run For Governor In Pa.; Quits Post

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower Saturday enthusiastically accepted the resignation of his disarmament adviser, Harold E. Stassen who plans to run for governor of Pennsylvania on the Republican ticket.

The President did not fire Stassen, but the chief executive certainly bade the former governor of Minnesota a definitive farewell.

Stassen has been on the political firing line for some months. He has been building his political fences in Pennsylvania, trying to line up support for the forthcoming Pennsylvania primary.

Stassen telephoned the President here Friday, reaching Eisenhower at the Piney Woods Plantation of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

Full Of Praise

The President and Stassen agreed that Stassen should leave the White House staff if the balding former governor is to pursue his political ambitions.

The President, in accepting Stassen's resignation effective immediately, was full of praise for Stassen. The President, however, stopped short of endorsing him for governor.

Stassen bucked the Eisenhower "team" in 1956 by vocally advocating the nomination of Christian A. Herter, now the undersecretary of state, for vice president over

Missing Gretna Boy Is Located

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)—A missing Gretna boy has been found in Spokane, Wash., with a woman involved in a morals charge against his father, the FBI reported today.

Ray Abbaticcho Jr., agent in charge of the FBI office here, said four-year-old Walter Keith Hurtt Jr., was found after the arrest of his father in Spokane last night.

The 29 - year - old father was charged with transporting a woman across state lines for immoral purposes, the FBI said, and the child was found at the home of the woman. The FBI did not identify her.

Abbaticcho said the arrest followed letters to the child's grandfather George Rayner owner of a Gretna furniture store managed by Hurtt. He said the letter asked if Rayner would pay $18,250 to find his grandson and Hurtt.

The woman mailed the letters to Rayner, Abbaticcho said. He did not say who wrote them.

The FBI said Hurtt is charged with taking the woman from New Orleans to Tampa, Fla., for immoral purposes.

Hurtt and his son disappeared Dec. 7 and on Jan. 3 Rayner received an anonymous letter postmarked in Tampa, Abbaticcho said. The proposals involved communication through newspaper ads and setting up a bank account in Spokane with a $19,000 cashier's check, he said.

The writer said Hurtt would leave the country if Rayner did not comply.

Kuwait, Bahrein May Join With New Arab Union

AMMAN, Jordan (UP)—The oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikdoms of Kuwait and Bahrein may join the new Iraqi-Jordanian Arab Federal Union, informed sources said Saturday.

The two small countries would add greatly to the oil supply controlled by the new union. Saudi Arabia, although standing aloof from actual membership, has given the federation its blessing.

Kuwait is nestled at the southeast corner of Iraq. Bahrein is an island about 200 miles further southeast in the gulf.

Both have tremendous oil resources but their membership in the federation still would not break the supply line monopoly exercised by the Egyptian-Syrian United Arab Republic.

Most of the present oil pipe lines lie across Syria. Egypt controls the cheapest tanker shipping route—the Suez Canal.

Plans to break this supply line grip call for pipelines through Israel and Turkey.

Copies of the federation signed into being by King Hussein of Jordan and King Feisal of Iraq were distributed to all foreign diplomatic missions here Saturday.

A stream of diplomats visited the palace to offer congratulations.

Saturday and Sunday were declared national holidays in Jordan to celebrate the federation and the streets of Amman were jammed with crowds dressed in their Sunday best.

Knowland Opposes Use Of GOP Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said today he is opposed to acceptance by the GOP Congressional Campaign Committees of any of the $100,000 raised at Houston, Tex., dinner last week.

At the same time Sen. Williams (R-Del) said he thinks reaction to the methods used by Texas GOP National Committeeman H. J. Porter in staging the affair may force a Senate showdown on Williams' proposal to cut the oil depreciation allowance from 27½ to 15 per cent.

'Spaceman' Nears His 'Home Planet'

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—Airman Donald G. Farrell, cheerful and obviously pleased with himself, was bringing his mythical space ship back close to earth today.

If the few final hours go well the blond 23-year-old volunteer will step from an experimental space cabin at nearby Randolph Air Force Base at 9:35 a.m. CST tomorrow after seven days of make-believe space travel.

"There is no doubt in our minds that Farrell will come through with flying colors," Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine at Randolph, told a press briefing today. "Air force colors, of course."

"His voice sounded very cheerful today after he awakened. Ever since midnight he has appeared satisfied with himself that he has put on a good show."

Other than the apparent cheery tone in Farrell's voice, Steinkamp said the six-foot, 185-pound airman had made no outward sign this morning as he completed his sixth weary and lonesome day in the hermetically sealed steel chamber.

Steinkamp said Farrell's big crisis came yesterday. Throughout the day and until midnight he showed serious signs of increasing fatigue. His reactions became slower and judgment poorer in solving the experimental space travel problems flashed to him on a closed circuit television screen.

"We had expected the fatigue, but we were worried," Steinkamp said. "Then he slept from about 10 p.m. until midnight. Surprisingly he perked up. His discrimination and judgment were better. He did not skip any tasks. Our hopes soared."

Steinkamp said space scientists were "very enthusiastic" over expected results of the seven-day test. He predicted it would take about 60 days to correlate findings. Tentative findings of the experi-

Prospects Bright For Pleasant Day

Prospects of a pleasant Sunday were voiced last night by the weather man. Today the skies should be generally fair, with slightly warmer weather than the Twin Cities have had for several days.

FAIR and WARMER

Tomorrow the mercury will rise even higher, and some cloudiness is expected.

High reading yesterday was 40 and the low was 34. The Friday high was the same, with the low 31.

Arkansas will also have a fair, pleasant Sunday, with increased clouds and warming temperatures tomorrow.

New Orleans Again In Carnival Mood

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP) — Carnival parades took to the streets of New Orleans today with temperatures in the low 40s. Two carnival organizations paraded during the day and one at night, when a possible freeze was expected.

The Krewe of Babylon presented its "scenes from Operas" along St. Charles Ave. and Canal Street and past the city's new civic center. Spectators lined the route and competed to catch trinkets thrown by members of the krewe, or sponsoring organization.

Across the Mississippi River the Krewe of Grela paraded through the Algiers section of New Orleans and the small municipality of Gretna telling the story of "The Magic Key."

King of Grela was Mayor William White of Gretna. The name of the Babylon king is not revealed.

Babylon, postponed from Wednesday because of snow and unseasonal weather, had a dry day this time.

Adonis had a night parade. Six other organizations—Thoth, Choctaw, Mid-City, Venus, Zeus and Freret were scheduled to roll tomorrow.

All could hope for good weather, despite earlier cancellations because of rain and snow.

Only Tuesday, which is Mardi Gras, can expect to see more parades than tomorrow. Seven parades will take place then. Two parades are on schedule for Monday.

While the street celebrations attracted much interest, the carnival organizations also were busy with private costume balls and parties.

Weathermen predicted temperatures would go to a low of 30-34 degrees during the night. A warming trend was expected to set in tomorrow, with some rain predicted for Monday and clearing skies for the big holiday.

TO WORK AGAIN

Republic Steel Corp. notified 150 laid-off workers to return to their jobs next week at its Youngstown plant. This will put two out of the five blast furnaces at Youngstown in operation.

AGREEMENT

International Paper Co. has reached the final states of negotiations to acquire some assets of Harbor Plywood Corp. in the Southwestern Washington area. Agreement would involve $15 million.

TIN HIKE

Tin container prices will go up about 2.3 per cent on March 10. The increases will be put into effect by all major producers.

MISSLES

Pentagon warriors hint a step-up in missile tests will come soon. Look for more Atlas, Jupiter and Thor firings in the next few months. The long-range Titan may make its first flight by June. Cape Canaveral adds more launching pads. Missile men have yet to test an IRBM in final form, despite plans to start delivery to Europe by the year-end.

REDUCTION

Westinghouse Electric reduced operations at its Columbus, Ohio, appliance plant to four days weekly, and canceled plans to furlough 250 workers.

CONTRACT

General Electric has been awarded a $6,360,341 contract by the Navy for propulsion machinery.

Esso Cuts Back Crude Oil Runs

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Esso Standard Oil Co., principal domestic refining and marketing subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), today said it had cut back its crude oil runs since the last quarter of 1957.

Present runs, the company said, are now off approximately 35,000 barrels a day from the October-December average. They are 11 per cent under December runs and 19 per cent under the first quarter of 1957.

Crude Stocks Show Decrease

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP) — The Bureau of Mines reported today stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum totaled 278,982,000 barrels on Feb. 8, a net decrease of 2,239,000 barrels for the week. Domestic crude increased 224,000. Foreign crude decreased 2,463,000.

Daily average production was 6,858,000 barrels, an increase of 16,000. Runs to stills averaged 7,325,000, a decrease of 223,000.

Stocks, by grade or origin, and change from previous week (in thousands of barrels):

Arkansas 2,610 up 61; north Louisiana 3,065 down 210; Gulf Coast Louisiana 16,862 up 67; Mississippi, Alabama and Florida 2,816 up 185; East Texas 9,649 up 515; West Texas 53,757 up 698; Gulf Texas 26,085 up 102; other Texas 33,715 down 288.

Stock Market Has Good Rise

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—The stock market rebounded today for its only rise in eight sessions, staging its best advance since Jan. 7.

An estimated $1,900,000,000 was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in The Associated Press average.

Having stemmed a six-day decline yesterday when the average was unchanged, the market moved ahead steadily and quietly today.

Volume was a sub-average 2,070,000 shares but still a definite improvement over yesterday's 1,880,000.

The AP 60-stock average advanced $1.50 to $161.00 with the industrials up $2.50, the rails up $1.50 and the utilities up 20 cents.

Corporate bonds rose in fairly active dealings.

U. S. government bonds continued their advance in over the counter dealings.

COTTON

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 60 cents lower in slow mixed dealings today.

Traders were inclined to take profits in new crop months following a brisk market advance earlier in the week which carried those deliveries into new seasonal high ground.

The market displayed a hesitant tone with further Washington hearings scheduled next week on farm legislation.

Buying in futures were credited partly to short covering by professional traders and some trade buying.

Nearby March held relatively firm with the open interest in that position at the start down to 102,300 bales.

Some commission house demand was attracted to old crop July on the theory that if there is a shortage of desirable cotton next season, as some trade quarters predict, nearby July futures will be affcted to some extent.

Cotton futures turned irregular in late dealings as increased trade and commission house buying found offerings light.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 60 cents lower than the previous close.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, & Beane

The market held steady keeping within a narrow range with trading reduced compared with the last few days. The major portion of the offering appeared to be new trade hedge sales although light commission house liquidation was also noted.

As there were no Ausaralian or South African auction sales yesterday traders were generally reluctant to take new positions prior to the weekend. Actuals business in Boston was reported somewhat improved this week, however, fear of a decline at the Australian auctions has resulted in a cautious attitude.

It appears that Japan which has recently been the predominant buyer of wools in Australia may be able to fulfill her requirements without bidding up further wool prices at the auctions. London futures, in active volume, closed irregular with top makers reporting sales of wool tops at below replacement costs.

COTTON LETTER

Courtesy of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, & Beane

Prices were mixed in routine trading with volume on the small side compared with recent activity. Trade houses were generally inactive and the professional element seemed content to await the Senate sub-committee hearings on the Eastland bill next Monday and Tuesday.

Also pending is legislation to make funds available for an additional 1.3 million acres applied for in the soil bank for which there is currently no financial allotment. If this bill were passed and fully taken into calculation by the secretary of agriculture it could result in an advance in the support level of over 100 points or to around the 84 per cent level.

There has been little change in Worth Street demand or in the slow spot demand throughout the spot. Some merchants expressed opinions they believe demand will increase substantially in the next 30 to 60 days.

Special Safety Training Slated

A supervisors safety training program will be conducted at the Fifth District office of the State Department of Highways beginning Monday and continuing through March 15, Wayne Huckaby, district engineer, announced yesterday.

The classes will be held from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. J. M. Semmes, safety engineer, will be supervisor, and Henry L. Thorpe will be the instructor.

Both men are safety experts out of Baton Rouge office. Thorpe is a native of Ward 8.

The two objectives of the program will be (1) to lessen number of accidents as far as highway personnel are concerned and (2) to place special emphasis on protective devices as far as highway traffic is concerned, such as directional warning signals, and flagging traffic.

Three Rivers, Mich., is at the junction of the St. Joseph, Rocky and Portage rivers. ..

MISS. LEGISLATURE

Education Still The Major Issue

By DOUGLAS STARR

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP) — Improving Mississippi's education system continued this week the hottest issue of the Legislature as both houses sought new sources of revenue for the project.

Supporters of teacher pay raises and nine months of school claim the undertaking is necessary if Mississippi children are to complete equally with students of other states.

The Senate took the bolder step, passing the surtax bill by one vote, while a special House committee continued its daily meetings to determine how to raise the money.

The surtax faces a doubtful future in the House.

Revenue officials estimate the education program would cost 18 to 31 million dollars more than the 81 million the House voted to appropriate for the 1958-60 biennium.

The Senate wants to raise teacher pay and require nine months of school — 104 million dollars. The House has a bill providing for lesser teacher pay raises and no additional schooling — 100 million dollars.

When the surtax hit the Senate floor Wednesday, opponents fought desperately to kill it. Arguments included objections to the way the Finance Committee handled the bill and the committee's refusal to conduct public hearings on it.

Finally, Sen. Earl Evans of Canton, opposition leader, questioned the right of the Senate to suspend its rules and consider the bill without ever having read it openly as required by the Constitution.

That move delayed final action on the bill until Thursday after Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin ruled the Senate does have such a right.

Had he ruled adversely, he would have disrupted legislative procedure that has continued for decades and which has speeded up legislation almost to a fine point.

The bill-reading rule was important in the days before mimeographed machines and rapid reproduction of introduced legislation. But nowadays, copies of bills hit the lawmakers' desks the day after they are introduced.

The surtax, a tax on eight existing taxes, would be enacted at 12 per cent during 1958-60, at 10 per cent during 1960-62, and at 8 per cent thereafter.

Its present 14 per cent rate produces 7½ million dollars a biennium. At 12 per cent, it would produce 5¾ million.

Opponents, including many members of the House Ways and Means Committee where the bill will be assigned for study, claim the surtax has curtailed Mississippi's Balance Agriculture with Industry Program.

Rep. Hilton Waits of Washington County, Ways and Means chairman, headed the Interim Tax study Committee that recommended the surtax not be re-enacted.

The Tax Study Committee, contrary to the bill that created it in 1956, did not recommend new sources of revenue.

In fact, no major plan for raising revenue has been suggested.

Among major legislation processed this week was:

Re-apportionment: A special Senate-House committee approved a plan, later approved by the Senate Constitution Committee, for re-apportioning the Legislature. It would be the first time since 1890.

The plan would add 20 seats in the Senate and two in the House where it also would re-arrange nine seats to anchor floater representatives in the larger counties.

Considerable opposition has cropped up among lawmakers from south Mississippi where populations have grown while representation has not. They feel the plan is not equitable.

Jail term for rape: The Senate has voted to authorize judges and juries to recommend jail terms of less than life for rape convictions. The present life-or-death penalty for rape virtually rules out convictions in most cases.

Land squabble: The House bogged down in a four-hour squabble Wednesday over whether to authorize the College Board or the Game and Fish Commission to buy federal timberland in north Mississippi.

The College Board won. But the fight isn't over. The Senate colleges committee plans to take testimony Wednesday from the supervisors of the six counties involved. They favor Game and Fish Commission control.

Whichever agency buys the land will receive the revenue — estimated in millions of dollars — under a timber management program.

First floor defeat: The House voted 66-31 against requiring second hand dealers in automobile wheels, tires and hubcaps to keep records of their purchases.

The bill, first to be defeated on the floor this session, was designed to help reduce thefts of these items.

The legislative week began and ended with snow. Mississippi's first measurable snow in seven years came early Monday when a cold front dumped two inches over much of the state.

Freezing rain and sleet slashed the rest of the state. Another snowfall — this time in south Mississippi — surprised the usually balmy Gulf Coast.

Then as the House prepared for a light day Friday, SpeakerWalter Sillers of Bolivar County urge the lawmakers not to delay in Jackson because of predictions of up to four inches of snow in the north portion of the state.

They adjourned immediately.

NAACP Charges Legion Dabbling With 'Politics'

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP) — The Mississippi NAACP today accused the Mississippi American Legion of dabbling in politics when it called for a state-level investigation of the obectives of the NAACP but not the Citizens Councils.

Medgar Evers, state secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, issued a statement saying:

"It is quite apparent now that the department of Mississippi, American Legion, is dabbling into partisan policies, principles and politics. Otherwise, they would have called not only for an investigation of the NAACP but also an intensive investigation of the Citizens Councils that are doing more harm to democracy than the evil menacing Communist conspiracy.

"The American Legion of Mississippi, which has on the cloak of patriotism and respectability, appears to have joined forces with those who preach race prejudice, hate and bigotry which has too long dominated the real progress of Mississippi and Mississippians.

"This is tragic, but for those who would stoop to keep his fellow man down, he is in for a revealing awakening."

The issue started last December when the State Department revoked the charter of Negro Post 214 on charges the commander dabbled officially into politics, namely speaking at NAACP meetings as an American Legion commander.

The post has appealed the revocation and a hearing is scheduled in March.

Earlier this week, Sen. George Yarbrough of Red Banks introduced a resolution ordering the State Sovereignty Commission to investigate "the means, methods, associates, affiliations and ultimate objectives" of the NAACP. Yarbrough said the state American Legion had requested the probe.

The commission is Mississippi's watchdog against federal encroachment upon states rights, or, more plainly, a guard against integration.

The Citizens Councils were organized by groups of white men dedicated to keeping segregation in all phases of Mississippi life by any means.

Neither the NAACP nor the Citizens Councils is on the U.S. Justice Department subversive organization list.

In calling for the investigation, Yarbrough said in his resolution:

1. Several directors and members of the NAACP have been affiliated with Communist and Communist-front organizations.

2. The NAACP never has been "dedicated to the best interests of either the white or Negro race."

3. The NAACP in other states has been controlled by and intermingled with subversives.

4. "It is our opinion that the NAACP has had a tendency to support various causes and legislation that have had a tendency to disrupt and, in many cases, threaten our traditional American way of life."

5. ". . . Some of the colored membership of a patriotic organization in Mississippi have been actively connected with the NAACP."

Plans Are Made On Achievement By Ouachita 4-H

Ouachita Parish 4-H Achievement Day has been set for Saturday, April 26.

Plans for the day were formulated yesterday, as the 4-H Executive committee met yesterday at the Agriculture building in West Monroe.

In charge was Georgia Ruth Owens, president. The group decided to place 4-H signs at major highways, at the parish boundaries.

New requirements for 4-H members were agreed on. Club members must now attend Achievement Day and participate in one of the Day's contests. The parish quota includes 24 senior members and 71 junior members.

Regional Chairmen Of Fund Announced

In north Louisiana the regional chairmen are Paul Newell of Haynesville; C. C. Boardman of Monroe and Marvin Lipp of Oak Grove.

Centra' Louisiana chairmen are Charles Wurster, Jr., Jonesville; E. H. Foote, Alexandria, and the Rev. W. D. Sherman, DeRidder.

Mrs. Orrell's Services Set

FARMERVILLE (Special)—Funeral services will be held today at 3 p.m. for Mrs. Geraldine Greene Orrell, 61, who died in a New Orleans hospital yesterday.

Services will be at the First Methodist Church in Farmerville with the Rev. W. M. Allen of Sterlington officiating, assisted by the Rev. L. M. Musgraves. Interment will follow in the Farmerville Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Mrs. Orrell, a native of Marion, served as housing consultant at Oregon State College and the University of Illinois while completing her graduate studies.

As housing specialist in agricultural research in Washington, D.C., for 16 years, she was the author of several federal publications.

Was Instructor

After retiring, Mrs. Orrell resided in Pass Christian, Miss., and taught home economics. She was active in several cultural and professional organizations.

Survivors includer her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Greene, Marion; a sister, Mrs. Debbie G. Nettles, also of Marion; five brothers, Dan Greene, Talmadge Greene, John Greene and Tim Greene of Marion; a son, Stanley Austin Orrell of New Orleans, and two grandsons.

Pallbearers will be Rex Greene, Talmadge W. Greene, Jr., Ellis "Buddy" King, Daniel Greene, Max Greene, John Shackleford.

The body will lie in state at the Kilpatrick Funeral Home in Farmerville until time for services.

Clergymen Get Set For End Of Carnival Gaity

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—Local clergymen have begun preparations for solemn Ash Wednesday ceremonies which will follow carnival gaiety here.

Roman Catholic churches, as well as some other denominations, distribute ashes Wednesday, placing them on the foreheads of wosshippers as a reminder that life is fleeting.

Ash Wednesday begins at the stroke of midnight, ending carnival revels which reach their peak on Tuesday, Mardi Gras day.

At historic old St. Louis Cathedral, in the heart of the French Quarter, ashes will be blessed before Mass at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Ashes will be distributed or imposed after Masses at 6, 7, 7:30 and 8 a.m., and 12:30, 3, and 6 p.m.

Ash Wednesday ushers in the Lenten season, putting an official lid on carnival festivities, originally conceived as a final fling before Lent.

'LULAC WEEK'

AUSTIN (UP) — Gov. Price Daniel Saturday designated Feb. 16-22 "Lulac Week" in Texas in honor of the 19th anniversary of the founding of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

JOHN C. LYNN

John C. Lynn To Speak At Bureau Fete

John C. Lynn, known as one of the best informed persons on agriculture legislation in the nation, will be guest speaker at the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau barbeue tomorrow night.

Approximately 500 members and their wives are expected to attend the event, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Fairgounds building in West Monroe.

Fred Huenefeld Jr., president, said yesterday that the building will be heated and the barbeque will be held "regardless of the weather." Those who have not yet made reservations may do so tomorrow morning, by calling J. J. Joyce at FA 3-2251.

One of the main features of the evening will be the speech by Lynn who is legislative director and associate director of the Washington Office, American Farm Bureau Federation.

The Agricultural Service Award will be presented to the man "who has contributed the most to agriculture in Ouachita parish during the past year." This is the third annual award, with the one last year going to Robert G. Harmon.

Four-H Key awards will be presented to four members of the club who have done outstanding work.

L. L. Lovell of Chaneyville, president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau, will be in attendance at the barbeque, along with all other state officers of the Bureau.

MISS. LEGISLATURE

Education Still The Major Issue

By DOUGLAS STARR

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP) — Improving Mississippi's education system continued this week the hottest issue of the Legislature as both houses sought new sources of revenue for the project.

Supporters of teacher pay raises and nine months of school claim the undertaking is necessary if Mississippi children are to complete equally with students of other states.

The Senate took the bolder step, passing the surtax bill by one vote, while a special House committee continued its daily meetings to determine how to raise the money.

The surtax faces a doubtful future in the House.

Revenue officials estimate the education program would cost 18 to 31 million dollars more than the 81 million the House voted to appropriate for the 1958-60 biennium.

The Senate wants to raise teacher pay and require nine months of school — 104 million dollars. The House has a bill providing for lesser teacher pay raises and no additional schooling — 100 million dollars.

When the surtax hit the Senate floor Wednesday, opponents fought desperately to kill it. Arguments included objections to the way the Finance Committee handled the bill and the committee's refusal to conduct public hearings on it.

Finally, Sen. Earl Evans of Canton, opposition leader, questioned the right of the Senate to suspend its rules and consider the bill without ever having read it openly as required by the Constitution.

That move delayed final action on the bill until Thursday after Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin ruled the Senate does have such a right.

Had he ruled adversely, he would have disrupted legislative procedure that has continued for decades and which has speeded up legislation almost to a fine point.

The bill-reading rule was important in the days before mimeographed machines and rapid reproduction of introduced legislation. But nowadays, copies of bills hit the lawmakers' desks the day after they are introduced.

The surtax, a tax on eight existing taxes, would be enacted at 12 per cent during 1958-60, at 10 per cent during 1960-62, and at 8 per cent thereafter.

Its present 14 per cent rate produces 7½ million dollars a biennium. At 12 per cent, it would produce 5¾ million.

Opponents, including many members of the House Ways and Means Committee where the bill will be assigned for study, claim the surtax has curtailed Mississippi's Balance Agriculture with Industry Program.

Rep. Hilton Waits of Washington County, Ways and Means chairman, headed the Interim Tax study Committee that recommended the surtax not be re-enacted.

The Tax Study Committee, contrary to the bill that created it in 1956, did not recommend new sources of revenue.

In fact, no major plan for raising revenue has been suggested.

Among major legislation processed this week was:

Re-apportionment: A special Senate-House committee approved a plan, later approved by the Senate Constitution Committee, for re-apportioning the Legislature. It would be the first time since 1890.

The plan would add 20 seats in the Senate and two in the House where it also would re-arrange nine seats to anchor floater representatives in the larger counties.

Considerable opposition has cropped up among lawmakers from south Mississippi where populations have grown while representation has not. They feel the plan is not equitable.

Jail term for rape: The Senate has voted to authorize judges and juries to recommend jail terms of less than life for rape convictions. The present life-or-death penalty for rape virtually rules out convictions in most cases.

Land squabble: The House bogged down in a four-hour squabble Wednesday over whether to authorize the College Board or the Game and Fish Commission to buy federal timberland in north Mississippi.

The College Board won. But the fight isn't over. The Senate colleges committee plans to take testimony Wednesday from the supervisors of the six counties involved. They favor Game and Fish Commission control.

Whichever agency buys the land will receive the revenue — estimated in millions of dollars — under a timber management program.

First floor defeat: The House voted 66-31 against requiring second hand dealers in automobile wheels, tires and hubcaps to keep records of their purchases.

The bill, first to be defeated on the floor this session, was designed to help reduce thefts of these items.

The legislative week began and ended with snow. Mississippi's first measurable snow in seven years came early Monday when a cold front dumped two inches over much of the state.

Freezing rain and sleet slashed the rest of the state. Another snowfall — this time in south Mississippi — surprised the usually balmy Gulf Coast.

Then as the House prepared for a light day Friday, Speaker Walter Sillers of Bolivar County urge the lawmakers not to delay in Jackson because of predictions of up to four inches of snow in the north portion of the state.

They adjourned immediately.

Quick Relief from Pile Irritation

40 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment to relieve itching and smarting of piles. It brought such quick, cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread across the land making Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist today for 50c box or 75c applicator tube. Peterson's Ointment delights or money back. —Adv.

The students are holding a green and red statuette of a "demon king" which Saroj presented to the Chief Executive and his wife, now vacationing in Georgia. The statuette was one of many gifts presented by the visiting foreign students.

NAACP Charges Legion Dabbling With 'Politics'

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP) — The Mississippi NAACP today accused the Mississippi American Legion of dabbling in politics when it called for a state-level investigation of the obectives of the NAACP but not the Citizens Councils.

Medgar Evers, state secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, issued a statement saying:

"It is quite apparent now that the department of Mississippi, American Legion, is dabbling into partisan policies, principles and politics. Otherwise, they would have called not only for an investigation of the NAACP but also an intensive investigation of the Citizens Councils that are doing more harm to democracy than the evil menacing Communist conspiracy.

"The American Legion of Mississippi, which has on the cloak of patriotism and respectability, appears to have joined forces with those who preach race prejudice, hate and bigotry which has too long dominated the real progress of Mississippi and Mississippians.

"This is tragic, but for those who would stoop to keep his fellow man down, he is in for a revealing awakening."

The issue started last December when the State Department revoked the charter of Negro Post 214 on charges the commander dabbled officially into politics, namely speaking at NAACP meetings as an American Legion commander.

The post has appealed the revocation and a hearing is scheduled in March.

Earlier this week, Sen. George Yarbrough of Red Banks introduced a resolution ordering the State Sovereignty Commission to investigate "the means, methods, associates, affiliations and ultimate objectives" of the NAACP. Yarbrough said the state American Legion had requested the probe.

The commission is Mississippi's watchdog against federal encroachment upon states rights, or, more plainly, a guard against integration.

The Citizens Councils were organized by groups of white men dedicated to keeping segregation in all phases of Mississippi life by any means.

Neither the NAACP nor the Citizens Councils is on the U.S. Justice Department subversive organization list.

In calling for the investigation, Yarbrough said in his resolution:

1. Several directors and members of the NAACP have been affiliated with Communist and Communist-front organizations.

2. The NAACP never has been "dedicated to the best interests of either the white or Negro race."

3. The NAACP in other states has been controlled by and intermingled with subversives.

4. "It is our opinion that the NAACP has had a tendency to support various causes and legislation that have had a tendency to disrupt and, in many cases, threaten our traditional American way of life."

5. ". . . Some of the colored membership of a patriotic organization in Mississippi have been actively connected with the NAACP."

Plans Are Made On Achievement By Ouachita 4-H

Ouachita Parish 4-H Achievement Day has been set for Saturday, April 26.

Plans for the day were formulated yesterday, as the 4-H Executive committee met yesterday at the Agriculture building in West Monroe.

In charge was Georgia Ruth Owens, president. The group decided to place 4-H signs at major highways, at the parish boundaries.

New requirements for 4-H members were agreed on. Club members must now attend Achievement Day and participate in one of the Day's contests. The parish quota includes 24 senior members and 71 junior members.

Regional Chairmen Of Fund Announced

Regional fund chairmen for the Red Cross Fund Drive to be conducted in March have been named by George W. Healy Jr., of New Orleans, national vice chairman of the drive.

In north Louisiana the regional chairmen are Paul Newell of Haynesville; C. C. Boardman of Monroe and Marvin Lipp of Oak Grove.

Central Louisiana chairmen are Charles Wurster, Jr., Jonesville; E. H. Foote, Alexandria, and the Rev. W. D. Sherman, DeRidder.

Mrs. Orrell's Services Set

FARMERVILLE (Special)—Funeral services will be held today at 3 p.m. for Mrs. Geraldine Greene Orrell, 61, who died in a New Orleans hospital yesterday.

Services will be at the First Methodist Church in Farmerville with the Rev. W. M. Allen of Sterlington officiating, assisted by the Rev. L. M. Musgraves. Interment will follow in the Farmerville Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Mrs. Orrell, a native of Marion, served as housing consultant at Oregon State College and the University of Illinois while completing her graduate studies.

As housing specialist in agricultural research in Washington, D.C., for 16 years, she was the author of several federal publications.

Was Instructor

After retiring, Mrs. Orrell resided in Pass Christian, Miss., and taught home economics. She was active in several cultural and professional organizations.

Survivors includer her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Greene, Marion; a sister, Mrs. Debbie G. Nettles, also of Marion; five brothers, Dan Greene, Talmadge Greene, John Greene and Tim Greene of Marion; a son, Stanley Austin Orrell of New Orleans, and two grandsons.

Pallbearers will be Rex Greene, Talmadge W. Greene, Jr., Ellis "Buddy" King, Daniel Greene, Max Greene, John Shackleford.

The body will lie in state at the Kilpatrick Funeral Home in Farmerville until time for services.

Clergymen Get Set For End Of Carnival Gaity

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—Local clergymen have begun preparations for solemn Ash Wednesday ceremonies which will follow carnival gaiety here.

Roman Catholic churches, as well as some other denominations, distribute ashes Wednesday, placing them on the foreheads of wosshippers as a reminder that life is fleeting.

Ash Wednesday begins at the stroke of midnight, ending carnival revels which reach their peak on Tuesday, Mardi Gras day.

At historic old St. Louis Cathedral, in the heart of the French Quarter, ashes will be blessed before Mass at 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Ashes will be distributed or imposed after Masses at 6, 7, 7:30 and 8 a.m., and 12:30, 3, and 6 p.m.

Ash Wednesday ushers in the Lenten season, putting an official lid on carnival festivities, originally conceived as a final fling before Lent.

'LULAC WEEK'

AUSTIN (UP) — Gov. Price Daniel Saturday designated Feb. 16-22 "Lulac Week" in Texas in honor of the 19th anniversary of the founding of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

JOHN C. LYNN

John C. Lynn To Speak At Bureau Fete

John C. Lynn, known as one of the best informed persons on agriculture legislation in the nation, will be guest speaker at the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau barbeue tomorrow night.

Approximately 500 members and their wives are expected to attend the event, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Fairgounds building in West Monroe.

Fred Huenefeld Jr., president, said yesterday that the building will be heated and the barbeque will be held "regardless of the weather." Those who have not yet made reservations may do so tomorrow morning, by calling J. J. Joyce at FA 3-2251.

One of the main features of the evening will be the speech by Lynn who is legislative director and associate director of the Washington Office, American Farm Bureau Federation.

The Agricultural Service Award will be presented to the man "who has contributed the most to agriculture in Ouachita parish during the past year." This is the third annual award, with the one last year going to Robert G. Harmon.

Four-H Key awards will be presented to four members of the club who have done outstanding work.

L. L. Lovell of Chaneyville, president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau, will be in attendance at the barbeque, along with all other state officers of the Bureau.

Louisiana Society Holds Gala Mardi Gras Party

By KAY RAY
World Correspondent

WASHINGTON (Special) Merriment spilled from the Mayflower Hotel's grand ballroom Friday night as Louisianans in Washington hailed Solon B. Truman and Miss Barbara Denechaud as king and queen of their 11th annual Mardi Gras ball.

The president of Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., Inc. and the 18-year - old New Orleans beauty reigned with dignity and grace over more than 1,100 guests, including powerful members of Congress and leaders of Washington society.

Trumpets sounded as Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, a Texan, escorted Queen Barbara to her throne with southern courtliness. She was resplendent in a gown of peau de soie, fashioned along princess lines, ending in a slight train, and embellished with gold and silver sequins.

Queen Barbara's sunburst collar was embroidered in an over-all design of gold and silver sequins and rhinestones and her crown also was of rhinestones. Her waist mantle was of valentine - red velvet edged with a border of ermine. She carried a silver scepter heavily encrusted with rhinestones and ending in the traditional fleur de lis design. Her long white kid gloves were also edged with a band of rhinestones.

King solon was handsome in a white serge military dress uniform adorned with gold epaulets and brass buttons. His floor-length royal blue cape was bordered with a deep band of white ermine and was embroidered with the emblem of the House of Windsor.

The ball was a glittering salute to the waterways industries, a vital part of Louisiana's economic life. Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans was general chairman, assisted by Felix M. Broussard, president of the Louisiana state society, which gives the ball.

Each feature was announced by author David Cohn, who also told the story of a typical Louisiana Mardi Gras celebration.

The presentation of 24 lovely festival queens, representing the agricultural and industrial products of the state brought cheers from the onlookers. Their escorts were Louisiana students at Washington area colleges.

Members of the Congressional delegation escorted the pretty ladies - in - waiting to the king's throne.

The gaiety reached a festive peak when the masked, costumed "Mystic Krewe" danced into the ballroom to the music of Al Hirt and his Dixieland jazz band from New Orleans, tossing favors left and right. The band rode into the ballroom aboard a "royal yacht."

Krewe members, headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, included Sens. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Frank Church of Idaho.

Before and after the pageantry, guests danced to the music of a popular Washington orchestra.

The festival queens made a hit with the sophisticated group assembled.

Outstanding among the comely bevy were Cecile Morris of Baton Rouge, Miss Holiday in Dixie, representing the Shreveport festival, who was dressed in gold lame studded with rhinestones and wore a lame mantle; Barbara Ann Earnest. New Orleans', spirit of Mardi Gras queen, who wore a gown of white, French chantilly lace floating over silver lame, and a mantle of strawberry - pink velvet; and Barbara Burdin, the southwest Louisiana Mardi Gras Association queen, who wore a silver and white brocade gown trimmed with rhinestones.

Other popular beauties included:

Marva Glover, Natchitoches, queen of the Louisiana forestry festival Winnfield, who wore an emerald green satin sheath and green sequin crown; Peggy Sharron Brantly, Homer, north Louisiana Delta carnival queen, who wore a white cotton lace gown with royal robe; Susie Acklin, Jonesboro, Louisiana Peach Festival queen, Ruston, who was dressed in a white nylon tulle gown trimmed with sequins; Sandra Louise Coco, Moreauville, queen of Louisiana Livestock and Pasture Festival, who was dressed in a white nylon net dress with green velveteen mantle.

Mary Eleanor Harper, Colfax, Louisiana Market Poultry show, who wore white nylon tulle; Alice Fae Rachal, Louisiana Domino Festival queen, Alexandria, who wore a white lace and tulle gown and black velvet mantle.

The queens were honored by the Louisiana Congressional delegation Friday at a luncheon in the old Supereme Court room at the Capitol. On Thursday night they were feted at a dinner - dance by Parrish Fuller, Oakdale, king of last year's Mardi Gras ball.

Subs To Climax Diving Drills

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—Two U.S. submarines will climax a weekend of diving drills in the Gulf of Mexico by coming upriver to New Orleans and Mardi Gras.

The two vessels, the USS Chivo and the USS Chopper, will arrive tomorrow, in time to give crewmen at least one full-day of carnival celeration before the pre-Lenten festivities hit their peak on Mardi Gras day Tuesday.

Another sub, the USS Milledgeville, arrived today.

GOOD PSYCHOTHERAPY

Mardi Gras Like Second Childhood

By SAM BRADY
Staff Consespondent

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—The annual pre - Lenten binge known as Mardi Gras is not guaranteed to cure any deep-seated Freudian bugaboos, but a Tulane University psychologist today prescribed a carnival fling to ease normal tensions of this jumpy space age.

Dr. Wilma Wilson, a chic native of New Orleans who never misses a Carnival season, says that Mardi Gras merrymakers return essentially to the age of about two.

But if the spectacle of a million full grown two-year-olds engulfing Canal Street Tuesday palls you, Dr. Wilson finds it good psychotherapy, "besides just plain fun."

A Mask Does The Trick

She explains it this way: Putting on a mask lets you forget your inhibitions "since you have no identity—nobody will know you." The result, she says emphatically, is not licentiousness but rather a child-like innocence."

According to Dr. Wilson, the child learns his first inhibitons at about age two. These are imposed by the parents to adapt the child to society's standards — not to thwart any basic wickedness, she says.

Hence, when Mardi Gras releases these inhibitions, the result s a pleasant escape into childhood.

As evidence, she cites the infectious goodwill which spreads across the city. Another example, according to Dr. Wilson, is the way revelers vie for trinkets thrown from Mardi Gras floats.

'Throw Me Something'

"Every Mardi Gras you can see people in the stands in front of City Hall and the Boston Club (a staid, fashionable private club) shouting from behind their masks, 'Throw me something, mister.'"

Trinkets thrown from floats are, of course, quite worthless. But the behavior is logical, says Dr. Wilson, if you remember that before the age of two the child got everything free—from his bottle to his playthings (trinkets). And making value judgments is an adult activity, says the doctor.

When the magic curtain of Mardi Gras falls over New Orleans, childhood values are restored, according to Dr. Wilson, and everyone wants to laugh and play freely and have his own trinket.

And The Day After?

But what of the day after, when church bells ring in solemn Ash Wednesday? Dr. Wilson says you'll feel better than you did the day before Mardi Gras.

Guilt feelings? "Definitely not," maintains Dr. Wilson. "Remember, you were hiding behind a mask. No one saw you—not even mom-ma. Secondly, you had the approval of the crowd. And lastly, you had the approval of the church, which is a higher authority than the parent."

"Besides, nothing goes on that you should feel guilty about," the pert doctor laughed. "Everyone has his Mardi Gras in some fashion."

A 'Wild Spot' In All Psychs

She cites the imposing business executive who will wear a red vest even in the executive suite, and the conscientious housewife who lets a little section of her garden grow wild. "Everyone has some spot in his life that defies restriction. Everyone has a 'wild spot,' his own personal Mardi Gras.

WASHINGTON (Special) Merriment spilled from the Mayflower Hotel's grand ballroom Friday night as Louisianans in Washington hailed Solon B. Truman and Miss Barbara Denechaud as king and queen of their 11th annual Mardi Gras ball.

The president of Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., Inc. and the 18-year - old New Orleans beauty reigned with dignity and grace over more than 1,100 guests, including powerful members of Congress and leaders of Washington society.

Trumpets sounded as Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, a Texan, escorted Queen Barbara to her throne with southern courtliness. She was resplendent in a gown of peau de soie, fashioned along princess lines, ending in a slight train, and embellished with gold and silver sequins.

Queen Barbara's sunburst collar was embroidered in an over-all design of gold and silver sequins and rhinestones and her crown also was of rhinestones. Her waist mantle was of valentine - red velvet edged with a border of ermine. She carried a silver scepter heavily encrusted with rhinestones and ending in the traditional fleur de lis design. Her long white kid gloves were also edged with a band of rhinestones.

King solon was handsome in a white serge military dress uniform adorned with gold epaulets and brass buttons. His floor-length royal blue cape was bordered with a deep band of white ermine and was embroidered with the emblem of the House of Windsor.

The ball was a glittering salute to the waterways industries, a vital part of Louisiana's economic life. Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans was general chairman, assisted by Felix M. Broussard, president of the Louisiana state society, which gives the ball.

Each feature was announced by author David Cohn, who also told the story of a typical Louisiana Mardi Gras celebration.

The presentation of 24 lovely festival queens, representing the agricultural and industrial products of the state brought cheers from the onlookers. Their escorts were Louisiana students at Washington area colleges.

Members of the Congressional delegation escorted the pretty ladies - in - waiting to the king's throne.

The gaiety reached a festive peak when the masked, costumed "Mystic Krewe" danced into the ballroom to the music of Al Hirt and his Dixieland jazz band from New Orleans, tossing favors left and right. The band rode into the ballroom aboard a "royal yacht."

Krewe members, headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, included Sens. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Frank Church of Idaho.

Before and after the pageantry, guests danced to the music of a popular Washington orchestra.

The festival queens made a hit with the sophisticated group assembled.

Outstanding among the comely bevy were Cecile Morris of Baton Rouge, Miss Holiday in Dixie, representing the Shreveport festival, who was dressed in gold lame studded with rhinestones and wore a lame mantle; Barbara Ann Earnest. New Orleans', spirit of Mardi Gras queen, who wore a gown of white, French chantilly lace floating over silver lame, and a mantle of strawberry - pink velvet; and Barbara Burdin, the southwest Louisiana Mardi Gras Association queen, who wore a silver and white brocade gown trimmed with rhinestones.

Other popular beauties included:

Marva Glover, Natchitoches, queen of the Louisiana forestry festival Winnfield, who wore an emerald green satin sheath and green sequin crown; Peggy Sharron Brantly, Homer, north Louisiana Delta carnival queen, who wore a white cotton lace gown with royal robe; Susie Acklin, Jonesboro, Louisiana Peach Festival queen, Ruston, who was dressed in a white nylon tulle gown trimmed with sequins; Sandra Louise Coco, Moreauville, queen of Louisiana Livestock and Pasture Festival, who was dressed in a white nylon net dress with green velveteen mantle.

Mary Eleanor Harper, Colfax, Louisiana Market Poultry show, who wore white nylon tulle; Alice Fae Rachal, Louisiana Domino Festival queen, Alexandria, who wore a white lace and tulle gown and black velvet mantle.

The queens were honored by the Louisiana Congressional delegation Friday at a luncheon in the old Supereme Court room at the Capitol. On Thursday night they were feted at a dinner - dance by Parrish Fuller, Oakdale, king of last year's Mardi Gras ball.

'The Boy Friend' Opens Friday At Little Theatre

The Monroe Little Theatre's first musical production, with a setting in the "Roaring Twenties," will begin on eight-night run Friday at the Selman Field Playhouse.

The curtain will rise at 8:15 each night. No performance will be given Monday.

Entitled "The Boy Friend," by Sandy Wilson, the play has been presented on Broadway and London stages.

Starring roles will be handled by L. Slade Brown and Martha K. Williams as the romantic leads. Miss Williams will be playing the role that started "My Fair Lady" star Julie Andrews on her way to stardom.

Other couples in the Charleston Era story will be Dell Moore and Ray Barr, Gerry Kenney and Dr. Jack Rawls, George Brian and Kay Causey.

Slick Lawson and his Redmen will provide background music for the production. Pat Young directed the choreography.

Reservations, which are necessary for non-members, may be obtained by calling FA 5-4278, 3-8509 or 3-0875. Membership cards will be honored.

Subs To Climax Diving Drills

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—Two U.S. submarines will climax a weekend of diving drills in the Gulf of Mexico by coming upriver to New Orleans and Mardi Gras.

The two vessels, the USS Chivo and the USS Chopper, will arrive tomorrow, in time to give crewmen at least one full-day of carnival celeration before the pre-Lenten festivities hit their peak on Mardi Gras day Tuesday.

Another sub, the USS Milledgeville, arrived today.

GOOD PSYCHOTHERAPY

Mardi Gras Like Second Childhood

By SAM BRADY
Staff Consespondent

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—The annual pre - Lenten binge known as Mardi Gras is not guaranteed to cure any deep-seated Freudian bugaboos, but a Tulane University psychologist today prescribed a carnival fling to ease normal tensions of this jumpy space age.

Dr. Wilma Wilson, a chic native of New Orleans who never misses a Carnival season, says that Mardi Gras merrymakers return essentially to the age of about two.

But if the spectacle of a million full grown two-year-olds engulfing Canal Street Tuesday palls you, Dr. Wilson finds it good psychotherapy, "besides just plain fun."

A Mask Does The Trick

She explains it this way: Putting on a mask lets you forget your inhibitions "since you have no identity—nobody will know you." The result, she says emphatically, is not licentiousness but rather a child-like innocence."

According to Dr. Wilson, the child learns his first inhibitons at about age two. These are imposed by the parents to adapt the child to society's standards — not to thwart any basic wickedness, she says.

Hence, when Mardi Gras releases these inhibitions, the result is a pleasant escape into childhood.

As evidence, she cites the infectious goodwill which spreads across the city. Another example, according to Dr. Wilson, is the way revelers vie for trinkets thrown from Mardi Gras floats.

'Throw Me Something'

"Every Mardi Gras you can see people in the stands in front of City Hall and the Boston Club (a staid, fashionable private club) shouting from behind their masks, 'Throw me something, mister.'"

Trinkets thrown from floats are, of course, quite worthless. But the behavior is logical, says Dr. Wilson, if you remember that before the age of two the child got everything free—from his bottle to his playthings (trinkets). And making value judgments is an adult activity, says the doctor.

When the magic curtain of Mardi Gras falls over New Orleans, childhood values are restored, according to Dr. Wilson, and everyone wants to laugh and play freely and have his own trinket.

And The Day After?

But what of the day after, when church bells ring in solemn Ash Wednesday? Dr. Wilson says you'll feel better than you did the day before Mardi Gras.

Guilt feelings? "Definitely not," maintains Dr. Wilson. "Remember, you were hiding behind a mask. No one saw you—not even mom-ma. Secondly, you had the approval of the crowd. And lastly, you had the approval of the church, which is a higher authority than the parent."

"Besides, nothing goes on that you should feel guilty about," the pert doctor laughed. "Everyone has his Mardi Gras in some fashion."

A 'Wild Spot' In All Psychs

She cites the imposing business executive who will wear a red vest even in the executive suite, and the conscientious housewife who lets a little section of her garden grow wild. "Everyone has some spot in his life that defies restriction. Everyone has a 'wild spot,' his own personal Mardi Gras.

Crime And Hair-Cuts

One of the strangest things about the whole juvenile delinquency problem is that boys wearing their hair in crew-cut styles never seem to get into trouble with the law. Crew-cut boys also seem to be better adjusted to life in general, are easier to get along with and are less sullen, cynical and suspicious.

If you think this is imaginary, try to remember the pictures you have seen of all the boys and young men arrested as juvenile offenders. Unless your recollections are different from ours, you probably will find that all such pictures you can recall showed the youths wearing extremely long hair.

Of course, it is true that everyone is likely to pattern his appearance somewhat after that of the type of person he admires. Long hair, usually accompanied by long sideburns, seems somehow to have become associated with the criminal type.

This may have originated in the fact that boys from broken homes or in homes in which they were poverty-stricken and neglected, often wore long, unkempt hair because their parents would neither pay to have the hair cut nor cut it themselves. So many long-haired, neglected boys got into trouble that the type became a style. Most youths choosing to associate themselves with criminal elements also have chosen to take on the appearance of the long-haired, slouchy, slimy-looking prototype of the criminal.

On the other hand, the boy with the crew-cut represents the outdoor, open-air type, who likes to participate in physical sports. This style also is representative of the soldier, who is necessarily open-air and out-going, at least during the time he is in service.

Of course, this does not mean that all of our long-haired citizens are criminals or bad people. For centuries poets and musicians, and actors to some extent, have considered long hair as a sort of trademark. Until fairly recently, the same was true of scientists. Some of our greatest scientists, actors, musicians and poets have been long-hair devotees.

Nevertheless, it does seem to be true that boys who admire and follow in the footsteps of criminals consider long hair a mark of the breed.

Several thousand high school principals, meeting in Indianapolis, Feb. 15-19, at the annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, will be shown a study of the relationship of student appearance to behavior and learning progress.

Credit for launching the movement goes to Dr. Joseph Manch, superintendent of schools of Buffalo, N. Y. Troubled, as most educators have been for years over the anti-social antics of hoodlum-garbed youngsters, Dr. Manch noted that badly-behaved youngsters almost always dressed the part. If tough clothes and appearance contribute to tough conduct, Dr. Manch reasoned, neat, civilized clothes and appearance should bring better behavior and improved attitudes.

The Buffalo Inter-High School Student council also liked this theory and put it to a test. Conduct improved and attitudes changed for the better. Hundreds of other schools—chiefly high schools— are now trying the same plan.

There seems to be no doubt that people tend to play the part their appearance indicates. This being true, campaigns of the sort being tried in the high schools, mostly under the sponsorship of the student councils, could easily prove to be one of the best approaches toward solving the juvenile delinquency problem.

Great Farm Folly

Our farm price support program, which might have been justified for a time as an experiment, can no longer be viewed in any other light than as monumental folly. It is a reflection upon our form of government that a program which can in no way be supported by common sense should be continued—and with no end in sight.

Right now when various reports, published and unpublished, indicate that we are in mortal danger as a nation and when we are searching desperately for ways to cut the budget where possible in order that more funds may be available for defense, is when we should take a long, steady, serious look at our farm program. Of all the nondefense items in the national budget, spending on agriculture should be listed as the number one area for cuts.

Farm outlays are the third largest item in the federal budget, exceeded only by defense spending and interest on the public debt. The cost of the agricultural program in the current budget is now estimated at $5 billion. It has amounted to a total of $27 billion over the past ten years. But the farm problem is no nearer being solved now than when this program was started.

The farm program, as now administered and as it has been administered ever since the federal government started meddling in it, has completely failed to cure the farm ills which caused it to be begun. Instead of that, it has served to perpetuate the problem of mountainous farm surpluses, it has contributed to inflationary pressures in our economy, and it has created ill will abroad.

The most recent example of the farm program failure is the Soil Bank plan — an operation launched in 1956 which pays farmers to leave land idle. The actual result has been that crop production continues at record levels, despite estimated outlays of some $763 million for this purpose in the current fiscal year. Intensive cultivation of the land used and the planting of unrestricted crops on otherwise fallowed land or pasture land have actually pushed agricultural production to new highs.

This $5 billion cost of our agricultural program is a lot of money. It amounts to more than $1,000 per farm. It takes all the revenue the Treasury gets from personal income tax rates beyond 22 per cent to pay for it. It is half again as much as was spent last year to build schools in this country. It is more than ten times total national expenditures—government, industry and universities—for basic scientific research.

Perhaps the most illogical and foolish aspect of this whole farm program is that the taxpayers must pay for it twice. First, they pay the annual cost in billions of dollars to support farm prices at a high level. Second, as a result they pay higher prices for the food they buy in the grocery store. Without price supports for butter, cheese, milk, rice, wheat, etc, etc., the consumer's food dollar would go further and his standard of living would be higher.

One of the costs borne by the taxpayers in connection with the farm program is the sale of agricultural commodities abroad at bargain prices, at less than the government (the taxpayers) pays for them. This may seem like a charitable gesture and a good way to get rid of surplus goods—but it is far from it. In the first place, charity might well begin at home, and in the second place it actually creates ill will in many nations abroad by disrupting world trade patterns, depriving friendly foreign countries of their normal markets, and opening ourselves to accusations of "dumping."

Finally, the most damnable cost of the farm program is its impairment of the farmer's freedom and independence. For being allowed to step under the subsidy umbrella, the farmer is told what he can grow, where he can grow it, and how much he can grow. He is no longer the most traditionally free of all Americans, but is a ward of Uncle Sam. The crop farmers should look at the cattlemen of this country, who refused to be bound by government controls and who are prospering without them.

The Chesapeake Bay Bridge spans four miles of water to link Maryland's eastern and western shores. It cost $44,000,000, and required 3½ years to build. A suspension span in the center lifts the roadway 198 feet above the ship channel, allowing ocean-going vessels access to the Port of Baltimore.

Drum-Thumpers Again Seeking Benson's Scalp

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The political drums are beating again for Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's scalp, but Benson who hasn't much hair left, still has no intention of yielding it. By now, however, he fully appreciates one fact — that the American farmer is unpredictable, and that at least 50 per cent of those engaged in agriculture wish the U. S. government would stop trying to help them.

This combination of circumstances has again thrown the farmer's friends in Washington into confusion, with the cotton south and the middle western corn belt berating Benson for a miscalculation for which the farmers themselves were responsible. Simply stated, both the Department of Agriculture and the cotton spokesman in Congress made a bad guess on the number of cotton growers who would agree to put part of their acreage in the soil bank.

As a result, the total amount available for soil bank payments on cotton are about 75 million dollars short of estimated requirements, and when corn planting time comes, a like situation is expected to prevail there. Meanwhile, prospects for a record breaking wheat crop, with a reluctant increase in surplus, demonstrate that nobody can outguess the farmer. Possibly Univac, the robot calculating machine, might do it, but bureaucrats and congressmen can't.

The soil bank plan was adopted reluctantly by a Democratic Congress two years ago, on Benson's recommendation, when it became apparent that acreage control had failed as a means of holding production within domestic requirements. That was aside from the flexible price supports, which have caused Benson his greatest trouble, because members from non-farming districts who include approximately 85 per cent of the House of Representatives are grumbling more and more about farm subsidies, while the 15 per cent from farming and dairying districts are under terrific pressure from their constituents to keep the price support levels at pre - Eisenhower levels.

This year Benson and his aides decided to put the soil bank for cotton on a first come, first served basis, which meant that as soon as the acreage reserve quotas for states and counties were filled, there would be no more government contracts and no more soil bank payments for those late in making their applications. Then on January 13, to be exact, the department officials knew they were in trouble. They had underestimated the effects of a poor crop last year, and the pressure of "financial agencies", largely local bankers to get the cotton farmers to sign soil bank contracts, as a condition for local loans.

Whereas the soil bank payments last year were about 140 million less than authorized for all crops, the sign up on cotton in the first three days disclosed that there just would not be enough money to cover the compensation for acreage not planted to cotton. Since then southern Democrats have denounced Benson for the miscalculation, though cotton state members of the House Agriculture committee have privately conceded that the big rush to get in on the soil bank payments was just as much of a surprise to them as it was to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Thus far Benson has refused to up his figures on either cotton acreage allotments or cotton soil bank payments. Congress could increase both of course, but the advocates of such revision face a battle in the House, where the whole farm support program becomes increasingly unpopular, year by year. Now with the unprecedented federal peacetime expenditure in prospect, administration opposition to increases in farm subsidy payments jeopardizes the chance of such action.

Domestic cotton needs can be met from an estimated 12 million acre production, but the allotments include 17.6 million acres, of which approximately 5 million are in Texas, where soil bank applications may run as high as 80 per cent. The surplus cotton stored in government warehouses has shrunk from 11 million to 8 million bales but textile weavers throught so little of last year's production in the moisture ridden South that the price dropped sharply, and the same mill owners are now expressing doubt about the quality of much of the stored government surplus.

Meanwhile approximately half the nation's cotton acreage is being witheld from the soil bank, largely in California and Airzona, partly because of the $3000 limit placed on payments to any one producer. And in the wheat sectors, farmers who see a big crop are in many cases willing to exceed allotments and pay a penalty for overproduction in order to make the mose of a good year. But with all that load Benson isn't quitting.

Rubber Band Goes Under Finger Skin

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

UNUSUAL CASES

The ring finger of a 74 year old London woman became swollen due to a tight gold wedding ring. When the ring was removed, the physician noted an abrasion of the skin but decided to let nature take its course. Swelling subsided but the area became infected and failed to heal. Four weeks later, X-ray was taken because stubborn infections of this kind usually are traceable to an infected bone.

The X-ray was negative but the physician decided to operate. He found an intact rubber band embedded about one-eight inch below the surface. It was not tight enough to disturb circulation but had penetraetd deep enough to act like a festered sliver. At one time this woman had worked in a shop, wrapping packages that were secured with small rubber bands. She was in the habit of slipping the bands on her fingers and apparently one found its way beneath the wedding ring, where it remained for years.

Only the wealthy and the poor can afford certain diseases. An Illinois woman developed a rare disorder of the parathyroid glands (idiopathic hypoparathyroidism). She must take $18 to $36 worth of medicine a month for the rest of her life.

But she is fortunate because the state will pick up the tab, since she is on public assistance. Continuous treatment is needed at a cost the ordinary taxpayer could not afford.

Approximately 53 cases of idiopathic hypoparathyroidism have been reported. No one knows why this woman's four parathyroid glands (in the neck) turned into fat and ceased working.

When this occurred, the calcium level in her blood dropped considerably and she suffered severe cramps of the muscles of the extremities, face, and larynx (tetany). These attacks terminate occasionally in convulsions resembling epilepsy. Calcium dihydrotachysterol are needed to raise the calcium level.

SMOKING AND WEIGHT

Mrs. H. writes: My husband stopped smoking two years ago and has put on so much weight since then he has gone from a 35 suit to a size 40. He doesn't seem to eat more but he falls asleep right after dinner. What is the best way for him to lose weight?

Reply

By eating less. He is taking in too many calories for the amount of exercise he does. It is difficult to combat two bad habits at one time but when you feel he has conquered his desire for cigarets, suggest a diet or more exercise and it won't be long before he is back to size 35.

SKIN OR MUSCLE

F. D. writes: Why is the Asian flu vaccine sometimes given into a muscle and in other cases is injected under the skin?

Reply

The same immune response can be evoked by the injection of one to two tenths of a cc. into the top layer of the skin as can be obtained by injecting an entire cc. into a muscle. The intradermal method is cheaper and five to 10 times as many persons can be immunized from one bottle of vaccine.

ITCHING OR SCRATCHING

J. L. writes: Why do so many people itch between the nose and upper lip?

Reply

This symptom is not common but some individuals have developed the nervous habit of scratching the upper lip and nose. Some men cannot keep a mustache because they find it annoying (it itches).

Mongoloid Children

Mrs. R. writes: Do mongoloid youngsters have a short life span?

Reply

Yes. They are highly susceptible to infection and frequently die young of pnuemonia.

Today's Health Hint—

Children never outgrow cross-eye.

Iraq Withdrawal From Pact Is Seen

Federation of Iraq and Jordan probably means that eventually —and possibly before too long — Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt will be the master of 40 million Arabs in the Middle East. American policy, if it is to get anywhere at all in the area, must soon make up its mind to live with this probability and plan for it.

Nasser is well aware of the potentialities in the current situation. His undisputed mastery over Syria, Iraq, Jordan, Yemen and Egypt depends upon the withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact, and that seems to be in the cards. If and when Iraq withdraws from that American-supported alliance, a full reconciliation between Iraq and Egypt can only be a matter of time.

The fewer of Middle East Arab nationalism forced in a brief period of a few weeks events which many had said would take years to develop. There are two federations in the Arab East now.

One is the Iraqi-Jordan merger which, though a loose federation, tends to appease the nationalist appetite for Arab brotherhood.

The other aims at being a firm union under a single government —the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria. The latter forced the former into being in rapid time.

But the Iraqi-Jordan federation will be plunged into chaos unless it offers additional appeasement to the nationalist appetite. The nationalists far outnumber their opponents in the Arab East.

They are unlikely to be satisfied in Jordan with a federation still linked to an alliance which nationalists associate with imperialism and colonialism. King Hussein, pressed more than ever now will be exerting his own pressure against his fellow Hashemites in Iraq for an end to the physical tie with Britain.

Iraq's regime itself will also be under severe strain. The impetus which the Syrian-Egyptian union and the Iraqi-Jordan federation lend to the nationalist cause of unity is bound to build a fire under the British-sponsored Iraqi regime. Unless it bows to that demand, it is in for serious trouble. Once it does bow, Arab nationalism will tend to push more and more toward Nasser's embrace.

This is not necessarily bad. There are some hopeful aspects to it. For one thing, there is hope that some Arab stability will result. In the turbulent Middle East, that would be all to the good.

If American policy attempts to counter and fight this nationalism now, it will generate more explosions in the Arab East.

There is nothing inherently bad in Arab nationalism. It is a force, at any rate, which cannot be stopped. The best American policy can hope for is that it will channel itself into constructive paths. The United States could assist such a process. It could make a friendly gesture toward Arab nationalism. Such a gesture would electrify many an Arab in the area who fervently wants to remain the friend of the United States. For Washington to do otherwise would be to invite eventual calamity for the West in the Middle East.

Interest In U. S. Greater Than Ever

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP)— If public letter writing is an accurate barometer, popular interest in the United Nations has never been greater.

Last year the U.N.'s public inquiry section handled 57,837 letters. This represented a steady growth over the years, and a 15 to 20 per cent increase over 1956.

In 1957 there were 1,205 letters dealing with the Hungarian situation, and 1,168 with the Middle East.

Mrs. Josephine Frank, head of the U.N.'s public inquiry unit, says she and her eight assistants have been getting letters from the Soviet Union. For a while there had been none.

More mail has also come from the satellite countries, particularly Poland and Hungary.

Letters come from all over the world, but something like 90 per cent come from the United States and Canada.

Most of these are inquiries about the work of U.N. bodies.

Glenn E. Bennett, chief of visitors services, says he is impressed by the number of letters written last year expressing appreciation for Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's peace efforts. There were 1,079.

Bennett explained that the number of serious and thoughtful letters has increased recently, while the number of crackpot letters has decreased.

There used to be more mail from writers with chips on their shoulders or from those with weird axes to grind.

There was request that the U.N. step in to prevent the suicide of dogs who were said to be leaping from a building in a South American city.

A number of letters asked that the writers to be put on a list for the first rocket flights into space.

Occasionally a letter is prophetic. One man, begging not to be thought of as a crackpot, wrote three years ago a detailed and serious program calling on the U.N. to undertake an immediate study of space control.

VIEWS OF OUR READERS

ASKS HEART AID

Editor, World Monroe, La.

I have never been one to make a public show of my emotions. And I do not now intend to complain or lament over my lot. I just wanted to write to everyone within reading distance of this paper and tell them how important it is for them to dig deep when they contribute to the Heart Fund.

I just lost my oldest son, Danny. He died because he was born with a heart defect. We tried to keep him well; we built him up after illnesses; we gave him vitamins and tonic. We had him as healthy recently as he had been for months, we took our courage in hand and went with him to New Orleans for surgery that would give him a chance to be a normal little boy. The baseball playing, wrestling, wrangling kind of little boy.

If the operation had been successful this hope we had for him would have come true. But, inexplically, his heart stopped during surgery. The wonderful men who were with him worked hard to save him but God saw fit to take him away. Perhaps there is something more about heart disease that can be learned through research, so that other Dannys might live. So, Please, please contribute to the Heart Fund Drive and give them a chance. For Danny and others like him. For other mothers and fathers who watch and wait with their heart children...

Thanks for your time. God be with you and yours.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Cliff Ferguson

EXPLAINS FLAG MEANING

Editor, World,

In a correct sense of the meaning, the Confederate battle flag was not the flag of the Confederacy, but simply the banner — the battle flag — of the Confederate soldier.

As such, it was never adopted by legislative decree on the part of the Confederate congress. It really had no official standing, and was no more the insignia of the Confederate States than was the red rose that of the House of Lancaster, or the white rose that of the House of York in the War of the Roses in England in the 15th Century.

To the above facts we direct the attention of the Allentown, Pa. Chronicle, which, in a high moment, was horsing around in a large jackassery, and attacked the University of Mississippi for the display of the huge Confederate battle flag in the Sugar Bowl, January 1.

No man is justified in criticizing the display of the flag. Nor should the flag be condemned, although our cause suffered from its downfall. On the contrary, the whole world can praise the flag and the men who marched under its folds, and feel no shame of disloyalty to any government, whether that government be a monarchy or one having an atheistic leaning.

It is enshrined in the hearts of all Southern men and women, and its strength was in the sinewy and fighting quality of the Confederate soldier.

It was a grand flag, a beautiful flag and an honorable flag, the Chronicle's schizophrenic criticism notwithstanding.

Beware The Sunday

BEWARE the Sunday you decide . . . You need not go to church . . . That just a single absence will . . . Not leave you in the lurch . . . Because it only takes one time . . . To weaken your defense . . . Against the possibility . . . Of cold indifference . . . One Sunday missed, and you may feel . . . So careless and so free . . . Another absence will occur . . . Then maybe two or three . . . And then, before you know it, you . . . Are staying home each time . . . Another Sunday morning comes . . . And church bells ring or chime . . . Unless you have a real excuse . . . Too ill or old to go . . . Do worship God each Sunday in . . . The church and faith you know.

Crime And Hair-Cuts

One of the strangest things about the whole juvenile delinquency problem is that boys wearing their hair in crew-cut styles never seem to get into trouble with the law. Crew-cut boys also seem to be better adjusted to life in general, are easier to get along with and are less sullen, cynical and suspicious.

If you think this is imaginary, try to remember the pictures you have seen of all the boys and young men arrested as juvenile offenders. Unless your recollections are different from ours, you probably will find that all such pictures you can recall showed the youths wearing extremely long hair.

Of course, it is true that everyone is likely to pattern his appearance somewhat after that of the type of person he admires. Long hair, usually accompanied by long sideburns, seems somehow to have become associated with the criminal type.

This may have originated in the fact that boys from broken homes or in homes in which they were poverty-stricken and neglected, often wore long, unkempt hair because their parents would neither pay to have the hair cut nor cut it themselves. So many long-haired, neglected boys got into trouble that the type became a style. Most youths choosing to associate themselves with criminal elements also have chosen to take on the appearance of the long-haired, slouchy, slimy-looking prototype of the criminal.

On the other hand, the boy with the crew-cut represents the outdoor, open-air type, who likes to participate in physical sports. This style also is representative of the soldier, who is necessarily open-air and out-going, at least during the time he is in service.

Of course, this does not mean that all of our long-haired citizens are criminals or bad people. For centuries poets and musicians, and actors to some extent, have considered long hair as a sort of trademark. Until fairly recently, the same was true of scientists. Some of our greatest scientists, actors, musicians and poets have been long-hair devotees.

Nevertheless, it does seem to be true that boys who admire and follow in the footsteps of criminals consider long hair a mark of the breed.

Several thousand high school principals, meeting in Indianapolis, Feb. 15-19, at the annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, will be shown a study of the relationship of student appearance to behavior and learning progress.

Credit for launching the movement goes to Dr. Joseph Manch, superintendent of schools of Buffalo, N. Y. Troubled, as most educators have been for years over the anti-social antics of hoodlum-garbed youngsters, Dr. Manch noted that badly-behaved youngsters almost always dressed the part. If tough clothes and appearance contribute to tough conduct, Dr. Manch reasoned, neat, civilized clothes and appearance should bring better behavior and improved attitudes.

The Buffalo Inter-High School Student council also liked this theory and put it to a test. Conduct improved and attitudes changed for the better. Hundreds of other schools—chiefly high schools— are now trying the same plan.

There seems to be no doubt that people tend to play the part their appearance indicates. This being true, campaigns of the sort being tried in the high schools, mostly under the sponsorship of the student councils, could easily prove to be one of the best approaches toward solving the juvenile delinquency problem.

Great Farm Folly

Our farm price support program, which might have been justified for a time as an experiment, can no longer be viewed in any other light than as monumental folly. It is a reflection upon our form of government that a program which can in no way be supported by common sense should be continued—and with no end in sight.

Right now when various reports, published and unpublished, indicate that we are in mortal danger as a nation and when we are searching desperately for ways to cut the budget where possible in order that more funds may be available for defense, is when we should take a long, steady, serious look at our farm program. Of all the nondefense items in the national budget, spending on agriculture should be listed as the number one area for cuts.

Farm outlays are the third largest item in the federal budget, exceeded only by defense spending and interest on the public debt. The cost of the agricultural program in the current budget is now estimated at $5 billion. It has amounted to a total of $27 billion over the past ten years. But the farm problem is no nearer being solved now than when this program was started.

The farm program, as now administered and as it has been administered ever since the federal government started meddling in it, has completely failed to cure the farm ills which caused it to be begun. Instead of that, it has served to perpetuate the problem of mountainous farm surpluses, it has contributed to inflationary pressures in our economy, and it has created ill will abroad.

The most recent example of the farm program failure is the Soil Bank plan — an operation launched in 1956 which pays farmers to leave land idle. The actual result has been that crop production continues at record levels, despite estimated outlays of some $763 million for this purpose in the current fiscal year. Intensive cultivation of the land used and the planting of unrestricted crops on otherwise fallowed land or pasture land have actually pushed agricultural production to new highs.

This $5 billion cost of our agricultural program is a lot of money. It amounts to more than $1,000 per farm. It takes all the revenue the Treasury gets from personal income tax rates beyond 22 per cent to pay for it. It is half again as much as was spent last year to build schools in this country. It is more than ten times total national expenditures—government, industry and universities—for basic scientific research.

Perhaps the most illogical and foolish aspect of this whole farm program is that the taxpayers must pay for it twice. First, they pay the annual cost in billions of dollars to support farm prices at a high level. Second, as a result they pay higher prices for the food they buy in the grocery store. Without price supports for butter, cheese, milk, rice, wheat, etc, etc., the consumer's food dollar would go further and his standard of living would be higher.

One of the costs borne by the taxpayers in connection with the farm program is the sale of agricultural commodities abroad at bargain prices, at less than the government (the taxpayers) pays for them. This may seem like a charitable gesture and a good way to get rid of surplus goods—but it is far from it. In the first place, charity might well begin at home, and in the second place it actually creates ill will in many nations abroad by disrupting world trade patterns, depriving friendly foreign countries of their normal markets, and opening ourselves to accusations of "dumping."

Finally, the most damnable cost of the farm program is its impairment of the farmer's freedom and independence. For being allowed to step under the subsidy umbrella, the farmer is told what he can grow, where he can grow it, and how much he can grow. He is no longer the most traditionally free of all Americans, but is a ward of Uncle Sam. The crop farmers should look at the cattlemen of this country, who refused to be bound by government controls and who are prospering without them.

The Chesapeake Bay Bridge spans four miles of water to link Maryland's eastern and western shores. It cost $44,000,000, and required 3½ years to build. A suspension span in the center lifts the roadway 198 feet above the ship channel, allowing ocean-going vessels access to the Port of Baltimore.

At The Fork In The Road

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Drum-Thumpers Again Seeking Benson's Scalp

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The political drums are beating again for Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's scalp, but Benson who hasn't much hair left, still has no intention of yielding it. By now, however, he fully appreciates one fact — that the American farmer is unpredictable, and that at least 50 per cent of those engaged in agriculture wish the U. S. government would stop trying to help them.

This combination of circumstances has again thrown the farmer's friends in Washington into confusion, with the cotton south and the middle western corn belt berating Benson for a miscalculation for which the farmers themselves were responsible. Simply stated, both the Department of Agriculture and the cotton spokesman in Congress made a bad guess on the number of cotton growers who would agree to put part of their acreage in the soil bank.

As a result, the total amount available for soil bank payments on cotton are about 75 million dollars short of estimated requirements, and when corn planting time comes, a like situation is expected to prevail there. Meanwhile, prospects for a record breaking wheat crop, with a reluctant increase in surplus, demonstrate that nobody can outguess the farmer. Possibly Univac, the robot calculating machine, might do it, but bureaucrats and congressmen can't.

The soil bank plan was adopted reluctantly by a Democratic Congress two years ago, on Benson's recommendation, when it became apparent that acreage control had failed as a means of holding production within domestic requirements. That was aside from the flexible price supports, which have caused Benson his greatest trouble, because members from non-farming districts who include approximately 85 per cent of the House of Representatives are grumbling more and more about farm subsidies, while the 15 per cent from farming and dairying districts are under terrific pressure from their constituents to keep the price support levels at pre - Eisenhower levels.

This year Benson and his aides decided to put the soil bank for cotton on a first come, first served basis, which meant that as soon as the acreage reserve quotas for states and counties were filled, there would be no more government contracts and no more soil bank payments for those late in making their applications. Then on January 13, to be exact, the department officials knew they were in trouble. They had underestimated the effects of a poor crop last year, and the pressure of "financial agencies", largely local bankers to get the cotton farmers to sign soil bank contracts, as a condition for local loans.

Whereas the soil bank payments last year were about 140 million less than authorized for all crops, the sign up on cotton in the first three days disclosed that there just would not be enough money to cover the compensation for acreage not planted to cotton. Since then southern Democrats have denounced Benson for the miscalculation, though cotton state members of the House Agriculture committee have privately conceded that the big rush to get in on the soil bank payments was just as much of a surprise to them as it was to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Thus far Benson has refused to up his figures on either cotton acreage allotments or cotton soil bank payments. Congress could increase both of course, but the advocates of such revision face a battle in the House, where the whole farm support program becomes increasingly unpopular, year by year. Now with the unprecedented federal peacetime expenditure in prospect, administration opposition to increases in farm subsidy payments jeopardizes the chance of such action.

Domestic cotton needs can be met from an estimated 12 million acre production, but the allotments include 17.6 million acres, of which approximately 5 million are in Texas, where soil bank applications may run as high as 80 per cent. The surplus cotton stored in government warehouses has shrunk from 11 million to 8 million bales but textile weavers throught so little of last year's production in the moisture ridden South that the price dropped sharply, and the same mill owners are now expressing doubt about the quality of much of the stored government surplus.

Meanwhile approximately half the nation's cotton acreage is being witheld from the soil bank, largely in California and Airzona, partly because of the $3000 limit placed on payments to any one producer. And in the wheat sectors, farmers who see a big crop are in many cases willing to exceed allotments and pay a penalty for overproduction in order to make the mose of a good year. But with all that load Benson isn't quitting.

Rubber Band Goes Under Finger Skin

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

UNUSUAL CASES

The ring finger of a 74 year old London woman became swollen due to a tight gold wedding ring. When the ring was removed, the physician noted an abrasion of the skin but decided to let nature take its course. Swelling subsided but the area became infected and failed to heal. Four weeks later, X-ray was taken because stubborn infections of this kind usually are traceable to an infected bone.

The X-ray was negative but the physician decided to operate. He found an intact rubber band embedded about one-eight inch below the surface. It was not tight enough to disturb circulation but had penetraetd deep enough to act like a festered sliver. At one time this woman had worked in a shop, wrapping packages that were secured with small rubber bands. She was in the habit of slipping the bands on her fingers and apparently one found its way beneath the wedding ring, where it remained for years.

Only the wealthy and the poor can afford certain diseases. An Illinois woman developed a rare disorder of the parathyroid glands (idiopathic hypoparathyroidism). She must take $18 to $36 worth of medicine a month for the rest of her life.

But she is fortunate because the state will pick up the tab, since she is on public assistance. Continuous treatment is needed at a cost the ordinary taxpayer could not afford.

Approximately 53 cases of idiopathic hypoparathyroidism have been reported. No one knows why this woman's four parathyroid glands (in the neck) turned into fat and ceased working.

When this occurred, the calcium level in her blood dropped considerably and she suffered severe cramps of the muscles of the extremities, face, and larynx (tetany). These attacks terminate occasionally in convulsions resembling epilepsy. Calcium dihydrotachysterol are needed to raise the calcium level.

SMOKING AND WEIGHT

Mrs. H. writes: My husband stopped smoking two years ago and has put on so much weight since then he has gone from a 35 suit to a size 40. He doesn't seem to eat more but he falls asleep right after dinner. What is the best way for him to lose weight?

Reply

By eating less. He is taking in too many calories for the amount of exercise he does. It is difficult to combat two bad habits at one time but when you feel he has conquered his desire for cigarets, suggest a diet or more exercise and it won't be long before he is back to size 35.

SKIN OR MUSCLE

F. D. writes: Why is the Asian flu vaccine sometimes given into a muscle and in other cases is injected under the skin?

Reply

The same immune response can be evoked by the injection of one to two tenths of a cc. into the top layer of the skin as can be obtained by injecting an entire cc. into a muscle. The intradermal method is cheaper and five to 10 times as many persons can be immunized from one bottle of vaccine.

ITCHING OR SCRATCHING

J. L. writes: Why do so many people itch between the nose and upper lip?

Reply

This symptom is not common but some individuals have developed the nervous habit of scratching the upper lip and nose. Some men cannot keep a mustache because they find it annoying (it itches).

Mongoloid Children

Mrs. R. writes: Do mongoloid youngsters have a short life span?

Reply

Yes. They are highly susceptible to infection and frequently die young of pnuemonia.

Today's Health Hint—

Children never outgrow cross-eye.

Iraq Withdrawal From Pact Is Seen

Federation of Iraq and Jordan probably means that eventually —and possibly before too long — Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt will be the master of 40 million Arabs in the Middle East. American policy, if it is to get anywhere at all in the area, must soon make up its mind to live with this probability and plan for it.

Nasser is well aware of the potentialities in the current situation. His undisputed mastery over Syria, Iraq, Jordan, Yemen and Egypt depends upon the withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact, and that seems to be in the cards. If and when Iraq withdraws from that American-supported alliance, a full reconciliation between Iraq and Egypt can only be a matter of time.

The fewer of Middle East Arab nationalism forced in a brief period of a few weeks events which many had said would take years to develop. There are two federations in the Arab East now.

One is the Iraqi-Jordan merger which, though a loose federation, tends to appease the nationalist appetite for Arab brotherhood.

The other aims at being a firm union under a single government —the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria. The latter forced the former into being in rapid time.

But the Iraqi-Jordan federation will be plunged into chaos unless it offers additional appeasement to the nationalist appetite. The nationalists far outnumber their opponents in the Arab East.

They are unlikely to be satisfied in Jordan with a federation still linked to an alliance which nationalists associate with imperialism and colonialism. King Hussein, pressed more than ever now will be exerting his own pressure against his fellow Hashemites in Iraq for an end to the physical tie with Britain.

Iraq's regime itself will also be under severe strain. The impetus which the Syrian-Egyptian union and the Iraqi-Jordan federation lend to the nationalist cause of unity is bound to build a fire under the British-sponsored Iraqi regime. Unless it bows to that demand, it is in for serious trouble. Once it does bow, Arab nationalism will tend to push more and more toward Nasser's embrace.

This is not necessarily bad. There are some hopeful aspects to it. For one thing, there is hope that some Arab stability will result. In the turbulent Middle East, that would be all to the good.

If American policy attempts to counter and fight this nationalism now, it will generate more explosions in the Arab East.

There is nothing inherently bad in Arab nationalism. It is a force, at any rate, which cannot be stopped. The best American policy can hope for is that it will channel itself into constructive paths. The United States could assist such a process. It could make a friendly gesture toward Arab nationalism. Such a gesture would electrify many an Arab in the area who fervently wants to remain the friend of the United States. For Washington to do otherwise would be to invite eventual calamity for the West in the Middle East.

Interest In U. S. Greater Than Ever

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP)—If public letter writing is an accurate barometer, popular interest in the United Nations has never been greater.

Last year the U.N.'s public inquiry section handled 57,837 letters. This represented a steady growth over the years, and a 15 to 20 per cent increase over 1956.

In 1957 there were 1,205 letters dealing with the Hungarian situation, and 1,168 with the Middle East.

Mrs. Josephine Frank, head of the U.N.'s public inquiry unit, says she and her eight assistants have been getting letters from the Soviet Union. For a while there had been none.

More mail has also come from the satellite countries, particularly Poland and Hungary.

Letters come from all over the world, but something like 90 per cent come from the United States and Canada.

Most of these are inquiries about the work of U.N. bodies.

Glenn E. Bennett, chief of visitors services, says he is impressed by the number of letters written last year expressing appreciation for Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's peace efforts. There were 1,079.

Bennett explained that the number of serious and thoughtful letters has increased recently, while the number of crackpot letters has decreased.

There used to be more mail from writers with chips on their shoulders or from those with weird axes to grind.

There was request that the U.N. step in to prevent the suicide of dogs who were said to be leaping from a building in a South American city.

A number of letters asked that the writers to be put on a list for the first rocket flights into space.

Occasionally a letter is prophetic. One man, begging not to be thought of as a crackpot, wrote three years ago a detailed and serious program calling on the U.N. to undertake an immediate study of space control.

VIEWS OF OUR READERS

ASKS HEART AID

Editor, World Monroe, La.

I have never been one to make a public show of my emotions. And I do not now intend to complain or lament over my lot. I just wanted to write to everyone within reading distance of this paper and tell them how important it is for them to dig deep when they contribute to the Heart Fund.

I just lost my oldest son, Danny. He died because he was born with a heart defect. We tried to keep him well; we built him up after illnesses; we gave him vitamins and tonic. We had him as healthy recently as he had been for months, we took our courage in hand and went with him to New Orleans for surgery that would give him a chance to be a normal little boy. The baseball playing, wrestling, wrangling kind of little boy.

If the operation had been successful this hope we had for him would have come true. But, inexplicably, his heart stopped during surgery. The wonderful men who were with him worked hard to save him but God saw fit to take him away. Perhaps there is something more about heart disease that can be learned through research, so that other Dannys might live. So, Please, please contribute to the Heart Fund Drive and give them a chance. For Danny and others like him. For other mothers and fathers who watch and wait with their heart children...

Thanks for your time. God be with you and yours.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Cliff Ferguson

Mer Rouge, La.

EXPLAINS FLAG MEANING

Editor, World,

In a correct sense of the meaning, the Confederate battle flag was not the flag of the Confederacy, but simply the banner — the battle flag — of the Confederate soldier.

As such, it was never adopted by legislative decree on the part of the Confederate congress. It really had no official standing, and was no more the insignia of the Confederate States than was the red rose that of the House of Lancaster, or the white rose that of the House of York in the War of the Roses in England in the 15th Century.

To the above facts we direct the attention of the Allentown, Pa. Chronicle, which, in a high moment, was horsing around in a large jackassery, and attacked the University of Mississippi for the display of the huge Confederate battle flag in the Sugar Bowl, January 1.

No man is justified in criticizing the display of the flag. Nor should the flag be condemned, although our cause suffered from its downfall. On the contrary, the whole world can praise the flag and the men who marched under its folds, and feel no shame of disloyalty to any government, whether that government be a monarchy or one having an atheistic leaning.

It is enshrined in the hearts of all Southern men and women, and its strength was in the sinewy and fighting quality of the Confederate soldier.

It was a grand flag, a beautiful flag and an honorable flag, the Chronicle's schizophrenic criticism notwithstanding.

Heart Disease Death Rate In Ouachita High

More than 50 per cent of those who died in Ouachita parish last year were victims of heart disease.

During this month, you and every other resident of Ouachita parish can strike back at the killer disease, by contributing to the Heart Fund campaign, according to Dean Wililam B. Smith, fund drive chairman.

Money collected is used for research, community Heart programs such as those used to prevent rheumatic fever and rehabilitate cardiac suffers, and to supply the public with information on causes and prevention of heart disease.

Research and education during the last 30 years have worked outstanding results: those under 25 now have a 70 per ient greater chance of avoiding death from heart disease; people between 25 and 44 have a 35 per cent greater chance to avoid death at the hands of the "heartless" killer.

The number of those who succumbed to heart disease in this parish last year was a higher percentage than the national average. Mrs. George P. Forman, chairman of the parish Heart Council yesterday urged that all residents of the parish contriute to the February fund drive, to bring about a decrease in the area's great number of heart deaths.

Tax Assessment Figures Nicked By Type Jumble

The Ouachita parish tax assessment is $97,421,900.00 — but fate seems to have worked a conspiracy against the accurate figures.

Earlier this week, releases by the census bureau of the department of commerce placed the parish assessment at $44,131,000. Inquiry with Bert Coverdale parish tax assessor, brought the correct figures to light. Coaerdale remarked that the census figures were $53,290,900.00 below the actual assessment.

Efforts to publish the true assessment failed yesterday, when a typographical error changed the 97 million to 9 million.

Elections Set In Three Towns

HARRISONBURG (Special) — Three Catahoula Parish towns—Harrisonburg, Jonesville, and Sicily Island — will elect city officials June 10.

Harrisonburg will select a mayor, three aldermen and a town marshal. The election was called at the regular council meeting this week in accordance with the Lawarson Act of 1898. This act permits towns and villages with a population of less than 5,000 to use nominating papers in lieu of the first and second primaries.

Papers Certified

Under the act, a candidate must have at least 10 qualified electors sign his nominating popers. The papers will then be certified by the parish registrar of voters and filed with the Secretary of State before midnight on April 22.

The Lawarson Act was passed after Harrisonburg was incorporated as a village by Act 64 of 1872. Therefore, Harrisonburg had to vote to come under the law a few years later. One of the oldest towns in Louisiana, Harrisonburg has the lowest millage rate in the state — seven mills.

Jonesville Election

Jonesville will elect a mayor and aldermen. The town does not have a town marshal. A special act of the Louisiana State legislature gave the mayor of Jonesville "by and with the consent of the aldermen to appoint a town marshal . . ."

Sicily Island electors will choose a mayor, three aldermen and a town marshal. This will be the town's firs election. They were incorporated as a village in April, 1955. The present officials were appointed to serve until 1958 by Gov. Robert F. Kennon.

All three towns will hold the election in accordance with the Lawarson Act and officials will take office July 1.

Southern Bell Asks Order To Query Expert

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (AP) — Southern Bell Telephone Co. yesterday asked a court order to force a national rate expert to answer questioning by company attorneys on his employment by the Louisiana Public Service Commission.

In a suit filed against the commission in district court, the firm maintains it will show through the testimony of rate consultant Anold Hirsch, Washington, that his continued employment by the commission is unnecessary. The suit also contends that a contract under which Hirsch was retained last year is invalid and that his fees are unreasonable.

Hirsch was employed by the commission last October in connection with an application by Southern Bell for an emergency intrastate rate increase. By law, the telephone company is required to pay the consultant's expenses. Hirsch's fees are $100 a day.

Earlier this week in another suit filed by Southern Bell, District Judge Coleman Lindsey ruled the company had to pay Hirsch $1,800 for 18 days consultation. The decision did not go into the company's allegation that Hirsch's services were unnecessary.

General Electric Co. in Schenectady has developed an instrument called the "recording spectrophotometer," which is capable of distinguishing more than two million colors. The human eye, at best, can distinguish about 100,000 different colors.

Parish Woman Files Suit On Louisiana MD

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Mrs. Stella Roush yesterday asked $50,000 damages from a physician's insurer because she said a hypodermic needle and syringe was left in her abdomen 20 years.

Mrs. Roush, of Ouachita Parish, filed suit in U.S. District Court. She named as defendant the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., insurer of Dr. Walter Moss of Lake Charles, La.

The suit claimed Moss left the needle and syringe during an operation Nov. 24, 1937 at St. Patrick's Hospital in Calcasieu Parish. She said the operation was a caesarean section (surgical delivery).

Since, she said, she had "suffered frequent abdominal pains" but the condition was not discovered until Feb. 24, 1957, when she was X-rayed at the Sun Valley Hospital, Sun Valley, Calif.

Efforts to remove the instruments, she said, have been fruitless.

NEW AGUSTA, Miss., Feb. 14 Roderick Lewis, 42, faces three manslaughter sentences — growing out of a traffic accident last August.

Lewis was tried yesterday in connection with the death of Henry Fife, 64. He was convicted, then pleaded guilty to charges growing out of the death of Billy Fifi, the man's 22-year-old son, and Mrs. Billy Fife.

The accident happened near Beaumont.

Sentence will be passed Monday.

Officers testified Lewis was driving on the wrong side of the road when the collision occurred.

Lewis is from Beaumont and the Fifes from Natchez.

MAC WARD

Ward Named Cancer Drive Leader Here

Mac Ward, news director for KNOE and KNOE-TV, will lead the 1958 Cancer Crusade in Ouachita parish, it was announced at local headquarters of the American Cancer Society. The educational and fund - raising drive will begin April 1 with April 13 designated as Cancer Control Sunday.

Ward moved to Monroe in 1947 after being in service in the combat intelligence corps in Europe. He attended Northeast Louisiana State College, Tulane University, and the University of Heidelberg in Germany.

As chairman of the local campaign Ward will direct the raising of the quota for Ouachita parish. "The whole program of the ACS is directed toward saving lives," Ward stated. "It is a big job and a great challenge. Today the fight against cancer is the greatest ever. More talent, time and money are going into research than ever before, more into service, more into education. More lives than ever before are being saved. Newspapers, magazines, radio and TV are carrying more life saving information on cancer. More volunteers are participating in the fight. The more people the Society brings into our Crusade, the sooner cancer will be brought under control."

"From the beginning of our history we have always joined together to solve our problems. This century of medical achievement bears witness to what can be accomplished by voluntary agencies, with the indispensible aid of volunteer workers, the cooperation of the medical profession, and the financial support of the public. I ask our good citizens here in Ouachita parish to bear in mind the recent victory against polio which was bought and paid for by their generosity. Eventually we can do the same thing with cancer if we get the same generous public support. Our question is: How can we work together to save lives from cancer," he concluded.

Teacher Assails Troublemakers

NEW YORK, Feb 15 (AP)— A white teacher claimed yesterday that a handful of troublemakers have tually segregated Negro junior high school. He said he, himself, has received a death threat.

The school, PS ..., is in a rundown, crime-infested Negro section of Sout' Jamaica in Queens Its 1,003 students are 98 per cent Negro, since the school draws from an almost solidly Negro area

The teacher, Robert Barbarash, said he lives in fear of young toughs in his classroom He added that conditions would be worse except that Principal Sherwood P Friedman is a strict disciplinarian

Barbarash showed police an anonymous letter mailed to him at school Printed on it in immaturg pzgo)the following:

"Don't go to school Feb 17 if you want to stay alive"

Thj ,go)alst a scribble message T E?R..',O E HEAD EQU eath," and a Feb 7 clipping from the Long Island Press

Barbarash said h hasn't decided yet whether to defy the warning and go to school Monday He added that he, his wife and his baby daughter have been promised police protection

The newspaper clipping and the BB reference pertain to an incident last month Barbarash said a hidden sniper nicked him in the ear with an air rifle outside PS 40

The 27-year-ol' teacher brought charges against four Negro students he accused of having a hand in th shooting Three of them were cleared in Children's Court and the other is free pending a June hearing

In the clipping, Barbarash was quoted by the Press:

"The fact that those kids were cleared means that the young toughs in the school will think they can get away with just anything Conditions will get worse You can't help feeling that they're plotting something new to gain revenge for my pressing charges"

Barbarash said he believed he was shot at by a boy whom he flunked last year He added that the death threat is an apparent outgrowth of the prosecution of the four boys

Dulles Trims Vacation At Atlantic City

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will cut short his Atlantic City vacation Monday and take personal charge of American efforts to avert an embarrassing U. N. Security Council showdown on the French-Tunisian dispute.

He informed the State Department of his decision Saturday, despite signs that France and Tunisia are controlling their tempers.

President Eisenhower, who also is on a vacation, is being kept fully informed of developments, officials said. The possibility of presidential messages to both sides in the dispute was not ruled out.

Officials were encouraged by press reports from Paris that the French government has decided to accept "the good offices of the United States" to mediate in the crisis set off by last Saturday's French air riad against a Tunisian border village.

The U. S. objective is to avoid a head-on, name-calling debate and vote in which the United States would have to take sides between two allies, to the profit of the Communists.

Officials noted that the U. N. charter calls on all parties to disputes to find ways to settle them outside the U.N., using the world organization's machinery only as a last resort.

Dulles is not expected to go to New York to take part in any Security Council debate on the dispute.

Says Stability Much Needed In Guatemala Gov't

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15—UP—Tulane University law professor Leonard Oppenheim said today the stability of the Guatemalan government is all that can prevent the return of communism in that country.

Dr. Oppenheim, acting director of the institute of comparative law at Tulane, recently returned from a trip to the Latin American country.

He said that General Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes is preaching stability to his people. Fuentes is the apparent victor in the Jan. 19 Guatemalan presidential election.

Fuentes apparently has won the sympathy of most of the people of Guatemala, Dr. Oppenheim said. The professor visited with the general last week.

He said he was most impressed by the near fanatacism of the lower classes who follow the general.

"Almost everywhere he went," Oppenheim said in an interview at Tulane, "the crowds crushed about him."

Commerce Dept. Rejecting Wage Pleas Of Group

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Department of Commerce has rejected pleas of the men who control the nation's air traffic for higher wage standards, it was learned Saturday.

The action coincided with mounting congressional concern over air traffic congestion. Two weeks ago a Navy transport collided with a Navy bomber near Los Angeles and 47 persons were killed. Saturday the Civil Aeronautics Board tightened air traffic rules for military fliers.

The controllers asked the Civil Service Commission, through the Commerce Department, to upgrade salary classifications for both beginners and trained personnel. They want the starting pay for trainees set at $5,500 instead of the present $4,080 to attract higher - calibre applicants with aviation background.

A high-ranking Commerce Department official told the United Press the plea was turned down after a survey showed the Civil Aeronautics Administration has an ample supply of traffic control applicants. He also said ATC centers throughout the nation appeared to be fully staffed and adequately manned.

Veteran controllers bitterly criticized the decision.

"Many control centers may be fully staffed from the standpoint of numbers," one controller said, "but some are manned largely by trainees, with only a handful of well-trained and experienced controllers."

He said he was most impressed by the near fanatacism of the lower classes who follow the general.

"Almost everywhere he went," Oppenheim said in an interview at Tulane, "the crowds crushed about him."

Commerce Dept. Rejecting Wage Pleas Of Group

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Department of Commerce has rejected pleas of the men who control the nation's air traffic for higher wage standards, it was learned Saturday.

The action coincided with mounting congressional concern over air traffic congestion. Two weeks ago a Navy transport collided with a Navy bomber near Los Angeles and 47 persons were killed. Saturday the Civil Aeronautics Board tightened air traffic rules for military fliers.

The controllers asked the Civil Service Commission, through the Commerce Department, to upgrade salary classifications for both beginners and trained personnel. They want the starting pay for trainees set at $5,500 instead of the present $4,080 to attract higher - calibre applicants with aviation background.

A high-ranking Commerce Department official told the United Press the plea was turned down after a survey showed the Civil Aeronautics Administration has an ample supply of traffic control applicants. He also said ATC centers throughout the nation appeared to be fully staffed and adequately manned.

Veteran controllers bitterly criticized the decision.

"Many control centers may be fully staffed from the standpoint of numbers," one controller said, "but some are manned largely by trainees, with only a handful of well-trained and experienced controllers."

21 Northeast Students Take Midwest Trip

Twenty - one Northeast State students, all pharmacy majors, are taking part in a six - day field trip to pharmaceutical laboratories in the Midwest. They were accompanied by Frank Martin, associate professor of pharmacy.

The group is scheduled to visit the Abbott Laboratories in Chicago for three days to observe the manufacture of drugs and other products. Following that tour, they will go to Indianapolis to visit the Eli Lilly Company, another large scale manufacturer of pharmaceutical supplies.

With epception of travel expenses, students will be guests of these two firms, which have arranged for banquets and other entertainment. The group is scheduled to see an ice hockey game in Indianapolis.

Pharmacy majors making the tour and study include: Chester Richard, Floyd Prejean, L. V. Rabalais, Alferd Coco, Jim Colligan, Lane Lemoine, Dennis Mestayer, Gary Eads, Jerry Hemstreet, Ronnie Meister, Roland Lormond, Alan Vines, Thomas Kelly, Robert Crouch, Randolph Cage, Jack McCormack, H. P. Brooks, Donald Chapman, Edward Zeinert, Charles Bennett, and Rachel Bloom.

doors down the street, said that he noticed a man standing across the street that fitted the gunman's description, just before the incident. James' 9 - year old son was in the store during the holdup.

Two Negro women who were called to the store, told police that six weeks ago they had seen a man standing across the street nervously peeping from behind a utility pole. They said he stood there for some time and one of them called police who last night were checking on the previous report.

Hildabridle described his assailent as 5 feet, 11 inches, tall slender, weighing 150 pounds, and wearing a white mask. He carried either a .32 or .38 calibre blue steel pistol, and was wearing dark pants, blue jean jacket, and a fine pin - striped railroader's cap.

Police were combing the area last night in a thorough investigation.

A possible connection between two similar reported robberies was temporarily ruled out by authorities because of discrepancies in the descriptions of the gunmen.

On Jan. 20, a lone Negro gunman accosted a grocery clerk on Texas Avenue, and another Negro attempted to rob a grocery store in the 1700 block of DeSiard on Jan. 22.

FPC Expected To Extend Its Power In State

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (AP)—Conservation Commissioner John Hussey warned today the Federal Power Commission probably would extend its invasion of state regulating authority.

Hussey spoke at the final session of the sixth annual Mineral Law Institute at Louisiana State University.

"Some recent cases involving state orders regulating minimum wellhead prices for natural gas go well beyond the traditional sphere of price regulations and give indications of possible greater and more disturbing conflicts between state and federal administrative jurisdictions in matters of production and gathering of natural gas," he said.

The federal Natural Gas Act exempts from its application the production or gathering of natural gas.

"Prior to the time that the federal courts chose to ignore the plain wording of this statute. . .It was believed that a state oil and gas regulatory body could be invested with statutory authority to fix a minimum price for natural gas at the wellhead prior to its entry into interstate commerce..."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The former Minnesota governor, now transplanted to Pennsylvania, withstood some of the chopping techniques of the administration and lasted out a relatively long career as an Eisenhower adviser.

The President today, in accepting Stassen's resignation "effective today," placed high value on Stassen's "loyal friendship."

"Since the reasons you give for your decision are of a political nature and involve an intent to participate in a primary contest in Pennsylvania, I deem it inappropriate for me to comment here on them," the President wrote Stassen.

Local GOP Opposition

Before the President's exchange of correspondence with Stassen was exposed to public view, the former Minnesota governor telephoned newspapers and press associations in Philadelphia to tell them of his upcoming announcement.

No sooner had Stassen's large hat hit the political ring than the professional politicians of the GOP organization in Pennsylvania began to disclaim any involvement with Stassen.

State Chairman George I. Bloom apparently speaking for the Pennsylvania organization, said party voters and county leaders did not want Stassen as a gubernatorial standard bearer.

Stassen, former president of the University of Pennsylvania, is known in party circles as a political plugger. The so-called Pennsylvania GOP machine is against him, but recent reports by White House political experts have been to the effect that Stassen might fuse together the independents and young Republicans into a winning ticket.

Stassen, who has the political hide of an overage elephant, told reporters in Pennsylvania Saturday morning that at this stage of politics, it was "perfectly natural" for the state organzation to oppose his gubernatorial candidacy.

Wreck Victim Reported On Critical List

WINNSBORO (Special) — William H. Campbell, 28 of Route 1, Wisner, last night was in critial condition in Confederate Memorial hospital in Shreveport after a car - truck collision in Wisner at 9:15 Friday night.

According to State Police and Eldon Brown, Wisner marshal who investigated the accident, Campbell was in a 1957 model four-door Chevrolet travelling north on Highway 15.

Near the ice - house on a slight curve just before the road enters the Wisner business district, Campbell lost control of his vehicle and skidded sideways into the front of a large oil transport truck loaded with kerosene.

The truck is owned by the Hunt Oil Co. of Lisbon and was driven by Delmar L. Cullins, 33, of Route 2, Bernice, who was uninjured. The front of the truck was extensively damaged, but no explosion occurred.

When both vehicles came to a halt, the left front wheel of the truck was lodged in the place where the auto's front seat had been and the steering wheel of the car was protruding through the roof.

Campbell was rushed to the Winnsboro hospital, transferred to Conway Memorial Hospital in Monroe late Friday night by the First National ambulance,and then taken to Shreveport.

Group Hunting For Man Lost In Swamp Land

FERRIDAY (Special)—A search party was organized here at 10 last night to look for a 30-year-old Lismore man believed lost in the Black River swamp near Lismore.

R. W. Beard was believed lost when he did not return after entering the swamp early yesterday afternoon.

Five deputies left for the area about 10 p.m. and later called for bloodhounds from Richland parish which joined the hunt.

Reggie Lowery, motel operator, said Concordia Deputies Bagby, Rials, Barlow, Keathly, and Clark left his place to look for the man who was believed to have gone hunting for cows.

Beard is the nephew of state representative Jack Crane of Ferriday.

State Places Racial Appeal In N.Y. Paper

HOMER, La., Feb. 15 (AP) — A state legislative committee, seeking "a better understanding of the Southern position," will explain its stand on segregation in a full page ad in a New York newspaper Monday morning.

The ad was placed in the New York Herald Tribune by the Louisiana joint legislative committee on segregation headed by state Sen. William M. Rainach of Summerfield. He also is president of the Louisiana Assn. of Citizens' Councils, dedicated to preservation of segregation.

Upon his return home tonight from New York, Rainach said, "We're running it (the ad) because we feel that for the first time since this battle began, the North is somewhat receptive to the South's position.

"We selected New York City because New York is having its share of severe racial problems. At the same time, it's the fountainhead of the whole integration movement in the United States."

"This ad is the first taken by any Southern state to carry the cause of the South to the nation. In addition to the tremendous value that the ad should have in bringing about a better understanding of the Southern position, we also consider it a reconaissance type of operation. We plan to measure its results and then determine what steps we will take next and when and where those steps will be taken."

The ad was signed by all members of the legislative committee, which has drafted virtually all of the segregation laws passed by the Louisiana Legislature.

The committee said in the ad that if northerners adopted the Southern system of racial separation, they would be able to "adjust themselves to the more than one-half of the Negroes in this country who will live in the north by 1960."

The ad went on to say that "The normally cordial relationships between Southern white and colored people are regulated by a set of conventions or customs, the products of years of experiment and experience in adjusting to a bi-racial society."

Bond Posted

One of two men charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants here last night posted bond and was released, according to police records.

Posting a $437.50 bond was R. H. Nicholls, 48, of Boydell, Ark. Held in city jail was Richard H. Woods, 22, of Fort Chaffee, Ark., who also was booked for reckless driving, using offensive language, and resisting arrest, police records showed.

At the Birmingham, Ala., airport, a Delta Air Lines DC7 with 43 persons aboard skidded off a snow-slick runway and its nose wheel collapsed. The air liner came to a stop in the mud and no one was injured.

The snow belt extended southward to the area of Montgomery, Ala., less than 200 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. The Gulf region itself was just thawing out from a rare snow and freeze, and rain and high winds pelted the region Saturday.

Heavy snow warnings were sounded for North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Line Up For Chains

Tennessee troopers refused to let cars without chains travel on mountain highways. And chains were hard to come by in the South.

An Atlanta store advertised chains for sale on the radio and reported customers were lined up to buy them.

Georgia troopers said some highways had been blocked by trucks which skidded into ditches during the night.

Snow marooned a Boy Scout troop on Crowder's Mountain near Gastonia, N. C. The county rescue squad brought the 14 boys home safely Saturday.

On the Mississippi River, the Coast Guard cutter Foxglove and two Army vessels sought to open the channel between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., in a battle against the ice. They sought to replace buoys swept away by the ice cakes.

More than 500 traffic accidents had been reported to Chicago police since snow began falling and freezing Friday. A 12-inch water main burst on the west side flooding a viaduct and several intersections.

Accord Near On Nuclear Missile Pads

LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—A long-awaited agreement to build U. S. nuclear missile platforms in Britain will go into effect Monday or Tuesday, the Defense Ministry said today.

The agreement calls for building Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile bases along Britain's east coast facing the Soviet Union.

The agreement will become effective after a formal exchange of letters in Washington between Secretary of State Dulles and British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia.

Full details of the agreement may not be disclosed. A white paper, probably to be issued Thursday, will answer some of the opposition questions raised in Britain against the missiles agreement, Defense Minister Duncan Sands has indicated.

He said in Parliament this week that opponents will find the pact more satisfactory than they now think it is.

British and U.S. sources said four IRBM bases are planned. The United States and Britain would have joint control over the bases and any possible use of the missiles.

U.S. crews will handle the missiles at first. British Royal Air Force men are now being trained in the United States in their use.

The missiles will be delivered ready for firing by next winter, these sources said.

The plan is to have eventually the four bases under the control of the British in all respects except for custody of the nuclear warheads.

The rockets plus the warheads would be supplied free by the United States, the sources said. At least 16 will be sent over as soon as available, the reports said.

Britain reportedly has agreed to pay for construction of the bases at a cost of about 90 million dollars.

Throughout the space cabin experiment Farrell has not been able to see or hear anything outside the three by five foot cubicle.

His first indication that the seven-day test is over will come about 9 a.m. CST tomorrow when Capt. Julian E. Ward, project officer, breaks radio silence and tells Farrell to ready for the "descent." By opening valves to allow air to enter the partial vacuum Farrell will be brought down from the simulated 18,000-foot altitude at a rate of 1,000 feet a minute.

The hatch that has sealed Farrell off from the outside world for seven days will be opened at 935 a.m., and he will step out to be greeted by Maj. Gen. Otis O. Benson Jr., commandant of the School of Aviation Medicine.

Three still and movie photographers will be allowed to film Farrell's landing and distribute pictures to all news agencies. After Farrell has taken a bath, he will appear at a 30-minute press conference.

Steinkamp said today that as soon as the press conference is over Farrell would be rushed to the base hospital for about three days of post-experiment tests. Tentative plans call for the airman to be flown to New York next weekend for a series of television and radio appearances.

State Places Racial Appeal In N.Y. Paper

HOMER, La., Feb. 15 (AP) — A state legislative committee, seeking "a better understanding of the Southern position," will explain its stand on segregation in a full page ad in a New York newspaper Monday morning.

The ad was placed in the New York Herald Tribune by the Louisiana joint legislative committee on segregation headed by state Sen. William M. Rainach of Summerfield. He also is president of the Louisiana Assn. of Citizens' Councils, dedicated to preservation of segregation.

Upon his return home tonight from New York, Rainach said, "We're running it (the ad) because we feel that for the first time since this battle began, the North is somewhat receptive to the South's position.

"We selected New York City because New York is having its share of severe racial problems. At the same time, it's the fountainhead of the whole integration movement in the United States."

"This ad is the first taken by any Southern state to carry the cause of the South to the nation. In addition to the tremendous value that the ad should have in bringing about a better understanding of the Southern position, we also consider it a reconaissance type of operation. We plan to measure its results and then determine what steps we will take next and when and where those steps will be taken."

The ad was signed by all members of the legislative committee, which has drafted virtually all of the segregation laws passed by the Louisiana Legislature.

The committee said in the ad that if northerners adopted the Southern system of racial separation, they would be able to "adjust themselves to the more than one-half of the Negroes in this country who will live in the north by 1960."

The ad went on to say that "The normally cordial relationships between Southern white and colored people are regulated by a set of conventions or customs, the products of years of experiment and experience in adjusting to a bi-racial society."

Bond Posted

One of two men charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants here last night posted bond and was released, according to police records.

Posting a $437.50 bond was R. H. Nicholls, 48, of Boydell, Ark. Held in city jail was Richard H. Woods, 22, of Fort Chaffee, Ark., who also was booked for reckless driving, using offensive language, and resisting arrest, police records showed.

At the Birmingham, Ala., airport, a Delta Air Lines DC7 with 43 persons aboard skidded off a snow-slick runway and its nose wheel collapsed. The air liner came to a stop in the mud and no one was injured.

The snow belt extended southward to the area of Montgomery, Ala., less than 200 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. The Gulf region itself was just thawing out from a rare snow and freeze, and rain and high winds pelted the region Saturday.

Heavy snow warnings were sounded for North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Line Up For Chains

Tennessee troopers refused to let cars without chains travel on mountain highways. And chains were hard to come by in the South.

An Atlanta store advertised chains for sale on the radio and reported customers were lined up to buy them.

Georgia troopers said some highways had been blocked by trucks which skidded into ditches during the night.

Accord Near On Nuclear Missile Pads

LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—A long-awaited agreement to build U. S. nuclear missile platforms in Britain will go into effect Monday or Tuesday, the Defense Ministry said today.

The agreement calls for building Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile bases along Britain's east coast facing the Soviet Union.

The agreement will become effective after a formal exchange of letters in Washington between Secretary of State Dulles and British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia.

Full details of the agreement may not be disclosed. A white paper, probably to be issued Thursday, will answer some of the opposition questions raised in Britain against the missiles agreement, Defense Minister Duncan Sands has indicated.

He said in Parliament this week that opponents will find the pact more satisfactory than they now think it is.

British and U.S. sources said four IRBM bases are planned. The United States and Britain would have joint control over the bases and any possible use of the missiles.

U.S. crews will handle the missiles at first. British Royal Air Force men are now being trained in the United States in their use.

The missiles will be delivered ready for firing by next winter, these sources said.

The plan is to have eventually the four bases under the control of the British in all respects except for custody of the nuclear warheads.

The rockets plus the warheads would be supplied free by the United States, the sources said. At least 16 will be sent over as soon as available, the reports said.

Britain reportedly has agreed to pay for construction of the bases at a cost of about 90 million dollars.

Throughout the space cabin experiment Farrell has not been able to see or hear anything outside the three by five foot cubicle.

His first indication that the seven-day test is over will come about 9 a.m. CST tomorrow when Capt. Julian E. Ward, project officer, breaks radio silence and tells Farrell to ready for the "descent." By opening valves to allow air to enter the partial vacuum Farrell will be brought down from the simulated 18,000-foot altitude at a rate of 1,000 feet a minute.

The hatch that has sealed Farrell off from the outside world for seven days will be opened at 935 a.m., and he will step out to be greeted by Maj. Gen. Otis O. Benson Jr., commandant of the School of Aviation Medicine.

Three still and movie photographers will be allowed to film Farrell's landing and distribute pictures to all news agencies. After Farrell has taken a bath, he will appear at a 30-minute press conference.

Steinkamp said today that as soon as the press conference is over Farrell would be rushed to the base hospital for about three days of post-experiment tests. Tentative plans call for the airman to be flown to New York next weekend for a series of television and radio appearances.

Ike Tries To Pin Red Leader Down

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — President Eisenhower has written a new letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin which is designed to try to pin Bulganin down to brass-tacks talk about arranging a summit conference.

The letter has been cleared with this country's North Atlantic Treaty Allies, informants said today. It will be delivered in Moscow early next week, probably Monday.

Information about it became known here as State Department officials studied evidence that the Soviets are whipping up a worldwide diplomatic offensive in support of their drive for a summit conference. This involves Far Eastern as well as European moves and could lead to some new Russian bid to include Red China in a summit conference.

However, authorities here say that if the Soviets are really serious about setting up East-West talks they will not press the Red China issue, since the United States does not recognize the Chinese Communist regime.

What is more puzzling to administration leaders at the moment is the question of whether the Russians really do want a summit conference—or whether they simply want to go on making propaganda about it.

Tries To Pin Down

Eisenhower's letter reportedly trys to pin Bulganin down on specific points concerned with conference preparations, including how soon and in what ways Bulganin would like to undertake advance preparations and what issues he thinks can be successfully negotiated.

Bulganin's most recent letter to the President came on Feb. 2. In it he strongly opposed a foreign ministers' conference in advance of a meeting of chiefs of government. He implied that it would be impossible to negotiate with Secretary of State Dulles.

However, he did say he was confident that agreement on conference preparations could be achieved "through the usual diplopmatic channels." That apparently meant the U.S. Embassy in Moscow and the Soviet Embassy here.

Bulganin took the position that Eisenhower was insisting on a foreign ministers' meeting, but Dulles told his news conference Tuesday that such a meeting was not essential and cited words previously used that preparations could be carried on through diplomatic channels. The point on which both Eisenhower and Dulles still stand firm is that the arrangements made must offer good hope that a summit conference will be successful.

What it could be successful on is still a wide open question. But the Soviets gave no evidence of stopping to worry over such American concerns as they push forward their new diplomatic campaign on these lines:

1. In Warsaw yesterday Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki formally presented to the United States and other countries his proposal for a Central European zone from which nuclear weapons would be barred and from which foreign troops eventually might be withdrawn. The zone would embrace Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany (All Red-ruled) and West Germany. Russia has been pressing the Rapacki plan as a summit conference subject, but the United States has been cold toward it.

2. Red China is beating the propaganda drums for a new proposal by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung for withdrawal of foreign forces an unification of North and South Korea. The Red Chinese have about 16 divisions in the North; The United States about two divisions in the South. The Communist proposition is said here to be made on conditions which certainly make it unacceptable to South Korea and the United States—but it makes peace propaganda for the Reds and might offer a bargaining position from which they would hope to negotiate on Korea's future.

3. President Ho Chi-minh of Communist North Viet Nam has come up with a new proposition to unify North and South Viet Nam, the little Indochina country which was split by the Geneva peace agreement for Indochina in 1954. The Red Chinese back Ho's move

4. In the neighboring Indochinese state of Laos a merger actually is under way with a group of Reds—the Pathet Lao—who controlled two provinces of the country and had their own army. They were supported by Red China and the Communist regime in North Viet Nam. Now they are being integrated politically and militarily, with some thousands of Communist troops being incorporated into the Laos army. New elections all over the country will be held shortly to choose a new parliament.

State Department officials say that all these developments seem to fit into a pattern of global proportions even though there may be local considerations in some instances.

Ellender Hits 'Sugar Coat' On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — Sen. Ellender (D-La) said today sponsors of the latest civil rights bill are offering Southerners "a federal bribe" to agree to racial integration of their schools.

Referring to a bill introduced last Monday by 16 northern senators, Ellender said "the so-called liberals took the first step towards forcing the South to swallow another bitter civil rights pill."

"This time," he added, "they have attempted to cover the poison it contains under a heavy sugar coating."

The measure, sponsored by both Republicans and Democrats, would make federal funds available to states or local communities to help finance the cost of complying with the Supreme Court's school integration rulings.

Same As Part III

But Ellender, in remarks recorded for New Orleans radio station WWL, said "the core of this proposed legislation is the same that the Senate rejected last year when it struck part III" of the civil rights bill enacted then over Southern opposition.

Part III would have authorized the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions against violations of civil rights generally. The modified bill finally passed limited the use of injunctions to the protection of voting rights.

In the new civil rights bill, Ellender said that "the sugar coating held out by the so-called liberal bloc is nothing less than a federal bribe."

"They would make almost a quarter billion dollars available for school construction to states or their subdivisions which agree to integrate their schools," he said.

Ellender said that in his opinion, "no coating, sugar or otherwise, will ever make such a proposal acceptable to the people of the South."

RAPS REPORT

Bankston Defends Mental Hospitals

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (AP)—State Hospital Director Jesse Bankston said today the facts of Louisiana's mental health program have been distorted by statistics in a national publication.

He referred to a review of mental health operations in 48 states by the American Psychiatric Assn. and the National Assn. for Mental Health.

The publication itself stressed that it was only a guide, that "everyone knows a road map doesn't tell you where to dine in a particular city."

Bankston, whose State Hospital Department supervises the state's three mental hospitals, said 1957 marked the first time in Louisiana history the hospitals had a smaller total patient load than the previous year.

The 1957 average daily number of patients was 8,218, he said, compared with an average 8,230 for 1956.

In connection with Banskton's remarks about Louisiana mental health progress, Dr. Lloyd Rowland, director of the Louisiana Assn. for Mental Health, last week was quoted as saying Louisiana ranked 43rd among the states in amount spent per capita on mental patients.

He mentioned a few other items, all of which, Bankston said, arose from the publication he criticized.

Bankston emphasized Louisiana is doing far better than statistics show because the publication failed to take into consideration the mental treatment units at New Orleans Charity Hospital, Confederate Memorial Medical Center at Shreveport and the Lafayette Charity Hospital.

Actually," he said, "these three general charity hospital units have more annual mental patient admissions than our three state mental institutions."

Any analysis of Louisiana's mental health program must give full allowance to the three charity hospital units, Bankston said.

The state-by-state guide published by the two national groups gave these comparisons for Louisiana, criticized by Bankston:

Louisiana ranks 26th with 2.8 patients per 1,000 population, compared with the national average; the state is 37th in physician staff adequacy, 41st in number of professional personnel per 100 patients, 38th in number of full time employes per 100 patients, 26th in number of psychiatrists per 100,000 population, 39th in per capita yearly expenditures for mental hospitals.

The guide ranked Louisiana 43rd for amount of daily spending for care of patients, or $2.08, compared with the national average of $3.18. Bankston said this figure this fiscal year is $2.76, nearly a 26 per cent increase.

Bankston said he will ask an extra two million dollars for mental hospital operations during the upcoming 1958-59 fiscal year. Gov. Earl Long's Budget Committee will receive this request.

Again mentioning the statistics, Bankston said, "With our big psychiatric units in New Orleans, Shreveport and Lafayette general charity hospitals, the actual expenditures for mental health in Louisiana cannot be compared with other states. No other state has such extra general hospital facilities to care for the mentally ill.

The charity hospital units handle short stay cases without the necessity of committing to a state mental institution.

Louisiana's mental patient load has been decreasing slightly, although admissions continue to rise, Bankston said.

"There is a smaller patient load over the year because of shorter stays due to greatly improved treatment. . . . . shorter stays represent a great step forward, because they return a useful citizen to the community earlier than before.

"However, the shorter the stay, the greater the expense per patient. That's the reason for growing operation expenses," Bankston said.

THREE CHARGES

Three traffic violation charges including driving while under the influence of intoxicants, were lodged against a Bastrop man by City Police here early yesterday. In addition to DWI, police charged Harold Edward Smith, 21 of 632 Pear St., Bastrop, with reckless driving, and drunkeness. Smith posted a $435 property bond and was released.

Schwartz To Get Chance To Testify

WASHINGTON (UP) — Chairman Oren Harris said Saturday his House subcommittee would give its ousted counsel a chance Monday to explain his charge that a "White House clique' influenced decisions of some independent federal regulatory agencies.

The Arkansas Democrat told reporters that hearings by his subcommittee next week would be devoted mainly to the charges by the ex-counsel, Bernard Schwartz, dealing with the award of television Channel 10 at Miami, Fla. But he also indicated that the question of "improper White House influences" raised by Schwartz, may be aired when the 34-year-old law professor returns to the witness stand Monday.

Schwartz testified Thursday that Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack accepted $2,650 from a lawyer connected with the firm which got Channel 10. Mack denied anything improper.

Harris said that when Schwartz is recalled, he will be asked a few "clean-up questions" about the Miami case and then the subcommittee will delve into other matters.

Schwartz to Testify

Harris was asked whether Schwartz would have a chance to present any evidence he may have to back up a charge of White House influence, which he made in an angry press statement Tuesday after the subcommittee fired him.

"He'll have an opportunity to present that," Harris declared.

Schwartz said he had planned to "bring to light the machinations of the White House clique in controlling decisions" of the agencies, which are supposed to be quasi-judicial.

As alleged members of this "clique" he named presidential assistant Sherman Adams, White House aide Gerald Morgan, Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and Col. George Gordon Moore, brother-in-law of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower.

Harris said Schwartz also would get a chance to testify Monday on the effect of "fraternization" between agency officials and the industries they regulate, and the propriety of drawing government expense money while allowing someone else to pay your hotel bills.

The chairman said no arrangements had been made yet to play back a wire recording which Schwartz said would back up his charges against Commissioner Mack. This recording purports to cover an interview between Mack and a former member of Schwartz's staff.

Harris said the 14-member subcommittee staff was working into the night and would be busy Sunday getting set for the week-long hearings on the Miami TV case.

FBI Busy With Case

Two FBI agents also were at work in the subcommittee offices. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers ordered the FBI to look into the charges against Mack Thursday night.

Harris said he outlined to staff lawyers and investigators "what I wanted to develop," at next week's hearings. He said the subcommittee would explore the Miami TV charges "to the end and present all the facts."

He said he still had not found a new chief counsel to succeed Schwartz. He said this would take at least a few days.

The chairman said he himself expected to be on the job Sunday getting set for re-opening of the hearings Monday.

Mrs. Hicks Dies

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 15 (AP) —Mrs. Samuel Bailey Hicks, widow of Louisiana's Democratic National Committeeman during the administration of President Woodrow Wilson, died here today. She was 84.

Her husband, a wholesale grocer, died in 1925.

Mrs. Hicks was a charter member of the movement to secure the right to vote for women.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

FATAL BURNING

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Fire in a home here yesterday burned to death 90-year-old Isabella Runnin, a Negro, who was trapped inside.

Coroner Vance Stephens said the woman was an invalid and unable to move from her chair. She lived with a daughter who was at work.

Firemen said the blaze started from a coal heater.

"They would make almost a quarter billion dollars available for school construction to states or their subdivisions which agree to integrate their schools," he said.

Ellender said that in his opinion, "no coating, sugar or otherwise, will ever make such a proposal acceptable to the people of the South."

New Hampshire's state motto—"Live Free or Die" — is a quotation from a speech by the Granite State's great Revolutionary War hero, General John Stark, who saved the day at Bunker Hill and stopped the British at Bennington.

RAPS REPORT

Bankston Defends Mental Hospitals

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15 (AP)—State Hospital Director Jesse Bankston said today the facts of Louisiana's mental health program have been distorted by statistics in a national publication.

He referred to a review of mental health operations in 48 states by the American Psychiatric Assn. and the National Assn. for Mental Health.

The publication itself stressed that it was only a guide, that "everyone knows a road map doesn't tell you where to dine in a particular city."

Bankston, whose State Hospital Department supervises the state's three mental hospitals, said 1957 marked the first time in Louisiana history the hospitals had a smaller total patient load than the previous year.

The 1957 average daily number of patients was 8,218, he said, compared with an average 8,230 for 1956.

In connection with Banskton's remarks about Louisiana mental health progress, Dr. Lloyd Rowland, director of the Louisiana Assn. for Mental Health, last week was quoted as saying Louisiana ranked 43rd among the states in amount spent per capita on mental patients.

He mentioned a few other items, all of which, Bankston said, arose from the publication he criticized.

Bankston emphasized Louisiana is doing far better than statistics show because the publication failed to take into consideration the mental treatment units at New Orleans Charity Hospital, Confederate Memorial Medical Center at Shreveport and the Lafayette Charity Hospital.

Actually," he said, "these three general charity hospital units have more annual mental patient admissions than our three state mental institutions."

Any analysis of Louisiana's mental health program must give full allowance to the three charity hospital units, Bankston said.

The state-by-state guide published by the two national groups gave these comparisons for Louisiana, criticized by Bankston:

Louisiana ranks 26th with 2.8 patients per 1,000 population, compared with the national average; the state is 37th in physician staff adequacy, 41st in number of professional personnel per 100 patients, 38th in number of full time employes per 100 patients, 26th in number of psychiatrists per 100,000 population, 39th in per capita yearly expenditures for mental hospitals.

The guide ranked Louisiana 43rd for amount of daily spending for care of patients, or $2.08, compared with the national average of $3.18. Bankston said this figure this fiscal year is $2.76, nearly a 26 per cent increase.

Bankston said he will ask an extra two million dollars for mental hospital operations during the upcoming 1958-59 fiscal year. Gov. Earl Long's Budget Committee will receive this request.

Again mentioning the statistics, Bankston said, "With our big psychiatric units in New Orleans, Shreveport and Lafayette general charity hospitals, the actual expenditures for mental health in Louisiana cannot be compared with other states. No other state has such extra general hospital facilities to care for the mentally ill.

The charity hospital units handle short stay cases without the necessity of committing to a state mental institution.

Louisiana's mental patient load has been decreasing slightly, although admissions continue to rise, Bankston said.

"There is a smaller patient load over the year because of shorter stays due to greatly improved treatment. . . . . shorter stays represent a great step forward, because they return a useful citizen to the community earlier than before.

"However, the shorter the stay, the greater the expense per patient. That's the reason for growing operation expenses," Bankston said.

THREE CHARGES

Three traffic violation charges including driving while under the influence of intoxicants, were lodged against a Bastrop man by City Police here early yesterday. In addition to DWI, police charged Harold Edward Smith, 21 of 632 Pear St., Bastrop, with reckless driving, and drunkeness. Smith posted a $435 property bond and was released.

Schwartz To Get Chance To Testify

WASHINGTON (UP) — Chairman Oren Harris said Saturday his House subcommittee would give its ousted counsel a chance Monday to explain his charge that a "White House clique' influenced decisions of some independent federal regulatory agencies.

The Arkansas Democrat told reporters that hearings by his subcommittee next week would be devoted mainly to the charges by the ex-counsel, Bernard Schwartz, dealing with the award of television Channel 10 at Miami, Fla. But he also indicated that the question of "improper White House influences" raised by Schwartz, may be aired when the 34-year-old law professor returns to the witness stand Monday.

Schwartz testified Thursday that Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack accepted $2,650 from a lawyer connected with the firm which got Channel 10. Mack denied anything improper.

Harris said that when Schwartz is recalled, he will be asked a few "clean-up questions" about the Miami case and then the subcommittee will delve into other matters.

Schwartz to Testify

Harris was asked whether Schwartz would have a chance to present any evidence he may have to back up a charge of White House influence, which he made in an angry press statement Tuesday after the subcommittee fired him.

"He'll have an opportunity to present that," Harris declared.

Schwartz said he had planned to "bring to light the machinations of the White House clique in controlling decisions" of the agencies, which are supposed to be quasi-judicial.

As alleged members of this "clique" he named presidential assistant Sherman Adams, White House aide Gerald Morgan, Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and Col. George Gordon Moore, brother-in-law of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower.

Harris said Schwartz also would get a chance to testify Monday on the effect of "fraternization" between agency officials and the industries they regulate, and the propriety of drawing government expense money while allowing someone else to pay your hotel bills.

The chairman said no arrangements had been made yet to play back a wire recording which Schwartz said would back up his charges against Commissioner Mack. This recording purports to cover an interview between Mack and a former member of Schwartz's staff.

Harris said the 14-member subcommittee staff was working into the night and would be busy Sunday getting set for the week-long hearings on the Miami TV case.

FBI Busy With Case

Two FBI agents also were at work in the subcommittee offices. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers ordered the FBI to look into the charges against Mack Thursday night.

Harris said he outlined to staff lawyers and investigators "what I wanted to develop," at next week's hearings. He said the subcommittee would explore the Miami TV charges "to the end and present all the facts."

He said he still had not found a new chief counsel to succeed Schwartz. He said this would take at least a few days.

The chairman said he himself expected to be on the job Sunday getting set for re-opening of the hearings Monday.

Mrs. Hicks Dies

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 15 (AP) —Mrs. Samuel Bailey Hicks, widow of Louisiana's Democratic National Committeeman during the administration of President Woodrow Wilson, died here today. She was 84.

Her husband, a wholesale grocer, died in 1925.

Mrs. Hicks was a charter member of the movement to secure the right to vote for women.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

FATAL BURNING

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Fire in a home here yesterday burned to death 90-year-old Isabella Runnin, a Negro, who was trapped inside.

Coroner Vance Stephens said the woman was an invalid and unable to move from her chair. She lived with a daughter who was at work.

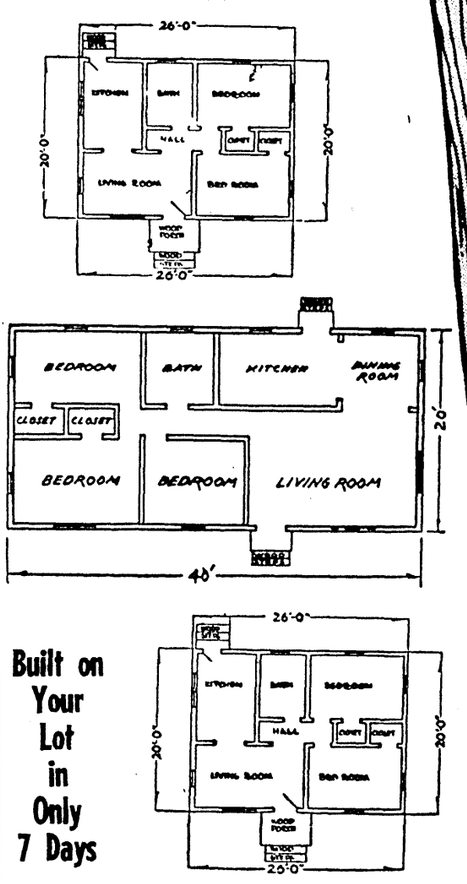

Firemen said the blaze started from a coal heater.

Yoko Tani Is Sexy Oriental, Fragile

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "I never do a love scene with all my clothes on," said Japanese actress Yoko Tani. "I make a point of wearing nothing under my dress."

Sipping champagne from a long-stemmed glass, as fragile looking as her delicate features, Yoko thought for a moment before adding:

"With stockings, with a girdle, I feel all tied up. You mustn't feel all tied up in a love scene. You must feel just the reverse."

Yoko Tani is the J. Arthur Rank Organization's answer to Warner Brothers Miiko Taka, the girl who made "Sayonara" with Marlon Brando.

Miss Tani is making "The Wind Cannot Read," with Dirk Bogarde recently voted Britain's top box office star for 1957.

Bogarde, who ought to know, says that with the exception of the gifted Mai Zetterling of Sweden, Yoko Tani is the most exciting actress with whom he has worked.

Extra sensitivity, her directors say, is one of her biggest assets.

Yoko Tani was born in Paris. Her father was employed at the Japanese Embassy. Her mother was Japanese, too.

"But," explained Yoko," She was part Chinese."

The mixture works well for an actress performing Oriental roles.

"People never seem to know if I'm Japanese, Chinese, Korean, Indonesian, or what."

She was a professional dancer five years ago, touring with the Scandinavian Ballet Company. But she began getting letters from her father, who had returned to Tokyo, ordering her to come home.

At last her father thought she had agreed. He sent her money to return home. Disobeying Papa, a very naughty thing for a Japanese girl, she decided to stay on in the French capital. With Dad's dough.

Early in 1954 she appeared in cabaret and then, as so often happens in show business, somebody saw her and offered her a part in Jacques Deval's play "Namouna."

Then came a good role in "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Her move up in the movies was a natural sequence. At first she played bit parts and then, in 1956, she had her first important film part in "Paris Mannequin."

By this time the Japanese movie makers showed an interest in her. So, she returned to the East and in six months made three films for Toho Pictures.

In 1956 Yoko was back on the European Continent with a solid part in "The Quiet American" with Audie Murphy and Michael Redgrave. In the meantime, she met French actor Roland Lesaffre at a Cannes Film Festival. They married.

At the end of a long day's filming, Yoko was wearing slacks, a bright red sweater with a turtle neck, a camel-hair jacket, highly rumpled, and a pair of boots lined with sheepskin.

A warm coal fire glowed in a spacious fireplace. She curled her 5-foot-1 curvy figure into a deep arm chair and confessed that she was very tired.

"All day long I have been dying," she said as she ra[illegible] flower - stem fingers thro[illegible] thick black hair.

"Yes. It's the first time I have died in a [illegible]

"Did you find it unpleasant?"

"No." Miss Tani seldom gives you the expected answer, possessing a quick mind as well as one that is not insensitive to publicity.

"Japanese are fatalistic about dying. I once saw a sign beside a volcano in Japan. It said, 'Suicides are not permitted'."

Yoko said she had been dying in a hospital bed.

"With a big bandage around my head."

A bright twinkle lit up her dark eyes.

"But I have been dying while in love. In a hospital gown. With no clothes on underneath. You mustn't feel all tied up in a love scene, you know."

THIS IS Yoko Tani, J. Arthur Rank's entry in the scramble to capitaize on the popularity of Oriental themes.

Arithmetic Can Rout Electronic Ghost In Home

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

Do you live in a haunted house? Simple arithmetic may help you drive the ghosts away.

By haunted, we mean a house where "something" is making fuses blow with irritating frequency. Or where lights blink mysteriously for no apparent reason —and electric appliances often perform in weird fashion.

How can arithmetic rout the phantoms?

First make a check list of all electrical appliances in your home. This done, estimate the number of watts needed to operate each of them.

And don't get the idea that just because an appliance is small in size it needs little electricity whereas large appliances such as refrigerators and washing machines need much more electricity.

"Haunted" Check List

That's not always the case. Here is a check list:

| | |
|---|---|
| Electric blanket | 160 watts. |
| Washer | 700 watts. |
| Toaster | 1,000 watts. |
| Vacuum cleaner | 650 watts. |
| Electric iron | 1,000 watts. |
| Water heater | 2,000 watts. |
| Deep freezer | 300 watts. |
| Refrigerator | 250 watts. |
| TOTAL | 6,060 watts. |

The addition, as you see, comes to more than 6,000 watts and we haven't even counted the usual lights, the television set and several other appliances.

Look for Main Switch

Now let's go down to the basement and try to find why your house is "haunted."

The main switch and the fuse box form the heart of any wiring system and they're located near the spot where the power cable comes into your home.

Meters come first in today's wiring system but in this house the system had been installed in the 1930 sequence, meaning that the power cable came down into the basement, went to the main switch and then over to the meter and down into the fuse box.

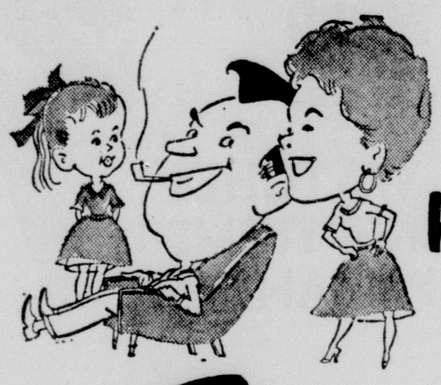

The name plate of the main switch read "2 wire, 30 amp. 110-120 volts." This also was typical of wiring installed 25 years ago, and told us that only two wires came in from the power line. Three wires are considered necessary today.

The information on the name plate indicated that the quantity of current these wires could safely carry were 30 amperes — (100 amperes is considered adquate today) — at a pressure of 120 volts.

Volts multiplied by amperes will show the total wattage or electric power that should safely be coming into the house at any one time. In this case the 120 volts multiplied by 30 amperes came to 3,600 watts.

By this time the Japanese movie makers showed an interest in her. So, she returned to the East and in six months made three films for Toho Pictures.

In 1956 Yoko was back on the European Continent with a solid part in "The Quiet American" with Audie Murphy and Michael Redgrave. In the meantime, she met French actor Roland Lesaffre at a Cannes Film Festival. They married.

At the end of a long day's filming, Yoko was wearing slacks, a bright red sweater with a turtle neck, a camel-hair jacket, highly rumpled, and a pair of boots lined with sheepskin.

A warm coal fire glowed in a spacious fireplace. She curled her 5-foot-1 curvy figure into a deep arm chair and confessed that she was very tired.

"All day long I have been dying," she said as she ra[illegible]r flower - stem fingers thro[illegible] thick black hair.

"Yes. It's the first time I have died in a [illegible]

"Did you find it unpleasant?"

"No." Miss Tani seldom gives you the expected answer, possessing a quick mind as well as one that is not insensitive to publicity.

"Japanese are fatalistic about dying. I once saw a sign beside a volcano in Japan. It said, 'Suicides are not permitted'."

Yoko said she had been dying in a hospital bed.

"With a big bandage around my head."

A bright twinkle lit up her dark eyes.

"But I have been dying while in love. In a hospital gown. With no clothes on underneath. You mustn't feel all tied up in a love scene, you know."

Arithmetic Can Rout Electronic Ghost In Home

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

Do you live in a haunted house? Simple arithmetic may help you drive the ghosts away.

By haunted, we mean a house where "something" is making fuses blow with irritating frequency. Or where lights blink mysteriously for no apparent reason—and electric appliances often perform in weird fashion.

How can arithmetic rout the phantoms?

First make a check list of all electrical appliances in your home. This done, estimate the number of watts needed to operate each of them.

And don't get the idea that just because an appliance is small in size it needs little electricity whereas large appliances such as refrigerators and washing machines need much more electricity.

"Haunted" Check List

That's not always the case. Here is a check list:

| | |
|---|---|
| Electric blanket | 160 watts. |
| Washer | 700 watts. |
| Toaster | 1,000 watts. |
| Vacuum cleaner | 650 watts. |
| Electric iron | 1,000 watts. |
| Water heater | 2,000 watts. |
| Deep freezer | 300 watts. |
| Refrigerator | 250 watts. |
| TOTAL | 6,060 watts. |

The addition, as you see, comes to more than 6,000 watts and we haven't even counted the usual lights, the television set and several other appliances.

Look for Main Switch

Now let's go down to the basement and try to find why your house is "haunted."

The main switch and the fuse box form the heart of any wiring system and they're located near the spot where the power cable comes into your home.

Meters come first in today's wiring system but in this house the system had been installed in the 1930 sequence, meaning that the power cable came down into the basement, went to the main switch and then over to the meter and down into the fuse box.

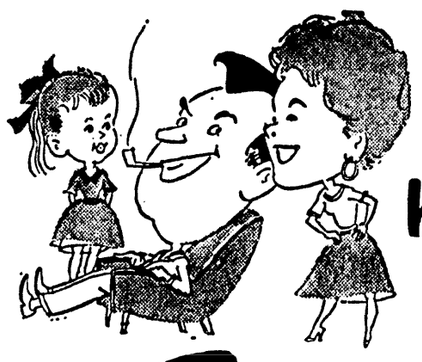

The name plate of the main switch read "2 wire, 30 amp. 110-120 volts." This also was typical of wiring installed 25 years ago, and told us that only two wires came in from the power line. Three wires are considered necessary today.

The information on the name plate indicated that the quantity of current these wires could safely carry were 30 amperes — (100 amperes is considered adquate today) — at a pressure of 120 volts.

Volts multiplied by amperes will show the total wattage or electric power that should safely be coming into the house at any one time. In this case the 120 volts multiplied by 30 amperes came to 3,600 watts.

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

by Lyman Young and Tom Massey

YOU STAY HERE AND GUARD KING OTERRO UNTIL KAYTO AND I RETURN FROM THE VILLAGE, TIM—

B-BUT, SPUD— THOSE NATIVES WON'T KNOW WHAT AN ELECTION IS!

THAT'LL BE EASY TO EXPLAIN IF THEY'LL LISTEN TO ME —

LATER

THERE IS OKABEE VILLAGE, PRINCE SARA—

WE WILL ENTER BOLDLY, KAYTO!

YOU LOOK AND SPEAK LIKE PRINCE SARA, BUT MAYBE YOU IMPOSTOR!

THIS SECRET CHARM-PIECE SHOULD PROVE IT! NOW DO YOU DISBELIEVE?

YES-YES.— IT IS OUR PRINCE SARA RETURNED!

YOU MUST FLEE BEFORE KING OTERRO DESTROYS YOU, SIRE!

OTERRO HAS STOLEN THE OKABEE THRONE WHICH RIGHTFULLY BELONGS TO ME — AND I KNOW THERE ARE MANY AMONG YOU WHO WOULD HAVE ME AS THEIR RULER!

THE OKABEE PEOPLE SHALL HAVE THE CHANCE NOW TO CHOOSE WHOM THEY WOULD HAVE RULE THEM— OTERRO OR PRINCE SARA!

BUT KING OTERRO WILL PUNISH US!

FEAR NOT! THE WINNER SHALL BE CHOSEN SECRETLY! NO ONE SHALL KNOW THE SELECTION OF ANY OKABEE!

Marr Holds Slim Texas Lead

Johnston One Stroke Away; 7 Tie For 3rd

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — Young Dave Marr of Cedarhurst, N.Y., leader since the first round, managed only an even - par 71 Saturday to see his lead dwindle to one stroke after 54 holes in the $15,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

Marr took a six-stroke lead after the first round at Brackenridge Park Thursday with an 8-under-par 63. He still held a six-stroke lead after the second round with a 134. His 54-hole total is 205.

Bill Johnston, a young pro from Provo, Utah, playing in the same threesome with Marr, clipped five strokes off the 36-35—71 par for the 6,490-yard course. Johnson's 34-32—66 moved him within a stroke of Marr at 206.

Seven golfers, including Bob Goalby of Darien, Conn., who equalled Johnston's 66 to tie for low honors in the third round, were tied for third place at 210. Goalby was the early leader Saturday after posting his 33-33—66.

Others in the 210 bracket were Jimmy Demaret, of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., who had 33-35—68 Saturday; Ed Griffiths of Youngstown, Ohio, who had 34-34—68; Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., 34-35—69; Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La., 36-33—69; Walker Inman Jr., Bolton, Mass., 35-35—70; and Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., 35-34—69.

Most of the golfers were pleased with conditions of the course Saturday. The third round, played in brilliant sunshine as compared to cold and wet weather earlier in the week, produced the tournament's best golf to date.

Thirty-two of the field of 71 playing Saturday broke par. Eight others equalled par.

Grouped at 211 were Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y.; Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla.; and Jerry Magee, Toronto.

Ford, three-time runner-up in this tournament, had 35-33—68; Ragan came in with 37-34—71; and Magee, playing with Marr and Johnston, had 34-36—70.

Celtics Drop Warriors For 110-96 Count

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A 35-point scoring splurge by Frank Ramsey and a 35-rebound performance by Bill Russell sparked the Boston Celtics to a 110-96 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors Saturday in a nationally-televised National Basketball Association game.

The victory squared the meetings between the teams at 5-5 and kept alive Boston's hopes of sweeping its season's series with every NBA rival.

Ramsey had a good day with 9 field goals and 17 out of 19 free throw attempts. Russell dominated both boards as he garnered almost half of his team's 74 rebounds.

The game was close through the first two periods. But eight straight points by Ramsey midway through the third period ignited the Celtics to an 85-77 advantage as the final period got underway. Boston added to its margin, while the Warriors never were able to threaten to the final gun.

BEAT START, CENTRAL

Central, Mer Rouge Take First In 7-C

MER ROUGE, La. (Special) — Central of Delhi girls routed Start, 59-31, and Mer Rouge boys edged Central 44-42, to win the championships of district 7-C here last night.

The four finalists advanced to the bi-district playoffs with the district 8-C finalists. Enterprise girls, second in 8-C, will play Central at Central Monday night at 7:30 and Start girls play at Ogden, the 8-C winner, at the same time Monday. Enterprise boys, 8-C runnerup, meets Mer Rouge here Tuesday night at 8. Central boys play Fort Necessity, 8-C champion at 7:30 Tuesday night at Fort Necessity.

Bobby Earl Clark hit a shot from five feet out with five seconds to go to give Mer Rouge their win over Central boys. Yeldell was the top scorer for L. J. Fontenot's Mer Rouge team with 25 points and L. Blake got 14 for Central.

Margaret Loftin's 24 points paced the Central girls with Johnson leading Start with 12.

In semifinal games, Central beat Mer Rouge, 57-38, and Start whipped Monticello, 45-35, in the girls division. Loftin and Pepper got 23 each for John Nelson's Central team and Dawson had 19 for Mer Rouge. Slocum got 18 points to pace Start's win with Tidwell getting 12 for Monticello.

Central boys gained the finals with a 45-35 win over Monticello with L. and B. Blake getting 14 points each for the winners and King scoring 19 for Monticello. Mer Rouge beat Oak Ridge, 61-51, in the semifinals with Yeldell getting 24 for Mer Rouge and Baugh hitting 19 for Oak Ridge.

Grayson Boys, Crowville Girls Win 5-B Titles

HARRISONBURG, La. (Special) — Grayson whipped Columbia, 58 - 46, for the boys title and Crowville slipped past Baskin, 46-44, for the girls championship in the district 5 - B basketball tournament here last night.

Grayson routed Baskin, 82-38, in the semifinals to gain the finals berth while Columbia edged Vidalia, 56-54, in a tension - packed double overtime semifinal.

In the girls semifinals, Crowville beat Block easily, 45-23, while Baskin turned back Newellton by a 41-33 count.

Other boys games saw Grayson top Sicily Island, 59-37, Baskin nip Block, 47-46, and Vidalia top Harrisonburg, 54-51.

Streit-Robbins Capture Mixed Foursome Title

JUPITER, Fla. (UP)—Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., defeated Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Tim Holland of New York, 6 and 5, Saturday for the national mixed foursome golf championship.

Mrs. Streit and Robbins, a lieutenant at Shaw Air Force Base S.C., had a 4-up lead at the halfway mark of the 36-hole final. Their lead nevre dropped below 3-up during the rest of the match.

Both teams shot sparkling golf despite 30-mile-an-hour winds and a heavy rain during the morning round.

Tulane Falls To Alabama Quint, 73-64

Mississippi's Coaches Hold March Clinic

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP)—The Mississippi Assn. of Coaches will conduct its third annual spring coaching clinic at Hardy Junior High School March 21.

Hardy coach George Stevens said the guest instructors would be:

Head football coach Thad Vaun of Mississippi Southern, football; John Ray Ricks of Delta State College, basketball; Clyde Stuart of Mississippi Southern, baseball; and Pete Taylor of Mississippi Southern, track.

Later this year, Aug. 5-8, the MAC and the Jackson Touchdown Club co-sponsor the third annual MAC coaching clinic in connection with All-Star week.

Held Prepared For 2nd Season With Athletics

KANSAS CITY (UP) — Woody Held, Kansas City's 25-year-old centerfielder who did everything but hit for an average last year, has agreed to terms for his sophomore season, club officials announced Saturday.

Vice President Parke Carroll said Held had come to terms via long distance telephone from his residence in Sacramento, Calif. No salary figure was announced.

FIGHTS TOMORROW

Sehon, Woolwine Promise Boudreaux, McKoin Woes

"Having that show put off for another week was the best thing that could have happened to me," declared Sonny Sehon who meets Louisiana welterweight champion Al Boudreaux in one of the two ten-round feature attractions on Promoter Gus Kallio's boxing card here tomorrow night.

Bad weather the past week caused Promoter Kallio to postpone the show from last Tuesday until tomorrow. The usual Monday wrestling card will not take place.

Sehon, Miami Beach, Fla., in a communication with Kallio, said he is taking advantage of the additional time to work daily with Paul Jorgensen, world's fourth ranking featherweight who is prepping for a February 25 date with Gil Cadilli. Sehon feels the extra week of work with Jorgensen will give him the added sharpness he needs to lift the Louisiana belt from the Westwego fighter.

"Boudreaux is no puncher, so I've got nothing to fear from him," said the lanky Miami Beach scrapper.

Boudreaux, who has been getting daily workouts here for the past week with Don Ware and Jimmy Collins, the latter a recent novice winner in the Golden Gloves tourney at Lafayette, last night declared, "I hope Sehon fights as good as he talks. If he does the fans here are going to see a thriller."

"Sehon has been doing a lot of bragging about what he's going to be doing to me. I wonder what he thinks I'm going to be doing all that time. He could be too busy protecting himself to ever get a chance to fight," vowed the champ.

The other half of the double main matched Irish Johnny McKoin, Bastrop, against Curt Woolwine, Beaumont tough boy.

"If it's a slam-bang you-hit-me-and-I'll-hit-you type of fight the fans want, then McKoin and Woolwine should be able to please them

Woolwine has been around some since appearing several years ago in Monroe as a prelim boy. Since then he has fought in California, Mexico, Alabama, and all over Texas.

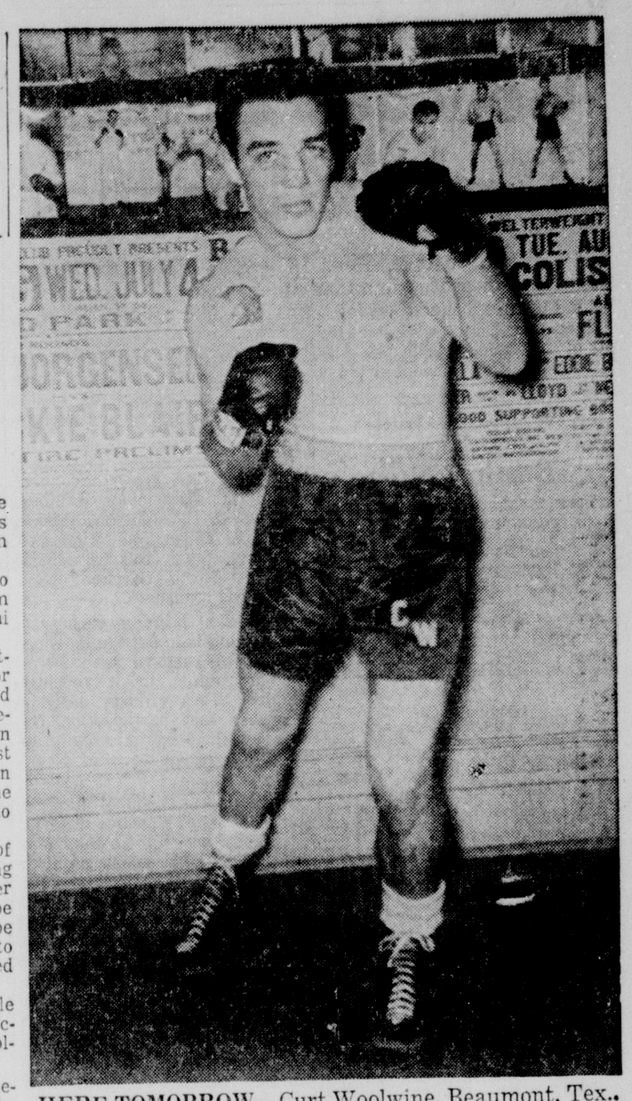

Last year he journeyed to Mobile, Ala., and took on Guy Sumlin, the great Alabama welterweight. Woolwine lost a close 10-round decision, and was ahead going into the sixth round. It caused Promoter Tom Nelson to say after the fight, "That Woolwine can come back to Mobile anytime, why he gave the fans more action than they've seen in all the other fights put together."

In Woolwine, Monroe fans will see one of the finest club fighters in Texas. There's never a dull moment with the Beaumont toughie in there. He often sticks out his chin to his opponent when the going gets roughest, as if to show the opponent that he has an iron jaw.

He is anxious to swap leather with McKoin, and looks forward to this meeting more than any fight he's ever had. Their styles should make for a real action packed affair.

The supporting cast tomorrow included three four - round matches, but Kallio last night said the card will not follow the usual pattern as he intends to bill the two features early so papermill workers who are boxing fans can see the fights and still make "that 11 o'clock shift here or at Bastrop."

Dewayne Garris and Jerry Parks, a pair of middleweights, start the show at 8 o'clock. Boudreaux and Sehon follow immediately after, and then come McKoin and Woolwine. A pair of "fours" will wind up the program with Jessie Goins, Monroe, battling James Singleton, Shreveport; Jimmy Rankin, Shreveport, meeting Spanish Paul Chabarrito.

2 YEAR PACT

Texas Tech Will Not Fire Weaver

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP)—DeWitt Weaver, Texas Tech athletic director and head coach who has been the target of an ouster campaign sparked by students, Saturday was given a vote of confidence by Tech's directors, who granted him a two-year extension of his contract.

The extension, approved unanimously according to an announcement by the board, gives Weaver a pact until Feb. 1, 1961 through the school's first season of football competition in the Southwest Conference.

His present contract was to expire Feb. 1, 1959. He has been at Tech since 1951 and his teams had a 39-32-4 record during that span during which they won four Border Conference titles and finished second once. His 1956 and 1957 teams each won only two of 10 games, however.

The board extended Weaver's contract in the face of a campaign by a self-styled "Suitcase Club," which had plastered the campus with anti- Weaver signs since Thursday on the eve of a Tech athletic council session.

Circulars also were distriuted prior to the meeting demanding to know, "what has Weaver done to deserve this confidence?"

Signs appearing on the campus said: "Have Coach, He'll Travel" and "No New 2-year Contract."

Two student representatives met with the three - man board subcommittee Friday night. They were David Thompson of Borger, president of the student body, and Dan Howard of Littlefield, student representative on the faculty athletic council.

The two said they told the subcommittee that to their knowledge "the vast majority of the Tech student body is not in favor of extending Dee Weaver's contract." They said they requested that Weaver's contract be allowed to expire in 1959.

Spartans Clip Illinois, Head Big Ten Race

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UP)—Michigan State, which raced to a phenomenal 21-2 lead early in the game, easily clipped last-place Illinois, 69-56, Saturday to take over sole possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball race.

With Johnny Green, the conference's top rebounder, and Larry Hedden hitting on nearly every shot they took in the first 10 minutes of the first half, the Spartans had their big lead before the Illini managed their first basket, a jump shot by Don Ohl with 9:18 left in the half.

Coach Fordy Anderson used substitutes liberally in the second half as MSU held a 39-18 halftime lead and quickly increased it to 65-30 after 12:06 had been played in the final half.

The victory broke Michigan State's tie with Indiana for first. The Hoosiers were idle Saturday.

Illinois chopped the Spartan 35-point margin with 15 straight points but they were too far out of contention to seriously threaten.

Green, who had 17 rebounds, 10 in the first half, tipped in the Spartans' first two baskets and added three more points while Hedden connected on four shots, mostly long jumpers, to build up the early lead which Illinois could never overcome.

Going into the game Illinois had been the conference's highest scoring team, averaging 79 points a game, although they were tied for last with Wisconsin.

Green had six stitches taken in his head late in the first half when he was hit in a scramble for a rebound under the Illini basket. He played only briefly the rest of the way.

Bob Anderegg had 12 and Hedden 10 for the Spartans while Govoner Vaughn's 16 were tops for Illinois.

Okla. State Selected For NCAA Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Oklahoma State, operating as an independent this year, today was elected to play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 20th basketball tournament.

The Cowboys, who withdrew from the Missouri Valley Conference but do not become a full fledged member of the Big Eight until next year, were named as an at - large team by the western tournament committee headed by Roy S. Keene of Oregon State.

The draw calls for sixth ranked Oklahoma State to meet another at-large team to be selected. The dates are either March 10, 11 or 12 at a site to be announced. The winner will advance to the midwest finals at Lawrence, Kan., against the winner of the Southwest Conference.

Oklahoma State, national champion in 1945 and 1946 is entering its seventh NCAA title event. Only Kentucky has been in more. The Wildcats have played in nine. Wyoming also has participated in seven.

Coach Hank Iba's defensive-minded team won 16 of its first 18 games. The Cowboys lost the season's opener to Kansas and later squared the series and also were upset by Houston. Among their victories are decisions over Cincinnati and Bradley.

Delhi, Forest Take Titles In 4-B Playoffs

PIONEER, La. (Special)—Delhi edged Pioneer, 33-32, to take the girls championship and Forest topped Holly Ridge 52-41, to win the boys title in the district 4 - B basketball playoffs here last night.

Robbins scored 14 points to pace the Delhi victory with Ross of Pioneer taking high-point honors for the game with 20. Kelly of Forest led his team with 20 points and Futch of Holly Ridge got 21 in the boys finals.

Delhi gained the finals with a 58-44 decision over Forest girls Friday night while Forest beat Epps, 51-37, Thursday in a boys semi - final clash.

Lopez Rocks Mantle To Sidelines, 4 and 3

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — Mickey Mantle's leng drives got caught in the 40-mile-an-hour winds Saturday and the Yankee slugger lost to Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, 4 and 3, in a quarter-final match of the national baseball players' golf championship.

Lopez, who played a more cautious game especially after a noon downpour made the greens very slow, meets John Gray of the Phillies in the semifinals Sunday.

Gray, in a duel of pitchers, outlasted Don Newcombe of the Los Angeles Dodgers, 1 up, in the quarter-finals.

In the other two matches, tournament favorite Alvin Dark of the St. Louis Cardinals beat Clem Labine of the Dodgers, 2 up, and Albie Pearson of the Washington Senators defeated Darrell Johnson of the Yankees, 6 and 4.

Dark, defending champion, plays Pearson, the dark horse of the tournament playing his first year here, in the other semifinal match. The finals will be played Sunday afternoon.

World's Bobsled Champ Hurt As Sled Overturns

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 15 (AP) — Italy's Olympic and world bobsled champion Eugenio Monti was injured today when his sled turned a double somersault during the second heat of the Swiss International Four - Man Bobsled Championships.

The sled overturned on the St. Moritz Olympic run, but did not leave the track. Monti fractured his nose and the other members of the crew were badly bruised.

They were in second place after the first heat.

Monti was taken to a hospital where Dr. Josef Daghofer said his injury was more serious than at first believed.

"His nose is almost split in two down the ridge," Dr. Daghofer said. "His upper lip is also badly cut and he is suffering from shock."

Holly Ridge, West Monroe Win Jr. Titles

West Monroe girls and Holly Ridge boys took first place honors in the North Monroe Junior High Tournament here last night, West Monroe beating North Monroe, 34-20, in the finals and Holly Ridge topping Ruston, 39-31, in the boys finale.

Wainwright scored 18 points for West Monroe girls in the finals while Masur topped North Monroe with 13. Russell had 13 for Holly Ridge and Clark got 10 for Ruston.

In consolation games, A. L. Smith of Sterlington beat Ouachita girls, 28-19, and North Monroe edged South Monroe, 19-18, for third place in the boys division. Glenn scored 16 for Smith and O'Daniel 13 for Ouachita. Roberts led North Monroe with 11 and Keith got 7 for South Monroe.

North Monroe beat Ouachita, 28-13, in a girls semifinal with Masur scoring 21 for the winners and O'Daniel 10 for the losers. West Monroe beat Smith, 34-25, as Wainwright got 17 points for West Monroe and Bates got 17 for Smith.

In the boys semifinal clashes, Ruston slipped by South Monroe, 27-25, in an overtime with Keith getting 12 for the losers and Shoffield 13 for the winners. Holly Ridge topped North Monroe, 21-14, in the other semifinal as Walker scored 10 for the winners and Keith got 7 for South Monroe.

Eight girls made the all-tourney team picked by the officials. They were Wainwright, Chapman and Parker of West Monroe, Masur and Fontana of North Monroe, Bates and Dickey of Smith and Welch of Ouachita.

The all-tourney boys were Walker and Russell of Holly Ridge, Shoffield and Barmore of Ruston, Bryant and Dubois of South Monroe and Roberts of North Monroe.

RECORDING BY LAVELLI

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Lavelli, former Yale basketball star, is featured on a long - playing record, "Accordian Classics." The disk of 13 recordings includes La Cumparsita, the Flight of the Bumble Bee and a medley from Carmen. Lavelli, 31, has played the accordian since he was 12. He recently signed a songwriter's contract with Broadcast Music.

Tim Tam Cops Everglades' First Money

HIALEAH, Fla. (UP)—Tim Tam almost loafing as he ran, romped through the muddy Hialeah stretch Saturday to beat his Calumet Farm stablemate, Kentucky Pride, in the $31,550 Everglades Stakes before a crowd of 23,215.

Tim Tam was ridden by jockey champion Bill Hartack, who switched from Kentucky Pride before the race. The dark brown son of Tom Fool appeared to be enjoying himself as he bored through the pack on the rail to win by one and one-quarter lengths going away.

The Calumet pair, owned by Mrs. Gene Markey, practically made it a two-horse race. Liberty Ruler finished third, six lengths back of Kentucky Pride.

Then came Gray Trust, Deadeye Dick, Nisht Amool, Sir Robby, Yemen and Misty Flight.

The odds on choice of the crowd, the Calumet entry of Tim Tam and Kentucky Pride paid $3.40, $3.20 and $2.50 across the board. Liberty Ruler returned $4.30 for a $2 show bet.

Miranda Early Bird This Year

BALTIMORE (UP)—Willie Miranda, fined $1,000 last year for reporting late to spring training camp agreed to terms with the Baltimore Orioles Saturday night in a telephone conversation with Assistant General Manager Jack Dunn.

The light-hitting shortstop, who is generally regarded one of the top glovemen in major league baseball, signed for a reported $11,000. It was believed Miranda got a slight raise even though he batted only .194 in 115 games last season.

Marr Holds Slim Texas Lead

Johnston One Stroke Away; 7 Tie For 3rd

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — Young Dave Marr of Cedarhurst, N.Y., leader since the first round, managed only an even - par 71 Saturday to see his lead dwindle to one stroke after 54 holes in the $15,000 Texas Open golf tournament.

Marr took a six-stroke lead after the first round at Brackenridge Park Thursday with an 8-under-par 63. He still held a six-stroke lead after the second round with a 134. His 54-hole total is 205.

Bill Johnston, a young pro from Provo, Utah, playing in the same threesome with Marr, clipped five strokes off the 36-35—71 par for the 6,490-yard course. Johnson's 34-32—66 moved him within a stroke of Marr at 206.

Seven golfers, including Bob Goalby of Darien, Conn., who equalled Johnston's 66 to tie for low honors in the third round, were tied for third place at 210. Goalby was the early leader Saturday after posting his 33-33—66.

Others in the 210 bracket were Jimmy Demaret, of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., who had 33-35—68 Saturday; Ed Griffiths of Youngstown, Ohio, who had 34-34—68; Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., 34-35—69; Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La., 36-33—69; Walker Inman Jr., Bolton, Mass., 35-35—70; and Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., 35-34—69.

Most of the golfers were pleased with conditions of the course Saturday. The third round, played in brilliant sunshine as compared to cold and wet weather earlier in the week, produced the tournament's best golf to date.

Thirty-two of the field of 71 playing Saturday broke par. Eight others equalled par.

Grouped at 211 were Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y.; Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla.; and Jerry Magee, Toronto.

Ford, three-time runner-up in this tournament, had 35-33—68; Ragan came in with 37-34—71; and Magee, playing with Marr and Johnston, had 34-36—70.

FIGHTS TOMORROW

Sehon, Woolwine Promise Boudreaux, McKoin Woes

"Having that show put off for another week was the best thing that could have happened to me," declared Sonny Sehon who meets Louisiana welterweight champion Al Boudreaux in one of the two ten-round feature attractions on Promoter Gus Kallio's boxing card here tomorrow night.

Bad weather the past week caused Promoter Kallio to postpone the show from last Tuesday until tomorrow. The usual Monday wrestling card will not take place.

Sehon, Miami Beach, Fla., in a communication with Kallio, said he is taking advantage of the additional time to work daily with Paul Jorgensen, world's fourth ranking featherweight who is prepping for a February 25 date with Gil Cadilli. Sehon feels the extra week of work with Jorgensen will give him the added sharpness he needs to lift the Louisiana belt from the Westwego fighter.

"Boudreaux is no puncher, so I've got nothing to fear from him," said the lanky Miami Beach scrapper.

Boudreaux, who has been getting daily workouts here for the past week with Don Ware and Jimmy Collins, the latter a recent novice winner in the Golden Gloves tourney at Lafayette, last night declared, "I hope Sehon fights as good as he talks. If he does the fans here are going to see a thriller."

"Schon has been doing a lot of bragging about what he's going to be doing to me. I wonder what he thinks I'm going to be doing all that time. He could be too busy protecting himself to ever get a chance to fight," vowed the champ.

The other half of the double main matched Irish Johnny McKoin, Bastrop, against Curt Woolwine, Beaumont tough boy.

"If it's a slam-bang you-hit-me-and-I'll-hit-you type of fight the fans want, then McKoin and Woolwine should be able to please them

Woolwine has been around some since appearing several years ago in Monroe as a prelim boy. Since then he has fought in California, Mexico, Alabama, and all over Texas.

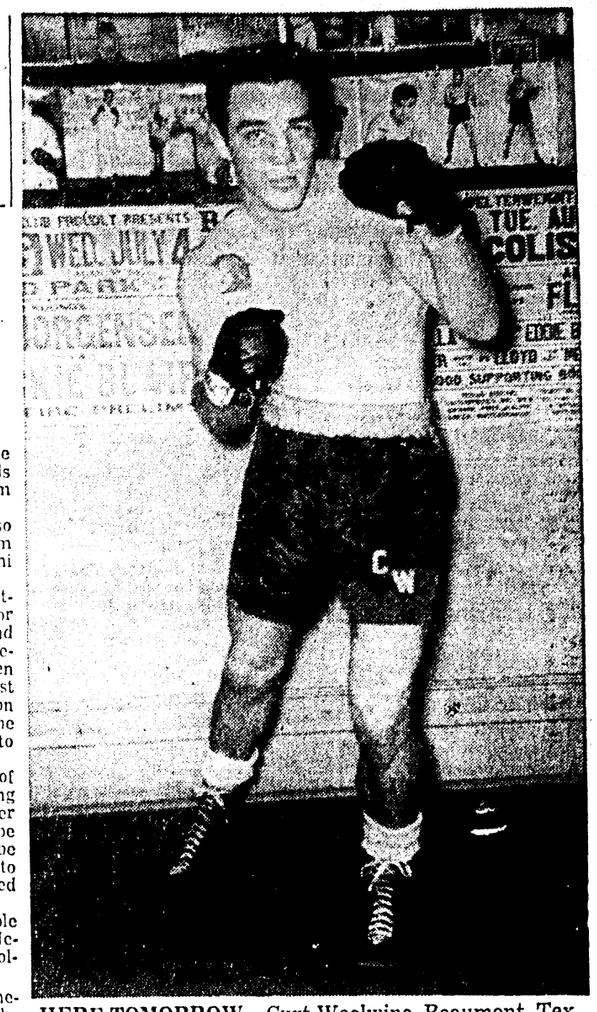

Last year he journeyed to Mobile, Ala., and took on Guy Sumlin, the great Alabama welterweight. Woolwine lost a close 10-round decision, and was ahead going into the sixth round. It caused Promoter Tom Nelson to say after the fight, "That Woolwine can come back to Mobile anytime, why he gave the fans more action than they've seen in all the other fights put together."

In Woolwine, Monroe fans will see one of the finest club fighters in Texas. There's never a dull moment with the Beaumont toughie in there. He often sticks out his chin to his opponent when the going gets roughest, as if to show the opponent that he has an iron jaw.

He is anxious to swap leather with McKoin, and looks forward to this meeting more than any fight he's ever had. Their styles should make for a real action packed affair.

The supporting cast tomorrow included three four - round matches, but Kallio last night said the card will not follow the usual pattern as he intends to bill the two features early so papermill workers who are boxing fans can see the fights and still make "that 11 o'clock shift here or at Bastrop."

Dewayne Garris and Jerry Parks, a pair of middleweights, start the show at 8 o'clock. Boudreaux and Schon follow immediately after, and then come McKoin and Woolwine. A pair of "fours" will wind-up the program with Jessie Goins, Monroe, battling James Singleton, Shreveport; Jimmy Rankin, Shreveport, meeting Spanish Paul Chabarrito.

2 YEAR PACT

Texas Tech Will Not Fire Weaver

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP)—DeWitt Weaver, Texas Tech athletic director and head coach who has been the target of an ouster campaign sparked by students, Saturday was given a vote of confidence by Tech's directors, who granted him a two-year extension of his contract.

The extension, approved unanimously according to an announcement by the board, gives Weaver a pact until Feb. 1, 1961 through the school's first season of football competition in the Southwest Conference.

His present contract was to expire Feb. 1, 1959. He has been at Tech since 1951 and his teams had a 39-32-4 record during that span during which they won four Border Conference titles and finished second once. His 1956 and 1957 teams each won only two of 10 games, however.

The board extended Weaver's contract in the face of a campaign by a self-styled "Suitcase Club," which had plastered the campus with anti- Weaver signs since Thursday on the eve of a Tech athletic council session.

Circulars also were distriuted prior to the meeting demanding to know, "what has Weaver done to deserve this confidence?"

Signs appearing on the campus said: "Have Coach, He'll Travel" and "No New 2-year Contract."

Two student representatives met with the three - man board subcommittee Friday night. They were David Thompson of Borger, president of the student body, and Dan Howard of Littlefield, student representative on the faculty athletic council.

The two said they told the subcommittee that to their knowledge "the vast majority of the Tech student body is not in favor of extending Dee Weaver's contract." They said they requested that Weaver's contract be allowed to expire in 1959.

Spartans Clip Illinois, Head Big Ten Race

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UP)—Michigan State, which raced to a phenomenal 21-2 lead early in the game, easily clipped last-place Illinois, 69-56, Saturday to take over sole possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball race.

With Johnny Green, the conference's top rebounder, and Larry Hedden hitting on nearly every shot they took in the first 10 minutes of the first half, the Spartans had their big lead before the Illini managed their first basket, a jump shot by Don Ohl with 9:18 left in the half.

Coach Fordy Anderson used substitutes liberally in the second half as MSU held a 39-18 halftime lead and quickly increased it to 65-30 after 12:06 had been played in the final half.

The victory broke Michigan State's tie with Indiana for first. The Hoosiers were idle Saturday.

Illinois chopped the Spartan 35-point margin with 15 straight points but they were too far out of contention to seriously threaten.

Green, who had 17 rebounds, 10 in the first half, tipped in the Spartans' first two baskets and added three more points while Hedden connected on four shots, mostly long jumpers, to build up the early lead which Illinois could never overcome.

Going into the game Illinois had been the conference's highest scoring team, averaging 79 points a game, although they were tied for last with Wisconsin.

Green had six stitches taken in his head late in the first half when he was hit in a scramble for a rebound under the Illini basket. He played only briefly the rest of the way.

Bob Anderegg had 12 and Hedden 10 for the Spartans while Govoner Vaughn's 16 were tops for Illinois.

BEAT START, CENTRAL

Central, Mer Rouge Take First In 7-C

MER ROUGE, La. (Special) — Central of Delhi girls routed Start, 59-31, and Mer Rouge boys edged Central 44-42, to win the championships of district 7-C here last night.

The four finalists advanced to the bi-district playoffs with the district 8-C finalists. Enterprise girls, second in 8-C, will play Central at Central Monday night at 7:30 and Start girls play at Ogden, the 8-C winner, at the same time Monday. Enterprise boys, 8-C runnerup, meets Mer Rouge here Tuesday night at 8. Central boys play Fort Necessity, 8-C champion at 7:30 Tuesday night at Fort Necessity.

Bobby Earl Clark hit a shot from five feet out with five seconds to go to give Mer Rouge their win over Central boys. Yeldell was the top scorer for L. J. Fontenot's Mer Rouge team with 25 points and L. Blake got 14 for Central.

Margaret Loftin's 24 points paced the Central girls with Johnson leading Start with 12.

In semifinal games, Central beat Mer Rouge, 57-38, and Start whipped Monticello, 45-35, in the girls division. Loftin and Pepper got 23 each for John Nelson's Central team and Dawson had 19 for Mer Rouge. Slocum got 18 points to pace Start's win with Tidwell getting 12 for Monticello.

Central boys gained the finals with a 45-35 win over Monticello with L. and B. Blake getting 15 points each for the winners and King scoring 19 for Monticello. Mer Rouge beat Oak Ridge, 61-51, in the semifinals with Yeldell getting 24 for Mer Rouge and Baugh hitting 19 for Oak Ridge.

Okla. State Selected For NCAA Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Oklahoma State, operating as an independent this year, today was elected to play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 20th basketball tournament.

The Cowboys, who withdrew from the Missouri Valley Conference but do not become a full fledged member of the Big Eight until next year, were named as an at - large team by the western tournament committee headed by Roy S. Keene of Oregon State.

The draw calls for sixth ranked Oklahoma State to meet another at-large team to be selected. The dates are either March 10, 11 or 12 at a site to be announced. The winner will advance to the midwest finals at Lawrence, Kan., against the winner of the Southwest Conference.

Oklahoma State, national champion in 1945 and 1946 is entering its seventh NCAA title event. Only Kentucky has been in more. The Wildcats have played in nine. Wyoming also has participated in seven.

Coach Hank Iba's defensive-minded team won 16 of its first 18 games. The Cowboys lost the season's opener to Kansas and later squared the series and also were upset by Houston. Among their victories are decisions over Cincinnati and Bradley.

Grayson Boys, Crowville Girls Win 5-B Titles

HARRISONBURG, La. (Special) — Grayson whipped Columbia, 58 - 46, for the boys title and Crowville slipped past Baskin, 46-44, for the girls championship in the district 5 - B basketball tournament here last night.

Grayson routed Baskin, 82-38, in the semifinals to gain the finals berth while Columbia edged Vidalia, 56-54, in a tension - packed double overtime semifinal.

In the girls semifinals, Crowville beat Block easily, 45-23, while Baskin turned back Newellton by a 41-33 count.

Other boys games saw Grayson top Sicily Island, 59-37, Baskin nip Block, 47-46, and Vidalia top Harrisonburg, 54-51.

Mississippi's Coaches Hold March Clinic

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15 (AP)—The Mississippi Assn. of Coaches will conduct its third annual spring coaching clinic at Hardy Junior High School March 21.

Hardy coach George Stevens said the guest instructors would be:

Head football coach Thad Vaun of Mississippi Southern, football; John Ray Ricks of Delta State College, basketball; Clyde Stuart of Mississippi Southern, baseball; and Pete Taylor of Mississippi Southern, track.

Later this year, Aug. 5-8, the MAC and the Jackson Touchdown Club co-sponsor the third annual MAC coaching clinic in connection with All-Star week.

Celtics Drop Warriors For 110-96 Count

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A 35-point scoring splurge by Frank Ramsey and a 35-rebound performance by Bill Russell sparked the Boston Celtics to a 110-96 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors Saturday in a nationally-televised National Basketball Association game.

The victory squared the meetings between the teams at 5-5 and kept alive Boston's hopes of sweeping its season's series with every NBA rival.

Ramsey had a good day with 9 field goals and 17 out of 19 free throw attempts. Russell dominated both boards as he garnered almost half of his team's 74 rebounds.

The game was close through the first two periods. But eight straight points by Ramsey midway through the third period ignited the Celtics to an 85-77 advantage as the final period got underway. Boston added to its margin, while the Warriors never were able to threaten to the final gun.

Streit-Robbins Capture Mixed Foursome Title

JUPITER, Fla. (UP)—Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., defeated Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Tim Holland of New York, 6 and 5, Saturday for the national mixed foursome golf championship.

Mrs. Streit and Robbins, a lieutenant at Shaw Air Force Base S.C., had a 4-up lead at the halfway mark of the 36-hole final. Their lead nevre dropped below 3-up during the rest of the match.

Both teams shot sparkling golf despite 30-mile-an-hour winds and a heavy rain during the morning round.

Held Prepared For 2nd Season With Athletics

KANSAS CITY (UP) — Woody Held, Kansas City's 25-year-old centerfielder who did everything but hit for an average last year, has agreed to terms for his sophomore season, club officials announced Saturday.

Vice President Parke Carroll said Held had come to terms via long distance telephone from his residence in Sacramento, Calif. No salary figure was announced.

Lopez Rocks Mantle To Sidelines, 4 and 3

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — Mickey Mantle's long drives got caught in the 40-mile-an-hour winds Saturday and the Yankee slugger lost to Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, 4 and 3, in a quarter-final match of the national baseball players' golf championship.

Lopez, who played a more cautious game especially after a noon downpour made the greens very slow, meets John Gray of the Phillies in the semifinals Sunday.

Gray, in a duel of pitchers, outlasted Don Newcombe of the Los Angeles Dodgers, 1 up, in the quarter-finals.

In the other two matches, tournament favorite Alvin Dark of the St. Louis Cardinals beat Clem Labine of the Dodgers, 2 up, and Albie Pearson of the Washington Senators defeated Darrell Johnson of the Yankees, 6 and 4.

Dark, defending champion, plays Pearson, the dark horse of the tournament playing his first year here, in the other semifinal match. The finals will be played Sunday afternoon.

Delhi, Forest Take Titles In 4-B Playoffs

PIONEER, La. (Special)—Delhi edged Pioneer, 33-32, to take the girls championship and Forest topped Holly Ridge 52-41, to win the boys title in the district 4 - B basketball playoffs here last night.

Robbins scored 14 points to pace the Delhi victory with Ross of Pioneer taking high-point honors for the game with 20. Kelly of Forest led his team with 20 points and Futch of Holly Ridge got 21 in the boys finals.

Delhi gained the finals with a 58-44 decision over Forest girls Friday night while Forest beat Epps, 51-37, Thursday in a boys semi - final clash.

World's Bobsled Champ Hurt As Sled Overturns

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 15 (AP) — Italy's Olympic and world bobsled champion Eugenio Monti was injured today when his sled turned a double somersault during the second heat of the Swiss International Four - Man Bobsled Championships.

The sled overturned on the St. Moritz Olympic run, but did not leave the track. Monti fractured his nose and the other members of the crew were badly bruised.

They were in second place after the first heat.

Monti was taken to a hospital where Dr. Josef Daghofer said his injury was more serious than at first believed.

"His nose is almost split in two down the ridge," Dr. Daghofer said. "His upper lip is also badly cut and he is suffering from shock."

He recently signed a songwriter's contract with Broadcast Music.

Tim Tam Cops Everglades' First Money

HIALEAH, Fla. (UP)—Tim Tam almost loafing as he ran, romped through the muddy Hialeah stretch Saturday to beat his Calumet Farm stablemate, Kentucky Pride, in the $31,550 Everglades Stakes before a crowd of 23,215.

Tim Tam was ridden by jockey champion Bill Hartack, who switched from Kentucky Pride before the race. The dark brown son of Tom Fool appeared to be enjoying himself as he bored through the pack on the rail to win by one and one-quarter lengths going away.

The Calumet pair, owned by Mrs. Gene Markey, practically made it a two-horse race. Liberty Ruler finished third, six lengths back of Kentucky Pride.

Then came Gray Trust, Deadeye Dick, Nisht Amool, Sir Robby, Yemen and Misty Flight.

The odds on choice of the crowd, the Calumet entry of Tim Tam and Kentucky Pride paid $3.40, $3.20 and $2.50 across the board. Liberty Ruler returned $4.30 for a $2 show bet.

Miranda Early Bird This Year

BALTIMORE (UP)—Willie Miranda, fined $1,000 last year for reporting late to spring training camp agreed to terms with the Baltimore Orioles Saturday night in a telephone conversation with Assistant General Manager Jack Dunn.

The light-hitting shortstop, who is generally regarded one of the top glovemen in major league baseball, signed for a reported $11,000. It was believed Miranda got a slight raise even though he batted only .194 in 115 games last season.

FOR ATHLETES

Colleges To Cull Non-Pro Leagues

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15 (AP)—The nation's organized non-professional summer baseball leagues will find out next week which ones can use college players.

Executive Director Walter Byers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association announced today that a special committee from that group will meet in Chicago Monday with representatives of the non - pro leagues on the accreditation question.

Specific invitations to consult with the NCAA group have been issued to more than a dozen leagues in Washington, Maine, Montana, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Wyoming, South Dakota, Massachusetts, North Carolina, Nova Scotia and Canada.

Byers said primary purpose of the meeting is to determine which leagues will conform their operating procedures to a recently-adopted NCAA criteria designed to insure that participating college student - athletics will not be placed in violation of NCAA requirements.

The NCAA - National Association of Baseball Coaches criteria:

1. A student - athlete may play summer baseball as an amateur on any team not under the jurisdiction of professional baseball, it being understood that he may not receive pay for participation. The student - athlete may participate as an individual or as a member of a team against professional athletes, but he may not participate on a professional team.

2. Participants in organized summer baseball leagues may only hold jobs which are legitimate in their nature and function. The student - athletic must be gainfully employed for at least 32 hours a week on the job and compensation shall be commensurate with the going rate at that locale.

3. Due to recognized schedule difficulties, the student - athlete shall be allowed to play baseball whenever feasible providing this does not interfere with his opportunity to work 32 hours.

4. Minimum transportation costs for the student - athlete may be paid by the employer from and to the player's home.

5. No cash allowances or bonuses shall be awarded student-athletes for intra-league or inter-league playoffs.

Transylvania Wins 2 Titles At Goodwill

GOODWILL, La. (Special) — Transylvania and Goodwill teams dominated the Goodwill Junior High Tournament here last night with both Transylvania outfits winning the championships.

Transylvania girls beat Goodwill 45-20, in the finals and Transylvania topped Goodwill, 47-27, to win the boys championship.

Johnson had 25 points to lead the Transylvania girls while Cutright led Goodwill with 13 points. Fairchild's 20 points was best for the winners in the boys finals with Sims netting 9 for Goodwill.

In consolation games, Forest girls beat Oak Grove, 31-23, and Oak Grove boys won a 24-22 verdict from Epps. McCart had 25 points for Forest in the girls game and Sanders got 12 for Oak Grove girls. Myrick's 11 points paced Oak Grove boys and Rawls got 6 for Epps.

Transylvania boys reached the finals with a 59-28 win over Oak Grove yesterday afternoon with Fairchild getting 28 for the winners and Myrick putting in 20 for the losers.

In a girls semifinal, Goodwill beat Oak Grove, 33-29, with Sanders scoring 11 for Oak Grove and Kennedy getting 14 for Goodwill.

Petitbon Says He Is Through With Pro Grid

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Former Notre Dame star John Petitbon of New Orleans, halfback with the Green Bay Packers last season, said today he is retiring from pro football.

After a hitch with the Marines, Petitbon played safety for Cleveland's world championship team in 1955.

He started with Notre Dame in 1949 after a brilliant prep career at Jesuit High School of New Orleans.

Petitbon said he will join an insurance firm.

BREAK FOUR-MINUTE MILE—Herb Elliott, right, Australia's newest mile sensation, beats Mervyn Lincoln by a step as they finish mile run at Perth, Australia, yesterday. Elliott's time was 3:59.6. Lincoln was credited with the same time in what is believed the fastest mile on a grass track. (AP Wirephoto)

LINCOLN CLOSE

Anzac's Elliott Smashes 4-Minute Mile 3rd Time

PERTH, Australia (UP)—Herb Elliott, Australia's 19 - year - old track sensation, smashed the four-minute mile for the third time in three weeks Saturday when he rallied to nip Aussie rival Merv Lincoln at the tape, each of them timed in 3 minutes, 59.6 seconds.

It was the second straight time the two stars bettered four minutes in the same race and probably the fastest mile ever run on a grass course.

The Aussie stars, who are aiming at John Landy's accepted word record of 3:58.0 in a series of mile races that has track fans in this country stirred up, missed their chance at a mark when Elliott reached the three-quarter-mile mark in only 3:04.0 with Lincoln nipping at his heels.

Elliott ripped off the last quarter in an amazing 55.6 seconds, losing the lead to Lincoln with 100 yards to go and then regaining with a steady comeback that put him in front by a foot at the tape.

The two runners also are shooting for the unofficial world record of 3:57.2 set by Britain's Derek Ibbotson at London, July 19, 1957. Official recognition of this figure has been delayed by the International Amateur Athletic Federation pending investigation as to whether it was a paced race.

Jackie Pung's Lead Cut To 1 At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—Jackie Pung couldn't do a thing right today and her nine stroke lea din the St. Petersburg women's open golf shriveled to one stroke after three rounds.

Mrs. Pung hit into traps, she plopped shots into trees and landed into a water hazard for a 41-40—81. This was far different from her earlier sparkling rounds of 66 and 70. Her 54-hole total was 217.

Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S.C., shot a 36-37—72 after shooting even par golf on the front nine and getting a birdie and two bogies on the back nine. She wound up with 218.

Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., tok over undisputed possession of third place with 220. She also gained eight strokes on Mrs. Pung. Pung.

Play was on the cold, wind-swept sunset course where wind whipped up to 30 miles an hour. Women's par on the 6,116-yard course is 74.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Two right - handed pitchers, Arnold Portocarrero and Wally Burnette, signed their 1958 contracts with the Kansas City Athletics Thursday.

TITLE RACE OVER

Rival 2-AA Tigers Follow Form Chart

BASTROP, La. (Special) — Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers and Neville Tigers of Monroe lived up to pre - season expectations by taking first and second place in the district 2-AA basketball race after a week of action in which Jonesboro - Hodge clinched first and repeated as district champion by trimming Bastrop.

Neville, the district runner-up last year that went on to the state championship, clinched second place Friday night by beating Ruston's Bearcats.

League action has been completed, but the state title contenders will be playing non-league foes until they go into regional play against the winners of bi - district games involving teams of 1-AA and 3-AA.

Coach Darrell Foreman's Bastrop Rams play Bonita here Tuesday night, while Neville hosts West Monroe. Neville also plays Ouachita at Monroe Friday.

Final 2-AA standings:

| School | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Jonesboro - Hodge | 7 | 1 | .875 |
| Neville | 6 | 2 | .750 |
| Ruston | 4 | 4 | .500 |

Lakers Acquire Selvey From St. Louis In Trade

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15 (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks tonight swapped Frank Selvy to the Minneapolis Lakers for the rights to Dick Boushka and Terry Rand.

Selvy, one-time standout for Furman U. and briefly a high-scoring rookie for the Hawks before he went into the army, will report to the Lakers immediately.

If the Hawks cannot sign either Boushka or Rand by June 1, 1958, Selvy will return to the St. Louis team. The Hawks can sign either Boushka or Rand but not both.

Round Table Scores Santa Anita Victory

ARCADIA, Calif. (UP) — Round Table uncorked a burst of speed in the final half mile Saturday to capture the $50,000 added San Antonio Handicap at Santa Anita by some three lengths and tied the world's record for a mile and an eighth.

The winning time by Travis M. Kerr's Round Table was 1:46 4-5. It tied the world's mark held jointly by four horses.

Round Table had to work his way through the field to get the lead. Fo ra time it appeared he may have gotten away too slowly but when he made his move he easily pulled away from his opposition.

Mystic Eye unleashed a stretch drive to get up for second. Promised Land was third and Porterhouse fourth in the field of nine starters.

The victory was a big one for Round Table who carried 130 pounds. He gave his opposition from 12 to 23 pounds and still was able to demonstrate speed that in the minds of California followers, at least, stamped him as the nearest thing to Swaps to race on the West Coast.

A huge Saturday crowd of 50,000 racing fans made Round Table a 2-5 favorite and he returned $2.90, 2.70 and 2.70 across the board. The overlooked Mystic Eye returned $15.60 and 9.30 for place and show while Promised Land paid $5.10 to show.

In addition to the honor of equalling the world's record, the victory also moved Round Table up to sixth place on the all-time money-winning list. The winner's share of the $56,400 gross purse was $33,300. It raised Round Table's earnings to $803,264 and pushed him past Native Dancer who had been in sixth place with $785,240.

Grambling Beats Jackson, 76-70, To Close Season

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) — Grambling closed its regular season last night with a 76-70 victory over the Jackson College basketballers. The win was Grambling's 23rd against three losses.

Behind at the halftime intermission, 38-34, Grambling came back in the second half to take the victory with James Hooper pouring in 32 points for the night to lead the scoring. Jerry Barr backed Hooper up with 15 markers. Jesse Downey paced Jackson with 17.

Grambling will leave Tuesday for Frankfort, Kentucky and the Midwest Conference Tournament.

TO OPEN MARCH 17

Northeast State Releases 24-Game Baseball Schedule

Baseball Coach George Luffey last night released Northeast's heaviest baseball schedule in history, 24 regular season games and three tournament contests.

The Indians will open with Mississippi College at Clinton, Mississippi on March 17 and play Arkansas A&M in their home opener on March 22. On April 3, Northeast will begin play in the SLC Tournament at Hammond, playing Northern Illinois, Southwestern of Memphis and Mississippi State on successive days.

Northeast will close its season on May 10 with a Gulf States conference doubleheader with SLI at Lafayette. In addition to the opponents already mentioned, the Indians will play Centenary, Northwestern, Southeastern, the LSU freshmen, Louisiana Tech, Louisiana College and McNeese.

Luffey's charges will begin their second week of workouts tomorrow. Thirty-four boys have been working out with seven more slated to appear March 1 with the conclusion of spring football practice and the basketball season.

Wayne Causey, Baltimore Oriole bonus player and now assigned to Vancover of the Pacific Coast League, has been helping coach the team as has Ed Hemphill while Luffey is assisting with spring grid practice.

"We're expecting a lot better ball club this year," says Luffey. For the first time, we have a good nucleus returning."

Returnees from last year's outfit that won seven and lost nine include catcher Jim Laudadio and first baseman Everett Reynolds, both now out for football, second baseman Jackie Brooks, shortstop Harry Rushing, all GSC third baseman Gary Huckaby, centerfielder James Mock, leftfielder Ike McMullen, all-conference in 1956, rightfielder Homer Rouse, and pitchers Lyle Dorsey, now playing basketball, Jackie Norman, Jay Gross, Huey Jinks, a 1956 player back after skipping a year, and Carroll George.

Bo Laird, the squad's Most Valuable Player last year, heads the list of losses that includes catcher Ray Hopper and rightfielder Mitchell Ray Hughes. Luffey lost a great hurling prospect when Terry Murray, who was to have become eligible this spring, signed with the Yankees.

The complete schedule:

March 17 — Miss. College at Clinton, Miss.
March 22 — Arkansas A&M, home.
March 24—Centenary at Shreveport.
March 27—Centenary, home.
March 29 — Arkansas A & M, home.
March 31 — Northwestern at Natchitoches.
April 2 — SLC at Hammond (doubleheader)
April 3 — SLC Tournament at Hammond.
April 9 — LSU Freshmen at Baton Rouge.
April 11 — Louisiana Tech, home.
April 12 — Louisiana Tech at Ruston.
April 15 — Louisiana College at Pineville.
April 18 — SLI, home.
April 19 — McNeese, home (doubleheader)
April 25 — SLC, home.
April 26 — Northwestern, home (doubleheader)
April 29 — Louisiana College at Pineville.
May 3 — Louisiana Tech, home.
May 9 — McNeese at Lake Charles.
May 10 — SLI at Lafayette (doubleheader).

NO LANE TEST

Woodling Signs Indian Contract

CLEVELAND, Feb. 15 (AP) — Gene Woodling signed his 1958 contract with the Cleveland Indians today, getting a substantial raise and eliminating the possibility that he personally might test general manager Frank Lane's newly announced policy of dealing with holdouts.

"I'm very happy with the whole situation," the veteran outfielder said. "Now let's win the pennannt."

It took only about 20 minutes for Woodling and Lane to resolve a difference on salary, which Woodling earlier this week said amounted to "about two or three thousand dollars."

Neither the club nor Woodling disclosed his 1958 pay, but the Indians did say it was around $30,000 and about one-third above his salary for 1957, when he batted .321 to lead the Tribe's offense and "Man of the Year" honors from Cleveland baseball writers.

Yesterday second baseman Bob Avila signed up at a slight pay cut, and now only catcher Jim Hegan, shortstop Chico Carrasquel and outfielder Minnie Minoso remain unsigned. Minoso, newly acquired from the Chicago White Sox, is the big money man of the trio and reportedly is demanding in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Lane's plan for dealing with holdouts drew an angry blast from Woodling when it was announced last week. The general manager said he would slice $100 off his contract offer to any unsigned player for each day's practice that player missed after March 1.

Baseball Toil At Grambling Opens Monday

President-Coach R. W. E. Jones announced that baseball practice would get underway Monday at Grambling College. The Tigers will be after two goals: The newly established Midwest Conference title and a chance to represent district 29 in the NAIA tournament this spring. Jackson State, Mississippi Vocational and Grambling will play in a southern division meet for the conference crown.

Jones has his work cut out for him if he hopes to improve on last year's 22 wins and two losses. Only Wiley College and Arkansas AM&N managed to break even with Grambling. The loss of such veteran lettermen as catchers Edward "Bo" Murray and Foster Wheeler, infielders Clarence Gladney and William Kennedy and pitchers Sherm Cottingham and Harold Stepteau won't make the job any easier as practice starts nearly a month before Grambling meets Wiley on March 14 and 15.

Lettermen returning include pitchers, Paul Green, George Johnson and Leroy Robinson; catcher-outfielders Levi Washington and James Joseph; infielders Fred Sigler, Bertrand Gladney, James Hopper, Louis Underwood, Delphine Terrel; outfielders Louis Wiggins, and Clarence Fair.

Lettermen elected Green and Johnson as co-captains for 1958. Both are seniors and are letterme nin football as well. Johnson pitched the first no-hitter in Grambling history last spring.

Promising newcomers include Preston Powell and Jamie Caleb. Both boys are capable of playing several positions and will be so used here at Grambling. Powell lettered as a fullback last fall and Caleb, blocking back, was the most valuable player, on the 1955 national championship team. Caleb has been in the army the past two years. Clyde Pacquet, who pitched and won the three games that Our Lady of Grace High School, Reserve, La., needed to win the state title last spring, is a freshman pitcher of whom much is expected.

These fifteen men plus the savy of Coach Jones are expected to add to the current Grambling record compiled over the past ten years. Coach Jones is 242-32 over this period.

Miss Heiss Still Ice Skate Queen

By PETER UEBERSAX

PARIS (UP) — Blonde Carol Heiss, of Ozone Park, N.Y. Saturday night retained her women's world figure skating title with a brilliant exhibition of jumps and pirquettes which earned her maximum marks from the jury.

Miss Heiss, 18, was placed first by all nine judges for a placement aggregate of nine. She totalled 1,780.6 points.

European champion Ingrid Wendl of Austria was second with 19 placements and 1,679 points, and fellow Austrian Hanna Walter third with 40 placements and 1,596.6 points.

Miss Heiss, skating in a bright blue costume to the music of Franz Lehar's "Land of Smile" and a Puccini medley, earned three perfect marks of six for the execution of her free skating program.

She broke into tears and sobs when the marks were announced.

"When I heard the first six I got so excited that I didn't hear the other marks anymore," she later said. "It was the first six I ever got from a judge."

Miss Heiss already had taken a clear lead in the school figures Friday.

Her free skating exhibition, performed before an overflow crowd of 14,000 at the Palais des Sports, was not much different from what she has shown in earlier championships. But experts agreed that she looked much more polished and graceful.

The women's free skating was the wind-up event of the three-day show.

All titleholders successfully defended their crowns in the championships — Miss Heiss in the women's event, American David Jenkins in the men's event, Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul of Canada in the pairs championships and June Markham and Courtney Jones of Britain in the ice dancing.

Miss Heiss said she did not plan to turn pro. She may spend a few days' vacation at Davos, Switzerland, before giving exhibitions in Vienna and London.

Colleges To Cull Non-Pro Leagues

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15 (AP)—The nation's organized non-professional summer baseball leagues will find out next week which ones can use college players.

Executive Director Walter Byers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association announced today that a special committee from that group will meet in Chicago Monday with representatives of the non - pro leagues on the accreditation question.

Specific invitations to consult with the NCAA group have been issued to more than a dozen leagues in Washington, Maine, Montana, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Wyoming, South Dakota, Massachusetts, North Carolina, Nova Scotia and Canada.

Byers said primary purpose of the meeting is to determine which leagues will conform their operating procedures to a recently-adopted NCAA criteria designed to insure that participating college student - athletics will not be placed in violation of NCAA requirements.

The NCAA - National Association of Baseball Coaches criteria:

1. A student - athlete may play summer baseball as an amateur on any team not under the jurisdiction of professional baseball, it being understood that he may not receive pay for participation. The student - athlete may participate as an individual or as a member of a team against professional athletes, but he may not participate on a professional team.

2. Participants in organized summer baseball leagues may only hold jobs which are legitimate in their nature and function. The student - athletic must be gainfully employed for at least 32 hours a week on the job and compensation shall be commensurate with the going rate at that locale.

3. Due to recognized schedule difficulties, the student - athlete shall be allowed to play baseball whenever feasible providing this does not interfere with his opportunity to work 32 hours.

4. Minimum transportation costs for the student - athlete may be paid by the employer from and to the player's home.

5. No cash allowances or bonuses shall be awarded student-athletes for intra-league or inter-league playoffs.

BREAK FOUR-MINUTE MILE—Herb Elliott, right, Australia's newest mile sensation, beats Mervyn Lincoln by a step as they finish mile run at Perth, Australia, yesterday. Elliott's time was 3:59.6. Lincoln was credited with the same time in what is believed the fastest mile on a grass track. (AP Wirephoto)

LINCOLN CLOSE

Anzac's Elliott Smashes 4-Minute Mile 3rd Time

PERTH, Australia (UP)—Herb Elliott, Australia's 19 - year - old track sensation, smashed the four-minute mile for the third time in three weeks Saturday when he rallied to nip Aussie rival Merv Lincoln at the tape, each of them timed in 3 minutes, 59.6 seconds.

It was the second straight time the two stars bettered four minutes in the same race and probably the fastest mile ever run on a grass course.

The Aussie stars, who are aiming at John Landy's accepted word record of 3:58.6 in a series of mile races that has track fans in this country stirred up, missed their chance at a mark when Elliott reached the three-quarter-mile mark in only 3:04.0 with Lincoln nipping at his heels.

Elliott ripped off the last quarter in an amazing 55.6 seconds, losing the lead to Lincoln with 100 yards to go and then regaining with a steady comeback that put him in front by a foot at the tape.

The two runners also are shooting for the unofficial world record of 3:57.2 set by Britain's Derek Ibbotson at London, July 19, 1957. Official recognition of this figure has been delayed by the International Amateur Athletic Federation pending investigation as to whether it was a paced race.

Transylvania Wins 2 Titles At Goodwill

GOODWILL, La. (Special) — Transylvania and Goodwill teams dominated the Goodwill Junior High Tournament here last night with both Transylvania outfits winning the championships.

Transylvania girls beat Goodwill 45-20, in the finals and Transylvania topped Goodwill, 47-27, to win the boys championship.

Johnson had 25 points to lead the Transylvania girls while Cutright led Goodwill with 13 points. Fairchild's 20 points was best for the winners in the boys finals with Sims netting 9 for Goodwill.

In consolation games, Forest girls beat Oak Grove, 31-23, and Oak Grove boys won a 24-22 verdict from Epps. McCart had 25 points for Forest in the girls game and Sanders got 12 for Oak Grove girls. Myrick's 11 points paced Oak Grove boys and Rawls got 6 for Epps.

Transylvania boys reached the finals with a 59-28 win over Oak Grove yesterday afternoon with Fairchild getting 28 for the winners and Myrick putting in 20 for the losers.

In a girls semifinal, Goodwill beat Oak Grove, 33-29, with Sanders scoring 11 for Oak Grove and Kennedy getting 14 for Goodwill.

Jackie Pung's Lead Cut To 1 At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—Jackie Pung couldn't do a thing right today and her nine stroke lea din the St. Petersburg women's open golf shriveled to one stroke after three rounds.

Mrs. Pung hit into traps, she plopped shots into trees and landed into a water hazard for a 41-40—81. This was far different from her earlier sparkling rounds of 66 and 70. Her 54-hole total was 217.

Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S.C., shot a 36-37—72 after shooting even par golf on the front nine and getting a birdie and two bogies on the back nine. She wound up with 218.

Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., tok over undisputed possession of third place with 220. She also gained eight strokes on Mrs. Pung. Pung.

Play was on the cold, wind-swept sunset course where wind whipped up to 30 miles an hour. Women's par on the 6,116-yard course is 74.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Two right - handed pitchers, Arnold Portocarrero and Wally Burnette, signed their 1958 contracts with the Kansas City Athletics Thursday.

TITLE RACE OVER

Rival 2-AA Tigers Follow Form Chart

BASTROP, La. (Special) — Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers and Neville Tigers of Monroe lived up to pre - season expectations by taking first and second place in the district 2-AA basketball race after a week of action in which Jonesboro - Hodge clinched first and repeated as district champion by trimming Bastrop.

Neville, the district runner-up last year that went on to the state championship, clinched second place Friday night by beating Ruston's Bearcats.

League action has been completed, but the state title contenders will be playing non-league foes until they go into regional play against the winners of bi - district games involving teams of 1-AA and 3-AA.

Coach Darrell Foreman's Bastrop Rams play Bonita here Tuesday night, while Neville hosts West Monroe. Neville also plays Ouachita at Monroe Friday.

Final 2-AA standings:

| School | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Jonesboro - Hodge | 7 | 1 | .875 |
| Neville | 6 | 2 | .750 |
| Ruston | 4 | 4 | .500 |
| Bastrop | 3 | 5 | .375 |
| Haynesville | 0 | 8 | .000 |

Lakers Acquire Selvey From St. Louis In Trade

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15 (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks tonight swapped Frank Selvy to the Minneapolis Lakers for the rights to Dick Boushka and Terry Rand.

Selvy, one-time standout for Furman U. and briefly a high-scoring rookie for the Hawks before he went into the army, will report to the Lakers immediately.

If the Hawks cannot sign either Boushka or Rand by June 1, 1958, Selvy will return to the St. Louis team. The Hawks can sign either Boushka or Rand but not both.

Petitbon Says He Is Through With Pro Grid

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Former Notre Dame star John Petitbon of New Orleans, halfback with the Green Bay Packers last season, said today he is retiring from pro football.

After a hitch with the Marines, Petitbon played safety for Cleveland's world championship team in 1955.

He started with Notre Dame in 1949 after a brilliant prep career at Jesuit High School of New Orleans.

Petitbon said he will join an insurance firm.

Round Table Scores Santa Anita Victory

ARCADIA, Calif. (UP) — Round Table uncorked a burst of speed in the final half mile Saturday to capture the $50,000 added San Antonio Handicap at Santa Anita by some three lengths and tied the world's record for a mile and an eighth.

The winning time by Travis M. Kerr's Round Table was 1:46 4-5. It tied the world's mark held jointly by four horses.

Round Table had to work his way through the field to get the lead. Fo ra time it appeared he may have gotten away too slowly but when he made his move he easily pulled away from his opposition.

Mystic Eye unleashed a stretch drive to get up for second. Promised Land was third and Porterhouse fourth in the field of nine starters.

The victory was a big one for Round Table who carried 130 pounds. He gave his opposition from 12 to 23 pounds and still was able to demonstrate speed that in the minds of California followers, at least, stamped him as the nearest thing to Swaps to race on the West Coast.

A huge Saturday crowd of 50,000 racing fans made Round Table a 2-5 favorite and he returned $2.90, 2.70 and 2.70 across the board. The overlooked Mystic Eye returned $15.60 and 9.30 for place and show while Promised Land paid $5.10 to show.

In addition to the honor of equalling the world's record, the victory also moved Round Table up to sixth place on the all-time money-winning list. The winner's share of the $56,400 gross purse was $33,300. It raised Round Table's earnings to $803,264 and pushed him past Native Dancer who had been in sixth place with $785,240.

Grambling Beats Jackson, 76-70, To Close Season

GRAMBLING, La. (Special) — Grambling closed its regular season last night with a 76-70 victory over the Jackson College basketballers. The win was Grambling's 23rd against three losses.

Behind at the halftime intermission, 38-34, Grambling came back in the second half to take the victory with James Hooper pouring in 32 points for the night to lead the scoring. Jerry Barr backed Hooper up with 15 markers. Jesse Downey paced Jackson with 17.

Grambling will leave Tuesday for Frankfort, Kentucky and the Midwest Conference Tournament.

1-A TOURNEY

Farmerville Girls, LaSalle Boys Win

RUSTON, La. (Special) — LaSalle boys and Farmerville girls swept through undefeated to win the district 1-A Tournament completed at Louisiana Tech Saturday.

In the round - robin meet which got underway Friday, LaSalle of Olla won four games and lost none while the Farmerville girls had a 3-0 record.

Winnfield captured both second places. The Winnfield boys had a 3-1 mark and the Winnfield girls came out with a 2-1 standings. First and second place winners in each division are eligible to enter the state playoffs.

Other boys records were 2-2 for Farmerville, 1-3 for Mansfield and 0-4 for Many. In the girls competition, Mansfield finished third with one victory and two losses and LaSalle fourth with a 0-3 mark.

The boys scores were Winnfield, 49, Many 34; LaSalle 47, Mansfield 31; Farmerville 51, Many 48; Winnfield 55, Mansfield 36; and LaSalle 61, Farmerville 46.

Girls scores were Farmerville 57, Mansfield 37; Farmerville 64, LaSalle 52 and Winnfield 47, Mansfield 27.

TO OPEN MARCH 17

Northeast State Releases 24-Game Baseball Schedule

Baseball Coach George Luffey last night released Northeast's heaviest baseball schedule in history, 24 regular season games and three tournament contests.

The Indians will open with Mississippi College at Clinton, Mississippi on March 17 and play Arkansas A&M in their home opener on March 22. On April 3, Northeast will begin play in the SLC Tournament at Hammond, playing Northern Illinois, Southwestern of Memphis and Mississippi State on successive days.

Northeast will close its season on May 10 with a Gulf States conference doubleheader with SLI at Lafayette. In addition to the opponents already mentioned, the Indians will play Centenary, Northwestern, Southeastern, the LSU freshmen, Louisiana Tech, Louisiana College and McNeese.

Luffey's charges will begin their second week of workouts tomorrow. Thirty-four boys have been working out with seven more slated to appear March 1 with the conclusion of spring football practice and the basketball season.

Wayne Causey, Baltimore Oriole bonus player and now assigned to Vancover of the Pacific Coast League, has been helping coach the team as has Ed Hemphill while Luffey is assisting with spring grid practice.

"We're expecting a lot better ball club this year," says Luffey. For the first time, we have a good nucleus returning."

Returnees from last year's outfit that won seven and lost nine include catcher Jim Laudadio and first baseman Everett Reynolds, both now out for football, second baseman Jackie Brooks, shortstop Harry Rushing, all GSC third baseman Gary Huckaby, centerfielder James Mock, leftfielder Ike McMullen, all-conference in 1956, rightfielder Homer Rouse, and pitchers Lyle Dorsey, now playing basketball, Jackie Norman, Jay Gross, Huey Jinks, a 1956 player back after skipping a year, and Carroll George.

Bo Laird, the squad's Most Valuable Player last year, heads the list of losses that includes catcher Ray Hopper and rightfielder Mitchell Ray Hughes. Luffey lost a great hurling prospect when Terry Murray, who was to have become eligible this spring, signed with the Yankees.

The complete schedule:

March 17 — Miss. College at Clinton, Miss.
March 22 — Arkansas A&M, home.
March 24—Centenary at Shreveport.
March 27—Centenary, home.
March 29 — Arkansas A & M, home.
March 31 — Northwestern at Natchitoches.
April 2 — SLC at Hammond (doubleheader)
April 3 — SLC Tournament at Hammond.
April 9 — LSU Freshmen at Baton Rouge.
April 11 — Louisiana Tech, home.
April 12 — Louisiana Tech at Ruston.
April 15 — Louisiana College at Pineville.
April 18 — SLI, home.
April 19 — McNeese, home (doubleheader)
April 25 — SLC, home.
April 26 — Northwestern, home (doubleheader)
April 29 — Louisiana College at Pineville.
May 3 — Louisiana Tech, home.
May 9 — McNeese at Lake Charles.
May 10 — SLI at Lafayette (doubleheader).

NO LANE TEST

Woodling Signs Indian Contract

CLEVELAND, Feb. 15 (AP) — Gene Woodling signed his 1958 contract with the Cleveland Indians today, getting a substantial raise and eliminating the possibility that he personally might test general manager Frank Lane's newly announced policy of dealing with holdouts.

"I'm very happy with the whole situation," the veteran outfielder said. "Now let's win the pennannt."

It took only about 20 minutes for Woodling and Lane to resolve a difference on salary, which Woodling earlier this week said amounted to "about two or three thousand dollars."

Neither the club nor Woodling disclosed his 1958 pay, but the Indians did say it was around $30,000 and about one-third above his salary for 1957, when he batted .321 to lead the Tribe's offense and "Man of the Year" honors from Cleveland baseball writers.

Yesterday second baseman Bob Avila signed up at a slight pay cut, and now only catcher Jim Hegan, shortstop Chico Carrasquel and outfielder Minnie Minoso remain unsigned. Minoso, newly acquired from the Chicago White Sox, is the big money man of the trio and reportedly is demanding in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Lane's plan for dealing with holdouts drew an angry blast from Woodling when it was announced last week. The general manager said he would slice $100 off his contract offer to any unsigned player for each day's practice that player missed after March 1.

Baseball Toil At Grambling Opens Monday

President-Coach R. W. E. Jones announced that baseball practice would get underway Monday at Grambling College. The Tigers will be after two goals: The newly established Midwest Conference title and a chance to represent district 29 in the NAIA tournament this spring. Jackson State, Mississippi Vocational and Grambling will play in a southern division meet for the conference crown.

Jones has his work cut out for him if he hopes to improve on last year's 22 wins and two losses. Only Wiley College and Arkansas AM&N managed to break even with Grambling. The loss of such veteran lettermen as catchers Edward "Bo" Murray and Foster Wheeler, infielders Clarence Gladney and William Kennedy and pitchers Sherm Cottingham and Harold Stepteau won't make the job any easier as practice starts nearly a month before Grambling meets Wiley on March 14 and 15.

Lettermen returning include pitchers, Paul Green, George Johnson and Leroy Robinson; catcher-outfielders Levi Washington and James Joseph; infielders Fred Sigler, Bertrand Gladney, James Hopper, Louis Underwood, Delphine Terrel; outfielders Louis Wiggins, and Clarence Fair.

Lettermen elected Green and Johnson as co-captains for 1958. Both are seniors and are letterme nin football as well. Johnson pitched the first no-hitter in Grambling history last spring.

Promising newcomers include Preston Powell and Jamie Caleb. Both boys are capable of playing several positions and will be so used here at Grambling. Powell lettered as a fullback last fall and Caleb, blocking back, was the most valuable player, on the 1955 national championship team. Caleb has been in the army the past two years. Clyde Pacquet, who pitched and won the three games that Our Lady of Grace High School, Reserve, La., needed to win the state title last spring, is a freshman pitcher of whom much is expected.

These fifteen men plus the savy of Coach Jones are expected to add to the current Grambling record compiled over the past ten years. Coach Jones is 242-32 over this period.

Miss Heiss Still Ice Skate Queen

By PETER UEBERSAX

PARIS (UP) — Blonde Carol Heiss, of Ozone Park, N.Y. Saturday night retained her women's world figure skating title with a brilliant exhibition of jumps and pirquettes which earned her maximum marks from the jury.

Miss Heiss, 18, was placed first by all nine judges for a placement aggregate of nine. She totalled 1,780.6 points.

European champion Ingrid Wendl of Austria was second with 19 placements and 1,679 points, and fellow Austrian Hanna Walter third with 40 placements and 1,596.6 points.

Miss Heiss, skating in a bright blue costume to the music of Franz Lehar's "Land of Smile" and a Puccini medley, earned three perfect marks of six for the execution of her free skating program.

She broke into tears and sobs when the marks were announced.

"When I heard the first six I got so excited that I didn't hear the other marks anymore," she later said. "It was the first six I ever got from a judge."

Miss Heiss already had taken a clear lead in the school figures Friday.

Her free skating exhibition, performed before an overflow crowd of 14,000 at the Palais des Sports, was not much different from what she has shown in earlier championships. But experts agreed that she looked much more polished and graceful.

The women's free skating was the wind-up event of the three-day show.

All titleholders successfully defended their crowns in the championships — Miss Heiss in the women's event, American David Jenkins in the men's event, Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul of Canada in the pairs championships and June Markham and Courtney Jones of Britain in the ice dancing.

Miss Heiss said she did not plan to turn pro. She may spend a few days' vacation at Davos, Switzerland, before giving exhibitions in Vienna and London.

BOWLING

With Tommy Higgins

Bill Lillard could be the first bowler to capture a fifth American Bowling Congress title. He is one of four who has won an ABC crown four times. The other four-time winners are Joe Wilman, Freddie Bujack, and the late John Koster.

Lillard has been one of the hot shots in recent years and will be the man to beat in several events during the 55th annual ten-pin classic at the Onondaga County War Memorial come this spring.

BILL LILLARD

In 1956, at 28, Lillard dazzled tournament followers in Rochester, N.Y. He won three of his four titles. In addition to pacing the Chicago Falstaffs to the team championship, he won the doubles with Stan Gifford and capped his great rolling by walking off with the all events title. In 1955 he was a member of the triumphant Pfeiffer Beers team of Detroit.

Lillard is high or near high in practically every division. He is the two-year leader with 213 and has a 206 average in the five-year bracket. He is second to Billy Welu with 209 for three years.

Last spring at Fort Worth, Tex., Lillard became eligible for the ten-year division and promptly moved into third place with 203-46.

Royal Feed and Seed's Luke Coonrod came through for his team in the big battle for first place in the Major League this past week. Luke hammered the pins for a 235 game and 605 series as Royal whipped Longview Equipment three points. As a result of Luke's fine bowling Royal Feed went into a tie for first place with the Forge and Longview slipped to third.

J. R. Hood registered his first 600 series of the season as he bowled the Forge to a two-point split with Standard Office. J. R. posted a 225 game to go with his 603 series.

Other good scores put on the boards Monday night were Theo Finkbeiner's 583 series, Bob Pace's 579 and Art Smith's 565 series.

The Bi-City Traveling League ended its season the past week with the E. J. Davidson Used Car team grabbing first place for the second year in a row. Marguerite Malone, Elaine Garland, Cassyle McMurry, Lois Waldron, and Ella Cash make up this fine team. Congratulations girls on some real championship bowling!

Delta Music regained first place in the Business Women's League. Delta Music crushed Falstaff four points while Fields was having a rough time with the Monroe Hardware team - - - having to settle for a two point split.

Monroe Hardware's Mary Savanna tossed the high game of the night, a fat 189, while Daisy Creighton and Angie Canizaro were tieing for high series (487).

* * *

June Baker shot a 193 game and Peggy Grigsby a 520 series to lead the field in individual scoring for the Ladies League Tuesday night. In the team event Holiday Inn Hotel moved out in front by seven and one half points.

* * *

In the Kegler League, Jax Beer lost four points to the fast moving Monroe "66" Oilers but still remained two and one half points over second place Clover Leaf. Al Knipping and Welsie Garrett were the big men in the "66" attack. Both of the Keglers registered 540 series and above.

Russell Bates bowled the high series (586) and the high game of the night (240) and others posting 200 or better games were Jerry Higgins 218, Sonny Durham 212, Bud Lyons 204, Mark Whitfield 215, and Ernest Carter 235.

* * *

Kenny Creighton, youngest of the trio of "bowling Creightons," came up with a real hum-dinger of a game — 89. Brother Bob at the same time was firing a 217 game. Don't feel bad about it Kenny. He couldn't spare either — didn't have a single one.

Pro Grid Wins Fans As Colleges Slump

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — The contrast between college football attendance, just now edging toward its 1949 record, and the upward sweep of pro football attendance is shown by the accompanying table.

The paid college attendance for the 1947 - 48 span was 15,248,000 for 620 colleges. The National Football League averaged 1,681,000 for the same two - year period.

In 1957, the colleges drew 15,080,000 to the professional's 2,836,000 of their all - time high of 15,675,000 of 1949 an dthe professional's had more than doubled their 1949 figures.

In all cases, the 1947 - 48 figure is the average for the two years. Available enrollment figures represent 237 of the colleges fielding football teams.

Enrollment figures for schools represent 37 of those fielding football teams — not the entire college enrollment.

AT FAIR GROUNDS

Meaux Setting Pace In '58 Jockey Race

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP) — His name isn't mentioned in the same breath with those of Willie Hartack, Eddie Arcaro or Willie Shoemaker, but poker-faced Clarence Meaux was the nation's top jockey in the first month of 1958.

The 21-year-old lefthanded booter, who pronounces his name "Mo" and hails from the Louisiana 'Cajun country that produced Eric Guerin, came home in front 37 times during January to set a dizzy pace in the national riding derby.

His spurt at the Fair rounds sent Meaux into the national limelight, but actually, he wasn't too far from the top last year. His 247 winners placed him seventh, a rapid rise for a young fellow who scored on his first winner less than four years ago.

What's the secret that sent him to the top in the early days of 1958 and gave him the inside track on the riding title for the Fairgrounds meeting.

"No secret at all," says the quiet rider who in more ways than one reminds racing followers of Willie "The Silent" Shoemaker. His riding style is a lot of different from Shoemaker, who set the world record with 85 winners five years ago. But the two could run a close race for the least talkative of American jockeys.

"I guess I was born to ride," he said. "I can't remember when I rode my first horse, but it seems that I've always wanted to be a rider."

Turfman Felix DeMary of Orange, Tex., will disagree with Meaux on that point. DeMary says he can remember when the muscular 5-2 rider first put a leg across a horse and the filly "tossed him a mile high. But he got right back on and we knew he would be a first-rate jockey."

DeMary, who gave Guerin his start, says Meaux has come a long way and will go even further.

"He's a smart boy and he's learning to take more chances. He's got a good head, a good pair of hands and he's cool. He's still learning and you're going to hear a lot more about this boy."

The racing world will have to wait if it is to hear about Meaux from Meaux. He reflects every question behind his piercing black eyes and gives his answers slowly.

"I get a lot of good horses, you know, particularly at this meeting. You got to have the horses to win."

Meaux is contract rider for W. Hal Bishop, a perennial contender for national training honors and currently the leading trainer-owner at the Fair Grounds.

Since that day in June, 1954, when he pushed Miss Ozan to a two-length victory at Fairmount Park (Ill.) for his first winner, Meaux has made his presence known around a race track.

He spent the last three summers riding on Illinois tracks and won the state riding title in two of those years, losing only to Hartack in 1956.

His best day was last Oct. 2 when he pushed six straight winners home at Fairmount and had six out of seven on another occasion.

Meaux and his wife are expecting their first addition in about two weeks and DeMary, who says Meaux tends to be extravagent, says the baby will help him mature faster.

His plans point to Maryland tracks when the Fair Grounds meeting ends March 8. But he has two important dates ahead before the final barrier opens.

Meaux will be aboard Bernburgoo for Bishop in the $50,000-added New Orleans Handicap March 1 and will shoot for a Bishop victory with Pemberton in the $40,000-added Louisiana Derby on March 8.

Aussie Breaks Pair Of World Swim Records

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)—Johnn Monckton, a 19-ear-old carpenter, broke two world backstroke records Saturday night in the Australian swimming championships and swam the first leg for a relay team which smashed another world record.

Monckton won the 110-yard back stroke in 1 minute, 1.5 seconds, a record for that distance and also for 110 meters, which is about nine inches shorter.

Later in the evening, a capacity crowd of 5,500 at the 55-yard Olympic Pool watched the New South Wales team of Monckton, Terry Gathercole, Brian Wilkinson and John Devitt set a world record of 4:19.4 for the 440-yard medley relay.

In the backstroke final, Monckton swam the first of the two laps in the fresh water pool in 29.5 seconds. He was an easy winner over John Hayres, second in 1:04.6, and Julian Carroll, third in 1:07.7.

Dave Theile of Australia, who edged Monckton in the 1956 Olympic 100-meter final, held the world record of 1:02.2 for that distance.

There was no previous record for 110 yards. The International Amateur Swimming Federation (FINA) decreed last May that the first swimmer to better 1:02.6 would receive record recognition.

In the medley relay, the New South Wales team bettered the standard of 4:20.0 stablished by FINA. Victoria was second in 4:39.5 and Queensland third in 4:41.6.

Dawn Fraser, 22, at best in the sprints, won the women's 440-yard freestyle, a longer race, in a stunning upset. Lorraine Crapp, the world record holder and Olympic champion at the distance, finished fourth. It was the first time in four years that she had been beaten at 440 yards.

Team Chosen To Face Girls At Jonesville

JONESVILLE, La. (Special) — The Jonesville All-Star men's basketball team which will play the Arkansas Travelers, cage girls, in Jonesville tomorrow night at 8 o'clock has been named.

The Quartervack Club, sponsorers of the exhibition, rounded up twenty Catahoula young men to meet the Travelers in the gym of the Block High School. The players, who will be required to substitute frequently, are: Arthur Taliaferro of Harrisonburg, Jack White, Ladelle Sandifer, Reece Breipthaupt, Charles Wurster Jr. L. C. Scott, Rodger Hutchins, Denzil Humble, Paul Currie, Odis Jackson, Ronald Dry, Halbert Scott, Frank Watkins, Carl Passman, J. C. Oxley, Clyde Walker, and Richard Arnaud of Jonesville, Arkie Crawford of Enterprise and Simon Meyers of Sicily Island.

Even with this line up the girls are considered the favorites in this game to be played by men's rules.

The Arkansas Travlers, led by the famous Hazel Walker, thrives on expert basketball but mixes enough shenanigans and trickery to round out an entertaining night.

Miss Walker personally puts on free-throw exhibition during halftime, challenging all comers — men and women — shooting from a standing, kneeling and sitting position.

The coaches of the All-Stars are working hard to get their team in shape for this classical event between the Catahoula men and Arkansas women.

Vols' Tomohlen Replaces Howell As Rebound Leader

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 15 (AP) Gene Tormohlen of Tennessee has joined the elite list of Southeastern Conference basketball leaders.

Now it's Bailey Howell of Mississippi State in field goal accuracy; Joe Hobbs of Florida in free throw accuracy; and Tormohlen in rebounds.

The latest figures on individual performances were released by SEC commissioner Bernie Moore today.

Tormohlen is a 6-7 junior center for the Vols from Holland, Ind. He replaced Howell as the leader in the rebounding department.

Moore said Tormohlen has captured an average of 16.3 rebounds per game while Howell has an even 16 average to his credit. Howell is a 6-7 junior.

Howell has completed 151 of 296 field goal attempts for a .510 percentage. Hobbs leads in free throws with 73 of 84 shots made good for an .869 mark.

KICKING EXPERTS TIE

Groza, Baker Top Pro Grid Scorers

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15 (AP)— Lou Groza of Cleveland and Sam Baker of Washington, a pair of place kicking experts, tied for the National Football League individual scoring title in 1957, official league statistics disclosed today.

The tie was the first deadlock for this crown since 1949, when Pat Harder of the Chicago Cards and Gene Roberts of New York stalemated with 102 points each. Groza and Baker each wound up with 77 points last season.

Baker scored only one touchdown, but booted 29 of 30 conversions and 14 of 23 field goal attempts. Groza, who has been close to the top of the scoring heap for eight seasons, booted 32 for 32 in the extra point department and collected 15 for 22 field goal attempts.

Green Bay's Fred Cone was third with 74 points aggregated on two touchdowns, 26 conversions and 12 of 17 field goal tries. Tied for fourth were George Blanda of the Chicago Bears and Paige Cothren of Los Angeles, each with 71. Blanda scored one TD, 23 conversions without a miss and 14 field goals. Cothren kicked 38 extra points and 11 three pointers.

Baltimore's Lenny Moore scored the most touchdowns, 11; Cothren the most conversions, 38, and Groza the most field goals, 15.

Los Angeles won the team scoring championship for the first time with 307 points — 39 TDs, 38 conversions and 11 field goals. Baltimore with 303 was runnerup followed by Cleveland with 269 and San Francisco, 2606.

MORE SANFORDS?

37 Rookie Hurlers Trying For NL Jobs

CINCINNATI (UP) -- At least 37 top drawer rookie pitchers will be at work in National League camps by March 1—each striving to prove he is another Jack Sanford, Von McDaniel or Dick Drott.

Hopes are high everywhere because lightning struck the league last seoson in the form of a spectacular array of rookie pitchers. Sanford, McDaniel and Drott were the super-sensational ones. Others — each "Rookie of the Year" stuff in a normal season—included Dick Farrell, Danny McDevitt and Curt Barclay.

And even this list leaves out the rookie most N.L. experts believe has the highest potential of all — the Milwaukee Braves' Juan Pizarro. Pizarro saw only brief service with the Braves last season but has been burning up the Puerto Rican Winter League.

But that's last year's story. This year's is whether there'll be another crop of new stars to keep the old ones hustling and turnstiles whirring.

Dave Grote, manager of the N.L. Service Bureau here, points out that an assortment of 15 rookie outfielders now on N.L. rosters hit a total of 375 homers in minor league competition last season.

The world champion Braves have three of them—Ray Shearer, who hit 29 homers at Wichita. Earl Hersh with 26 for the same club, and Le Maye, who hit 23 at Jacksonville. Others, who hit at least 20, include Don Lassetter, Jim King and Gene Green of the Cardinals, Johnny Powers of the Pirates and Don Demeter of the Dodgers.

And, back for another chance, is Pittsburgh's Dick Stuart, the "homer - or - strikeout man" who blasted 45 for three different teams last season. Stuart was a spring homer sensation last season but was returned to the minors because of fielding deficiencies.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 15 (AP)— The captain of the North Carolina State College basketball team and a promising sophomore guard today were dropped for "academic reasons."

They were Whitey Bell of Warsaw, Ind., senior guard and the team's leading scorer with a 14.2 average, and Harold Estis, a sophomore from New York City who had played only briefly this season.

Dr. Carey H. Bostian, college chancellor, said both had been dropped from school.

Le Comte Taken By Speed Rouser For Second Year

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)— Speed Rouser zipped through the stretch today to win the $12,450 Le Comte Handicap at the Fair Grounds for the second straight year.

The dark brown, six-year-old son of Beau Max, owned by Dr. S. G. Babbitz of Milwaukee, was a nose in front of Ezgo at the finish line. The heavily favored Tenacious from the Joe W. Brown stable finished third, a neck behind Ezgo.

The crowd of 12,886 that turned out in chilly weather overlooked Speed Rouser in the betting although the Babbitz color bearer is extremely partial to damp footing. The track for the mile and one-sixteenth feature was labeled good but was still soft from yesterday's heavy rains. Speed Rouser was timed in 1:45 2-5, less than two seconds off the track record.

Speed Rouser was third choice in the betting and returned $11.40, $5.20 and $2.80. Ezgo, L. H. Thompson's four-year-old son of Olympia, paid $11 and $4.40. Tenacious, the 11-10 favorite, returned $2.40.

Crabgrass Stables' Beauguerre and Ezgo fought for the early lead in the seven-horse field while Speed Rouser trailed in third place under the steady guidance of jockey Al Popara.

Beauguerre and Ezgo raced as a team down the long backstretch and made the swing for home with Ezgo showing a two length margin over Beauguerre. Speed Rouser entered the stretch a head behind Ezgo.

Popara went to the whip an eighth of a mile from home as Speed Rouser moved between the pace setters and went to the top at the 16th pole.

Speed Rouser and T. Allie Grissom's Shan Pac bumped in the final stages but Speed Rouser stayed on course as Ezgo and Tenacious closed the gap when the field hit the wire.

Shan Pac finished fourth with W. Hal Bishop's Bernburgoo fifth, Beauguerre sixth and Bryn, the other half of the Bishop entry, a distant last.

Lafayette Names McConlogue As New Grid Coach

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP) — James P. McConlogue, an assistant football coach at Lafayette since 1953, was named head coach today. He succeeds Steve Hokup, who resigned last month.

McConlogue coached at Netcong, N. J., and Allentown Central Catholic High Schools before joining the Lafayette staff. A native of Wilsonboro, Pa., McConlogue was graduated in 1947 from Moravian College, Bethlehem, where he played football and basketball.

BOWLING

With Tommy Higgins

Bill Lillard could be the first bowler to capture a fifth American Bowling Congress title. He is one of four who has won an ABC crown four times. The other four-time winners are Joe Wilman, Freddie Bujack, and the late John Koster.

BILL LILLARD

Lillard has been one of the hot shots in recent years and will be the man to beat in several events during the 55th annual ten-pin classic at the Onondaga County War Memorial come this spring.

In 1956, at 28, Lillard dazzled tournament followers in Rochester, N.Y. He won three of his four titles. In addition to pacing the Chicago Falstaffs to the team championship, he won the doubles with Stan Gifford and capped his great rolling by walking off with the all events title. In 1955 he was a member of the triumphant Pfeiffer Beers team of Detroit.

Lillard is high or near high in practically every division. He is the two-year leader with 213 and has a 206 average in the five-year bracket. He is second to Billy Welu with 209 for three years.

Last spring at Fort Worth, Tex., Lillard became eligible for the ten-year division and promptly moved into third place with 203-46.

Royal Feed and Seed's Luke Coonrod came through for his team in the big battle for first place in the Major League this past week. Luke hammered the pins for a 235 game and 605 series as Royal whipped Longview Equipment three points. As a result of Luke's fine bowling Royal Feed went into a tie for first place with the Forge and Longview slipped to third.

J. R. Hood registered his first 600 series of the season as he bowled the Forge to a two-point split with Standard Office. J. R. posted a 225 game to go with his 603 series.

Other good scores put on the boards Monday night were Theo Finkbeiner's 583 series, Bob Pace's 579 and Art Smith's 565 series.

The Bi-City Traveling League ended its season the past week with the E. J. Davidson Used Car team grabbing first place for the second year in a row. Marguerite Malone, Elaine Garland, Cassyle McMurry, Lois Waldron, and Ella Cash make up this fine team. Congratulations girls on some real championship bowling!

Delta Music regained first place in the Business Women's League. Delta Music crushed Falstaff four points while Fields was having a rough time with the Monroe Hardware team - - - having to settle for a two point split.

Monroe Hardware's Mary Savanna tossed the high game of the night, a fat 189, while Daisy Creighton and Angie Canizaro were tieing for high series (487).

* * *

June Baker shot a 193 game and Peggy Grigsby a 520 series to lead the field in individual scoring for the Ladies League Tuesday night. In the team event Holiday Inn Hotel moved out in front by seven and one half points.

* * *

In the Kegler League, Jax Beer lost four points to the fast moving Monroe "66" Oilers but still remained two and one half points over second place Clover Leaf. Al Knipping and Welsie Garrett were the big men in the "66" attack. Both of the Keglers registered 540 series and above.

Russell Bates bowled the high series (586) and the high game of the night (240) and others posting 200 or better games were Jerry Higgins 218, Sonny Durham 212, Bud Lyons 204, Mark Whitfield 215, and Ernest Carter 235.

Kenny Creighton, youngest of the trio of "bowling Creightons," came up with a real hum-dinger of a game — 89. Brother Bob at the same time was firing a 217 game. Don't feel bad about it Kenny. He couldn't spare either — didn't have a single one.

Pro Grid Wins Fans As Colleges Slump

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — The contrast between college football attendance, just now edging toward its 1949 record, and the upward sweep of pro football attendance is shown by the accompanying table.

The paid college attendance for the 1947 - 48 span was 15,248,000 for 620 colleges. The National Football League averaged 1,681,000 for the same two - year period.

In 1957, the colleges drew 15,080,000 to the professional's 2,836,000 of their all - time high of 15,675,000 of 1949 an dthe professional's had more than doubled their 1949 figures.

In all cases, the 1947 - 48 figure is the average for the two years. Available enrollment figures represent 237 of the colleges fielding football teams.

Enrollment figures for schools represent 37 of those fielding football teams — not the entire college enrollment.

MAKES QUICK CLIMB TO LEAD JOCKEYS—Clarence Meaux is helped with boot by valet at Fair Grounds track in New Orleans where Meaux found himself leading the nation's jockeys for the first months of this year. He was seventh nationally in 1957 with 247 winners. The Louisiana cajun will head for Maryland tracks when the Fair Grounds meet ends March 8. (AP Wirephoto)

AT FAIR GROUNDS

Meaux Setting Pace In '58 Jockey Race

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP) — His name isn't mentioned in the same breath with those of Willie Hartack, Eddie Arcaro or Willie Shoemaker, but poker-faced Clarence Meaux was the nation's top jockey in the first month of 1958.

The 21-year-old lefthanded booter, who pronounces his name "Mo" and hails from the Louisiana 'Cajun country that produced Eric Guerin, came home in front 37 times during January to set a dizzy pace in the national riding derby.

His spurt at the Fair rounds sent Meaux into the national limelight, but actually, he wasn't too far from the top last year. His 247 winners placed him seventh, a rapid rise for a young fellow who scored on his first winner less than four years ago.

What's the secret that sent him to the top in the early days of 1958 and gave him the inside track on the riding title for the Fairgrounds meeting.

"No secret at all," says the quiet rider who in more ways than one reminds racing followers of Willie "The Silent" Shoemaker. His riding style is a lot of different from Shoemaker, who set the world record with 85 winners five years ago. But the two could run a close race for the least talkative of American jockeys.

"I guess I was born to ride," he said. "I can't remember when I rode my first horse, but it seems that I've always wanted to be a rider."

Turfman Felix DeMary of Orange, Tex., will disagree with Meaux on that point. DeMary says he can remember when the muscular 5-2 rider first put a leg across a horse and the filly "tossed him a mile high. But he got right back on and we knew he would be a first-rate jockey."

DeMary, who gave Guerin his start, says Meaux has come a long way and will go even further

"He's a smart boy and he's learning to take more chances. He's got a good head, a good pair of hands and he's cool. He's still learning and you're going to hear a lot more about this boy."

The racing world will have to wait if it is to hear about Meaux from Meaux. He reflects every question behind his piercing black eyes and gives his answers slowly.

"I get a lot of good horses, you know, particularly at this meeting. You got to have the horses to win."

Meaux is contract rider for W. Hal Bishop, a perennial contender for national training honors and currently the leading trainer-owner at the Fair Grounds.

Since that day in June, 1954, when he pushed Miss Ozan to a two-length victory at Fairmount Park (Ill.) for his first winner, Meaux has made his presence known around a race track.

He spent the last three summers riding on Illinois tracks and won the state riding title in two of those years, losing only to Hartack in 1956.

His best day was last Oct. 2 when he pushed six straight winners home at Fairmount and had six out of seven on another occasion.

Meaux and his wife are expecting their first addition in about two weeks and DeMary, who says Meaux tends to be extravagent, says the baby will help him mature faster.

His plans point to Maryland tracks when the Fair Grounds meeting ends March 8. But he has two important dates ahead before the final barrier opens.

Meaux will be aboard Bernburgoo for Bishop in the $50,000-added New Orleans Handicap March 1 and will shoot for a Bishop victory with Pemberton in the $40,000-added Louisiana Derby on March 8.

Aussie Breaks Pair Of World Swim Records

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)— Johnn Monckton, a 19-ear-old carpenter, broke two world backstroke records Saturday night in the Australian swimming championships and swam the first leg for a relay team which smashed another world record.

Monckton won the 110-yard back stroke in 1 minute, 1.5 seconds, a record for that distance and also for 110 meters, which is about nine inches shorter.

Later in the evening, a capacity crowd of 5,500 at the 55-yard Olympic Pool watched the New South Wales team of Monckton, Terry Gathercole, Brian Wilkinson and John Devitt set a world record of 4:19.4 for the 440-yard medley relay.

In the backstroke final, Monckton swam the first of the two laps in the fresh water pool in 29.5 seconds. He was an easy winner over John Hayres, second in 1:04.6, and Julian Carroll, third in 1:07.7.

Dave Theile of Australia, who edged Monckton in the 1956 Olympic 100-meter final, held the world record of 1:02.2 for that distance.

There was no previous record for 110 yards. The International Amateur Swimming Federation (FINA) decreed last May that the first swimmer to better 1:02.6 would receive record recognition.

In the medley relay, the New South Wales team bettered the standard of 4:20.0 stablished by FINA. Victoria was second in 4:39.5 and Queensland third in 4:41.6.

Dawn Fraser, 22, at best in the sprints, won the women's 440-yard freestyle, a longer race, in a stunning upset. Lorraine Crapp, the world record holder and Olympic champion at the distance, finished fourth. It was the first time in four years that she had been beaten at 440 yards.

EZGO NOSE AWAY

Le Comte Taken By Speed Rouser For Second Year

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)— Speed Rouser zipped through the stretch today to win the $12,450 Le Comte Handicap at the Fair Grounds for the second straight year.

The dark brown, six-year-old son of Beau Max, owned by Dr. S. G. Babbitz of Milwaukee, was a nose in front of Ezgo at the finish line. The heavily favored Tenacious from the Joe W. Brown stable finished third, a neck behind Ezgo.

The crowd of 12,886 that turned out in chilly weather overlooked Speed Rouser in the betting although the Babbitz color bearer is extremely partial to damp footing. The track for the mile and one-sixteenth feature was labeled good but was still soft from yesterday's heavy rains. Speed Rouser was timed in 1:45 2-5, less than two seconds off the track record.

Speed Rouser was third choice in the betting and returned $11.40, $5.20 and $2.80. Ezgo, L. H. Thompson's four-year-old son of Olympia, paid $11 and $4.40. Tenacious, the 11-10 favorite, returned $2.40.

Crabgrass Stables' Beauguerre and Ezgo fought for the early lead in the seven-horse field while Speed Rouser trailed in third place under the steady guidance of jockey Al Popara.

Beauguerre and Ezgo raced as a team down the long backstretch and made the swing for home with Ezgo showing a two length margin over Beauguerre. Speed Rouser entered the stretch a head behind Ezgo.

Popara went to the whip an eighth of a mile from home as Speed Rouser moved between the pace setters and went to the top at the 16th pole.

Speed Rouser and T. Allie Grissom's Shan Pac bumped in the final stages but Speed Rouser stayed on course as Ezgo and Tenacious closed the gap when the field hit the wire.

Shan Pac finished fourth with W. Hal Bishop's Bernburgoo fifth, Beauguerre sixth and Bryn, the other half of the Bishop entry, a distant last.

Team Chosen To Face Girls At Jonesville

JONESVILLE, La. (Special) — The Jonesville All-Star men's basketball team which will play the Arkansas Travelers, cage girls, in Jonesville tomorrow night at 8 o'clock has been named.

The Quartervack Club, sponsorers of the exhibition, rounded up twenty Catahoula young men to meet the Travelers in the gym of the Block High School. The players, who will be required to substitute frequently, are: Arthur Taliaferro of Harrisonburg, Jack White, Ladelle Sandifer, Reece Breipthaupt, Charles Wurster Jr. L. C. Scott, Rodger Hutchins, Denzil Humble, Paul Currie, Odis Jackson, Ronald Dry, Halbert Scott, Frank Watkins, Carl Passman, J. C. Oxley, Clyde Walker, and Richard Arnaud of Jonesville, Arkie Crawford of Enterprise and Simon Meyers of Sicily Island.

Even with this line up the girls are considered the favorites in this game to be played by men's rules.

The Arkansas Travlers, led by the famous Hazel Walker, thrives on expert basketball but mixes enough shenanigans and trickery to round out an entertaining night.

Miss Walker personally puts on free-throw exhibition during halftime, challenging all comers — men and women — shooting from a standing, kneeling and sitting position.

The coaches of the All-Stars are working hard to get their team in shape for this classical event between the Catahoula men and Arkansas women.

Lafayette Names McConlogue As New Grid Coach

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP) — James P. McConlogue, an assistant football coach at Lafayette since 1953, was named head coach today. He succeeds Steve Hokup, who resigned last month.

McConlogue coached at Netcong, N. J., and Allentown Central Catholic High Schools before joining the Lafayette staff. A native of Wilsonboro, Pa., McConlogue was graduated in 1947 from Moravian College, Bethlehem, where he played football and basketball.

Vols' Tomohlen Replaces Howell As Rebound Leader

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 15 (AP) Gene Tormohlen of Tennessee has joined the elite list of Southeastern Conference basketball leaders.

Now it's Bailey Howell of Mississippi State in field goal accuracy; Joe Hobbs of Florida in free throw accuracy; and Tormohlen in rebounds.

The latest figures on individual performances were released by SEC commissioner Bernie Moore today.

Tormohlen is a 6-7 junior center for the Vols from Holland, Ind. He replaced Howell as the leader in the rebounding department.

Moore said Tormohlen has captured an average of 16.3 rebounds per game while Howell has an even 16 average to his credit. Howell is a 6-7 junior.

Howell has completed 151 of 296 field goal attempts for a .510 percentage. Hobbs leads in free throws with 73 of 84 shots made good for an .869 mark.

KICKING EXPERTS TIE

Groza, Baker Top Pro Grid Scorers

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15 (AP)— Lou Groza of Cleveland and Sam Baker of Washington, a pair of place kicking experts, tied for the National Football League individual scoring title in 1957, official league statistics disclosed today.

The tie was the first deadlock for this crown since 1949, when Pat Harder of the Chicago Cards and Gene Roberts of New York stalemated with 102 points each. Groza and Baker each wound up with 77 points last season.

Baker scored only one touchdown, but booted 29 of 30 conversions and 14 of 23 field goal attempts. Groza, who has been close to the top of the scoring heap for eight seasons, booted 32 for 32 in the extra point department and collected 15 for 22 field goal attempts.

Green Bay's Fred Cone was third with 74 points aggregated on two touchdowns, 26 conversions and 12 of 17 field goal tries. Tied for fourth were George Blanda of the Chicago Bears and Paige Cothren of Los Angeles, each with 71. Blanda scored one TD, 23 conversions without a miss and 14 field goals. Cothren kicked 38 extra points and 11 three pointers.

Baltimore's Lenny Moore scored the most touchdowns, 11; Cothren the most conversions, 38, and Groza the most field goals, 15.

Los Angeles won the team scoring championship for the first time with 307 points — 39 TDs, 38 conversions and 11 field goals. Baltimore with 303 was runnerup followed by Cleveland with 269 and San Francisco, 2606.

MORE SANFORDS?

37 Rookie Hurlers Trying For NL Jobs

CINCINNATI (UP) -- At least 37 top drawer rookie pitchers will be at work in National League camps by March 1—each striving to prove he is another Jack Sanford, Von McDaniel or Dick Drott.

Hopes are high everywhere because lightning struck the league last seoson in the form of a spectacular array of rookie pitchers. Sanford, McDaniel and Drott were the super-sensational ones. Others — each "Rookie of the Year" stuff in a normal season— included Dick Farrell, Danny McDevitt and Curt Barclay.

And even this list leaves out the rookie most N.L. experts believe has the highest potential of all — the Milwaukee Braves' Juan Pizarro. Pizarro saw only brief service with the Braves last season but has been burning up the Puerto Rican Winter League.

But that's last year's story. This year's is whether there'll be another crop of new stars to keep the old ones hustling and turnstiles whirring.

Dave Grote, manager of the N.L. Service Bureau here, points out that an assortment of 15 rookie outfielders now on N.L. rosters hit a total of 375 homers in minor league competition last season.

The world champion Braves have three of them—Ray Shearer, who hit 29 homers at Wichita, Earl Hersh with 26 for the same club, and Le Maye, who hit 23 at Jacksonville. Others, who hit at least 20, include Don Lassetter, Jim King and Gene Green of the Cardinals, Johnny Powers of the Pirates and Don Demeter of the Dodgers.

And, back for another chance, is Pittsburgh's Dick Stuart, the "homer - or - strikeout man" who blasted 45 for three different teams last season. Stuart was a spring homer sensation last season but was returned to the minors because of fielding deficiencies.

North Carolina State Captain, Soph Flunk Out

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 15 (AP)— The captain of the North Carolina State College basketball team and a promising sophomore guard today were dropped for "academic reasons."

They were Whitey Bell of Warsaw, Ind., senior guard and the team's leading scorer with a 14.2 average, and Harold Estis, a sophomore from New York City who had played only briefly this season.

Dr. Carey H. Bostian, college chancellor, said both had been dropped from school.

Ike Joins Man In The Street Worrying About Economy

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Americans, from President Eisenhower to the man in the street, showed concern this week over the rising tide of unemployment.

Consumers slowed their buying in department and specialty stores. Retailers in some areas blamed news of layoffs and the frigid weather.

In Washington, the administration pored over figures on business and employment as it was last month, then stepped up its antirecession campaign.

One statistic stood out. Four and one-half million Americans were jobless, the largest total in eight years after the biggest monthly rise in unemployment since the depression in the 30s.

With many business indicators pointing lower, the President made two further moves to help check the recession.

He disclosed a two-billion-dollar program to build new post offices in the next three to five years. He also forecast that March will see "the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy and the start of a pickup in job opportunities."

The statement was clearly an effort to bolster consumer and business confidence. It came in the wake of reports that automobile sales fell considerably below expectations in January, which many regarded as a sign consumers had become more cautious.

Some economists disagreed with the prediction that improvement should start next month. Dr. Marcus Nadler of New York University said the slump may drag on through the rest of the year.

Philip M. Talbott, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, completed a nine-week, coast-to-coast tour for his organization and predicted an upturn about June.

"The President's forecast was possibly a little overexuberant as to timing," said Talbott.

Eleven Democratic governors sent a telegram to the President, asking for "a practical program" to stop "the growing national recession." Some Republicans called the telegram a political move.

Democratic lawmakers in Washington continued to talk about a possible tax cut to give the economy a shot-in-the-arm such as it received in the 1953-54 recession. There still were no concrete indications a cut would be forthcoming.

Much of the week's news was of a bearish nature. Layoffs and furloughs were announced by railroads, aircraft manufacturers, auto, metal, glass and rubber companies. Here and there a company rehired some workers.

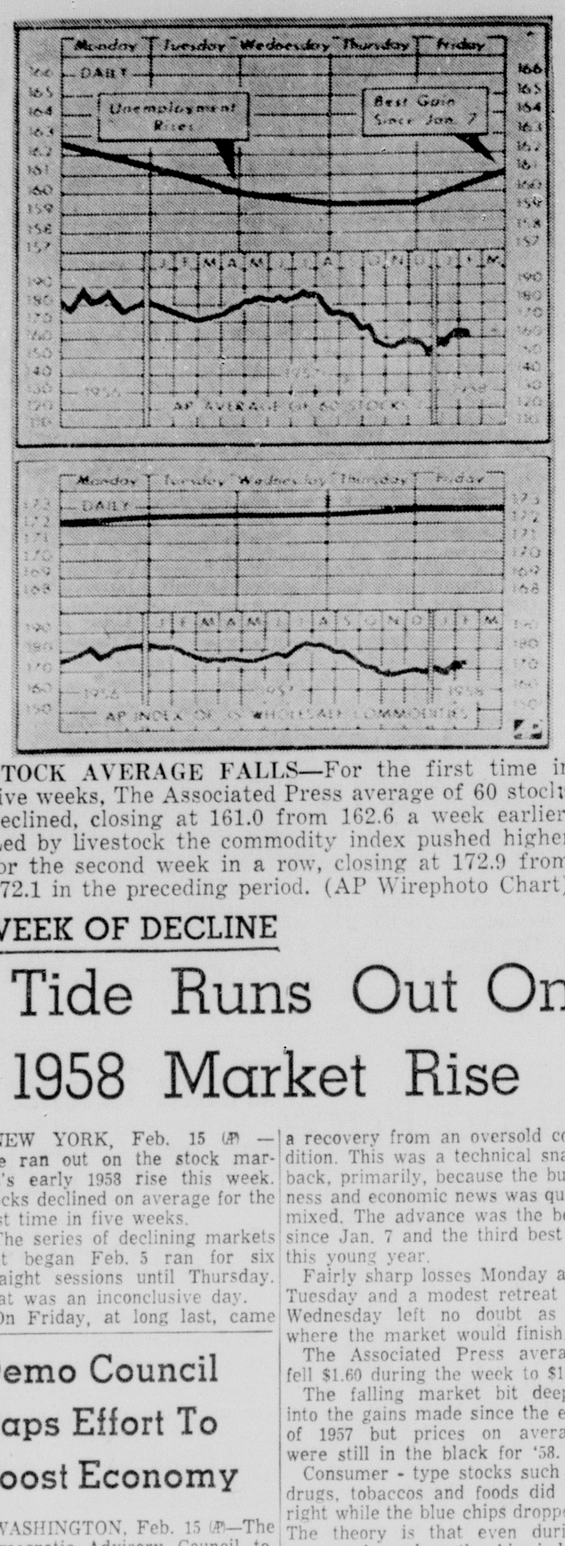

Westinghouse Electric dropped plans to furlough 250 workers at its Columbus, Ohio, appliance plant and put into effect a four-day week instead.

Union Carbide Corp, halted construction of its multi-million dollar office and research facilities in Eastview, N.Y., north of New York City, because of "worsening business conditions." Foundation work already was completed.

The oil industry still was troubled by excess inventories, reflected in lower prices for some refined products. M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) called on petroleum companies to make a further cut in crude oil processing.

Automotive output moved up slightly this week but lagged 24 per cent below a year ago. Railroad freight car loadings trailed last year by 20 per cent.

Despite a slight gain in orders, steel mills were at 54 per cent of capacity.

STOCK AVERAGE FALLS—For the first time in five weeks, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined, closing at 161.0 from 162.6 a week earlier. Led by livestock the commodity index pushed higher for the second week in a row, closing at 172.9 from 172.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

UPS AND DOWNS

Cotton Price Runs Irregular Pattern

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 — Cotton futures prices moved somewhat irregularly last week, ending the week 20 cents a bale lower to $3.55 a bale higher on the New York Cotton Exchange. Nearby March was the only month showing a loss.

At their best levels of the week all active months from October 1958 through July 1959 were at new life of contract highs.

The nearer deliveries tended to be suppressed during the week by reports of slow business in the spot and goods markets and by possibility of a fair number of notices being issued against the March contract.

Meanwhile, the new crop months moved higher on demand stimulated by fading prospects of any new farm legislation being enacted in time to affect the 1958 crop and by the higher loan rate in prospect for next season.

Current indications are the loan rate for middling inch upland cotton at average locations next season will be the highest on record. The opinion was expressed a high loan rate might result in heavy 1958 loan entries and that an even higher price level would be needed to induce repossessions.

It is estimated the loan rate for 1958 crop middling inch cotton at average locations will be at least 34.60 cents per pound as compared with this season's support price of 32.31 cents.

Attracting attention was a report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that through the close of last month cotton growers had signed applications offering to put a total of approximately 3,361,000 acres into the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank this year. If all indications signed by growers could be accepted maximum payments would approximate $186,251,000.

Exports of the staple by this country during the weekly period ended last Tuesday were larger than those of a week previous but were again rather well below those of a year previous. According to the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau, they approximated 165,000 bales versus 129,000 and 219,000 respectively. For the current season through Feb. 11, they have reached an estimated level of 3,168,000 bales vs. 4,072,000 to approximately the same time last season.

GSA Plans To Complete Buildings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The General Services Administration today said it is planned to have 92 leases-purchase federal building projects completed, under contract or at the bidding stage by Dec. 31, 1959.

These are the remaining 636 million dollars worth of projects listed as fully approved for lease-purchase construction under a 1954 law. The procedures for approving additional projects are not longer valid, due to expiration of the law last year, but President Eisenhower has asked Congress to reinstate the legislation.

Originally GSA announced approval of 98 projects for lease-purchase construction.

The program completely bogged down in 1956 due to the tight money market but is now picking up steam, with three financing and construciton contract awards having been announced since Jan. 31.

Private investors finance the projects, bidding on an interest rate basis to supply maximum possible money requirements for each project. The government repays the loan and interest over a period of years like rent, taking title to the building upon completion of the repayment. Meantime, the structure is on local tax rolls.

Financing offers that have been ruled "acceptable" have been received from 13 projects including:

Biloxi, Miss., $1,110,000 postoffice and courthouse.

Financing bids will be opened here Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 on another 14 projects. They include:

Jonesboro, La., $365,000 postoffice; Lake Charles, La., $2,075,000 postoffice and courthouse; Greenville, Miss., $1,200,000 postoffice and courthouse; Laurel, Miss., $829,000 postoffice.

The tentative schedule is to open construction bids on all those projects by April 15, provided "acceptable" financing proposals are received.

The remaining projects which it is planned to push by the end of 1959 include:

Little Rock, Ark., $9,150,000 federal office building; Lafayette, La., $1,095,000 postoffice; Minden, La., $412,000 postoffice; New Orleans, $19,670000 postoffice.

Net Change In Grains Small

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP) —The prices of grain futures made their shifts mostly in big leaps and under strong influences this week, but the net results were small except in wheat and rye.

At the close of the week, wheat was 1⅞-4⅝ cents a bushel higher than a week ago, corn ⅛-1⅛ higher, oats ¼-½ higher, rye 1½-4¼ higher, soybeans 1⅞ lower to ⅜ higher, and lard 5 cents a hundrde pounds lower to 37 cents higher.

Mississippi Oil

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. is drilling one of the deepest wells in Mississippi history on the Jasper County side of the deep Soso field.

The venture, Soso unit tract No. 28-7, is below 17,000 feet and scheduled for 19,000 feet. Apparent commercial oil production has been logged in sands below 13,000 and 15,000 feet.

The Deepest production in the field is 12,200 feet.

Record drilling depth for Mississippi is 20,450 feet set by George Vasen in his abandoned Stone County wildcat Fee No. 1.

Other oil activity:

California Co. was scoring below 11,680 feet in the wildcat Central Oil Co. No. 1 in Simpson County.

The well logged small oil shows in top of the Rodessa zone and is scheduled to be drilled o 13,000 feet.

A second Simpson County wildcat, the Brown-Gaylord No. 1, was below 12,100 feet with no shows reported. The well is being drilled be Monterey Oil Co. and is contracted for 14,000 feet.

In Lawrence County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. was below 16,600 feet in the wildcat T.R. Sistrunk No. 1.

Contract depth is 17,000 feet. The well has logged uncommercial gas shows in a sand below 16,000 feet.

Shell Oil Co. has set surface casing in the Atkinson No. 1 well on the Pike County side of the Little Creek field. Contract depth is 11,000 feet.

Marshall R. Young is below 8,000 feet in the Lincoln County wildcat Williams No. 1 north of the Mallalieu field.

At Mallalieu, California Co. was below 11,780 feet in the field test, Board of Supervisors No. 1. Contract depth is 16,200 feet to explore deeper sands.

In Smith County, Larco Drilling Co. et al. is below 10,600 feet in the wildcat USA No. 1. Contract depth is 11,500 feet.

California Co. was below 8,800 feet in the Yazoo County wildcat Whitaker et al No. 1. Contract depth is 12,400 feet.

Union Producting Co. completed its Sims No. 3 well in the Tinsley field of Yazoo County. The well pumps 202 barrels of oil daily from a Woodruff sand at 4,953-87 feet.

WEEK OF DECLINE

Tide Runs Out On 1958 Market Rise

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — tide ran out on the stock market's early 1958 rise this week. Stocks declined on average for the first time in five weeks.

The series of declining markets that began Feb. 5 ran for six straight sessions until Thursday. That was an inconclusive day.

On Friday, at long last, came a recovery from an oversold condition. This was a technical snapback, primarily, because the business and economic news was quite mixed. The advance was the best since Jan. 7 and the third best of this young year.

Fairly sharp losses Monday and Tuesday and a modest retreat on Wednesday left no doubt as to where the market would finish.

The Associated Press average fell $1.60 during the week to $161.

The falling market bit deeply into the gains made since the end of 1957 but prices on average were still in the black for '58.

Consumer - type stocks such as drugs, tobaccos and foods did all right while the blue chips dropped. The theory is that even during a recession when the big industrials are cutting back and the rails have less coal, iron and other bulk to carry, the consumer goes right on eating, smoking and taking medicine.

Helped by record earnings for such firms as Parke, Davis and Schering, drugs shares stepped ahead briskly. Parke, Davis advanced 5¼, Schring 1⅝, Merck 1⅝ and Rexall ⅜.

Tobaccos found great favor. Lorillard rose 4½. Philip Morris was up 1⅞.

The market was depressed by news that January unemployment had produced the biggest rise since the war. The market also had to reckon with news of plant shutdowns, layoffs and news of lower prices for copper and crude oil. President Eisenhower's expression of confidence that the economic downtrend is about over provided no lift to the market.

The five most active issues this week were Royal Dutch off ¼ at 39⅞, Lorillard, up 4½ at 42½, Raytheon up ⅞ at 27⅞, Standard Oil (New Jersey) off ⅜ at 49⅞ and U.S. Steel, up ½ at 57⅛.

U.S. government bonds improved with long range issues leading the way in the bond market.

Demo Council Raps Effort To Boost Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council today denounced administration spending plans as too skimpy and as based on erroneous economic grounds.

It said from 9 to 12 billion dollars more than the estimated $38,900,000,000 provided this year could be spent for defense alone over the next three years "without undue strain on our economy." This, it added, could prove to be the difference between "national security and national disaster."

Expanded federal nondefense programs also could be afforded, the council said, if wise national policies are followed to induce a normal annual increase in the gross national product — total output of goods and services.

"Continuation of current taxl rates," it said, "would yield sufficient revenue to help offset the inflationary impact of the additional expenditures and should effect a balance in the federal government's budget." Continuing, the council said:

"If it is contended that the assumption that the gross national product will steadily increase is contrary to the realities of the present recession, we answer that so are the assumptions of the President's budget and economic report that hopefully expect an upturn in the rate of business activity the latter part of the year.

"Moreover, a higher level of federal expenditures for national security in the years ahead than is currently proposed would go far to make the upturn a reasonable anticipating rather than a vague hope."

The council, composed of 14 members of the Democratic National Committee's executive committee, plus former President Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson and eight others, approved the statement.

Major Research Needed To Boost Crude Reserves

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Major and unusual scientific advances will be required to assure adequate supplies of petroleum for industry, defense and civilian life "even in the near future," the Bureau of Mines told Congress this week.

"A comprehensive program of petroleum production research is more urgent now than it ever has been before," the bureau said, asking funds for research.

The bureau told a House Appropriations subcommittee new new methods of stimulating oil production, greater recovery of underground oil and increased efficiency in transportation and storage are of vital importance to national defense and the public welfare.

Director M. J. Ankeny of the bureau said an increase of 70 per cent in demand for oil in a decade, together with a decrease in the same period of more than 50 per cent in the quantity of oil found per foot of well drilled, shows domestic production cannot meet the entire demand of the future.

Importation of oil is uncertain, especially in times of emergency, he testified.

The bureau said the purpose of its oil shale research work at Laramie, Wyo., is to "lay a scientific foundation for the oil shale production that will be required by the nation in the future."

The Interior Department Office of Oil and Gas reported to the committee that geological survey officials estimate the ultimate recoverable reserves of Petroleum in the United States, including those offshore, at 200 billion to 300 billion barrels.

This means, the report said, that an estimated 112 billion to 212 billion barrels of new oil remains to be discovered.

FEAR GAS BILL DEAD

Gas Industry In Severe Setback By GOP Dinner

By EDWARD JAMIESON
World Correspondent

WASHINGTON (Special) — The American Oil and natural gas industries, which have had rough sledding in Washington during the past few years, are likely to find the going even more rugged during the next several months.

Repercussions from the nation-wide publicity given the "appreciation" dinner for House Republican leader and former Speaker Joseph Martin in Houston last Monday night have not quieted down yet. Unfortunate wording of the invitation to the $100-a-plate dinner, designed to raise funds for the Republican congressional campaign this year, and also the dinner's program, in which Texas GOP committeeman, H. J. Porter pointed to Martin's past and potential future help for legislation sought by the two industries, was a serious shock to members from the major producing states.

As of now, results of the dinner story appear likely to:

1. Defeat the Harris - O'Hara natural gas bill, designed to eliminate federal utility - type price control of natural gas at the producing level, as ordered by the United States Supreme Court in 1954.

2. Increase the number of members in both the Senate and House favoring amendments to the existing tax law reducing the percentage depletion allowance granted oil and gas producers for income tax computation purposes from 27½ to 15 per cent.

3. Become involved in forthcoming arguments of domestic oil producers for mandatory controls of excessive foreign oil imports, either by executive order or an amendment to the reciprocal trade agreements extens on bill.

Fate of the gas bill, which has not had too much chance since it was reported by the House interstate commerce committee last summer, is still undecided, but chances of its passage in the House in light of this week's developments are dim, to say the least.

Speaker Sam Rayburn who had originally scheduled a show-down vote in the House on the bill during the last week in February, now indicates he will wait for awhile before deciding when or if the bill will be brought up.

The Houston dinner episode did not arouse enough additional opposition to the present depletion allowance for oil and gas producers to threaten a change this year, but it seems to have added a few more supporters for the move.

Senator John J. Williams (R-Del.) announced that he will offer his amendment cutting the rate to fifteen per cent of the bill passed by the House last year making some minor technical changes in the tax laws. While he admits that he has no hope that the Senate will adopt his amendment, he declared that he has enough promises from other senators on his side to force a roll - call vote on the amendment. Normally, to get a roll - call vote in the Senate, at least fifteen senators would have to go along with Williams. Williams has been pressing his amendment for several years, but up to this time has been unable to get enough support to force a roll - call.

On the import quota question, members of Congress from the producing states are still hopeful that the president's special cabinet committee, headed by secretary of commerce Sinclair Weeks, will shortly decide to impose mandatory controls under section seven of the reciprocal trade agreements act. Following several meetings of the cabinet group, during which they conferred with executives of the top American oil companies importing foreign oil. Weeks announced that the problem is extremely serious, but refused to make any commitment as to future government action.

If the cabinet committee fails to take positive action, representatives of domestic producers plan to go before the House Ways and Means committee shortly and urge an amendment to the reciprocal trade agreements act which would impose rigid quotas on oil imports. They have already been promised help on such an amendment by members from the coal producing areas, as well as those from states and districts seeking government protection against other commodity imports while hearings on the trade extension bill start before the house committee Monday, they are expected to continue for several weeks and representatives of the domestic oil producers plan to wait for a time, in hope that some final decision will be reached by the administration before the committee finally starts writing the new bill.

Gas Controversy's History Is Stormy

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The new controversy over a natural gas bill in Congress is another stormy chapter in the turbulent history of the legislation.

Charges and countercharges, close votes, sensational headlines and vetoes have figured prominently since 1947 in efforts to have the 20-year-old natural gas act amended and clarified.

Proposed changes in 1947, 1949, 1950, 1955, 1956 and 1957 required considerable attention from Congress, but only two bills reached the White House. Both were vetoed. Both would have removed wellhead prices of natural gas from federal regulation.

The Harris-O'Hara bill that became a political sorepoint this week was designed as a compromise to bring opposing producer and consumer factions together. It would recognize Federal Power Commission authority to regulate but would remove producers from utility-type controls.

A 1954 Supreme Court ruling altered the oil industry's strategy on the various proposals.

The court held the Federal Power Commission has authority to regulate gas prices in the field. Prior to the court ruling, members of the FPC could not agree on whether the 1958 natural gas act gave them such authority.

Gas producers meanwhile contended no such authority existed under the original act. They sought congressional clarification, in effect, as a precautionary measure. After the 1954 court ruling, however, the producers began seeking remedial instead of precautionary action.

Former Rep. Ross Rizley (R-Okla) led the 1947 fight and received voice approval on final passage in the House. But the bill died when a Senate committee turned it down with a 9-4 vote.

Senator Robert Kerr (D-Okla) headed the 1949-50 fight with a bill opposed by three of the five members of FPC.

The House on Aug. 5, 1949 gave approval, 183-131, with 93 Democrats and 90 Republicans voting in favor. Opposing the measure were 97 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

The Senate committee gave a 7-5 endorsement on June 4, 1949, but two weeks of floor debate did not begin until March 16, 1950. The bill was approved, 44-38, drawing support from 28 Democrats and 16 Republicans. The opposition included 16 Democrats and 22 Republicans.

On March 31, 1950, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) supported the bill from the floor as the House sent the measure to the White House by adopting Senate changes, 176-174. Voting in favor were 97 Democrats and 79 Republicans. Voting against were 115 Democrats, 58 Republicans, and one American-Labor.

President Truman on April 15 vetoed the bill, saying authority to regulate was necessary to the public interest.

The next serious attempt came in 1955.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) squeezed through a House committee, 16-15, on June 28 and the House gave approval, 209-203, on July 28. The bill drew support from 86 Democrats and 123 Republicans. It was opposed by 136 Democrats and 67 Republicans.

After three weeks of debate, the Senate gave final approval, 53-38, on Feb. 6, 1956. Support came from 22 Democrats and 31 Republicans. Voting against were 24 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

On Feb. 19 President Eisenhower said he approved the Harris bill in principal but found it necessary to veto the bill because of "arrogant" lobbying activities by a small segment of the oil industry.

Harris submitted his new bill last year and guided it through another close committee vote, 15-13, last July 9. Senate committee studies have not begun, and floor action in the House is not expected until next month.

CONSERVATION REPORT

District Completions For Week Total Five

Five completions of wells and two abandonments were listed for the Monroe area over the past week by the Department of Conservation.

COMPLETIONS
LaSalle Parish

Tullos Urania Field — T. Murray Tr; Zimmerman No. 20, Sec. 25-10-1E, completed Feb. 7, pumping 10 barrels from 1281-1285 perforations Total depth 1563 feet.

Ouachita Parish

Calhoun Field — Ark. La. Gas Co.; R. R. Fuller Un No. 1, Sec. 34-18-1E, completed Feb. 9, 8,000 MCF from perforations at 9234-9258 on a 3-8 inch choke. Total depth 10,025.

Rapides Parish

Wildcat Field — Roger J. Bassett; Lee Lbr. Co. No. 1, Sec. 17-3-2E, completed Feb. 1, testing 54 barrels from perforations at 6442-6444 feet. Tubing pressure of 220-310 pounds on a 10-64 inch choke. Gas-oil ratio 370-1. Total depth 7612.

Tensas Parish

Wildcat Field — Chicago Mill and Lbr. Co.; Ayer C. M. No. 1-A, Sec. 7-13-10E, completed Feb. 3, testing 170 barrels of 41 gravity oil, from perforations at 7220.5-7228.5 feet. Gas-oil ratio 917-1. Total depth 7300.

Union Parish

Monroe Field — Monroe Drlg. Co. Inc.; Spencer et al No. 1, Sec. 5-21-3E, completed Feb. 7, 2-983 MCF; Est. O. Flow before acid-250 MCF. Total depth 2198 feet.

ABANDONMENTS
Ouachita Parish

West Monroe Field — Pan Amer. Pet. Corp; Stubbs Unit No. 1, Sec. 6-17-3E, on Feb. 8, at 9702 feet.

Tensas Parish

Wildcat Field — Jett Drlg. Co. Inc.; Newellton Hdw. Co. No. 1, Sec. 15-13-11E, on Feb. 10 at 8604 feet.

ACTIVE RIGS
Catahoula Parish

Wildcat Field — A. J. Hodges Inds. et al; La. Central "C" No. 1, Sec. 13-10,5E, spudded in Jan. 28, set 650 feet of 9⅝ inch pipe, drilling at 3069 feet.

Harrisonburg Field — H. L. Rowley Inc. & Pet. Inc.; Alva A. King No. 2 Sec. 6-9-7E running 5½ inch casing at 4250 feet.

Manifest Field — W. L. Estis; Sam Estis Est. No. 2, Sec. 22-9-5E, testing at 3000.

Concordia Parish

N. Ext. Esp. Pt. Field — Magnolia Pet. Co; Hugh Junkin No. 18, Sec. 12-6-9E, spudded in Feb. 7, set 830 feet of 9⅝ inch pipe, drilling at 1785 feet.

Franklin Parish

Lamar Field — Murphy-Sun Oil Co.; John V. Sevier No. 1, Sec. 32-16-9E, spudded in Feb. 12, set 523 feet of 8⅝ inch pipe.

Lamar Field — A. E. Stewart; S. R. Walters No 1, Sec. 6-15-9E, testing at 4930 feet.

LaSalle Parish

Long Slough Field — H. L. Hunt Co.; LaDel Hdr. Lbr. Co. No. F-9, perforated 4987-4991, testing at 5610 feet.

Olla Field — Geo. Belchic Jr. & Murcury Drlg. Corp.; Tremont Lbr. Co. "A" No. 2, Sec. 33-10-2E, spudded in Feb. 7, set 253 feet of 8⅝ inch pipe, drilling at 910 feet.

Olla Field — Just-Mears Oil Co. et al; Trem. Lbr. Co. No. C-3, Sec. 32-10-2E, spudded in Feb. 8, set 210 feet of 8⅝ inch pipe, running drill stem test at 3520 feet.

Rogers Field — Nebo Oil Co.; Norris and Whatley Est. No. 1, Sec. 8,6-3E, testing at 1958 feet.

Tullos Urania Field - Milton Galoob et al; Town of Tullos No. 1, Sec. 26-10-1E, testing at 1550 feet.

Tullos Urania Field — Sutton Joint Acct; Tremont Lbr. Co. No. 1, Sec. 30-10-2E, testing at 1600 feet.

Madison Parish

Wildcat Field — Sinclair Oil and Gas Co.; Singer Mfg. Co. No. 1, Sec. 3-15-11E, drilling tight.

Calhoun Field — Ark. La. Gas Co; I. McDaniel No. 1, Sec. 4-17-1E, drilling at 6363 feet.

Tensas Parish

Killens Ferry Field — Gulf Oil Corp; Ayer Tbr. Co. Inc. No. 1, Sec. 21-14-10E, testing at 7409 feet.

Killens Ferry Field — Robt. F. Roberts et al; Ayer Tbr. Co. Inc. No. A-5, Sec. 31-14-10E, drilling at 5700.

Killens Ferry Field — Robt. F. Roberts et al; Ayer Tbr. Co. Inc. No. A-6, Sec. 31-14-10E, set 8016 feet of 5½ inch pipe. Total depth 7016 feet.

Lake Formosa Field — Jett Drlg. Co. Inc.; Fisher Lbr. Corp. No. B-6, Sec. 22-12-10E, drilling at 7365 feet.

Locust Ridge Field — Phillips Pet. Co.; McDonald "A" No. 6, Sec. 18-10-12E, drilling at 6283 feet.

Union Parish

Bull Creek Field — The Carter Oil Co.; Mitcham-Davis et al Unit No. 1, Sec. 19-21-3W, drilling at 6755 feet.

NEW LOCATIONS
Tensas Parish

Wildcat Field — Jett Drlg. Co. Inc.; Fisher Lbr. Corp. No. J-1, Sec. 1-12,10E, 660 feet from the west line and 585 feet from the south line of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter.

Wildcat Field — Jett Drlg. Co. Inc.; Fisher Lbr. Corp. No. K-1, Sec. 17-12-11E, 360 feet from the east line and 360 feet from the north line of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter.

Killens Ferry Field — Robt. F. Roberts et al; Ayer Tbr. Co. Inc. No. B-4, Sec. 29-14-10E, 660 feet south of the north line and 610 feet east of the west line in the north half of the northwest quarter

Killens Ferry Field — Robt. F. Roberts et al; Ayer and Chica. Mill No. F-1, Sec. 19,14-10E, 660 feet north of the south line and 610 feet west of the east line in the south half of the southeast quarter.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

DIRECTOR

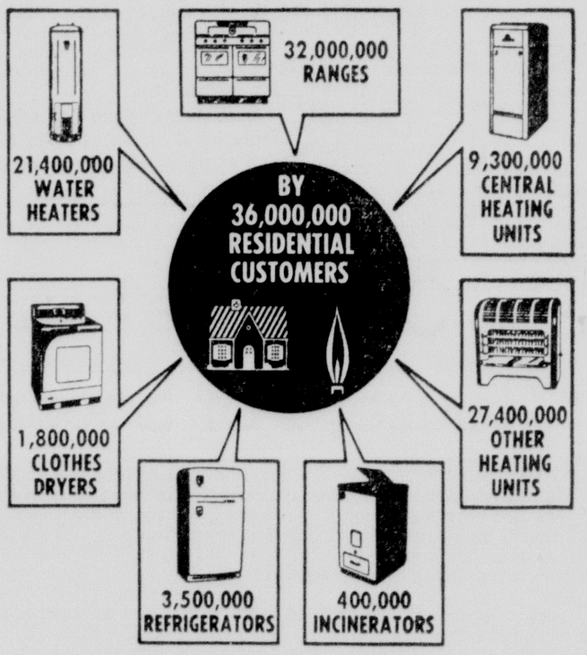

At a meeting on Wednesday of the Board of Directors of Tensas State Bank, Newellton, Jack P. Mabray was named to the board to succeed the late T. T. Hargrove. Mabray is a prominent planter and business man of Newellton.

Another named to a new position was Frank R. Burnside, board member, who was elected vice-president of the bank. The appointment of Mabray to the board and the elevation of Burnside to the vice-presidency are evidence of the consistent policy of the bank to serve the public to its best capacity and with the soundest of financial practices.

MAGNETIC STEERING FOR THOSE WHO CAN'T STAY ON THE ROAD—Jeanne Powers of General Motors Research staff takes her hands off the steering wheel while negotiating a banked curve to demonstrate automatic steering by a magnetic path produced by a cable built into the center of the road. The pickup coils mounted on each side of the license plate are tuned to the cable and feed in voltage variations to an electric computer in the glove compartment, which gives "command" signals to the car's power steering unit and keeps the auto on the magnetic path in center of the highway lane. To turn off the road or pass, the driver touches a switch which cuts the car back into the manual steering system. GM said the system is still in the research stage. (AP Wirephoto)

96 MILLION GAS APPLIANCES IN USE TODAY

SOURCE: AMERICAN GAS ASSOCIATION

More than 96 million gas appliances are currently in use in the United States for cooking, heating, air conditioning, clothes drying, refrigeration, water, heating, and incineration. The nation's 36 million gas-using families—28 million served by utility gas and the remainder by LP or bottled gas—average nearly three appliances each.

Ike Joins Man In The Street Worrying About Economy

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Americans, from President Eisenhower to the man in the street, showed concern this week over the rising tide of unemployment.

Consumers slowed their buying in department and specialty stores. Retailers in some areas blamed news of layoffs and the frigid weather.

In Washington, the administration pored over figures on business and employment as it was last month, then stepped up its antirecession campaign.

One statistic stood out. Four and one-half million Americans were jobless, the largest total in eight years after the biggest monthly rise in unemployment since the depression in the 30s.

With many business indicators pointing lower, the President made two further moves to help check the recession.

He disclosed a two-billion-dollar program to build new post offices in the next three to five years. He also forecast that March will see "the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy and the start of a pickup in job opportunities."

The statement was clearly an effort to bolster consumer and business confidence. It came in the wake of reports that automobile sales fell considerably below expectations in January, which many regarded as a sign consumers had become more cautious.

Some economists disagreed with the prediction that improvement should start next month. Dr. Marcus Nadler of New York University said the slump may drag on through the rest of the year.

Philip M. Talbott, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, completed a nine-week, coast-to-coast tour for his organization and predicted an upturn about June.

"The President's forecast was possibly a little overexuberant as to timing," said Talbott.

Eleven Democratic governors sent a telegram to the President, asking for "a practical program" to stop "the growing national recession." Some Republicans called the telegram a political move.

Democratic lawmakers in Washington continued to talk about a possible tax cut to give the economy a shot-in-the-arm such as it received in the 1953-54 recession. There still were no concrete indications a cut would be forthcoming.

Much of the week's news was of a bearish nature. Layoffs and furloughs were announced by railroads, aircraft manufacturers, auto, metal, glass and rubber companies. Here and there a company rehired some workers.

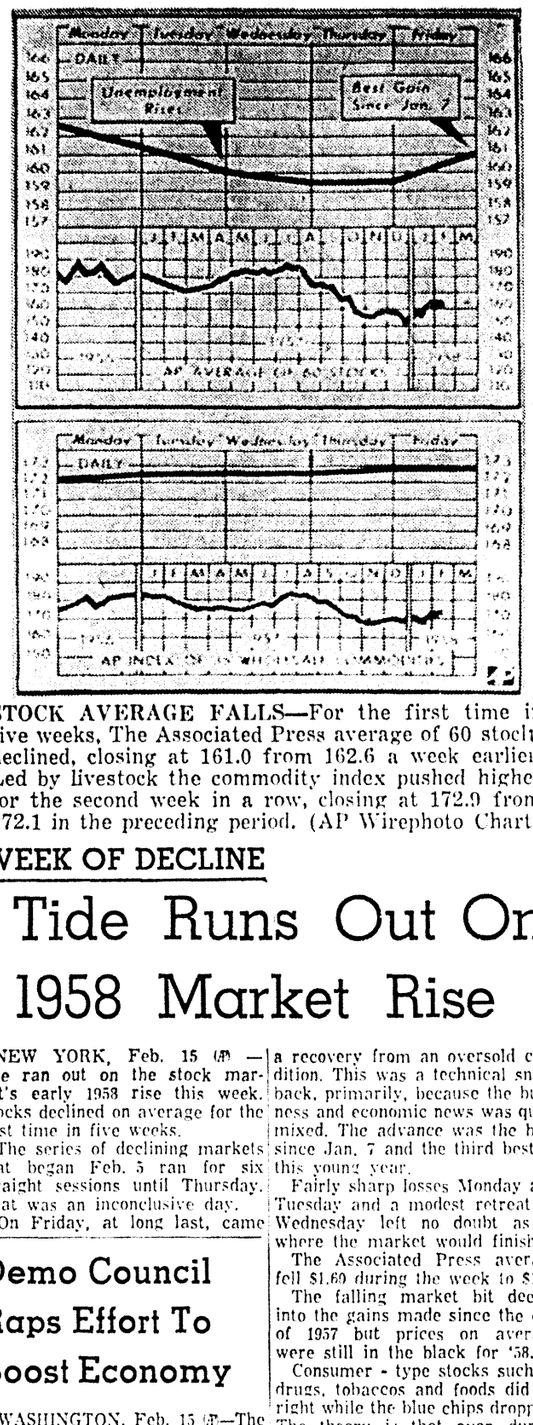

Westinghouse Electric dropped plans to furlough 250 workers at its Columbus, Ohio, appliance plant and put into effect a four-day week instead.

Union Carbide Corp. halted construction of its multi-million dollar office and research facilities in Eastview, N.Y., north of New York City, because of "worsening business conditions." Foundation work already was completed.

The oil industry still was troubled by excess inventories, reflected in lower prices for some refined products. M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) called on petroleum companies to make a further cut in crude oil processing.

Automotive output moved up slightly this week but lagged 24 per cent below a year ago. Railroad freight car loadings trailed last year by 20 per cent.

Despite a slight gain in orders, steel mills were at 54 per cent of capacity.

STOCK AVERAGE FALLS—For the first time in five weeks, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined, closing at 161.0 from 162.6 a week earlier. Led by livestock the commodity index pushed higher for the second week in a row, closing at 172.9 from 172.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Gas Controversy's History Is Stormy

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The new controversy over a natural gas bill in Congress is another stormy chapter in the turbulent history of the legislation.

Charges and countercharges, close votes, sensational headlines and vetoes have figured prominently since 1947 in efforts to have the 20-year-old natural gas act amended and clarified.

The Senate committee gave a 7-5 endorsement on June 4, 1949, but two weeks of floor debate did not begin until March 16, 1950. The bill was approved, 44-38, drawing support from 28 Democrats and 16 Republicans. The opposition included 16 Democrats and 22 Republicans.

On March 31, 1950, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) supported the bill from the floor as the House sent the measure to the White House by adopting Senate changes, 176-174. Voting in favor were 97 Democrats and 79 Republicans. Voting against were 115 Democrats, 58 Republicans, and one American-Labor.

President Truman on April 15 vetoed the bill, saying authority to regulate was necessary to the public interest.

The next serious attempt came in 1955.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) squeezed through a House committee, 16-15, on June 28 and the House gave approval, 209-203, on July 28. The bill drew support from 86 Democrats and 123 Republicans. It was opposed by 136 Democrats and 67 Republicans.

After three weeks of debate, the Senate gave final approval, 53-38, on Feb. 6, 1956. Support came from 22 Democrats and 31 Republicans. Voting against were 24 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

On Feb. 19 President Eisenhower said he approved the Harris bill in principal but found it necessary to veto the bill because of "arrogant" lobbying activities by a small segment of the oil industry.

Harris submitted his new bill last year and guided it through another close committee vote, 15-13, last July 9. Senate committee studies have not begun, and floor action in the House is not expected until next month.

UPS AND DOWNS

Cotton Price Runs Irregular Pattern

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 — Cotton futures prices moved somewhat irregularly last week, ending the week 20 cents a bale lower to $3.55 a bale higher on the New York Cotton Exchange. Nearby March was the only month showing a loss.

At their best levels of the week all active months from October 1958 through July 1959 were at new life of contract highs.

The nearer deliveries tended to be suppressed during the week by reports of slow business in the spot and goods markets and by possibility of a fair number of notices being issued against the March contract.

Meanwhile, the new crop months moved higher on demand stimulated by fading prospects of any new farm legislation being enacted in time to affect the 1958 crop and by the higher loan rate in prospect for next season.

Current indications are the loan rate for middling inch upland cotton at average locations next season will be the highest on record. The opinion was expressed a high loan rate might result in heavy 1958 loan entries and that an even higher price level would be needed to induce repossessions.

It is estimated the loan rate for 1958 crop middling inch cotton at average locations will be at least 34.60 cents per pound as compared with this season's support price of 32.31 cents.

Attracting attention was a report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that through the close of last month cotton growers had signed applications offering to put a total of approximately 3,361,000 acres into the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank this year. If all indications signed by growers could be accepted maximum payments would approximate $186,251,000.

Exports of the staple by this country during the weekly period ended last Tuesday were larger than those of a week previous but were again rather well below those of a year previous. According to the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau, they approximated 165,000 bales versus 129,000 and 219,000 respectively. For the current season through Feb. 11, they have reached an estimated level of 3,168,000 bales vs. 4,072,000 to approximately the same time last season.

GSA Plans To Complete Buildings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The General Services Administration today said it is planned to have 92 leases-purchase federal building projects completed, under contract or at the bidding stage by Dec. 31, 1959.

These are the remaining 636 million dollars worth of projects listed as fully approved for lease-purchase construction under a 1954 law. The procedures for approving additional projects are not longer valid, due to expiration of the law last year, but President Eisenhower has asked Congress to reinstate the legislation.

Originally GSA announced approval of 98 projects for lease-purchase construction.

The program completely bogged down in 1956 due to the tight money market but is now picking up steam, with three financing and construciton contract awards having been announced since Jan. 31.

Private investors finance the projects, bidding on an interest rate basis to supply maximum possible money requirements for each project. The government repays the loan and interest over a period of years like rent, taking title to the building upon completion of the repayment. Meantime, the structure is on local tax rolls.

Financing offers that have been ruled "acceptable" have been received from 13 projects including:

Biloxi, Miss., $1,110,000 postoffice and courthouse.

Financing bids will be opened here Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 on another 14 projects. They include:

Jonesboro, La., $365,000 postoffice; Lake Charles, La., $2,075,000 postoffice and courthouse; Greenville, Miss., $1,200,000 postoffice and courthouse; Laurel, Miss., $829,000 postoffice.

The tentative schedule is to open construction bids on all those projects by April 15, provided "acceptable" financing proposals are received.

The remaining projects which it is planned to push by the end of 1959 include:

Little Rock, Ark., $9,150,000 federal office building; Lafayette, La., $1,095,000 postoffice; Minden, La., $412,000 postoffice; New Orleans, $19,670000 postoffice.

Mississippi Oil

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. is drilling one of the deepest wells in Mississippi history on the Jasper County side of the deep Soso field.

The venture, Soso unit tract No. 28-7, is below 17,000 feet and scheduled for 19,000 feet. Apparent commercial oil production has been logged in sands below 13,000 and 15,000 feet.

The Deepest production in the field is 12,200 feet.

Record drilling depth for Mississippi is 20,450 feet set by George Vasen in his abandoned Stone County wildcat Fee No. 1.

Other oil activity:

California Co. was scoring below 11,630 feet in the wildcat Central Oil Co. No. 1 in Simpson County.

The well logged small oil shows in top of the Rodessa zone and is scheduled to be drilled o 13,000 feet.

A second Simpson County wildcat, the Brown-Gaylord No. 1, was below 12,100 feet with no shows reported. The well is being drilled be Monterey Oil Co. and is contracted for 14,000 feet.

In Lawrence County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. was below 16,600 feet in the wildcat T.R. Sistrunk No. 1.

Contract depth is 17,000 feet. The well has logged uncommercial gas shows in a sand below 16,000 feet.

Shell Oil Co. has set surface casing in the Atkinson No. 1 well on the Pike County side of the Little Creek field. Contract depth is 11,000 feet.

Marshall R. Young is below 8,000 feet in the Lincoln County wildcat Williams No. 1 north of the Mallalieu field.

At Mallalieu, California Co. was below 11,780 feet in the field test, Board of Supervisors No. 1. Contract depth is 16,200 feet to explore deeper sands.

In Smith County, Larco Drilling Co. et al. is below 10,600 feet in the wildcat USA No. 1. Contract depth is 11,500 feet.

California Co. was below 8,800 feet in the Yazoo County wildcat Whitaker et al No. 1. Contract depth is 12,400 feet.

Union Producting Co. completed its Sims No. 3 well in the Tinsley field of Yazoo County. The well pumps 202 barrels of oil daily from a Woodruff sand at 4,953-87 feet.

Net Change In Grains Small

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP) —The prices of grain futures made their shifts mostly in big leaps and under strong influences this week, but the net results were small except in wheat and rye.

At the close of the week, wheat was 1⅞-4⅝ cents a bushel higher than a week ago, corn ⅛-1⅛ higher, oats ¼-½ higher, rye 1½-4¼ higher, soybeans 1⅞ lower to ⅜ higher, and lard 5 cents a hundrde pounds lower to 37 cents higher.

Tide Runs Out On 1958 Market Rise

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — tide ran out on the stock market's early 1958 rise this week. Stocks declined on average for the first time in five weeks.

The series of declining markets that began Feb. 5 ran for six straight sessions until Thursday. That was an inconclusive day.

On Friday, at long last, came a recovery from an oversold condition. This was a technical snapback, primarily, because the business and economic news was quite mixed. The advance was the best since Jan. 7 and the third best of this young year.

Fairly sharp losses Monday and Tuesday and a modest retreat on Wednesday left no doubt as to where the market would finish.

The Associated Press average fell $1.69 during the week to $161.

The falling market bit deeply into the gains made since the end of 1957 but prices on average were still in the black for '58.

Consumer - type stocks such as drugs, tobaccos and foods did all right while the blue chips dropped. The theory is that even during a recession when the big industrials are cutting back and the rails have less coal, iron and other bulk to carry, the consumer goes right on eating, smoking and taking medicine.

Helped by record earnings for such firms as Parke, Davis and Schering, drugs shares stepped ahead briskly. Parke, Davis advanced 5¼, Schring 1⅝, Merck 1⅝ and Rexall ⅞.

Tobaccos found great favor. Lorillard rose 4½. Philip Morris was up 1⅞.

The market was depressed by news that January unemployment had produced the biggest rise since the war. The market also had to reckon with news of plant shutdowns, layoffs and news of lower prices for copper and crude oil. President Eisenhower's expression of confidence that the economic downtrend is about over provided no lift to the market.

The five most active issues this week were Royal Dutch off ⅛ at 397⅛, Lorillard, up 4½ at 42½, Raytheon up ⅞ at 27⅞, Standard Oil (New Jersey) off ⅜ at 49⅞ and U.S. Steel, up ½ at 57⅛.

U.S. government bonds improved with long range issues leading the way in the bond market.

Demo Council Raps Effort To Boost Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council today denounced administration spending plans as too skimpy and as based on erroneous economic grounds.

It said from 9 to 12 billion dollars more than the estimated $38,900,000,000 provided this year could be spent for defense alone over the next three years "without undue strain on our economy." This, it added, could prove to be the difference between "national security and national disaster."

Expanded federal nondefense programs also could be afforded, the council said, if wise national policies are followed to induce a normal annual increase in the gross national product — total output of goods and services.

"Continuation of current taxl rates," it said, "would yield sufficient revenue to help offset the inflationary impact of the additional expenditures and should effect a balance in the federal government's budget." Continuing, the council said:

"If it is contended that the assumption that the gross national product will steadily increase is contrary to the realities of the present recession, we answer that so are the assumptions of the President's budget and economic report that hopefully expect an upturn in the rate of business activity the latter part of the year.

"Moreover, a higher level of federal expenditures for national security in the years ahead than is currently proposed would go far to make the upturn a reasonable anticipating rather than a vague hope."

The council, composed of 14 members of the Democratic National Committee's executive committee, plus former President Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson and eight others, approved the statement.

Major Research Needed To Boost Crude Reserves

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Major and unusual scientific advances will be required to assure adequate supplies of petroleum for industry, defense and civilian life "even in the near future," the Bureau of Mines told Congress this week.

"A comprehensive program of petroleum production research is more urgent now than it ever has been before," the bureau said, asking funds for research.

The bureau told a House Appropriations subcommittee new new methods of stimulating oil production, greater recovery of underground oil and, increased efficiency in transportation and storage are of vital importance to national defense and the public welfare.

Director M. J. Ankeny of the bureau said an increase of 70 per cent in demand for oil in a decade, together with a decrease in the same period of more than 50 per cent in the quantity of oil found per foot of well drilled, shows domestic production cannot meet the entire demand of the future.

Importation of oil is uncertain, especially in times of emergency, he testified.

The bureau said the purpose of its oil shale research work at Laramie, Wyo., is to "lay a scientific foundation for the oil shale production that will be required by the nation in the future."

The Interior Department Office of Oil and Gas reported to the committee that geological survey officials estimate the ultimate recoverable reserves of Petroleum in the United States, including those offshore, at 200 billion to 300 billion barrels.

This means, the report said, that an estimated 112 billion to 212 billion barrels of new oil remains to be discovered.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

DIRECTOR ..

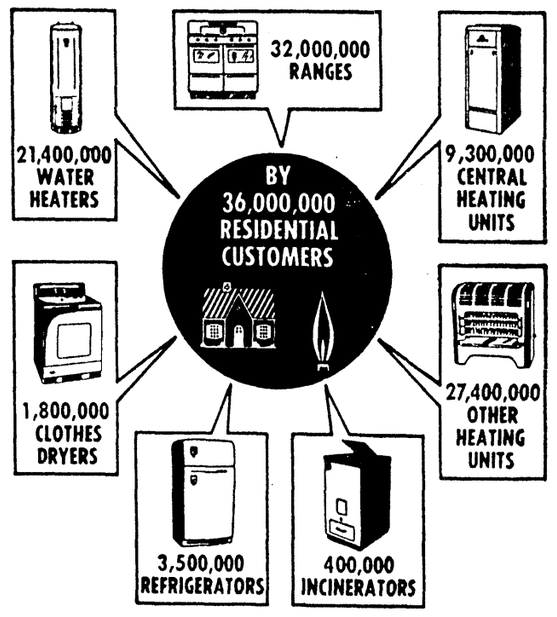

At a meeting on Wednesday of the Board of Directors of Tensas State Bank, Newellton, Jack P. Mabray was named to the board to succeed the late T. T. Hargrove. Mabray is a prominent planter and business man of Newellton.

Another named to a new position was Frank R. Burnside, board member, who was elected vice-president of the bank. The appointment of Mabray to the board and the elevation of Burnside to the vice-presidency are evidence of the consistent policy of the bank to serve the public to its best capacity and with the soundest of financial practices.

MAGNETIC STEERING FOR THOSE WHO CAN'T STAY ON THE ROAD—Jeanne Powers of General Motors Research staff takes her hands off the steering wheel while negotiating a banked curve to demonstrate automatic steering by a magnetic path produced by a cable built into the center of the road. The pickup coils mounted on each side of the license plate are tuned to the cable and feed in voltage variations to an electric computer in the glove compartment, which gives "command" signals to the car's power steering unit and keeps the auto on the magnetic path in center of the highway lane. To turn off the road or pass, the driver touches a switch which cuts the car back into the manual steering system. GM said the system is still in the research stage. (AP Wirephoto)

96 MILLION GAS APPLIANCES IN USE TODAY

SOURCE: AMERICAN GAS ASSOCIATION

More than 96 million gas appliances are currently in use in the United States for cooking, heating, air conditioning, clothes drying, refrigeration, water, heating, and incineration. The nation's 36 million gas-using families—28 million served by utility gas and the remainder by LP or bottled gas—average nearly three appliances each.

Bishop Martin Honored, Will Be Speaker

Bishop Paul E. Martin, Little Rock, head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Area of the Methodist Church, will delive. the Alexander Gustavus Brown Lectures at Randolph - Macon College in Ashland, Va., it was announced by President J. Earl Moreland. The lecture series to be held this year on Feb. 18-20 brings to this oldest Methodist related college outstanding ministers and churchmen to speak before students, faculty and guests.

The Alexander Gustavus Brown Foundation was established in 1942 by the gift of Dr. Alexander G. Brown, Jr., of Richmond, Va., an alumnus of the college, in honor of his father, Rev. Alexander G. Brown, D. D , a distinguished minister of the Virginia Conference, financial secretary of the college 1871-75, and a member of the board of trustees from 1871 until his death in 1900. The endowment of the Foundation was augmented in 1946 by a supplementary gift of the donor.

Bishop Martin will deliver three addresses, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, February 18, 19 and 20.

The 1957 Brown Lectures were given by Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University.

The Gideons Hold 5 State Meet In City

The International Order of The Gideons from the states of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi are today to end the annual convention with a good-sized attendance. Sessions were held in Hotel Virginia Friday and Saturday. The banquet held last night at 8:30 p.m. in the hotel was addressed by Mayor Jack Howard and special music by Garland Shell. O. T. Goldsmith, Houston, Tex., was the principal speaker.

This morning a number of pulpits of all faiths will have sermons delivered in both Monroe and West Monroe.

Women also participated and an Auxiliary meeting was held with Mrs. E. M. McKenzie, state chaplain, speaker at the Saturday morning session.

This religious group was founded by Christian commercial travelers July 1, 1899 at Janesville, Wis. Their most important and well known project is that of placing Bibles in each hotel room. It is reported that fully two million Bibles have been placed in hotel rooms in many countries on the globe.

The emblem of The Gideons is a two - handled pitcher and torch. The work is supported by free will offerings.

Trinity Church To Observe Lent

Trinity Lutheran congregation—300 D'Arbonne Ave. — will observe the season of Lent with special midweek Lenten vespers. Beginning Ash Wednesday, February 19, 7:30 p. m. the congregation will meet in worship to take note of outstanding occasions in the Passion History of our Lord Jesus.

The series of sermons shall be based upon questions and comments addressed to Christ during the period when He was suffering and dying for the sins of mankind.

Wednesday evening the pastor, Arthur Betz, will base his discourse upon the question of Peter addressed to his Savior: "Lord Shall We Smite With the Sword?"

Visitors are cordially invited to go with us in spirit from Gethsemane to Calvary and evaluate the inestimable price which Jesus paid in order that He might redeem sinners from satan to God.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 139:7—"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" PSALM 23:6—"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life." (King James Version)

* * *

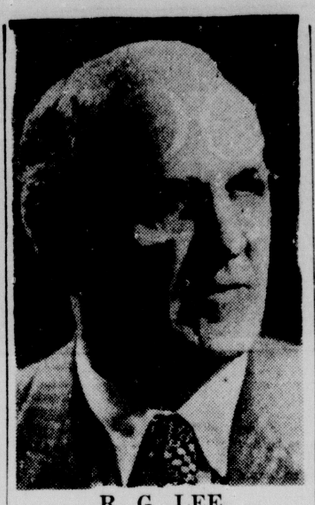

A father, writing to a son serving overseas in the armed forces, closed his letter with these words: "Remember, my son, no one is ever far from God."

It seems that this faith must have been in the mind of the psalmist when he put down these words: "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" For these verses are not saying that God is a superpoliceman who keeps us under His eye. Rather they tell us that man cannot go where God is not.

Let faith be the sustaining factor in the living of these days, assuring us that as God has been with us in all our yesterdays, He will be with us in our unknown tomorrows. As an old saint of God put it: "O Lord, help me to understand that you won't let anything come my way that you and I can't handle together."

The man of faith finds strength and courage even in life's darkest hours because God is with him. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life. . ."

R. G. LEE

Dr. Rob't Lee Will Lead In Revival Here

Dr. Robert Green Lee, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist Church, in Memphis, Tenn., and internationally known as a dynamic speaker will conduct revival services at the College Place Baptist Church beginning February 23. Dr. Lee, at one time, was pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans.

For the past 30 years he has been pastor of the great Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis. This church has a membership of more than 9,000.

The public is cordially invited to all the services during the week of February 23 through March 2.

RUSSELL STELLWAGON

Stellwagon To Tell Of Jap Missions

At the concluding session of the church-wide school of missions, 7 o'clock, Sunday night, Rev. Russell Stellwagon, missionary home on furlough, will bring the devotional message at McGuire Methodist church.

Mr. Stellwagon is a native of Monroe, the grandson of the late Dr. Rowe Henry, dentist. While in the Navy, he came under conviction and accepted Christ. His tour of duty gave him opportunity to observe the needs of other peoples; and to the Japanese people he dedicated his life.

After two years in Bob Jones University, and one semester in Northwestern at Minneapolis, Minn., he was sent out by the Evangelical Missionary Alliance to Japan in Sept., 1951. His work was confined to the Nagano Prefecture in Central Japan. While there for his first term he published a Missionary Language Handbook, and a song book for children, and carried on the regular evangelistic endeavors in a vicinity of 150,000 people. He was associated with a Japanese national couple in his work during his term. During his absence his assignment is being carried by this Japanese husband and wife.

While home on furlough, Mr. Stellwagon has spoken in churches in five states. His plan calls for a return to Japan in April, 1958.

At McGuire Sunday evening he will speak on the general theme, "Japan Needs Jesus." The public is invited to hear this missionary.

Methodists Aid Missions With Big Sum

The Methodist Church in 1957 both received and paid out more money for mission work at home and overseas than in any previous year, the board of missions treasurers report. They announce that the board and its three administrative divisions had a record income of $25,779,279 for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957. Within that year, the board and divisions disbursed a record total of $25,206,494.

This composite missions report is made jointly by H. Conwell Snoke, Philadelphia, treasurer of the board and of the division of national missions; Miss Marguerite Harris, New York, treasurer of the woman's division of Christian service, and the Rev. H. Burnham Kirkland, New York, treasurer of the division of world missions.

Income Increase 12 Per Cent

The increase in income was 12 per cent, or $2,829,324 above fiscal 1956, the previous record year when receipts were $22,949,955. Disbursements were $1,944,146 above the record $23,262,348 paid out in fiscal 1956. Almost the entire increase came from greater missionary giving by Methodist members.

The report shows that disbursements for Methodist and interdenominational mission work in 50 countries overseas reached a record high of $13,100,149 in 1957, up $1,500,897 over 1956. Disbursements for overseas missions accounted for 52 per cent of all expenditures.

For home mission work in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, the board and the two divisions paid out $8,857,060. That amonut accounted for 35 per cent of all disbursements and was an increase of $154,342 over 1956.

Money for Overseas

Money for overseas work is disbursed by the world division and by the department of work in foreign fields of the woman's division. Home missions work is spent by the national division and by the department of work in home fields of the woman's division.

The rise in income came almost entirely because of increased missionary giving by Methodist people through denominational channels, the treasurers report. The largest single increase was from the "Advance," a special financial program whereby individual Methodist churches or church groups support missionaries or mission projects of their own choosing. This "personalized" missionary giving rose 37 per cent from $3,809,515 in 1956 to $5,185,962 last year. The "Advance," to which an estimated 20,000 Methodist churches contribute, supports work of both the national and world divisions. It was the third largest source of board income, accounting for 20 per cent of all receipts.

Charles Flurry To Speak Here

Emmanuel Baptist Church is planning for the redecoration of the church auditorium. Part of the work is finished and the rest will be done weather permitting. Plans call for a new roof and interior and exterior painting.

The church is also preparing for a revival with the Rev. Charles Flurry, youth director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic foundation. He is one of the states most popular leaders and speakers. He was trained both in America and abroad. His vision is for a better America for the youth of today and tomorrow. Plans contemplate his lecturing while here at the Ouachita High School, Neville High School and West Monroe High on the topics of alcohol and narcotics control.

He is regarded as authority on these subjects and appears at many high schools in the state. He will be main speaker at the youth rally during the week of the revival April 7-13 in Monroe.

Lady Of Fatima Lenten Services

Father George Martinez, pastor of Our Lady of Fatima parish, announces Lenten services for the coming week as follows:

Ash Wednesday masses are 6:30 and 8 a.m. Ashes will be distributed after each of the morning masses and again after Ash Wednesday evening services at 7:30 p.m.

Lenten services during Lent, each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Stations of the Cross on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Brotherhood Is Opening Series

One of 16 meetings planned and promoted by the state Baptist convention of Louisiana Brotherhood was held at College Place Baptist Church last Thursday. Approximately 250 men, Brotherhood members, attended a night session.

Luther Barney of Ridge church led the song service and directed the male chorus. Devotional was led by Rev. E. A. Burgess. Fred Forester, state Brotherhood secretary, delivered a challenging message on "What Men Can Do in the 30,000 new Preaaching Stations."

George Vaughn had charge of refreshments served by the host church.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL HELD

A successful revival has been in progress at the Church of God, corner of Georgia and Reed streets in Monroe. The final service has been set for tonight at this church, and a good-sized attendance is anticipated.

The evangelist has been Harold Moore of Blythe, Ark., and the church pastor states that the attendance and interest have been sustained for the past more than a week at all services.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Do you think a Christian should ever sanction force? D. S.

ANSWER: Not only do I think that Christians should sanction force but every Christian who lives in America today sanctions force every day. Wherever there are police and sheriff's departments, there is a sanction of force. Without them any community would be engulfed in lawlessness within a few hours. The Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Roman Christians says: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that are ordained of God." He goes on to say, in speaking of those in authority: "For he is a minister of God to thee for good . . . for he beareth not the sword in vain; for he is a minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." This does not mean that those who enforce the law are necessarily Christians. It does mean that the power they rightly exercise comes from God. The same principle which sanctions and makes necessary the maintaining of a local police force to enforce order and restrain evil men carries over into the international field where evil men and nations have to be restrained. The armed forces of America are not maintained for national aggrandizement. Rather they are kept strong as deterrent against those who would act as international criminals. For a Christian to say he is unwilling to sanction force would entail the necessity of doing away with law and order and those who enforce it.

Bishop Martin Honored, Will Be Speaker

Bishop Paul E. Martin, Little Rock, head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Area of the Methodist Church, will delive. the Alexander Gustavus Brown Lectures at Randolph - Macon College in Ashland, Va., it was announced by President J. Earl Moreland. The lecture series to be held this year on Feb. 18-20 brings to this oldest Methodist related college outstanding ministers and churchmen to speak before students, faculty and guests.

The Alexander Gustavus Brown Foundation was established in 1942 by the gift of Dr. Alexander G. Brown, Jr., of Richmond, Va., an alumnus of the college, in honor of his father, Rev. Alexander G. Brown, D. D , a distinguished minister of the Virginia Conference, financial secretary of the college 1871-75, and a member of the board of trustees from 1871 until his death in 1900. The endowment of the Foundation was augmented in 1946 by a supplementary gift of the donor.

Bishop Martin will deliver three addresses, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, February 18, 19 and 20.

The 1957 Brown Lectures were given by Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University.

The Gideons Hold 5 State Meet In City

The International Order of The Gideons from the states of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi are today to end the annual convention with a good-sized attendance. Sessions were held in Hotel Virginia Friday and Saturday. The banquet held last night at 8:30 p.m. in the hotel was addressed by Mayor Jack Howard and special music by Garland Shell. O. T. Goldsmith, Houston, Tex., was the principal speaker.

This morning a number of pulpits of all faiths will have sermons delivered in both Monroe and West Monroe.

Women also participated and an Auxiliary meeting was held with Mrs. E. M. McKenzie, state chaplain, speaker at the Saturday morning session.

This religious group was founded by Christian commercial travelers July 1, 1899 at Janesville, Wis. Their most important and well known project is that of placing Bibles in each hotel room. It is reported that fully two million Bibles have been placed in hotel rooms in many countries on the globe.

The emblem of The Gideons is a two - handled pitcher and torch. The work is supported by free will offerings.

Trinity Church To Observe Lent

Trinity Lutheran congregation—300 D'Arbonne Ave. — will observe the season of Lent with special midweek Lenten vespers. Beginning Ash Wednesday, February 19, 7:30 p. m. the congregation will meet in worship to take note of outstanding occasions in the Passion History of our Lord Jesus.

The series of sermons shall be based upon questions and comments addressed to Christ during the period when He was suffering and dying for the sins of mankind.

Wednesday evening the pastor, Arthur Betz, will base his discourse upon the question of Peter addressed to his Savior: "Lord Shall We Smite With the Sword?"

Visitors are cordially invited to go with us in spirit from Gethsemane to Calvary and evaluate the inestimable price which Jesus paid in order that He might redeem sinners from satan to God.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 139:7—"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" PSALM 23:6—"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life." (King James Version)

* * *

A father, writing to a son serving overseas in the armed forces, closed his letter with these words: "Remember, my son, no one is ever far from God."

It seems that this faith must have been in the mind of the psalmist when he put down these words: "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" For these verses are not saying that God is a superpoliceman who keeps us under His eye. Rather they tell us that man cannot go where God is not.

Let faith be the sustaining factor in the living of these days, assuring us that as God has been with us in all our yesterdays, He will be with us in our unknown tomorrows. As an old saint of God put it: "O Lord, help me to understand that you won't let anything come my way that you and I can't handle together."

The man of faith finds strength and courage even in life's darkest hours because God is with him. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life. . ."

RUSSELL STELLWAGON

Stellwagon To Tell Of Jap Missions

At the concluding session of the church-wide school of missions, 7 o'clock, Sunday night, Rev. Russell Stellwagon, missionary home on furlough, will bring the devotional message at McGuire Methodist church.

Mr. Stellwagon is a native of Monroe, the grandson of the late Dr. Rowe Henry, dentist. While in the Navy, he came under conviction and accepted Christ. His four of duty gave him opportunity to observe the needs of other peoples; and to the Japanese people he dedicated his life.

After two years in Bob Jones University, and one semester in Northwestern at Minneapolis, Minn., he was sent out by the Evangelical Missionary Alliance to Japan in Sept., 1951. His work was confined to the Nagano Prefecture in Central Japan. While there for his first term he published a Missionary Language Handbook, and a song book for children, and carried on the regular evangelistic endeavors in a vicinity of 150,000 people. He was associated with a Japanese national couple in his work during his term. During his absence his assignment is being carried by this Japanese husband and wife.

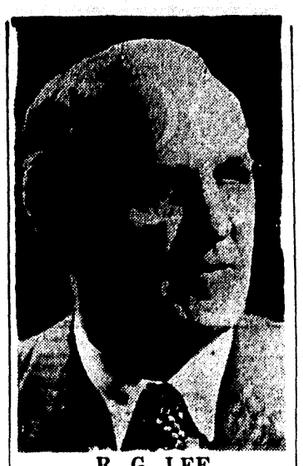

While home on furlough, Mr. Stellwagon has spoken in churches in five states. His plan calls for a return to Japan in April, 1958.

At McGuire Sunday evening he will speak on the general theme, "Japan Needs Jesus." The public is invited to hear this missionary.

0. Eccles. 5:10. He who loves money will not be satisified with money; nor he who loves wealth, with gain: this also is vanity.
1. Is. 16:5. A throne will be established in steadfast love and on it will sit one who judges and seeks justice and is swift to do righteousness.
2. Eccles. 3:1, 3. For everything there is a season, a time to break down, and a time to build up.
3. Prov. 12:20. Those who plan good have joy.
4. Prov. 13:10. By insolence the heedless make strife, but with those who take advice is wisdom.

R. G. LEE

Dr. Rob't Lee Will Lead In Revival Here

Dr. Robert Green Lee, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist Church, in Memphis, Tenn., and internationally known as a dynamic speaker will conduct revival services at the College Place Baptist Church beginning February 23. Dr. Lee, at one time, was pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans.

For the past 30 years he has been pastor of the great Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis. This church has a membership of more than 9,000.

The public is cordially invited to all the services during the week of February 23 through March 2.

Methodists Aid Missions With Big Sum

The Methodist Church in 1957 both received and paid out more money for mission work at home and overseas than in any previous year, the board of missions treasurers report. They announce that the board and its three administrative divisions had a record income of $25,779,279 for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957. Within that year, the board and divisions disbursed a record total of $25,206,494.

This composite missions report is made jointly by H. Conwell Snoke, Philadelphia, treasurer of the board and of the division of national missions; Miss Marguerite Harris, New York, treasurer of the woman's division of Christian service, and the Rev. H. Burnham Kirkland, New York, treasurer of the division of world missions.

Income Increase 12 Per Cent

The increase in income was 12 per cent, or $2,829,324 above fiscal 1956, the previous record year when receipts were $22,949,955. Disbursements were $1,944,146 above the record $23,262,348 paid out in fiscal 1956. Almost the entire increase came from greater missionary giving by Methodist members.

The report shows that disbursements for Methodist and interdenominational mission work in 50 countries overseas reached a record high of $13,100,149 in 1957, up $1,500,897 over 1956. Disbursements for overseas missions accounted for 52 per cent of all expenditures.

For home mission work in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, the board and the two divisions paid out $8,857,060. That amonut accounted for 35 per cent of all disbursements and was an increase of $154,342 over 1956.

Money for Overseas

Money for overseas work is disbursed by the world division and by the department of work in foreign fields of the woman's division. Home missions work is spent by the national division and by the department of work in home fields of the woman's division.

The rise in income came almost entirely because of increased missionary giving by Methodist people through denominational channels, the treasurers report. The largest single increase was from the "Advance," a special financial program whereby individual Methodist churches or church groups support missionaries or mission projects of their own choosing. This "personalized" missionary giving rose 37 per cent from $3,809,515 in 1956 to $5,185,962 last year. The "Advance," to which an estimated 20,000 Methodist churches contribute, supports work of both the national and world divisions. It was the third largest source of board income, accounting for 20 per cent of all receipts.

Charles Flurry To Speak Here

Emmanuel Baptist Church is planning for the redecoration of the church auditorium. Part of the work is finished and the rest will be done weather permitting. Plans call for a new roof and interior and exterior painting.

The church is also preparing for a revival with the Rev. Charles Flurry, youth director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic foundation. He is one of the states most popular leaders and speakers. He was trained both in America and abroad. His vision is for a better America for the youth of today and tomorrow. Plans contemplate his lecturing while here at the Ouachita High School, Neville High School and West Monroe High on the topics of alcohol and narcotics control.

He is regarded as authority on these subjects and appears at many high schools in the state. He will be main speaker at the youth rally during the week of the revival April 7-13 in Monroe.

Lady Of Fatima Lenten Services

Father George Martinez, pastor of Our Lady of Fatima parish, announces Lenten services for the coming week as follows:

Ash Wednesday masses are 6:30 and 8 a.m. Ashes will be distributed after each of the morning masses and again after Ash Wednesday evening services at 7:30 p.m.

Lenten services during Lent, each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Stations of the Cross on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Brotherhood Is Opening Series

One of 16 meetings planned and promoted by the state Baptist convention of Louisiana Brotherhood was held at College Place Baptist Church last Thursday. Approximately 250 men, Brotherhood members, attended a night session.

Luther Barney of Ridge church led the song service and directed the male chorus. Devotional was led by Rev. E. A. Burgess. Fred Forester, state Brotherhood secretary, delivered a challenging message on "What Men Can Do in the 30,000 new Preaaching Stations."

George Vaughn had charge of refreshments served by the host church.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL HELD

A successful revival has been in progress at the Church of God, corner of Georgia and Reed streets in Monroe. The final service has been set for tonight at this church, and a good-sized attendance is anticipated.

The evangelist has been Harold Moore of Blythe, Ark., and the church pastor states that the attendance and interest have been sustained for the past more than a week at all services.

YOU'll FIND FAITH. . . . .PEACE. . .. HOPE

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Do you think a Christian should ever sanction force? D. S.

ANSWER: Not only do I think that Christians should sanction force but every Christian who lives in America today sanctions force every day. Wherever there are police and sheriff's departments, there is a sanction of force. Without them any community would be engulfed in lawlessness within a few hours. The Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Roman Christians says: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powefs. For there is no power but of God: the powers that are ordained of God." He goes on to say, in speaking of those in authority: "For he is a minister of God to thee for good . . . for he beareth not the sword in vain; for he is a minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." This does not mean that those who enforce the law are necessarily Christians. It does mean that the power they rightly exercise comes from God. The same principle which sanctions and makes necessary the maintaining of a local police force to enforce order and restrain evil men carries over into the international field where evil men and nations have to be restrained. The armed forces of America are not maintained for national aggrandizement. Rather they are kept strong as deterrent against those who would act as international criminals. For a Christian to say he is unwilling to sanction force would entail the necessity of doing away with law and order and those who enforce it.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
North Second at Auburn
"Soul is the subject of the Lesson—Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 16, 1958.
The golden text is: "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation" (Isa. 25:9).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson - sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him" (Lam. 3:25).
The lesson - sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul, or spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image."

Ike Joins Man In The Street Worrying About Economy

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Americans, from President Eisenhower to the man in the street, showed concern this week over the rising tide of unemployment.

Consumers slowed their buying in department and specialty stores. Retailers in some areas blamed news of layoffs and the frigid weather.

In Washington, the administration pored over figures on business and employment as it was last month, then stepped up its antirecession campaign.

One statistic stood out. Four and one-half million Americans were jobless, the largest total in eight years after the biggest monthly rise in unemployment since the depression in the 30s.

With many business indicators pointing lower, the President made two further moves to help check the recession.

He disclosed a two-billion-dollar program to build new post offices in the next three to five years. He also forecast that March will see "the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy and the start of a pickup in job opportunities."

The statement was clearly an effort to bolster consumer and business confidence. It came in the wake of reports that automobile sales fell considerably below expectations in January, which many regarded as a sign consumers had become more cautious.

Some economists disagreed with the prediction that improvement should start next month. Dr. Marcus Nadler of New York University said the slump may drag on through the rest of the year.

Philip M. Talbott, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, completed a nine-week, coast-to-coast tour for his organization and predicted an upturn about June.

"The President's forecast was possibly a little overexuberant as to timing," said Talbott.

Eleven Democratic governors sent a telegram to the President, asking for "a practical program" to stop "the growing national recession." Some Republicans called the telegram a political move.

Democratic lawmakers in Washington continued to talk about a possible tax cut to give the economy a shot-in-the-arm such as it received in the 1953-54 recession. There still were no concrete indications a cut would be forthcoming.

Much of the week's news was of a bearish nature. Layoffs and furloughs were announced by railroads, aircraft manufacturers, auto, metal, glass and rubber companies. Here and there a company rehired some workers.

Westinghouse Electric dropped plans to furlough 250 workers at its Columbus, Ohio, appliance plant and put into effect a four-day week instead.

Union Carbide Corp, halted construction of its multi-million dollar office and research facilities in Eastview, N.Y., north of New York City, because of "worsening business conditions." Foundation work already was completed.

The oil industry still was troubled by excess inventories, reflected in lower prices for some refined products. M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) called on petroleum companies to make a further cut in crude oil processing.

Automotive output moved up slightly this week but lagged 24 per cent below a year ago. Railroad freight car loadings trailed last year by 20 per cent.

Despite a slight gain in orders, steel mills were at 54 per cent of capacity.

UPS AND DOWNS

Cotton Price Runs Irregular Pattern

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 — Cotton futures prices moved somewhat irregularly last week, ending the week 20 cents a bale lower to $3.55 a bale higher on the New York Cotton Exchange. Nearby March was the only month showing a loss.

At their best levels of the week all active months from October 1958 through July 1959 were at new life of contract highs.

The nearer deliveries tended to be suppressed during the week by reports of slow business in the spot and goods markets and by possibility of a fair number of notices being issued against the March contract.

Meanwhile, the new crop months moved higher on demand stimulated by fading prospects of any new farm legislation being enacted in time to affect the 1958 crop and by the higher loan rate in prospect for next season.

Current indications are the loan rate for middling inch upland cotton at average locations next season will be the highest on record. The opinion was expressed a high loan rate might result in heavy 1958 loan entries and that an even higher price level would be needed to induce repossessions.

It is estimated the loan rate for 1958 crop middling inch cotton at average locations will be at least 34.60 cents per pound as compared with this season's support price of 32.31 cents.

Attracting attention was a report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that through the close of last month cotton growers had signed applications offering to put a total of approximately 3,361,000 acres into the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank this year. If all indications signed by growers could be accepted maximum payments would approximate $186,251,000.

Exports of the staple by this country during the weekly period ended last Tuesday were larger than those of a week previous but were again rather well below those of a year previous. According to the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau, they approximated 165,000 bales versus 129,000 and 219,000 respectively. For the current season through Feb. 11, they have reached an estimated level of 3,168,000 bales vs. 4,072,000 to approximately the same time last season.

GSA Plans To Complete Buildings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The General Services Administration today said it is planned to have 92 leases-purchase federal building projects completed, under contract or at the bidding stage by Dec. 31, 1959.

These are the remaining 636 million dollars worth of projects listed as fully approved for lease-purchase construction under a 1954 law. The procedures for approving additional projects are not longer valid, due to expiration of the law last year, but President Eisenhower has asked Congress to reinstate the legislation.

Originally GSA announced approval of 98 projects for lease-purchase construction.

The program completely bogged down in 1956 due to the tight money market but is now picking up steam, with three financing and construciton contract awards having been announced since Jan. 31.

Private investors finance the projects, bidding on an interest rate basis to supply maximum possible money requirements for each project. The government repays the loan and interest over a period of years like rent, taking title to the building upon completion of the repayment. Meantime, the structure is on local tax rolls.

Financing offers that have been ruled "acceptable" have been received from 13 projects including:

Biloxi, Miss., $1,110,000 postoffice and courthouse.

Financing bids will be opened here Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 on another 14 projects. They include:

Jonesboro, La., $365,000 postoffice; Lake Charles, La., $2,075,000 postoffice and courthouse; Greenville, Miss., $1,200,000 postoffice and courthouse; Laurel, Miss., $829,000 postoffice.

The tentative schedule is to open construction bids on all those projects by April 15, provided "acceptable" financing proposals are received.

The remaining projects which it is planned to push by the end of 1959 include:

Little Rock, Ark., $9,150,000 federal office building; Lafayette, La., $1,095,000 postoffice; Minden, La., $412,000 postoffice; New Orleans, $19,670000 postoffice.

Mississippi Oil

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. is drilling one of the deepest wells in Mississippi history on the Jasper County side of the deep Soso field.

The venture, Soso unit tract No. 28-7, is below 17,000 feet and scheduled for 19,000 feet. Apparent commercial oil production has been logged in sands below 13,000 and 15,000 feet.

The Deepest production in the field is 12,200 feet.

Record drilling depth for Mississippi is 20,450 feet set by George Vasen in his abandoned Stone County wildcat Fee No. 1.

Other oil activity:

California Co. was scoring below 11,680 feet in the wildcat Central Oil Co. No. 1 in Simpson County.

The well logged small oil shows in top of the Rodessa zone and is scheduled to be drilled o 13,000 feet.

A second Simpson County wildcat, the Brown-Gaylord No. 1, was below 12,100 feet with no shows reported. The well is being drilled be Monterey Oil Co. and is contracted for 14,000 feet.

In Lawrence County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. was below 16,600 feet in the wildcat T.R. Sistrunk No. 1.

Contract depth is 17,000 feet. The well has logged uncommercial gas shows in a sand below 16,000 feet.

Shell Oil Co. has set surface casing in the Atkinson No. 1 well on the Pike County side of the Little Creek field. Contract depth is 11,000 feet.

Marshall R. Young is below 8,000 feet in the Lincoln County wildcat Williams No. 1 north of the Mallalieu field.

At Mallalieu, California Co. was below 11,780 feet in the field test, Board of Supervisors No. 1. Contract depth is 16,200 feet to explore deeper sands.

In Smith County, Larco Drilling Co. et al. is below 10,600 feet in the wildcat USA No. 1. Contract depth is 11,500 feet.

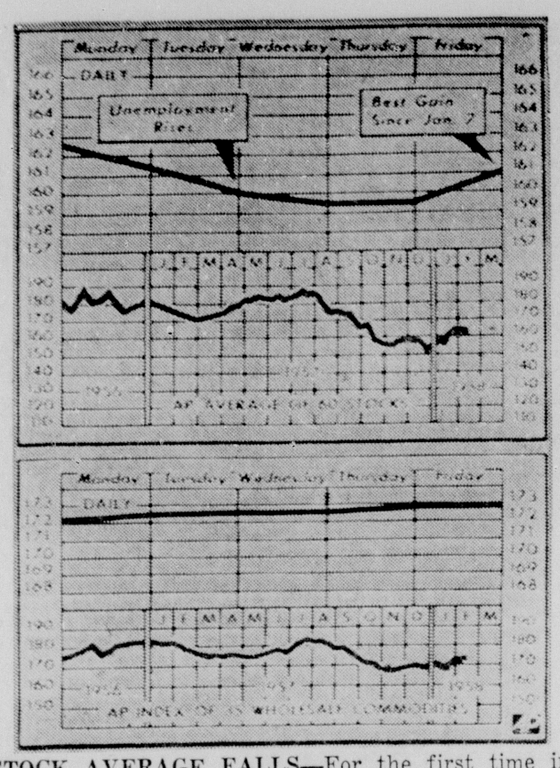

California Co. was below 8,800 feet in the Yazoo County wildcat Whitaker et al No. 1. Contract depth is 12,400 feet.

Union Producting Co. completed its Sims No. 3 well in the Tinsley field of Yazoo County. The well pumps 202 barrels of oil daily from a Woodruff sand at 4,953-87 feet.

Net Change In Grains Small

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP) —The prices of grain futures made their shifts mostly in big leaps and under strong influences this week, but the net results were small except in wheat and rye.

At the close of the week, wheat was 1⅞-4⅝ cents a bushel higher than a week ago, corn ⅛-1⅛ higher, oats ¼-½ higher, rye 1½-4¼ higher, soybeans 1⅞ lower to ⅜ higher, and lard 5 cents a hundrde pounds lower to 37 cents higher.

STOCK AVERAGE FALLS—For the first time in five weeks, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined, closing at 161.0 from 162.6 a week earlier. Led by livestock the commodity index pushed higher for the second week in a row, closing at 172.9 from 172.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

WEEK OF DECLINE

Tide Runs Out On 1958 Market Rise

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — tide ran out on the stock market's early 1958 rise this week. Stocks declined on average for the first time in five weeks.

The series of declining markets that began Feb. 5 ran for six straight sessions until Thursday. That was an inconclusive day.

On Friday, at long last, came a recovery from an oversold condition. This was a technical snapback, primarily, because the business and economic news was quite mixed. The advance was the best since Jan. 7 and the third best of this young year.

Fairly sharp losses Monday and Tuesday and a modest retreat on Wednesday left no doubt as to where the market would finish.

The Associated Press average fell $1.60 during the week to $161.

The falling market bit deeply into the gains made since the end of 1957 but prices on average were still in the black for '58.

Consumer - type stocks such as drugs, tobaccos and foods did all right while the blue chips dropped. The theory is that even during a recession when the big industrials are cutting back and the rails have less coal, iron and other bulk to carry, the consumer goes right on eating, smoking and taking medicine.

Helped by record earnings for such firms as Parke, Davis and Schering, drugs shares stepped ahead briskly. Parke, Davis advanced 5¼, Schring 1⅝, Merck 1⅝ and Rexall ⅜.

Tobaccos found great favor. Lorillard rose 4½. Philip Morris was up 1⅞.

The market was depressed by news that January unemployment had produced the biggest rise since the war. The market also had to reckon with news of plant shutdowns, layoffs and news of lower prices for copper and crude oil. President Eisenhower's expression of confidence that the economic downtrend is about over provided no lift to the market.

The five most active issues this week were Royal Dutch off ¼ at 39⅞, Lorillard, up 4½ at 42½, Raytheon up ⅞ at 27⅞, Standard Oil (New Jersey) off ⅜ at 49⅞ and U.S. Steel, up ½ at 57⅛.

U.S. government bonds improved with long range issues leading the way in the bond market.

Demo Council Raps Effort To Boost Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council today denounced administration spending plans as too skimpy and as based on erroneous economic grounds.

It said from 9 to 12 billion dollars more than the estimated $38,900,000,000 provided this year could be spent for defense alone over the next three years "without undue strain on our economy." This, it added, could prove to be the difference between "national security and national disaster."

Expanded federal nondefense programs also could be afforded, the council said, if wise national policies are followed to induce a normal annual increase in the gross national product — total output of goods and services.

"Continuation of current taxl rates," it said, "would yield sufficient revenue to help offset the inflationary impact of the additional expenditures and should effect a balance in the federal government's budget." Continuing, the council said:

"If it is contended that the assumption that the gross national product will steadily increase is contrary to the realities of the present recession, we answer that so are the assumptions of the President's budget and economic report that hopefully expect an upturn in the rate of business activity the latter part of the year.

"Moreover, a higher level of federal expenditures for national security in the years ahead than is currently proposed would go far to make the upturn a reasonable anticipating rather than a vague hope."

The council, composed of 14 members of the Democratic National Committee's executive committee, plus former President Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson and eight others, approved the statement.

Major Research Needed To Boost Crude Reserves

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Major and unusual scientific advances will be required to assure adequate supplies of petroleum for industry, defense and civilian life "even in the near future," the Bureau of Mines told Congress this week.

"A comprehensive program of petroleum production research is more urgent now than it ever has been before," the bureau said, asking funds for research.

The bureau told a House Appropriations subcommittee new new methods of stimulating oil production, greater recovery of underground oil and increased efficiency in transportation and storage are of vital importance to national defense and the public welfare.

Director M. J. Ankeny of the bureau said an increase of 70 per cent in demand for oil in a decade, together with a decrease in the same period of more than 50 per cent in the quantity of oil found per foot of well drilled, shows domestic production cannot meet the entire demand of the future.

Importation of oil is uncertain, especially in times of emergency, he testified.

The bureau said the purpose of its oil shale research work at Laramie, Wyo., is to "lay a scientific foundation for the oil shale production that will be required by the nation in the future."

The Interior Department Office of Oil and Gas reported to the committee that geological survey officials estimate the ultimate recoverable reserves of Petroleum in the United States, including those offshore, at 200 billion to 300 billion barrels.

This means, the report said, that an estimated 112 billion to 212 billion barrels of new oil remains to be discovered.

FEAR GAS BILL DEAD

Gas Industry In Severe Setback By GOP Dinner

By EDWARD JAMIESON
World Correspondent

WASHINGTON (Special) — The American Oil and natural gas industries, which have had rough sledding in Washington during the past few years, are likely to find the going even more rugged during the next several months.

Repercussions from the nationwide publicity given the "appreciation" dinner for House Republican leader and former Speaker Joseph Martin in Houston last Monday night have not quieted down yet. Unfortunate wording of the invitation to the $100-a-plate dinner, designed to raise funds for the Republican congressional campaign this year, and also the dinner's program, in which Texas GOP committeeman, H. J. Porter pointed to Martin's past and potential future help for legislation sought by the two industries, was a serious shock to members from the major producing states.

As of now, results of the dinner story appear likely to:

1. Defeat the Harris - O'Hara natural gas bill, designed to eliminate federal utility - type price control of natural gas at the producing level, as ordered by the United States Supreme Court in 1954.

2. Increase the number of members in both the Senate and House favoring amendments to the existing tax law reducing the percentage depletion allowance granted oil and gas producers for income tax computation purposes from 27½ to 15 per cent.

3. Become involved in forthcoming arguments of domestic oil producers for mandatory controls of excessive foreign oil imports, either by executive order or an amendment to the reciprocal trade agreements extens on bill.

Fate of the gas bill, which has not had too much chance since it was reported by the House interstate commerce committee last summer, is still undecided, but chances of its passage in the House in light of this week's developments are dim, to say the least.

Speaker Sam Rayburn who had originally scheduled a show-down vote in the House on the bill during the last week in February, now indicates he will wait for awhile before deciding when or if the bill will be brought up.

The Houston dinner episode did not arouse enough additional opposition to the present depletion allowance for oil and gas producers to threaten a change this year, but it seems to have added a few more supporters for the move.

Senator John J. Williams (R-Del.) announced that he will offer his amendment cutting the rate to fifteen per cent of the bill passed by the House last year making some minor technical changes in the tax laws. While he admits that he has no hope that the Senate will adopt his amendment, he declared that he has enough promises from other senators on his side to force a roll - call vote on the amendment. Normally, to get a roll - call vote in the Senate, at least fifteen senators would have to go along with Williams. Williams has been pressing his amendment for several years, but up to this time has been unable to get enough support to force a roll - call.

On the import quota question, members of Congress from the producing states are still hopeful that the president's special cabinet committee, headed by secretary of commerce Sinclair Weeks, will shortly decide to impose mandatory controls under section seven of the reciprocal trade agreements act. Following several meetings of the cabinet group, during which they conferred with executives of the top American oil companies importing foreign oil. Weeks announced that the problem is extremely serious, but refused to make any commitment as to future government action.

If the cabinet committee fails to take positive action, representatives of domestic producers plan to go before the House Ways and Means committee shortly and urge an amendment to the reciprocal trade agreements act which would impose rigid quotas on oil imports. They have already been promised help on such an amendment by members from the coal producing areas, as well as those from states and districts seeking government protection against other commodity imports while hearings on the trade extension bill start before the house committee Monday, they are expected to continue for several weeks and representatives of the domestic oil producers plan to wait for a time, in hope that some final decision will be reached by the administration before the committee finally starts writing the new bill.

Gas Controversy's History Is Stormy

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The new controversy over a natural gas bill in Congress is another stormy chapter in the turbulent history of the legislation.

Charges and countercharges, close votes, sensational headlines and vetoes have figured prominently since 1947 in efforts to have the 20-year-old natural gas act amended and clarified.

Proposed changes in 1947, 1949, 1950, 1955, 1956 and 1957 required considerable attention from Congress, but only two bills reached the White House. Both were vetoed. Both would have removed wellhead prices of natural gas from federal regulation.

The Harris-O'Hara bill that became a political sorepoint this week was designed as a compromise to bring opposing producer and consumer factions together. It would recognize Federal Power Commission authority to regulate but would remove producers from utility-type controls.

A 1954 Supreme Court ruling altered the oil industry's strategy on the various proposals.

The court held the Federal Power Commission has authority to regulate gas prices in the field.

Prior to the court ruling, members of the FPC could not agree on whether the 1958 natural gas act gave them such authority.

Gas producers meanwhile contended no such authority existed under the original act. They sought congressional clarification, in effect, as a precautionary measure. After the 1954 court ruling, however, the producers began seeking remedial instead of precautionary action.

Former Rep. Ross Rizley (R-Okla) led the 1947 fight and received voice approval on final passage in the House. But the bill died when a Senate committee turned it down with a 9-4 vote.

Senator Robert Kerr (D-Okla) headed the 1949-50 fight with a bill opposed by three of the five members of FPC.

The House on Aug. 5, 1949 gave approval, 183-131, with 93 Democrats and 90 Republicans voting in favor. Opposing the measure were 97 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

The Senate committee gave a 7-5 endorsement on June 4, 1949, but two weeks of floor debate did not begin until March 16, 1950. The bill was approved, 44-38, drawing support from 28 Democrats and 16 Republicans. The opposition included 16 Democrats and 22 Republicans.

On March 31, 1950, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) supported the bill from the floor as the House sent the measure to the White House by adopting Senate changes, 176-174. Voting in favor were 97 Democrats and 79 Republicans. Voting against were 115 Democrats, 58 Republicans, and one American-Labor.

President Truman on April 15 vetoed the bill, saying authority to regulate was necessary to the public interest.

The next serious attempt came in 1955.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) squeezed through a House committee, 16-15, on June 28 and the House gave approval, 209-203, on July 28. The bill drew support from 86 Democrats and 123 Republicans. It was opposed by 136 Democrats and 67 Republicans.

After three weeks of debate, the Senate gave final approval, 53-38, on Feb. 6, 1956. Support came from 22 Democrats and 31 Republicans. Voting against were 24 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

On Feb. 19 President Eisenhower said he approved the Harris bill in principal but found it necessary to veto the bill because of "arrogant" lobbying activities by a small segment of the oil industry.

Harris submitted his new bill last year and guided it through another close committee vote, 15-13, last July 9. Senate committee studies have not begun, and floor action in the House is not expected until next month.

96 MILLION GAS APPLIANCES IN USE TODAY

SOURCE: AMERICAN GAS ASSOCIATION

More than 96 million gas appliances are currently in use in the United States for cooking, heating, air conditioning, clothes drying, refrigeration, water, heating, and incineration. The nation's 36 million gas-using families—28 million served by utility gas and the remainder by LP or bottled gas—average nearly three appliances each.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

DIRECTOR

At a meeting on Wednesday of the Board of Directors of Tensas State Bank, Newellton, Jack P. Mabray was named to the board to succeed the late T. T. Hargrove. Mabray is a prominent planter and business man of Newellton.

Another named to a new position was Frank R. Burnside, board member, who was elected vice-president of the bank. The appointment of Mabray to the board and the elevation of Burnside to the vice-presidency are evidence of the consistent policy of the bank to serve the public to its best capacity and with the soundest of financial practices.

MAGNETIC STEERING FOR THOSE WHO CAN'T STAY ON THE ROAD—Jeanne Powers of General Motors Research staff takes her hands off the steering wheel while negotiating a banked curve to demonstrate automatic steering by a magnetic path produced by a cable built into the center of the road. The pickup coils mounted on each side of the license plate are tuned to the cable and feed in voltage variations to an electric computer in the glove compartment, which gives "command" signals to the car's power steering unit and keeps the auto on the magnetic path in center of the highway lane. To turn off the road or pass, the driver touches a switch which cuts the car back into the manual steering system. GM said the system is still in the research stage. (AP Wirephoto)

Ike Joins Man In The Street Worrying About Economy

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — Americans, from President Eisenhower to the man in the street, showed concern this week over the rising tide of unemployment.

Consumers slowed their buying in department and specialty stores. Retailers in some areas blamed news of layoffs and the frigid weather.

In Washington, the administration pored over figures on business and employment as it was last month, then stepped up its antirecession campaign.

One statistic stood out. Four and one-half million Americans were jobless, the largest total in eight years after the biggest monthly rise in unemployment since the depression in the 30s.

With many business indicators pointing lower, the President made two further moves to help check the recession.

He disclosed a two-billion-dollar program to build new post offices in the next three to five years. He also forecast that March will see "the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy and the start of a pickup in job opportunities."

The statement was clearly an effort to bolster consumer and business confidence. It came in the wake of reports that automobile sales fell considerably below expectations in January, which many regarded as a sign consumers had become more cautious.

Some economists disagreed with the prediction that improvement should start next month. Dr. Marcus Nadler of New York University said the slump may drag on through the rest of the year.

Philip M. Talbott, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, completed a nine-week, coast-to-coast tour for his organization and predicted an upturn about June.

"The President's forecast was possibly a little overexuberant as to timing," said Talbott.

Eleven Democratic governors sent a telegram to the President, asking for "a practical program" to stop "the growing national recession." Some Republicans called the telegram a political move.

Democratic lawmakers in Washington continued to talk about a possible tax cut to give the economy a shot-in-the-arm such as it received in the 1953-54 recession. There still were no concrete indications a cut would be forthcoming.

Much of the week's news was of a bearish nature. Layoffs and furloughs were announced by railroads, aircraft manufacturers, auto, metal, glass and rubber companies. Here and there a company rehired some workers.

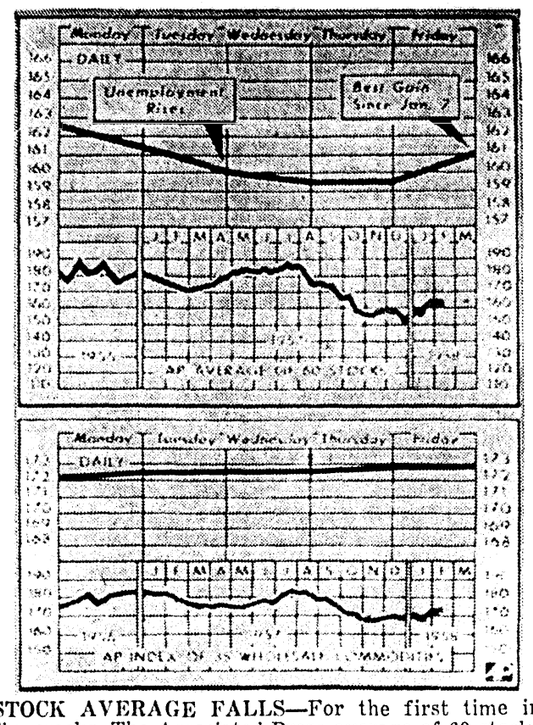

Westinghouse Electric dropped plans to furlough 250 workers at its Columbus, Ohio, appliance plant and put into effect a four-day week instead.

Union Carbide Corp, halted construction of its multi-million dollar office and research facilities in Eastview, N.Y., north of New York City, because of "worsening business conditions." Foundation work already was completed.

The oil industry still was troubled by excess inventories, reflected in lower prices for some refined products. M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) called on petroleum companies to make a further cut in crude oil processing.

Automotive output moved up slightly this week but lagged 24 per cent below a year ago. Railroad freight car loadings trailed last year by 20 per cent.

Despite a slight gain in orders, steel mills were at 54 per cent of capacity.

STOCK AVERAGE FALLS—For the first time in five weeks, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined, closing at 161.0 from 162.6 a week earlier. Led by livestock the commodity index pushed higher for the second week in a row, closing at 172.9 from 172.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

FEAR GAS BILL DEAD

Gas Industry In Severe Setback By GOP Dinner

By EDWARD JAMIESON
World Correspondent

WASHINGTON (Special) — The American Oil and natural gas industries, which have had rough sledding in Washington during the past few years, are likely to find the going even more rugged during the next several months.

Repercussions from the nationwide publicity given the "appreciation" dinner for House Republican leader and former Speaker Joseph Martin in Houston last Monday night have not quieted down yet. Unfortunate wording of the invitation to the $100-a-plate dinner, designed to raise funds for the Republican congressional campaign this year, and also the dinner's program, in which Texas GOP committeeman, H. J. Porter pointed to Martin's past and potential future help for legislation sought by the two industries, was a serious shock to members from the major producing states.

As of now, results of the dinner story appear likely to:

1. Defeat the Harris - O'Hara natural gas bill, designed to eliminate federal utility - type price control of natural gas at the producing level, as ordered by the United States Supreme Court in 1954.

2. Increase the number of members in both the Senate and House favoring amendments to the existing tax law reducing the percentage deplet on allowance granted oil and gas producers for income tax computation purposes from 27½ to 15 per cent.

3. Become involved in forthcoming arguments of domestic oil producers for mandatory controls of excessive foreign oil imports, either by executive order or an amendment to the reciprocal trade agreements extens on bill.

Fate of the gas bill, which has not had too much chance since it was reported by the House interstate commerce committee last summer, is still undecided, but chances of its passage in the House in light of this week's developments are dim, to say the least.

Speaker Sam Rayburn who had originally scheduled a show-down vote in the House on the bill during the last week in February, now indicates he will wait for awhile before deciding when or if the bill will be brought up.

The Houston dinner episode did not arouse enough additional opposition to the present depletion allowance for oil and gas producers to threaten a change this year, but it seems to have added a few more supporters for the move.

Senator John J. Williams (R-Del.) announced that he will offer his amendment cutting the rate to fifteen per cent of the bill passed by the House last year making some minor technical changes in the tax laws. While he admits that he has no hope that the Senate will adopt his amendment, he declared that he has enough promises from other senators on his side to force a roll - call vote on the amendment. Normally, to get a roll - call vote in the Senate, at least fifteen senators would have to go along with Williams. Williams has been pressing his amendment for several years, but up to this time has been unable to get enough support to force a roll - call.

On the import quota question, members of Congress from the producing states are still hopeful that the president's special cabinet committee, headed by secretary of commerce Sinclair Weeks, will shortly decide to impose mandatory controls under section seven of the reciprocal trade agreements act. Following several meetings of the cabinet group, during which they conferred with executives of the top American oil companies importing foreign oil. Weeks announced that the problem is extremely serious, but refused to make any commitment as to future government action.

If the cabinet committee fails to take positive action, representatives of domestic producers plan to go before the House Ways and Means committee shortly and urge an amendment to the reciprocal trade agreements act which would impose rigid quotas on oil imports. They have already been promised help on such an amendment by members from the coal producing areas, as well as those from states and districts seeking government protection against other commodity imports while hearings on the trade extension bill start before the house committee Monday, they are expected to continue for several weeks and representatives of the domestic oil producers plan to wait for a time, in hope that some final decision will be reached by the administration before the committee finally starts writing the new bill.

Gas Controversy's History Is Stormy

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The new controversy over a natural gas bill in Congress is another stormy chapter in the turbulent history of the legislation.

Charges and countercharges, close votes, sensational headlines and vetoes have figured prominently since 1947 in efforts to have the 20-year-old natural gas act amended and clarified.

Proposed changes in 1947, 1949, 1950, 1955, 1956 and 1957 required considerable attention from Congress, but only two bills reached the White House. Both were vetoed. Both would have removed wellhead prices of natural gas from federal regulation.

The Harris-O'Hara bill that became a political sorepoint this week was designed as a compromise to bring opposing producer and consumer factions together. It would recognize Federal Power Commission authority to regulate but would remove producers from utility-type controls.

A 1954 Supreme Court ruling altered the oil industry's strategy on the various proposals.

The court held the Federal Power Commission has authority to regulate gas prices in the field.

Prior to the court ruling, members of the FPC could not agree on whether the 1938 natural gas act gave them such authority.

Gas producers meanwhile contended no such authority existed under the original act. They sought congressional clarification, in effect, as a precautionary measure. After the 1954 court ruling, however, the producers began seeking remedial instead of precautionary action.

Former Rep. Ross Rizley (R-Okla) led the 1947 fight and received voice approval on final passage in the House. But the bill died when a Senate committee turned it down with a 9-4 vote.

Senator Robert Kerr (D-Okla) headed the 1949-50 fight with a bill opposed by three of the five members of FPC.

The House on Aug. 5, 1949 gave approval, 183-131, with 93 Democrats and 90 Republicans voting in favor. Opposing the measure were 97 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

The Senate committee gave a 7-5 endorsement on June 4, 1949, but two weeks of floor debate did not begin until March 16, 1950. The bill was approved, 44-38, drawing support from 28 Democrats and 16 Republicans. The opposition included 16 Democrats and 22 Republicans.

On March 31, 1950, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) supported the bill from the floor as the House sent the measure to the White House by adopting Senate changes, 176-174. Voting in favor were 97 Democrats and 79 Republicans. Voting against were 115 Democrats, 58 Republicans, and one American-Labor.

President Truman on April 15 vetoed the bill, saying authority to regulate was necessary to the public interest.

The next serious attempt came in 1955.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) squeezed through a House committee, 16-15, on June 28 and the House gave approval, 209-203, on July 28. The bill drew support from 86 Democrats and 123 Republicans. It was opposed by 136 Democrats and 67 Republicans.

After three weeks of debate, the Senate gave final approval, 53-38, on Feb. 6, 1956. Support came from 22 Democrats and 31 Republicans. Voting against were 24 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

On Feb. 19 President Eisenhower said he approved the Harris bill in principal but found it necessary to veto the bill because of "arrogant" lobbying activities by a small segment of the oil industry.

Harris submitted his new bill last year and guided it through another close committee vote, 15-13, last July 9. Senate committee studies have not begun, and floor action in the House is not expected until next month.

UPS AND DOWNS

Cotton Price Runs Irregular Pattern

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 — Cotton futures prices moved somewhat irregularly last week, ending the week 20 cents a bale lower to $3.55 a bale higher on the New York Cotton Exchange. Nearby March was the only month showing a loss.

At their best levels of the week all active months from October 1958 through July 1959 were at new life of contract highs.

The nearer deliveries tended to be suppressed during the week by reports of slow business in the spot and goods markets and by possibility of a fair number of notices being issued against the March contract.

Meanwhile, the new crop months moved higher on demand stimulated by fading prospects of any new farm legislation being enacted in time to affect the 1958 crop and by the higher loan rate in prospect for next season.

Current indications are the loan rate for middling inch upland cotton at average locations next season will be the highest on record. The opinion was expressed a high loan rate might result in heavy 1958 loan entries and that an even higher price level would be needed to induce repossessions.

It is estimated the loan rate for 1958 crop middling inch cotton at average locations will be at least 34.60 cents per pound as compared with this season's support price of 32.31 cents.

Attracting attention was a report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that through the close of last month cotton growers had signed applications offering to put a total of approximately 3,361,000 acres into the acreage reserve portion of the soil bank this year. If all indications signed by growers could be accepted maximum payments would approximate $186,251,000.

Exports of the staple by this country during the weekly period ended last Tuesday were larger than those of a week previous but were again rather well below those of a year previous. According to the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau, they approximated 165,000 bales versus 129,000 and 219,000 respectively. For the current season through Feb. 11, they have reached an estimated level of 3,168,000 bales vs. 4,072,000 to approximately the same time last season.

GSA Plans To Complete Buildings

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The General Services Administration today said it is planned to have 92 leases-purchase federal building projects completed, under contract or at the bidding stage by Dec. 31, 1959.

These are the remaining 636 million dollars worth of projects listed as fully approved for lease-purchase construction under a 1954 law. The procedures for approving additional projects are not longer valid, due to expiration of the law last year, but President Eisenhower has asked Congress to reinstate the legislation.

Originally GSA announced approval of 98 projects for lease-purchase construction.

The program completely bogged down in 1956 due to the tight money market but is now picking up steam, with three financing and construciton contract awards having been announced since Jan. 31.

Private investors finance the projects, bidding on an interest rate basis to supply maximum possible money requirements for each project. The government repays the loan and interest over a period of years like rent, taking title to the building upon completion of the repayment. Meantime, the structure is on local tax rolls.

Financing offers that have been ruled "acceptable" have been received from 13 projects including:

Biloxi, Miss., $1,110,000 postoffice and courthouse.

Financing bids will be opened here Feb. 25, 26, 27 and 28 on another 14 projects. They include:

Jonesboro, La., $365,000 postoffice; Lake Charles, La., $2,075,000 postoffice and courthouse: Greenville, Miss., $1,200,000 postoffice and courthouse; Laurel, Miss., $829,000 postoffice.

The tentative schedule is to open construction bids on all those projects by April 15, provided "acceptable" financing proposals are received.

The remaining projects which it is planned to push by the end of 1959 include:

Little Rock, Ark., $9,150,000 federal office building; Lafayette, La., $1,095,000 postoffice; Minden, La., $412,000 postoffice: New Orleans, $19,670000 postoffice.

Mississippi Oil

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. is drilling one of the deepest wells in Mississippi history on the Jasper County side of the deep Soso field.

The venture, Soso unit tract No. 28-7, is below 17,000 feet and scheduled for 19,000 feet. Apparent commercial oil production has been logged in sands below 13,000 and 15,000 feet.

The Deepest production in the field is 12,200 feet.

Record drilling depth for Mississippi is 20,450 feet set by George Vasen in his abandoned Stone County wildcat Fee No. 1.

Other oil activity:

California Co. was scoring below 11,620 feet in the wildcat Central Oil Co. No. 1 in Simpson County.

The well logged small oil shows in top of the Rodessa zone and is scheduled to be drilled o 13,000 feet.

A second Simpson County wildcat, the Brown-Gaylord No. 1, was below 12,100 feet with no shows reported. The well is being drilled be Monterey Oil Co. and is contracted for 14,000 feet.

In Lawrence County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. was below 16,600 feet in the wildcat T.R. Sistrunk No. 1.

Contract depth is 17,000 feet. The well has logged uncommercial gas shows in a sand below 16,000 feet.

Shell Oil Co. has set surface casing in the Atkinson No. 1 well on the Pike County side of the Little Creek field. Contract depth is 11,000 feet.

Marshall R. Young is below 8,000 feet in the Lincoln County wildcat Williams No. 1 north of the Mallalieu field.

At Mallalieu, California Co. was below 11,780 feet in the field test, Board of Supervisors No. 1. Contract depth is 16,200 feet to explore deeper sands.

In Smith County, Larco Drilling Co. et al. is below 10,600 feet in the wildcat USA No. 1. Contract depth is 11,500 feet.

California Co. was below 8,800 feet in the Yazoo County wildcat Whitaker et al No. 1. Contract depth is 12,400 feet.

Union Producting Co. completed its Sims No. 3 well in the Tinsley field of Yazoo County. The well pumps 202 barrels of oil daily from a Woodruff sand at 4,953-87 feet.

Net Change In Grains Small

CHICAGO, Feb. 15 (AP) —The prices of grain futures made their shifts mostly in big leaps and under strong influences this week, but the net results were small except in wheat and rye.

At the close of the week, wheat was 1⅞-4⅝ cents a bushel higher than a week ago, corn ⅛-1⅛ higher, oats ¼-½ higher, rye 1½-4¼ higher, soybeans 1⅞ lower to ⅜ higher, and lard 5 cents a hundrde pounds lower to 37 cents higher.

WEEK OF DECLINE

Tide Runs Out On 1958 Market Rise

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — tide ran out on the stock market's early 1958 rise this week. Stocks declined on average for the first time in five weeks.

The series of declining markets that began Feb. 5 ran for six straight sessions until Thursday. That was an inconclusive day.

On Friday, at long last, came a recovery from an oversold condition. This was a technical snapback, primarily, because the business and economic news was quite mixed. The advance was the best since Jan. 7 and the third best of this young year.

Fairly sharp losses Monday and Tuesday and a modest retreat on Wednesday left no doubt as to where the market would finish.

The Associated Press average fell $1.60 during the week to $161.

The falling market bit deeply into the gains made since the end of 1957 but prices on average were still in the black for '58.

Consumer - type stocks such as drugs, tobaccos and foods did all right while the blue chips dropped. The theory is that even during a recession when the big industrials are cutting back and the rails have less coal, iron and other bulk to carry, the consumer goes right on eating, smoking and taking medicine.

Helped by record earnings for such firms as Parke, Davis and Schering, drugs shares stepped ahead briskly. Parke, Davis advanced 5¼, Schring 1⅝, Merck 1⅝ and Rexall ⅞.

Tobaccos found great favor. Lorillard rose 4½. Philip Morris was up 1⅞.

The market was depressed by news that January unemployment had produced the biggest rise since the war. The market also had to reckon with news of plant shutdowns, layoffs and news of lower prices for copper and crude oil. President Eisenhower's expression of confidence that the economic downtrend is about over provided no lift to the market.

The five most active issues this week were Royal Dutch off ¼ at 39⅞, Lorillard, up 4½ at 42½, Raytheon up ⅞ at 27⅞, Standard Oil (New Jersey) off ⅜ at 49⅞ and U.S. Steel, up ⅛ at 57⅛.

U.S. government bonds improved with long range issues leading the way in the bond market.

Demo Council Raps Effort To Boost Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council today denounced administration spending plans as too skimpy and as based on erroneous economic grounds.

It said from 9 to 12 billion dollars more than the estimated $38,900,000,000 provided this year could be spent for defense alone over the next three years "without undue strain on our economy." This, it added, could prove to be the difference between "national security and national disaster."

Expanded federal nondefense programs also could be afforded, the council said, if wise national policies are followed to induce a normal annual increase in the gross national product — total output of goods and services.

"Continuation of current tax1 rates," it said, "would yield sufficient revenue to help offset the inflationary impact of the additional expenditures and should effect a balance in the federal government's budget." Continuing, the council said:

"If it is contended that the assumption that the gross national product will steadily increase is contrary to the realities of the present recession, we answer that so are the assumptions of the President's budget and economic report that hopefully expect an upturn in the rate of business activity the latter part of the year.

"Moreover, a higher level of federal expenditures for national security in the years ahead than is currently proposed would go far to make the upturn a reasonable anticipating rather than a vague hope."

The council, composed of 14 members of the Democratic National Committee's executive committee, plus former President Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson and eight others, approved the statement.

Major Research Needed To Boost Crude Reserves

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Major and unusual scientific advances will be required to assure adequate supplies of petroleum for industry, defense and civilian life "even in the near future," the Bureau of Mines told Congress this week.

"A comprehensive program of petroleum production research is more urgent now than it ever has been before," the bureau said, asking funds for research.

The bureau told a House Appropriations subcommittee new new methods of stimulating oil production, greater recovery of underground oil and, increased efficiency in transportation and storage are of vital importance to national defense and the public welfare.

Director M. J. Ankeny of the bureau said an increase of 70 per cent in demand for oil in a decade, together with a decrease in the same period of more than 50 per cent in the quantity of oil found per foot of well drilled, shows domestic production cannot meet the entire demand of the future.

Importation of oil is uncertain, especially in times of emergency, he testified.

The bureau said the purpose of its oil shale research work at Laramie, Wyo., is to "lay a scientific foundation for the oil shale production that will be required by the nation in the future."

The Interior Department Office of Oil and Gas reported to the committee that geological survey officials estimate the ultimate recoverable reserves of Petroleum in the United States, including those offshore, at 200 billion to 300 billion barrels.

This means, the report said, that an estimated 112 billion to 212 billion barrels of new oil remains to be discovered.

MAGNETIC STEERING FOR THOSE WHO CAN'T STAY ON THE ROAD—Jeanne Powers of General Motors Research staff takes her hands off the steering wheel while negotiating a banked curve to demonstrate automatic steering by a magnetic path produced by a cable built into the center of the road. The pickup coils mounted on each side of the license plate are tuned to the cable and feed in voltage variations to an electric computer in the glove compartment, which gives "command" signals to the car's power steering unit and keeps the auto on the magnetic path in center of the highway lane. To turn off the road or pass, the driver touches a switch which cuts the car back into the manual steering system. GM said the system is still in the research stage. (AP Wirephoto)

DIRECTOR ..

At a meeting on Wednesday of the Board of Directors of Tensas State Bank, Newellton, Jack P. Mabray was named to the board to succeed the late T. T. Hargrove. Mabray is a prominent planter and business man of Newellton.

Another named to a new position was Frank R. Burnside, board member, who was elected vice-president of the bank. The appointment of Mabray to the board and the elevation of Burnside to the vice-presidency are evidence of the consistent policy of the bank to serve the public to its best capacity and with the soundest of financial practices.

96 MILLION GAS APPLIANCES IN USE TODAY

SOURCE: AMERICAN GAS ASSOCIATION

More than 96 million gas appliances are currently in use in the United States for cooking, heating, air conditioning, clothes drying, refrigeration, water, heating, and incineration. The nation's 36 million gas-using families—28 million served by utility gas and the remainder by LP or bottled gas—average nearly three appliances each.

Bishop Martin Honored, Will Be Speaker

Bishop Paul E. Martin, Little Rock, head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Area of the Methodist Church, will delive. the Alexander Gustavus Brown Lectures at Randolph - Macon College in Ashland, Va., it was announced by President J. Earl Moreland. The lecture series to be held this year on Feb. 18-20 brings to this oldest Methodist related college outstanding ministers and churchmen to speak before students, faculty and guests.

The Alexander Gustavus Brown Foundation was established in 1942 by the gift of Dr. Alexander G. Brown, Jr., of Richmond, Va., an alumnus of the college, in honor of his father, Rev. Alexander G. Brown, D. D , a distinguished minister of the Virginia Conference, financial secretary of the college 1871-75, and a member of the board of trustees from 1871 until his death in 1900. The endowment of the Foundation was augmented in 1946 by a supplementary gift of the donor.

Bishop Martin will deliver three addresses, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, February 18, 19 and 20.

The 1957 Brown Lectures were given by Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University.

The Gideons Hold 5 State Meet In City

The International Order of The Gideons from the states of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi are today to end the annual convention with a good-sized attendance. Sessions were held in Hotel Virginia Friday and Saturday. The banquet held last night at 8:30 p.m. in the hotel was addressed by Mayor Jack Howard and special music by Garland Shell. O. T. Goldsmith, Houston, Tex., was the principal speaker.

This morning a number of pulpits of all faiths will have sermons delivered in both Monroe and West Monroe.

Women also participated and an Auxiliary meeting was held with Mrs. E. M. McKenzie, state chaplain, speaker at the Saturday morning session.

This religious group was founded by Christian commercial travelers July 1, 1899 at Janesville, Wis. Their most important and well known project is that of placing Bibles in each hotel room. It is reported that fully two million Bibles have been placed in hotel rooms in many countries on the globe.

The emblem of The Gideons is a two - handled pitcher and torch. The work is supported by free will offerings.

Trinity Church To Observe Lent

Trinity Lutheran congregation—300 D'Arbonne Ave. — will observe the season of Lent with special midweek Lenten vespers. Beginning Ash Wednesday, February 19, 7:30 p. m. the congregation will meet in worship to take note of outstanding occasions in the Passion History of our Lord Jesus.

The series of sermons shall be based upon questions and comments addressed to Christ during the period when He was suffering and dying for the sins of mankind.

Wednesday evening the pastor, Arthur Betz, will base his discourse upon the question of Peter addressed to his Savior: "Lord Shall We Smite With the Sword?"

Visitors are cordially invited to go with us in spirit from Gethsemane to Calvary and evaluate the inestimable price which Jesus paid in order that He might redeem sinners from satan to God.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 139:7—"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" PSALM 23:6—"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life." (King James Version)

* * *

A father, writing to a son serving overseas in the armed forces, closed his letter with these words: "Remember, my son, no one is ever far from God."

It seems that this faith must have been in the mind of the psalmist when he put down these words: "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" For these verses are not saying that God is a superpoliceman who keeps us under His eye. Rather they tell us that man cannot go where God is not.

Let faith be the sustaining factor in the living of these days, assuring us that as God has been with us in all our yesterdays, He will be with us in our unknown tomorrows. As an old saint of God put it: "O Lord, help me to understand that you won't let anything come my way that you and I can't handle together."

The man of faith finds strength and courage even in life's darkest hours because God is with him. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life. . ."

RUSSELL STELLWAGON

Stellwagon To Tell Of Jap Missions

At the concluding session of the church-wide school of missions, 7 o'clock, Sunday night, Rev. Russell Stellwagon, missionary home on furlough, will bring the devotional message at McGuire Methodist church.

Mr. Stellwagon is a native of Monroe, the grandson of the late Dr. Rowe Henry, dentist. While in the Navy, he came under conviction and accepted Christ. His tour of duty gave him opportunity to observe the needs of other peoples; and to the Japanese people he dedicated his life.

After two years in Bob Jones University, and one semester in Northwestern at Minneapolis, Minn., he was sent out by the Evangelical Missionary Alliance to Japan in Sept., 1951. His work was confined to the Nagano Prefecture in Central Japan. While there for his first term he published a Missionary Language Handbook, and a song book for children, and carried on the regular evangelistic endeavors in a vicinity of 150,000 people. He was associated with a Japanese national couple in his work during his term. During his absence his assignment is being carried by this Japanese husband and wife.

While home on furlough, Mr. Stellwagon has spoken in churches in five states. His plan calls for a return to Japan in April, 1958.

At McGuire Sunday evening he will speak on the general theme, "Japan Needs Jesus." The public is invited to hear this missionary.

Methodists Aid Missions With Big Sum

The Methodist Church in 1957 both received and paid out more money for mission work at home and overseas than in any previous year, the board of missions treasurers report. They announce that the board and its three administrative divisions had a record income of $25,779,279 for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957. Within that year, the board and divisions disbursed a record total of $25,206,494.

This composite missions report is made jointly by H. Conwell Snoke, Philadelphia, treasurer of the board and of the division of national missions; Miss Marguerite Harris, New York, treasurer of the woman's division of Christian service, and the Rev. H. Burnham Kirkland, New York, treasurer of the division of world missions.

Income Increase 12 Per Cent

The increase in income was 12 per cent, or $2,829,324 above fiscal 1956, the previous record year when receipts were $22,949,955. Disbursements were $1,944,146 above the record $23,262,348 paid out in fiscal 1956. Almost the entire increase came from greater missionary giving by Methodist members.

The report shows that disbursements for Methodist and interdenominational mission work in 50 countries overseas reached a record high of $13,100,149 in 1957, up $1,500,897 over 1956. Disbursements for overseas missions accounted for 52 per cent of all expenditures.

For home mission work in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, the board and the two divisions paid out $8,857,060. That amonut accounted for 35 per cent of all disbursements and was an increase of $154,342 over 1956.

Money for Overseas

Money for overseas work is disbursed by the world division and by the department of work in foreign fields of the woman's division. Home missions work is spent by the national division and by the department of work in home fields of the woman's division.

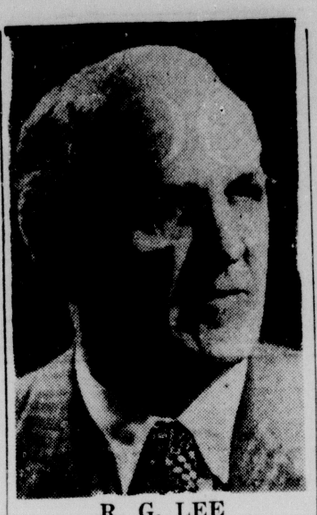

The rise in income came almost entirely because of increased missionary giving by Methodist people through denominational channels, the treasurers report. The largest single increase was from the "Advance," a special financial program whereby individual Methodist churches or church groups support missionaries or mission projects of their own choosing. This "personalized" missionary giving rose 37 per cent from $3,809,515 in 1956 to $5,185,962 last year. The "Advance," to which an estimated 20,000 Methodist churches contribute, supports work of both the national and world divisions. It was the third largest source of board income, accounting for 20 per cent of all receipts.

Charles Flurry To Speak Here

Emmanuel Baptist Church is planning for the redecoration of the church auditorium. Part of the work is finished and the rest will be done weather permitting. Plans call for a new roof and interior and exterior painting.

The church is also preparing for a revival with the Rev. Charles Flurry, youth director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic foundation. He is one of the states most popular leaders and speakers. He was trained both in America and abroad. His vision is for a better America for the youth of today and tomorrow. Plans contemplate his lecturing while here at the Ouachita High School, Neville High School and West Monroe High on the topics of alcohol and narcotics control.

He is regarded as authority on these subjects and appears at many high schools in the state. He will be main speaker at the youth rally during the week of the revival April 7-13 in Monroe.

R. G. LEE

Dr. Rob't Lee Will Lead In Revival Here

Dr. Robert Green Lee, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist Church, in Memphis, Tenn., and internationally known as a dynamic speaker will conduct revival services at the College Place Baptist Church beginning February 23. Dr. Lee, at one time, was pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans.

For the past 30 years he has been pastor of the great Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis. This church has a membership of more than 9,000.

The public is cordially invited to all the services during the week of February 23 through March 2.

Brotherhood Is Opening Series

One of 16 meetings planned and promoted by the state Baptist convention of Louisiana Brotherhood was held at College Place Baptist Church last Thursday. Approximately 250 men, Brotherhood members, attended a night session.

Luther Barney of Ridge church led the song service and directed the male chorus. Devotional was led by Rev. E. A. Burgess. Fred Forester, state Brotherhood secretary, delivered a challenging message on "What Men Can Do in the 30,000 new Preaaching Stations."

George Vaughn had charge of refreshments served by the host church.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL HELD

A successful revival has been in progress at the Church of God, corner of Georgia and Reed streets in Monroe. The final service has been set for tonight at this church, and a good-sized attendance is anticipated.

The evangelist has been Harold Moore of Blythe, Ark., and the church pastor states that the attendance and interest have been sustained for the past more than a week at all services.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Do you think a Christian should ever sanction force? D. S.

ANSWER: Not only do I think that Christians should sanction force but every Christian who lives in America today sanctions force every day. Wherever there are police and sheriff's departments, there is a sanction of force. Without them any community would be engulfed in lawlessness within a few hours. The Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Roman Christians says: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powefs. For there is no power but of God: the powers that are ordained of God." He goes on to say, in speaking of those in authority: "For he is a minister of God to thee for good . . . for he beareth not the sword in vain; for he is a minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." This does not mean that those who enforce the law are necessarily Christians. It does mean that the power they rightly exercise comes from God. The same principle which sanctions and makes necessary the maintaining of a local police force to enforce order and restrain evil men carries over into the international field where evil men and nations have to be restrained. The armed forces of America are not maintained for national aggrandizement. Rather they are kept strong as deterrent against those who would act as international criminals. For a Christian to say he is unwilling to sanction force would entail the necessity of doing away with law and order and those who enforce it.

Bishop Martin Honored, Will Be Speaker

Bishop Paul E. Martin, Little Rock, head of the Arkansas-Louisiana Area of the Methodist Church, will delive. the Alexander Gustavus Brown Lectures at Randolph - Macon College in Ashland, Va., it was announced by President J. Earl Moreland. The lecture series to be held this year on Feb. 18-20 brings to this oldest Methodist related college outstanding ministers and churchmen to speak before students, faculty and guests.

The Alexander Gustavus Brown Foundation was established in 1942 by the gift of Dr. Alexander G. Brown, Jr., of Richmond, Va., an alumnus of the college, in honor of his father, Rev. Alexander G. Brown, D. D , a distinguished minister of the Virginia Conference, financial secretary of the college 1871-75, and a member of the board of trustees from 1871 until his death in 1900. The endowment of the Foundation was augmented in 1946 by a supplementary gift of the donor.

Bishop Martin will deliver three addresses, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, February 18, 19 and 20.

The 1957 Brown Lectures were given by Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University.

The Gideons Hold 5 State Meet In City

The International Order of The Gideons from the states of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi are today to end the annual convention with a good-sized attendance. Sessions were held in Hotel Virginia Friday and Saturday. The banquet held last night at 8:30 p.m. in the hotel was addressed by Mayor Jack Howard and special music by Garland Shell. O. T. Goldsmith, Houston, Tex., was the principal speaker.

This morning a number of pulpits of all faiths will have sermons delivered in both Monroe and West Monroe.

Women also participated and an Auxiliary meeting was held with Mrs. E. M. McKenzie, state chaplain, speaker at the Saturday morning session.

This religious group was founded by Christian commercial travelers July 1, 1899 at Janesville, Wis. Their most important and well known project is that of placing Bibles in each hotel room. It is reported that fully two million Bibles have been placed in hotel rooms in many countries on the globe.

The emblem of The Gideons is a two - handled pitcher and torch. The work is supported by free will offerings.

Trinity Church To Observe Lent

Trinity Lutheran congregation—309 D'Arbonne Ave. — will observe the season of Lent with special midweek Lenten vespers. Beginning Ash Wednesday, February 19, 7:30 p. m. the congregation will meet in worship to take note of outstanding occasions in the Passion History of our Lord Jesus.

The series of sermons shall be based upon questions and comments addressed to Christ during the period when He was suffering and dying for the sins of mankind.

Wednesday evening the pastor, Arthur Betz, will base his discourse upon the question of Peter addressed to his Savior: "Lord Shall We Smite With the Sword?"

Visitors are cordially invited to go with us in spirit from Gethsemane to Calvary and evaluate the inestimable price which Jesus paid in order that He might redeem sinners from satan to God.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 139:7—"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" PSALM 23:6—"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life." (King James Version)

* * *

A father, writing to a son serving overseas in the armed forces, closed his letter with these words: "Remember, my son, no one is ever far from God."

It seems that this faith must have been in the mind of the psalmist when he put down these words: "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?" For these verses are not saying that God is a superpoliceman who keeps us under His eye. Rather they tell us that man cannot go where God is not.

Let faith be the sustaining factor in the living of these days, assuring us that as God has been with us in all our yesterdays, He will be with us in our unknown tomorrows. As an old saint of God put it: "O Lord, help me to understand that you won't let anything come my way that you and I can't handle together."

The man of faith finds strength and courage even in life's darkest hours because God is with him. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life. . ."

RUSSELL STELLWAGON

Stellwagon To Tell Of Jap Missions

At the concluding session of the church-wide school of missions, 7 o'clock, Sunday night, Rev. Russell Stellwagon, missionary home on furlough, will bring the devotional message at McGuire Methodist church.

Mr. Stellwagon is a native of Monroe, the grandson of the late Dr. Rowe Henry, dentist. While in the Navy, he came under conviction and accepted Christ. His tour of duty gave him opportunity to observe the needs of other peoples; and to the Japanese people he dedicated his life.

After two years in Bob Jones University, and one semester in Northwestern at Minneapolis, Minn., he was sent out by the Evangelical Missionary Alliance to Japan in Sept., 1951. His work was confined to the Nagano Prefecture in Central Japan. While there for his first term he published a Missionary Language Handbook, and a song book for children, and carried on the regular evangelistic endeavors in a vicinity of 150,000 people. He was associated with a Japanese national couple in his work during his term. During his absence his assignment is being carried by this Japanese husband and wife.

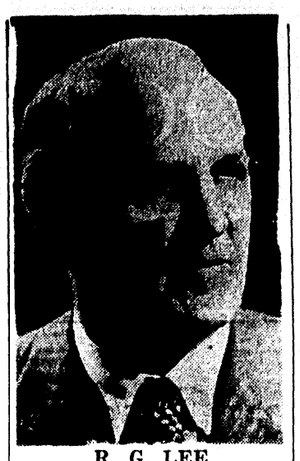

While home on furlough, Mr. Stellwagon has spoken in churches in five states. His plan calls for a return to Japan in April, 1958.

At McGuire Sunday evening he will speak on the general theme, "Japan Needs Jesus." The public is invited to hear this missionary.

0. Eccles. 5:10. He who loves money will not be satisified with money; nor he who loves wealth, with gain: this also is vanity.
1. Is. 16:5. A throne will be established in steadfast love and on it will sit one who judges and seeks justice and is swift to do righteousness.
2. Eccles. 3:1, 3. For everything there is a season, a time to break down, and a time to build up.
3. Prov. 12:20. Those who plan good have joy.
4. Prov. 13:10. By insolence the heedless make strife, but with those who take advice is wisdom.

R. G. LEE

Dr. Rob't Lee Will Lead In Revival Here

Dr. Robert Green Lee, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist Church, in Memphis, Tenn., and internationally known as a dynamic speaker will conduct revival services at the College Place Baptist Church beginning February 23. Dr. Lee, at one time, was pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans.

For the past 30 years he has been pastor of the great Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis. This church has a membership of more than 9,000.

The public is cordially invited to all the services during the week of February 23 through March 2.

Methodists Aid Missions With Big Sum

The Methodist Church in 1957 both received and paid out more money for mission work at home and overseas than in any previous year, the board of missions treasurers report. They announce that the board and its three administrative divisions had a record income of $25,779,279 for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1957. Within that year, the board and divisions disbursed a record total of $25,206,494.

This composite missions report is made jointly by H. Conwell Snoke, Philadelphia, treasurer of the board and of the division of national missions; Miss Marguerite Harris, New York, treasurer of the woman's division of Christian service, and the Rev. H. Burnham Kirkland, New York, treasurer of the division of world missions.

Income Increase 12 Per Cent

The increase in income was 12 per cent, or $2,829,324 above fiscal 1956, the previous record year when receipts were $22,949,955. Disbursements were $1,944,146 above the record $23,262,348 paid out in fiscal 1956. Almost the entire increase came from greater missionary giving by Methodist members.

The report shows that disbursements for Methodist and interdenominational mission work in 50 countries overseas reached a record high of $13,100,149 in 1957, up $1,500,897 over 1956. Disbursements for overseas missions accounted for 52 per cent of all expenditures.

For home mission work in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, the board and the two divisions paid out $8,857,060. That amonut accounted for 35 per cent of all disbursements and was an increase of $154,342 over 1956.

Money for Overseas

Money for overseas work is disbursed by the world division and by the department of work in foreign fields of the woman's division. Home missions work is spent by the national division and by the department of work in home fields of the woman's division.

The rise in income came almost entirely because of increased missionary giving by Methodist people through denominational channels, the treasurers report. The largest single increase was from the "Advance," a special financial program whereby individual Methodist churches or church groups support missionaries or mission projects of their own choosing. This "personalized" missionary giving rose 37 per cent from $3,809,515 in 1956 to $5,185,952 last year. The "Advance," to which an estimated 20,000 Methodist churches contribute, supports work of both the national and world divisions. It was the third largest source of board income, accounting for 20 per cent of all receipts.

Charles Flurry To Speak Here

Emmanuel Baptist Church is planning for the redecoration of the church auditorium. Part of the work is finished and the rest will be done weather permitting. Plans call for a new roof and interior and exterior painting.

The church is also preparing for a revival with the Rev. Charles Flurry, youth director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic foundation. He is one of the states most popular leaders and speakers. He was trained both in America and abroad. His vision is for a better America for the youth of today and tomorrow. Plans contemplate his lecturing while here at the Ouachita High School, Neville High School and West Monroe High on the topics of alcohol and narcotics control.

He is regarded as authority on these subjects and appears at many high schools in the state. He will be main speaker at the youth rally during the week of the revival April 7-13 in Monroe.

Lady Of Fatima Lenten Services

Father George Martinez, pastor of Our Lady of Fatima parish, announces Lenten services for the coming week as follows:

Ash Wednesday masses are 6:30 and 8 a.m. Ashes will be distributed after each of the morning masses and again after Ash Wednesday evening services at 7:30 p.m.

Lenten services during Lent, each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Stations of the Cross on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Brotherhood Is Opening Series

One of 16 meetings planned and promoted by the state Baptist convention of Louisiana Brotherhood was held at College Place Baptist Church last Thursday. Approximately 250 men, Brotherhood members, attended a night session.

Luther Barney of Ridge church led the song service and directed the male chorus. Devotional was led by Rev. E. A. Burgess. Fred Forester, state Brotherhood secretary, delivered a challenging message on "What Men Can Do in the 30,000 new Preaaching Stations."

George Vaughn had charge of refreshments served by the host church.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL HELD

A successful revival has been in progress at the Church of God, corner of Georgia and Reed streets in Monroe. The final service has been set for tonight at this church, and a good-sized attendance is anticipated.

The evangelist has been Harold Moore of Blythe, Ark., and the church pastor states that the attendance and interest have been sustained for the past more than a week at all services.

YOU'll FIND FAITH. . . . PEACE. . .. HOPE

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Do you think a Christian should ever sanction force? D. S.

ANSWER: Not only do I think that Christians should sanction force but every Christian who lives in America today sanctions force every day. Wherever there are police and sheriff's departments, there is a sanction of force. Without them any community would be engulfed in lawlessness within a few hours. The Apostle Paul, in his letter to the Roman Christians says: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powefs. For there is no power but of God: the powers that are ordained of God." He goes on to say, in speaking of those in authority: "For he is a minister of God to thee for good . . . for he beareth not the sword in vain; for he is a minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." This does not mean that those who enforce the law are necessarily Christians. It does mean that the power they rightly exercise comes from God. The same principle which sanctions and makes necessary the maintaining of a local police force to enforce order and restrain evil men carries over into the international field where evil men and nations have to be restrained. The armed forces of America are not maintained for national aggrandizement. Rather they are kept strong as deterrent against those who would act as international criminals. For a Christian to say he is unwilling to sanction force would entail the necessity of doing away with law and order and those who enforce it.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Six New Fiction Books At Ouachita Library

BY FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

This week we have six excellent books of new fiction to offer our readers. Four of these are by established authors and all promise to be very popular. "Ride the Red Earth" is the title of Paul I. Wellman's new novel. It is based on the life of Louis Juchereau St. Denis, who is of special interest to people in this area, for he was the founder of the town of Natchitoches. St. Denis was an adventurer, but a true son of France and his name was known from Quebec to Mobile to Mexico City. He more than any other one man can be credited with saving Louisiana for France, for he devoted his life to wrecking the plans of the Spaniards who were pressing close to the western boundaries of Louisiana with their fort at Los Adios (the site of Present day Robeline). This is a historical novel in the best sense of the word. It gives new light on our country's early history, it is a good love story and it paints a remarkable accurate picture of a truly remarkable man.

A new novel by Anya Seton is always hailed with delight to her many readers and her latest title promises to be especially popular. In it she has returned to the period of her first success, Colonial America, and has written a thrilling and exciting story of a remarkable woman. It is the story of Elizabeth Winthrop, the widowed daughter-in-law of the Governor of the Colony. She was a most unwilling Puritan and this is the story of her struggle to be herself in spite of the restrictions of the colony. This book gives a very splendid picture of life in New England and is the sort of book which will hold the complete interest of every reader.

We can never get enough stories about Louisiana for our readers and we are always happy when a new one with a Louisiana setting comes along. This week we have "Angel of the Delta" written by Father Edward F. Murphy of New Orleans. This is the story of Margaret Gaffney — a heartwarming biographical novel of unshakable courage, quiet humor and tender compassion for suffers. Margaret was a beautiful girl who moved from Ireland to Baltimore, where she married and then on to New Orleans. After tragedy struck her own life, she gave herself over to helping others. Her greatest work was with the orphans and her name will never be forgotten in the Delta area. Father Murphy has used the facts to write a beautiful story, which will be widely read and enjoyed.

One of the outstanding contemporary English novelists is Howard Spring. "Time and the Hour" is the title of his newest book. It is a chronicle of the generation that grew up in the First World War only to be faced with the onset of a second. In his scenes of London and the English countryside, in situations ranging from childhood and first love to international intrigue and murder, the author shows again his extraordinary ability to fill a broad canvas with unforgettable people. Through his set of varied characters he paints a vivid cross-section of a nation headed inexorably toward the holacaust of 1939. It is a powerfully conceived and plotted novel which will give many hours of enjoyment.

"Days in the Yellow Leaf" by William Hoffman is a novel with a modern setting and is one that will hold the readers interest. It is the story of a marriage and many forces which enter into the lives of the leading characters. The book is violent in places and compassionate in others. It is not a book which you will soon forget. Many men enjoy stories written about the military life and we are happy to have a new novel based on life in the Marine Corps called "Tomorrow to Live," written by William Herber. It is the story of a man whom Marine training helped to mold into a responsible human being. Every one who has ever served in the Marines, will want to read this book.

A book for which we have had numerous reuests and which has finally arrived is "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" by Jean Kerr. It is a sophisticated and humorous commentary on present day life. If you have requested it, we have your name and will be calling you soon. Those enthusiasts of the theatre in our community will be happy to know that we now have a copy of Noel Coward's latest play, "Nude with Violin." Like all of his works is scintilates and sparkles with brilliant conversation.

BOOK BRIEFS

Three literary contests, each with an award of $5,000, were announced this week by Doubleday & Company, Inc. The contests, which are designed to encourage authors and to stimulate interest in all fields of Catholic writing, are open to all authors, new or established, Catholic or non-Catholic, writing in the English language. A brochure giving contest details is in preparation and will be sent to anyone writing to Catholic Prize Contest, Doubleday & Company, Inc., 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22.

---

The Steck Company of Austin, Texas, announces five new titles that vary from a rollicking adventure tale by an ex-sea captain to a colorful story about that unusual bird, the road runner. All are for young readers. The titles: Moose Island by William R. Kluge, The Road Runner by Theodore W. Munch and M. Vere DeVault; Sam Bass by Beverly Treuhardt and Marie Murdock; Slide, Danny, Slide by Matt Christopher, and Happy Acres by Bianca Bradbury.

---

An account of advertising and the people who run it is told in "Madison Avenue, U. S. A.," by Martin Mayer, which Harper & Brothers will publish March 5. The book is based on 16 months work and nearly 400 interviews.

---

Dana Lyon comes up with a new suspense novel "The Lost One," to be published March 19 by Harper & Brothers. It deals with the kidnapping of a new born infant by a woman, who is unable to bear children.

---

"Albert Camus: A Study of His Work," by Philip Thody, has just been brought out by Macmillan. The author traces the lines of development in Camus' thought as shown in his plays and novels and in the philosophical works that have run parallel to them.

---

No. 7 of the "International Economic Papers," published annually by Macmillan, is available now. The volume contains eight papers translated for the International Economic Association.

---

Jerome Weidman's "The Enemy Camp" has been tapped by the Book-of-the-Month Club. Random House has postponed the novel to coincide with the club's probable mid-1958 distribution.

---

Robert Penn Warren was given the Edna St. Vincent Millay Award by the Poetry Society of America at the organization's 48th annual dinner. The honor came to the poet-novelist for his collection of verse, Promises. Random House, which published Promises in 1957, will bring out Warren's Selected Essays this June.

---

When publishers announce a book well over a year ahead of its publication, it's usually big news. High in that category is Gladys Schmitt's new, long novel about Rembrandt, which will be a leading publication from Random House in late 1959 or early 1960.

GOES ON TOUR

Mantovani Given Golden Records

By HUGH MULLIGAN

What Liberace has done for the piano (some will say to the piano), an Italian-born Englishman with the solo name of Mantovani has done for the violin.

Mantovani and his lush string orchestra, one of the wonders of the hi-fi age, are now embarked on a cross country concert tour after picking up a gold record from London Records.

In popular music, the gold record traditionally stands for a million sales. In the classics, record firms are usually willing to settle for 250,000 sales.

Mantovani can qualify under either rule. The eight albums for which the gold record was awarded each sold more than 250,000 copies for a grand total of more than two million.

This puts Mantovani favorites like "Greensleeves," "Charmaine" and Tschaikowsky's waltzes in a class with "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "Shake, Rattle and Roll." Recently, in fact, the distinguished conductor - composer found himself in a dead heat with Elvis Presley for the most played jike box record. Elvis was moaning "Love Me Tender," while Monty, as he is known to his orchestra members, was churning out the theme song of the movie "Around the World in 80 Days." Teen-agers thought both were the most.

Since putting his orchestra on record only three years ago, Mantovani has made more than 20 albums for London. The eight that won him the gold record include such mood albums as "Strauss Waltzes," "Music of Victor Herbert," "Christmas Carols," "Music of Sigmund Romberg" and "Immortal Classics."

All bear the indelible Mantovani stamp of tumbling strings, sweeping melody and orchestra ingenuity, an instrumental technique that he calls "voices of strings."

Critics sometimes complain that Mantovani is too syrupy, too roccoco, but as a trumpeter in his orchestra commented: "We are a string orchestra. Complaining that Mantovani has too many violins is like complaining about the lack of a tuba in the Budapest String Quartet."

Columbia Records, now celebrating the 10th anniversary of its introduction of the long playing record into the record field, has embarked on a new "adventures in sound" series aimed at the hi-fi addicts.

For those who enjoy the sound of sound, the series so far exploits such diverse noise making instruments as steel drums, street organs, six-stringed Indian sitars, Siilian mandolins, jungle drums and a church tower full of mocking birds and assorted bells in Jackson, Miss.

The Eastman Symphonic Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Frederick Fennell, steps forth smartly in "March Time," a Mercury album featuring the music of Edwin Franko Goldman of Central Park fame. A brilliant display of silver and brass sounds, this is easily one of the finest band albums to come along in quite a while.

In another rousing, rip-roaring album, Felix Slatkin and the Hollywood Bowl Symphony give the full hi-fi treatment to Offenbach's Gaite Parisienne on a Capitol label. The can-can finale should blow the top off most sets and justifies Slatkin's verdict that it is "the happiest music ever."

Maggie-Now Irish, Old Fashioned

In her direct unsubtle way, familiar to several million readers of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," Betty Smith again takes us back over the East River to the Irish Catholics, their family problems, their money troubles, their getting jobs, falling sick, being buried, and carrying on the same everlasting pattern — once a tree grows in Brooklyn, always a tree grows there.

This time Pat, a boy-o in Ireland, loves a 17-years-old blackhaired sweetheart but his mother hates to have him marry her, her mother and brother hate to have him not, and he escapes to America. Instead, he marries a ward politician's daughter, Mary. They have two children, one of them Maggie-Now, and we are launched in this new, or sort of new, novel. Impudent young fellows want to kiss the pretty girl, and more, but she puts them off, or her father does it with a poke in the nose to the unwelcome suitors. Then she meets Claude. Maybe he should have poked Claude, too, but there's a dependable rosy romance before it ends

Review Of Growth Of Government

ONLY THE BRAVE ARE FREE By Donald R. Richberg and Albert Britt. (Caxton, $6.00).

Two men of scientific training in law and history here present a short, scholarly review of the growth of self-government in America. Within the compass of a single volume, Donald R. Richburg and Albert Britt, close friends for a quarter of a century, have combined their talents to produce a reliable summary of the sources, the methods, and the results of more than three centuries of fruitful political experimentation since Pilgrim days and the signing of the Mayflower Compact.

Whether we face a revoluton which involves a radical break with the past or whether we can solve the problems which lie ahead by a continued application of the hard-earned lessons of our history, the authors of ONLY THE BRAVE ARE FREE, though they disagree as to methods, are united in their belief that our national experiment in self - government will and should continue, and that its success, as in the past, will depend upon the number of voters who read and think for themselves.

TV notes

"Crime and the Committee," a story of the sensational 1950-51 crime investigation by a special Senate committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver — public hearings which, largely through the impact of television, dominated the attention of the American people—will be presented as Chapter Fourteen in "The Twentieth Century" series on the CBS Television Network today.

---

Terry Moore, James Best, Gene Raymond, Audrey Totter and Conrad Nagel star in "The Secret Love of Johnny Spain," in "Climax!" presentation February 20 over the CBS Television Network.

The story revolves around a song star idol of millions who is killed in an airplane crash three days before the premiere of his $4, million picture.

---

Tab Hunter will make his return to television in "Playhouse 90" when he plays the role of Donald Bashor, 29-year-old executed killer in the Leslie Stevens play, "Portrait of a Murderer." Thursday, Feb. 27.

---

"Conquest" television's highly - praised new series devoted to the world of science and scientists, will feature exclusive reports on three vital fields of scientific research on its third program Sunday, March 9.

---

The schedule of Lowell Thomas' "High Adventure" series on CBS is: Feb. 25, 8 to 9 p.m., "Tibet;" March 24, 8 to 9 p.m., "Australian Outback;" April 19, 9 to 10 p.m., "India;" May 28, 10 to 11 p.m., "Morocco." The latter is listed as "tentative."

---

The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences will give its 'Emmy' awards for 1957 in 25 categories this March instead of last year's 29.

---

The "Studio One" play for Feb. 17 is Marc Brandel's "Tide of Corruption," dealing with investigation of a crime empire by a U.S. Senate committee. Barry Sullivan stars.

---

"The Twentieth Century" program on CBS March 16 will devote 30 minutes to highlights of the life of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi.

---

NBC is planning a one-hour colorcast on film of the struggle to land by aircraft at the South Pole for the first time and build a base with parachuted materials. "Assault on Antarctica" is the title of the program of this phase of Operation Deep Freeze. Date of the broadcast will be announced later.

---

"Mickey Mouse Club" started a 20-part serial, "Annette," this week. It concerns the adventures of a country girl, played by Annette Funicello, who goes to live in a big city.

HANDLING a "hot" and heavy camera, this photographer has to wear protective clothing. The 29-pound lead box camera can detect radioactive rays in atomic plants and pin-point their exact location on a photograph. It was designed by an engineer at Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory in Schenectady, N. Y.

CAMERA NOTES

Atomic Age Brings New Camera Needs

By IRVING DESFOR

One of the latest developments in the camera world is a pinhole box camera which weighs 29 pounds.

No, you're not reading a report which has been accidentally misplaced for 50 or 60 years. This is 1958, the atomic age . . . and thats the reason for this newest in old - fashioned cameras. It's made out of lead and is used to show in pistures specific areas of radioactive contamination.

The lead box camera was designed by John Payne, a General Electric engineer at the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory in Schenectady, N. Y. It has a uranium lens barrel and an aluminum lens which is a pin-hole thirteen and one-half one-thousandths of an inch in diameter.

The atomic and normal light rays enter the camera only through the uranium barrel and the aluminum pin-hole. Uranium is denser than lead and can better limit and direct the atomic rays through the tiny aluminum window.

Pictures are recorded on films held in special metal film holders which are inserted and removed through an opening in the top of the camera. The film holder is a double compartment. In front, nearest the lens, is a sheet of conventional film. Behind it is a sheet of x-ray film. A thin lead plate separates the two films.

When the camera is pointed at areas of possible contamination, a sort of double exposure takes place. The general scene is recorded on the conventional film while atomic rays are recorded on the x-ray film behind it. When the two films are sandwiched together and printed, the position of the atomic rays are definitely located.

The usual exposure on conventional film is about 12 minutes. A metal slide is then inserted in front of the film to cut off further exposure to the normal light rays. However, neither the metal slide nor the thin lead sheet between the two sheets of films interferes with the passage of nuclear radiation. The camera is kept in position and the x-ray film is exposed for at least an hour.

The need for such a camera has arisen with the mushrooming of atomic industrial plants and their hazards. The lead camera can detect small sources of radioactivity which cannot be sufficiently pin - pointed by present detection instruments. In other areas of high - level radioactivity where this camera would be used, Geiger counters and other detection instrument operators would not be allowed to enter or might have to spend days locating various radiation sources.

Normal cameras taking conventional pictures of radioactive or contaminated objects would result in fogged films.

Payne's camera proved its practical value some time ago just after its initial conception. A nuclear accident occurred at Canada's Chalk River atomic plant. The engineers there, using Payne's design, built an identical lead camera to aid them in detecting and discarding contaminated machinery.

I guess the camera is a success in its own field but I don't see any future for it among us amateurs. When even scientists find the camera too unwieldy, evidently, to ship from place to place, it must be way too "hot" and far too heavy.

World's Biggest Book Store Indulges Browsing, Thievery

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)— In her snug office in Charing Cross Road Christina Foyle opened a letter and was atonished to read:

"I have been stealing books from your shops since 1944. Their weight on my conscience has become unendurable, so I wrapped them in bundles and deposited them in the luggage department of the Charing Cross railway station. Enclosed are the claim checks so you may recover them. Thanks for years of pleasant reading."

There was no signature.

The letter was an incident in a busy day of the attractive woman of 45 who is proprietor of the world's biggest book store.

The stolen books were recovered and placed where where they belonged, among the 4½ million volumes which stretch in endless shelves in five buildings in London's Soho district.

"A conscience fund is one of the interesting little facets of this lively business," said Miss Foyle. "Thieves don't always return books. Some prefer to send money to pay for them. It comes mostly from students and broken - down scholars — poor dears. But a few clergymen have contributed to our conscience fund."

Miss Foyle loves books, like a proper florist loves a rose. So there is a bit of compassion in her heart for a book thief. She doesn't usually prosecute anyone, unless thievery has been on a commercial basis.

The many hundreds of yards of Foyle shelves are open to the wide world, and hundreds of browsers devote thousands of hours reading until their arches ache.

"Some of them seem to get a liberal education on their feet," Miss Foyle said. "The other day I was fascinated by a man laboriously copying a musical score, which must have cost about half a crown (35 cents). But maybe he didn't have half a crown."

It's all regarded indulgently by Miss Foyle, because browsers now may become customers later. Herbert Morrison, former Labor foreign secretary, said once that he acquired much of his education in the Foyle aisles.

The shop was established by Miss Foyle's father, William, in 1904, and enjoyed a fabulous growth.

At the age of 18, while he was a clerk in a barrister's office, he looked at some text books with which he was finished and decided they were frozen assets. He sold them with surprising ease, and looked around for other volumes. One book led to another, and many millions passed through his hands in the next four decades.

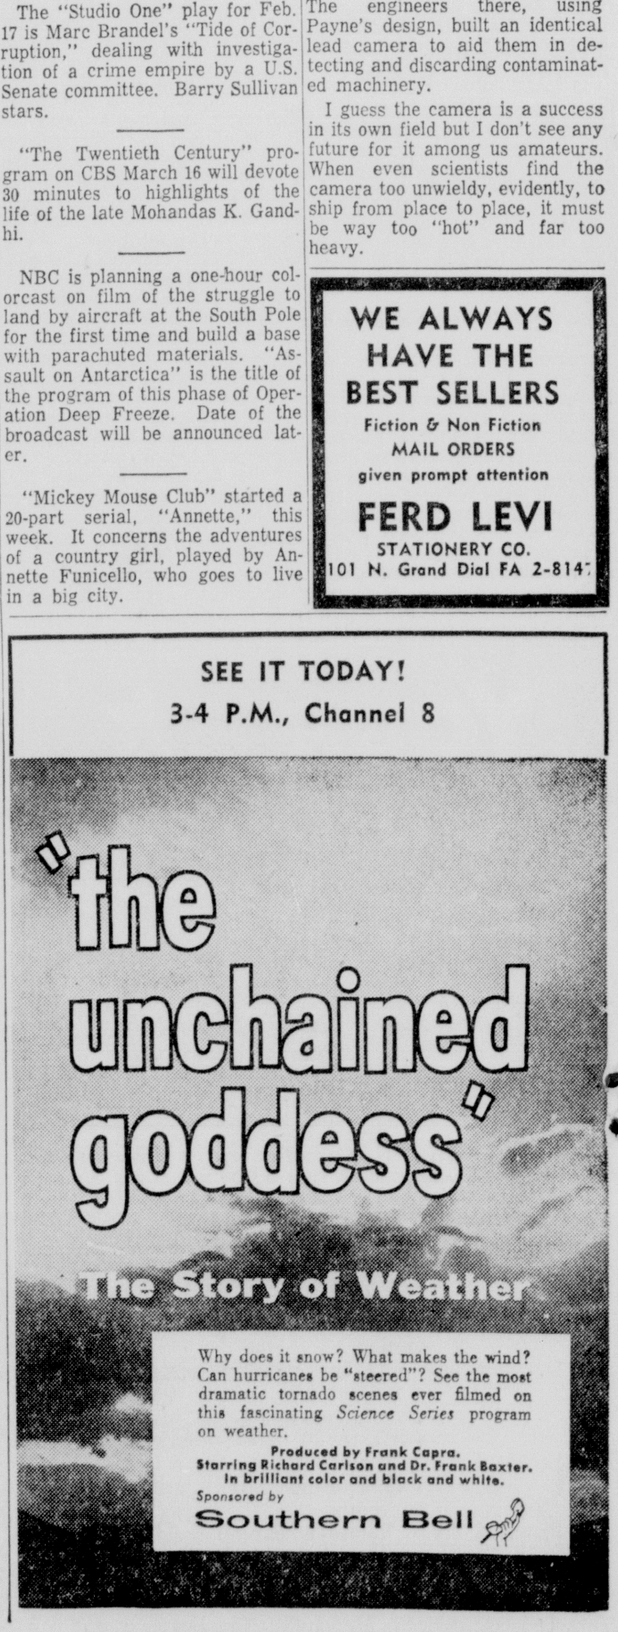

Thirteen years ago, at the age of 60, he withdrew from active management of the business. He acquired historic Beeleigh Abbey in Essex and made it his home. Now he comes in about once a week to see how things are going.

If it's a book, old or new, it's Miss Foyle's business. One of her special little problems now is to decide what to do with 400 volumes which are separate printings of Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield."

"One of our friends collected Vicars, hunting them down with great industry in every part of the world," Miss Foyle said. "Fat and thin books, big and tiny — but all the same story. Now he is tired of it and here is his hobby, covering one of my tables."

Miss Foyle has about 500 employes and one of their jobs in a room big as a gymnasium, is to deal with the 30,000 letters received daily. A post office spokesman said recently that Foyle's gets more letters than any organization in London except the football pools. The books go out to every nation and Miss Foyle just returned from Japan to investigate a big, new demand for technical works, some of which she buys in the United States.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Six New Fiction Books At Ouachita Library

BY FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

This week we have six excellent books of new fiction to offer our readers. Four of these are by established authors and all promise to be very popular. "Ride the Red Earth" is the title of Paul I. Wellman's new novel. It is based on the life of Louis Juchereau St. Denis, who is of special interest to people in this area, for he was the founder of the town of Natchitoches. St. Denis was an adventurer, but a true son of France and his name was known from Quebec to Mobile to Mexico City. He more than any other one man can be credited with saving Louisiana for France, for he devoted his life to wrecking the plans of the Spaniards who were pressing close to the western boundaries of Louisiana with their fort at Los Adios (the site of Present day Robeline). This is a historical novel in the best sense of the word. It gives new light on our country's early history, it is a good love story and it paints a remarkable accurate picture of a truly remarkable man.

A new novel by Anya Seton is always hailed with delight to her many readers and her latest title promises to be especially popular. In it she has returned to the period of her first success, Colonial America, and has written a thrilling and exciting story of a remarkable woman. It is the story of Elizabeth Winthrop, the widowed daughter-in-law of the Governor of the Colony. She was a most unwilling Puritan and this is the story of her struggle to be herself in spite of the restrictions of the colony. This book gives a very splendid picture of life in New England and is the sort of book which will hold the complete interest of every reader.

We can never get enough stories about Louisiana for our readers and we are always happy when a new one with a Louisiana setting comes along. This week we have "Angel of the Delta" written by Father Edward F. Murphy of New Orleans. This is the story of Margaret Gaffney — a heartwarming biographical novel of unshakable courage, quiet humor and tender compassion for suffers. Margaret was a beautiful girl who moved from Ireland to Baltimore, where she married and then on to New Orleans. After tragedy struck her own life, she gave herself over to helping others. Her greatest work was with the orphans and her name will never be forgotten in the Delta area. Father Murphy has used the facts to write a beautiful story, which will be widely read and enjoyed.

One of the outstanding contemporary English novelists is Howard Spring. "Time and the Hour" is the title of his newest book. It is a chronicle of the generation that grew up in the First World War only to be faced with the onset of a second. In his scenes of London and the English countryside, in situations ranging from childhood and first love to international intrigue and murder, the author shows again his extraordinary ability to fill a broad canvas with unforgettable people. Through his set of varied characters he paints a vivid cross-section of a nation headed inexorably toward the holacaust of 1939. It is a powerfully conceived and plotted novel which will give many hours of enjoyment.

"Days in the Yellow Leaf" by William Hoffman is a novel with a modern setting and is one that will hold the readers interest. It is the story of a marriage and many forces which enter into the lives of the leading characters. The book is violent in places and compassionate in others. It is not a book which you will soon forget. Many men enjoy stories written about the military life and we are happy to have a new novel based on life in the Marine Corps called "Tomorrow te Live," written by William Herber. It is the story of a man whom Marine training helped to mold into a responsible human being. Every one who has ever served in the Marines, will want to read this book.

A book for which we have had numerous reuests and which has finally arrived is "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" by Jean Kerr. It is a sophisticated and humorous commentary on present day life. If you have requested it, we have your name and will be calling you soon. Those enthusiasts of the theatre in our community will be happy to know that we now have a copy of Noel Coward's latest play, "Nude with Violin." Like all of his works is scintilates and sparkles with brilliant conversation.

GOES ON TOUR

Mantovani Given Golden Records

By HUGH MULLIGAN

What Liberace has done for the piano (some will say to the piano), an Italian-born Englishman with the solo name of Mantovani has done for the violin.

Mantovani and his lush string orchestra, one of the wonders of the hi-fi age, are now embarked on a cross country concert tour after picking up a gold record from London Records.

In popular music, the gold record traditionally stands for a million sales. In the classics, record firms are usually willing to settle for 250,000 sales.

Mantovani can qualify under either rule. The eight albums for which the gold record was awarded each sold more than 250,000 copies for a grand total of more than two million.

This puts Mantovani favorites like "Greensleeves," "Charmaine" and Tschaikowsky's waltzes in a class with "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "Shake, Rattle and Roll." Recently, in fact, the distinguished conductor - composer found himself in a dead heat with Elvis Presley for the most played jike box record. Elvis was moaning "Love Me Tender," while Monty, as he is known to his orchestra members, was churning out the theme song of the movie "Around the World in 80 Days." Teen-agers thought both were the most.

Since putting his orchestra on record only three years ago, Mantovani has made more than 20 albums for London. The eight that won him the gold record include such mood albums as "Strauss Waltzes," "Music of Victor Herbert," "Christmas Carols," "Music of Sigmund Romberg" and "Immortal Classics."

All bear the indelible Mantovani stamp of tumbling strings, sweeping melody and orchestra ingenuity, an instrumental technique that he calls "voices of strings."

Critics sometimes complain that Mantovani is too syrupy, too roccoco, but as a trumpeter in his orchestra commented: "We are a string orchestra. Complaining that Mantovani has too many violins is like complaining about the lack of a tuba in the Budapest String Quartet."

Columbia Records, now celebrating the 10th anniversary of its introduction of the long playing record into the record field, has embarked on a new "adventures in sound" series aimed at the hi-fi addicts.

For those who enjoy the sound of sound, the series so far exploits such diverse noise making instruments as steel drums, street organs, six-stringed Indian sitars, Siilian mandolins, jungle drums and a church tower full of mocking birds and assorted bells in Jackson, Miss.

The Eastman Symphonic Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Frederick Fennell, steps forth smartly in "March Time," a Mercury album featuring the music of Edwin Franko Goldman of Central Park fame. A brilliant display of silver and brass sounds, this is easily one of the finest band albums to come along in quite a while.

In another rousing, rip-roaring album, Felix Slatkin and the Hollywood Bowl Symphony give the full hi-fi treatment to Offenbach's Gaite Parisienne on a Capitol label. The can-can finale should blow the top off most sets and justifies Slatkin's verdict that it is "the happiest music ever."

BOOK BRIEFS

Three literary contests, each with an award of $5,000, were announced this week by Doubleday & Company, Inc. The contests, which are designed to encourage authors and to stimulate interest in all fields of Catholic writing, are open to all authors, new or established, Catholic or non-Catholic, writing in the English language. A brochure giving contest details is in preparation and will be sent to anyone writing to Catholic Prize Contest, Doubleday & Company, Inc., 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22.

The Steck Company of Austin, Texas, announces five new titles that vary from a rollicking adventure tale by an ex-sea captain to a colorful story about that unusual bird, the road runner. All are for young readers. The titles: Moose Island by William R. Kluge, The Road Runner by Theodore W. Munch and M. Vere DeVault; Sam Bass by Beverly Treuhardt and Marie Murdock; Slide, Danny, Slide by Matt Christopher, and Happy Acres by Bianca Bradbury.

An account of advertising and the people who run it is told in "Madison Avenue, U. S. A.," by Martin Mayer, which Harper & Brothers will publish March 5. The book is based on 16 months work and nearly 400 interviews.

Dana Lyon comes up with a new suspense novel "The Lost One," to be published March 19 by Harper & Brothers. It deals with the kidnapping of a new born infant by a woman, who is unable to bear children.

"Albert Camus: A Study of His Work," by Philip Thody, has just been brought out by Macmillan. The author traces the lines of development in Camus' thought as shown in his plays and novels and in the philosophical works that have run parallel to them.

No. 7 of the "International Economic Papers," published annually by Macmillan, is available now. The volume contains eight papers translated for the International Economic Association.

Jerome Weidman's "The Enemy Camp" has been tapped by the Book-of-the-Month Club. Random House has postponed the novel to coincide with the club's probable mid-1958 distribution.

Robert Penn Warren was given the Edna St. Vincent Millay Award by the Poetry Society of America at the organization's 48th annual dinner. The honor came to the poet-novelist for his collection of verse, Promises. Random House, which published Promises in 1957, will bring out Warren's Selected Essays this June.

When publishers announce a book well over a year ahead of its publication, it's usually big news. High in that category is Gladys Schmitt's new, long novel about Rembrandt, which will be a leading publication from Random House in late 1959 or early 1960.

Maggie-Now Irish, Old Fashioned

In her direct unsubtle way, familiar to several million readers of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," Betty Smith again takes us back over the East River to the Irish Catholics, their family problems, their money troubles, their getting jobs, falling sick, being buried, and carrying on the same everlasting pattern — once a tree grows in Brooklyn, always a tree grows there.

This time Pat, a boy-o in Ireland, loves a 17-years-old blackhaired sweetheart but his mother hates to have him marry her, her mother and brother hate to have him not, and he escapes to America. Instead, he marries a ward politician's daughter, Mary. They have two children, one of them Maggie-Now, and we are launched in this new, or sort of new, novel. Impudent young fellows want to kiss the pretty girl, and more, but she puts them off, or her father does it with a poke in the nose to the unwelcome suitors. Then she meets Claude. Maybe he should have poked Claude, too, but there's a dependable rosy romance before it ends

Review Of Growth Of Government

ONLY THE BRAVE ARE FREE By Donald R. Richberg and Albert Britt. (Caxton, $6.00).

Two men of scientific training in law and history here present a short, scholarly review of the growth of self-government in America. Within the compass of a single volume, Donald R. Richburg and Albert Britt, close friends for a quarter of a century, have combined their talents to produce a reliable summary of the sources, the methods, and the results of more than three centuries of fruitful political experimentation since Pilgrim days and the signing of the Mayflower Compact.

Whether we face a revolution which involves a radical break with the past or whether we can solve the problems which lie ahead by a continued application of the hard-earned lessons of our history, the authors of ONLY THE BRAVE ARE FREE, though they disagree as to methods, are united in their belief that our national experiment in self - government will and should continue, and that its success, as in the past, will depend upon the number of voters who read and think for themselves.

TV notes

"Crime and the Committee," a story of the sensational 1950-51 crime investigation by a special Senate committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver — public hearings which, largely through the impact of television, dominated the attention of the American people—will be presented as Chapter Fourteen in "The Twentieth Century" series on the CBS Television Network today.

Terry Moore, James Best, Gene Raymond, Audrey Totter and Conrad Nagel star in "The Secret Love of Johnny Spain," in "Climax!" presentation February 20 over the CBS Television Network.

The story revolves around a song star idol of millions who is killed in an airplane crash three days before the premiere of his $4, million picture.

Tab Hunter will make his return to television in "Playhouse 90" when he plays the role of Donald Bashor, 29-year-old executed killer in the Leslie Stevens play, "Portrait of a Murderer." Thursday, Feb. 27.

"Conquest" television's highly - praised new series devoted to the world of science and scientists, will feature exclusive reports on three vital fields of scientific research on its third program Sunday, March 9.

The schedule of Lowell Thomas' "High Adventure" series on CBS is: Feb. 25, 8 to 9 p.m., "Tibet;" March 24, 8 to 9 p.m., "Australian Outback;" April 19, 9 to 10 p.m., "India;" May 28, 10 to 11 p.m., "Morocco." The latter is listed as "tentative."

The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences will give its 'Emmy' awards for 1957 in 25 categories this March instead of last year's 29.

The "Studio One" play for Feb. 17 is Marc Brandel's "Tide of Corruption," dealing with investigation of a crime empire by a U.S. Senate committee. Barry Sullivan stars.

"The Twentieth Century" program on CBS March 16 will devote 30 minutes to highlights of the life of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi.

NBC is planning a one-hour colorcast on film of the struggle to land by aircraft at the South Pole for the first time and build a base with parachuted materials. "Assault on Antarctica" is the title of the program of this phase of Operation Deep Freeze. Date of the broadcast will be announced later.

"Mickey Mouse Club" started a 20-part serial, "Annette," this week. It concerns the adventures of a country girl, played by Annette Funicello, who goes to live in a big city.

World's Biggest Book Store Indulges Browsing, Thievery

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)— In her snug office in Charing Cross Road Christina Foyle opened a letter and was atonished to read:

"I have been stealing books from your shops since 1944. Their weight on my conscience has become unendurable, so I wrapped them in bundles and deposited them in the luggage department of the Charing Cross railway station. Enclosed are the claim checks so you may recover them. Thanks for years of pleasant reading."

There was no signature.

The letter was an incident in a busy day of the attractive woman of 45 who is proprietor of the world's biggest book store.

The stolen books were recovered and placed where where they belonged, among the 4½ million volumes which stretch in endless shelves in five buildings in London's Soho district.

"A conscience fund is one of the interesting little facets of this lively business," said Miss Foyle. "Thieves don't always return books. Some prefer to send money to pay for them. It comes mostly from students and broken - down scholars — poor dears. But a few clergymen have contributed to our conscience fund."

Miss Foyle loves books, like a proper florist loves a rose. So there is a bit of compassion in her heart for a book thief. She doesn't usually prosecute anyone, unless thievery has been on a commercial basis.

The many hundreds of yards of Foyle shelves are open to the wide world, and hundreds of browsers devote thousands of hours reading until their arches ache.

"Some of them seem to get a liberal education on their feet," Miss Foyle said. "The other day I was fascinated by a man laboriously copying a musical score, which must have cost about half a crown (35 cents). But maybe he didn't have half a crown."

It's all regarded indulgently by Miss Foyle, because browsers now may become customers later. Herbert Morrison, former Labor foreign secretary, said once that he acquired much of his education in the Foyle aisles.

The shop was established by Miss Foyle's father, William, in 1904, and enjoyed a fabulous growth.

At the age of 18, while he was a clerk in a barrister's office, he looked at some text books with which he was finished and decided they were frozen assets. He sold them with surprising ease, and looked around for other volumes. One book led to another, and many millions passed through his hands in the next four decades.

Thirteen years ago, at the age of 60, he withdrew from active management of the business. He acquired historic Beeleigh Abbey in Essex and made it his home. Now he comes in about once a week to see how things are going.

If it's a book, old or new, it's Miss Foyle's business. One of her special little problems now is to decide what to do with 400 volumes which are separate printings of Oliver Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield."

"One of our friends collected Vicars, hunting them down with great industry in every part of the world," Miss Foyle said. "Fat and thin books, big and tiny — but all the same story. Now he is tired of it and here is his hobby, covering one of my tables."

Miss Foyle has about 500 employes and one of their jobs in a room big as a gymnasium, is to deal with the 30,000 letters received daily. A post office spokesman said recently that Foyle's gets more letters than any organization in London except the football pools. The books go out to every nation and Miss Foyle just returned from Japan to investigate a big, new demand for technical works, some of which she buys in the United States.

HANDLING a "hot" and heavy camera, this photographer has to wear protective clothing. The 29-pound lead box camera can detect radioactive rays in atomic plants and pin-point their exact location on a photograph. It was designed by an engineer at Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory in Schenectady, N. Y.

CAMERA NOTES

Atomic Age Brings New Camera Needs

By IRVING DESFOR

One of the latest developments in the camera world is a pinhole box camera which weighs 29 pounds.

No, you're not reading a report which has been accidentally misplaced for 50 or 60 years. This is 1958, the atomic age . . . and thats the reason fo. this newest in old - fashioned cameras. It's made out of lead and is used to show in pistures specific areas of radioactive contamination.

The lead box camera was designed by John Payne, a General Electric engineer at the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory in Schenectady, N. Y. It has a uranium lens barrel and an aluminum lens which is a pin-hole thirteen and one-half one-thousandths of an inch in diameter.

The atomic and normal light rays enter the camera only through the uranium barrel and the aluminum pin-hole. Uranium is denser than lead and can better limit and direct the atomic rays through the tiny aluminum window.

Pictures are recorded on films held in special met film holders which are inserted and removed through an opening in the top of the camera. The film holder is a double compartment. In front, nearest the lens, is a sheet of conventional film. Behind it is a sheet of x-ray film. A thin lead plate separates the two films.

When the camera is pointed at areas of possible contamination, a sort of double exposure takes place. The general scene is recorded on the conventional film while atomic rays are recorded on the x-ray film behind it. When the two films are sandwiched together and printed, the position of the atomic rays are definitely located.

The usual exposure on conventional film is about 12 minutes. A metal slide is then inserted in front of the film to cut off further exposure to the normal light rays. However, neither the metal slide nor the thin lead sheet between the two sheets of films interferes with the passage of nuclear radiation. The camera is kept in position and the x-ray film is exposed for at least an hour.

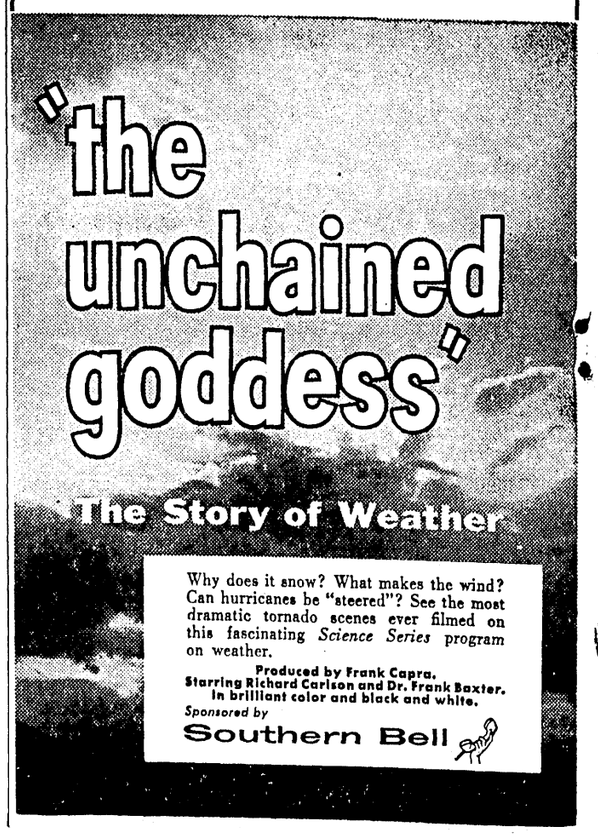

The need for such a camera has arisen with the mushrooming of atomic industrial plants and their hazards. The lead camera can detect small sources of radioactivity which cannot be sufficiently pin - pointed by present detection instruments. In other areas of high - level radioactivity where this camera would be used, Geiger counters and other detection instrument operators would not be allowed to enter or might have to spend days locating various radiation sources.

Normal cameras taking conventional pictures of radioactive or contaminated objects would result in fogged films.

Payne's camera proved its practical value some time ago just after its initial conception. A nuclear accident occurred at Canada's Chalk River atomic plant. The engineers there, using Payne's design, built an identical lead camera to aid them in detecting and discarding contaminated machinery.

I guess the camera is a success in its own field but I don't see any future for it among us amateurs. When even scientists find the camera too unwieldy, evidently, to ship from place to place, it must be way too "hot" and far too heavy.

Young Actor Feels Youth Needs Travel

By VIVIAN BROWN

Should the cultural exchange of students begin at home? Should students in the West come East to see how the other half lives? Should North visit South? And vice versa. How many Brooklyn boys have really seen a tree?

"I've read a lot about what goes on in Brooklyn these days, gangs and what not," said Hollywood's John Saxon who left that borough four years ago to try his luck on the screen, "and there may be nothing wrong with some of these boys that a change of scenery might not cure."

The trouble is, said the 21-year-old John, "that those boys have nothing to compare their lives to. So why should they want to change. There will always be gangs because boys who need strength stick together."

A young fellow needs to bust out, to get away from it all," he said. "The greatest kick of my own youth was visiting my aunt in Long Island. It seemed a million miles away, but it was only 50, maybe. The things I craved were there — the great spacious outdoors, cows, trees, grass, the things with which a boy from Brooklyn seldom comes in contact. It made me want to see more."

John is doing just that. He is on his way to Paris to play in "The Reluctant Debutante" with Kay Kendall and Rex Harrison.

"We must give our young people faith in themselves" he said.

John, a handsome dark-eyed, black-haired youth who was born Carmine Orrico, said he played "disturbed types" in his recent movies.

Grevemberg Story To Be Shown At Jim

The life story of Francis Grevemberg, former Louisiana state police chief and reformer, will be prsented in a motion picture at the Jim Theatre this week. The picture, entitled "Damn Citizen," was filmd in and around the New Orleans area and stars Keith Andes as the former colonel of police, Margaret Hayes, and Gene Evans.

The picture was shot in a number of locations, particularly in Angiers, and tells the story of Grevemberg's efforts to clean up crime in the state during his time in office, and of some of the pitfalls he encountered during his crusade.

Officials of the film company, Universal - International, said the picture has no identification with New Orleans or the state. The idea is that it could have happened anywhere; people may find local counterparts to some of the conditions in the film.

Universal - International built the picture as a low - budget film. It is not in color and the studio had no big plans for promotion around the nation.

But the picture turned out to be a sleeper, comparing favorably to the "Phoenix City Story" and the company now plans high hopes for its popularity with the public.

James Garner May Replace Clark Gable

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15 (AP)—Warners, the studio that once let Clark Gable go because of his ears, thinks it has found the new Gable.

His name: James Garner.

Garner, as most Sunday night televiewers know, is the star of "Maverick," the show that went on the air this season in a spot that even a leopard would have shunned. That was opposite such formidable competition as Jack Benny, Steve Allen and Ed Sullivan.

"Maverick," of course, has beat them all in the rating war.

But successful as Garner has been on TV, the studio believes his movie potential is even greater, especially since the release of "Sayonara" and the upcoming "Darby's Rangers," in which Garner is the star.

That's why Jack Kelly, as Maverick's brother, recently has been introduced and featured on the TV show. There are technical pro-

Chicago Ballet Engaged Here Friday Night

The newest and most adventuresome of major American dance troupes, the Chicago Opera Ballet, will present an engagement at Neville High School auditorium Friday evening. The program is one of the features of the Twin Cities Community Concert presentations for this season.

There are a few memberships still available for those who have moved to Monroe since the closing of the membership campaign last year. Persons desiring to purchase a membership may do so by calling Mrs. Max Kulcke at Fairfax 2-2155.

The internationally celebrated dancers, Mia Slavenska, Oleg Briansky, Sonia Arova, Job Sanders, Kenneth Johnson, Doreen Tempest, and Barbara Steele headline the touring company of 50, which includes the Chicago Opera Corps de Ballet and an orchestra under the direction of Neal Kayan.

For the first time audiences here will have the opportunity to see two of Ruth Page's most famous ballets, "Revenge" and "The Merry Widow." These are the works that scored resoundingly throughout the country last season on the company's 17 - week, coast - to - coast tour. Before that they had proved big hits in London, Paris, Monte Carlo, Chicago and New York.

FROM EXHAUSTION

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At least two more days and maybe a week in the hospital are ahead for comedian Eddie Rochester Anderson of the Jack Benny television show. Anderson, 52, fainted during a rehearsal Wednesday. A physician at Presbyterian Hospital said he evidently was suffering from physical exaustion.

SAYONARA STARS -- Marlon Brando and the new screen sensation Miiko Taka are shown in a scene from the filmization of James Micheneros best-seller "Sayonará," filmed in Technicolor and Technirama and starting at the Paramount Theater today. The film also stars Patricia Owens, Red Buttons, and Ricardo Montalban. It was directed by Joshua Logan and produced by Wiliam Goetz.

Little Theater Curtain Call

By SANDRA JOHNSON

The big night is drawing near. In less than a week, next Friday, to be exact, the curtain will rise on "The Boy Friend." Don't forget the date is February 21st.

As you know, "The Boy Friend" is scheduled for an extended engagement. Here is a list of the exact nights that the show will run, please note that there will be a Sunday night performance. "The Boy Friend" will open on Friday, Feb. 21st and run as follows: Saturday the 22nd, Sunday the 23rd, Tuesday the 25th, Wednesday the 26th, Thursday the 27th, Friday the 28th, Saturday the 29th. These are all night performances. Please remember there will be no performance Monday night the 24th of February, but there will be a Sunday night show on the 23rd of February.

Extra tickets are still on sale and will remain on sale throughout the run of the show. If you know the exact night you want to see the show, you can make your reservation when you buy the ticket by having the seller note the date on the ticket. If you should be uncertain as to what night you will go, you can make your reservation by calling the Theatre — FA 3-4263, between the hours of 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. starting this coming Thursday.

Notice to the Regular Little Theatre members: If you should make your reservations for "The Boy Friend" for a certain night and then have to change them to another night, please call the Theatre on or before the date of the reservations to make the change. There are so many people wishing to see the show and by not cancelling your reservation, you might cause someone to be turned away.

A few things are still needed for the show. Here's a list, maybe you can help. Eight ice-cream parlor chairs . . . one small iron lawn table and one small iron chair to match, white if possible. If you have such items and would be willing to lend them, please give me a call at FA 3-4903.

See you Wednesday!

NAVY MAKING HEADWAY ON POLARIS

UNDERWATER LAUNCHING — Here's an artist's conception of how the Navy's Polaris could be launched by an atomic submarine submerged off an enemy coast. The missile, encased in a hugh canister, would first be shot to the surface like a torpedo. The canister would open as it reached the surface and at that instant the Polaris itself would be fired.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is so far along in the development of an underwater long-range ballistic missile that the Navy has asked Congress for funds to step up construction of submarine launchers.

Within the next few months the Navy is expected to submit plans for the construction of nine additional atomic-powered underwater boats to be used as missile launchers. Three are already under construction.

Progress on the solid-propellant, 1,500-mile-range Polaris, says the Navy, has been "amazing" — so much so that the missile's development is two years ahead of schedule.

Just how the Navy plans to launch the Polaris from underwater is, for the moment, a military secret.

It is no secret, however, that at the end of World War II the Germans, who had developed the V2 rocket with a 200-mile range, were experimenting with missile launching platforms which were towed to the target areas behind submarines.

These experimental devices were captured by the Russians when they over ran Hitler's rocket base at Peenemunde on the Baltic Sea. There have been persistent reports that the Russians already have missiles which can be launched from submarines.

The old German devices consisted of huge tubes with the missile inside. Upon arriving in the target area the tubes were water ballasted until they turned to upright position.

Since the tubes were subjected to wave motion, the original missiles could not be aimed accurately and were designed for use against large area targets.

The German inventions were crude affairs. Since then, it is believed the underwater launchers have been highly refined.

Obviously the smoke and flame attendant to the firing of a missile underwater in a submarine would make life nearly untenable and extremely dangerous in case of a misfire.

In all probability some canister device has been designed which can be loaded with a missile and fired toward the surface of the sea like a torpedo.

As soon as this canister reaches the surface of the sea, automatically controlled doors on one end will fly open and the missile will be fired almost simultaneously straight up.

By firing the missile straight up from a fixed point beneath the sea and using pre-set gyroscopes to bring it on course, a greater degree of accuracy can be obtained than under the old German system.

In the past four years there have been major breakthroughs in the use of solid propellants. One of these permits use of a solid propellant engine to obtain directional control.

It is further possible that the submarine, by raising a radar periscope tower, can follow the missile after launching from underwater on its initial flight and bring it on course with radio beams.

So far, however, the Navy's chief of operations, Adm. Arleigh Burke, has referred to the Polaris only as a weapon of mass destruction.

This would indicate that pinpoint accuracy with an underwater missile is still some time in the future.

Dry-Land Road Is Key Route

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel has made another step forward in its conquest of the desert: completion of a modern asphalt road crossing the wastelands of the Negev from Beersheba to the new Red Sea port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Older roads branching from Beersheba lead to Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Ashkelon on the Mediterranean coast, linking for the first time in history the Gulf of Aqaba with the eastern Mediterranean and the Judean hinterland.

Premier Ben-Gurion termed the new road a "dry-land Suez Canal."

The new road cuts the car travel time from Beersheba to Eilat from seven or eight hours to 3½. It also is expected to cut transport cost between the two points by 30 per cent.

The development of Eilat is one of Israel's great hopes. The new highway also means a big boost for many projects along the route. Important minerals lie in this part of the Negev and some already are being exploited.

Levee To Be Constructed In Catahoula

HARRISONBURG (Special) — The Bushley Bayou flood control project in Catahoula parish which was authorized last week by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers calls for the construction of a levee on the right descending bank of the Ouachita River from Harrisonburg to Jonesville. This announcement was made by W.C. Brown, commissioner of the Tensas Basin Levee Board.

The initial expenditure of the $448,000 project had been authorized also. Of this total $212,000 will be in federal funds and $236,000 non-federal. The project will qualify for matching funds under Section Six of the 1926 Flood Control Act, as amended, it was said.

Brown voiced credit to Congressman Otto E. Passman, the Louisina Department of Public Works and the Tensas Basin Levee board for putting the project over.

"The first step to our dreams in providing levee protection in Catahoula parish has become a reality," Brown said. "However much work remains to be done."

Toughest Audience For Club Comedian Is Firm's Waiters

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP) — A night club comedian's toughest audience and severest critic is not his mother-in-law, his booking agent nor a tableful of rival comics. It's the waite

"A waiter can make you or break you with th lift of a tureen lid," says Mitch DeWood, a darkly handsome young man who became a comedian because his cousin thought he was funny. His cousin happened to be TV comic Danny Thomas.

"We're sort of a study in international relations. Mitch's an Arab and I'm a Jew," said Marty.

"If the waiter likes your act, he'll put the lid down gently and hush up any loud talk at the table If he doesn't, he'll drop it like a cymbal right on your punch line and may even trip you as you head out for a bow. Waiters will laugh at the same joke every night, if they think it's funny. They are very important critics. You always play to them on opening night."

Adds Marty Allen, the other half of the new comedy team of Allen and DeWood: "You get an awful heavy feeling in the pit of your stomach when the head waiter doesn't crack a smile all through the act. Are you that lousy or is he just having a tough night on tips? You can't tell. It's like playing to the mortician's convention after the bottom fell out of the coffin market."

Since the breakup of Martin and Lewis, the boys ave been hailed by the trade press as the best comedy team in the business, an appraisal reflected in bookings at most of the top clubs and hotels across the country and in several television guest appearances.

They came together as a team four years ago at the suggestion of Danny Thomas, who saw Marty perform in a Boston supper club. He immediately saw the possibilities of teaming him with cousin Mitch, then doing a supporting role in the Thomas act.

"Most of the time we get along allright, but occasionally our manager has to play Dag Hammarskjold to settle a petty dispute."

Unlike most comedy teams, Allen and DeWood do not adhere to the traditional straight man-foil combination.

Both are talented singers, dancers and mimics, and they take turns playing straight to each other.

"Humor today," says Mitch, "has got to be topical and it can't be off color. One blue line and you're dead, even in New York. People see a lot of comedians on television and they want the best when they go out to pay for it. The days of the dirty joke night club comedian are gone, we're both glad of it."

To keep their humor topical, the boys follow world news closely and often rewrite their act en-route to the club to bring it up to date.

When the Russians launched their first Sputnik, Marty picked up the news over a transistor radio while they were flying into Miami for an opening. That night Mitch was up a chair with two swiggle sick protruding from his ears and Marty was down below conducting a person-to-person interview with outer space.

When Laika went aloft in Sputnik II, they quick added this bit:

Marty: "What do you do for exercise up there, Ivan?

Mitch: "I walk the dog."

"The headwaiter laughed that night," recalls Marty, "so we kept it in."

Optimist Club Here To Sponsor Magician Show

The Monroe Optimist Club will sponsor "Magirama, 1958," a magician show, here Saturday, March 22nd, according to James Hobbs, president.

Hobbs said a portion of the proceeds would go to the boys' fund of the club. The Optimist Club, who originally sponsored the Babe Ruth League, is currently planning a new boys' program for Monroe.

According to Hobbs, a ticket sale is underway for the magician show. The show will feature Carlo the Magician. It will be the second time the show has been presented here.

Two performances will be staged — a matinee and a night show. It will be presented at the Neville High School auditorium.

Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanganyika, Africa, has two peaks. The highest reaches 19,321 feet.

Hollywood Theme Used For Mardi Gras Ball At Country Club

The tenth annual Mardi Gras Ball held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club on Saturday evening, February 15, was an evening to remember in a model Hollywood. The ball committees, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Garretson, general chairman transformed the entire club into a thing of beauty and wonder.

The entrance of the club was a spectacular Hollywood Premiere. A glittering marquee, colorful swags, show cards and a flamboyant golden door marked the section known as Sunset Strip. Masqueraders then took a journey through Farmer's Market, otherwise known as the foyer. Mrs. Robert Wood, assisted by Mrs. Harold Woods and Mrs. Fred Sartor, used to create the Market, huge overhead banners to welcome guests. Clever gaily draped stalls offered a variety of wares including foods, flowers, straw goods and curios of every description. A special feature of the Market was the clever money tree.

The main ballroom depicted Outside Graumann's Chinese Theatre. Mrs. Bishop Johnston with her committee, Mrs. J. W. Perry, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. Fred Amman, Mrs. H. W. McSherry, Mrs. Kent Breard, Mrs. Winnie Cole and Jim Wallace, featured stars arriving in dazzling attire for the Premiere of "The King and I" on one wall. The Hall of Fame had on display Chinese Pagoda with "Oscar" and naturally the most famous footprints. The elegant Oriental entrance created for the scene of the coronation, which took place at nine - thirty in the evening, was colorful with a backdrop curtain shading from a pale yellow into tangerine with an accent of green over gold. The Regal throne mounted on a platform was covered with gold lame and banked with royal palms.

The Court Planning Committee was composed of Mrs. James Ewing III, chairman, with Mrs. A. G. McHenry Jr., Mrs. Roert Easterling and Mrs. Thad Ryan Jr.

On the sun porch was the ever famous Brown Derby Restaurant. Here, Mrs. Thomas Pitt with her committee, Mrs. Aileen Guthrie, Mrs. Jack Gaines, Mrs. O. C. Jones, Jack May and Mrs. Florence Cammack, created a background of brown paneling and booths for the seating of the stars.

The canopied entrance was flanked by potted stylized trees. The tables, covered with brown cloths, were lighted by candles in holders with brown derbys for shades. Napkins, souvenier matches and menus added to the reproduction.

If you chose, you could dine at the exhilarating Coconut Grove Restaurant, hence the dining room of the club. Hugh coconut palms gave this room a relaxing atmosphere. The star studded ceiling was given a soft glow by the candles placed in halves of coconut shells on the tables. These brilliant ideas came from Mrs. James Moore and her committee, Mrs. Roy Kelly, Mrs. George Spencer, Mrs. D. V. Loflin, and Mrs. Jamar Adcock.

A real "Night Out in Hollywood" would not be complete with out a stop at the Mocambo Night Club, which was reproduced in the bar. Mrs. N. Klam with her committee, Mrs. Echard Wheeler, Mrs. Burchel Liles, Mrs. R. W. Dickenhorst, Mrs. Fred Marx and Mrs. Faheam Cannon, achieved a most professional decor for this club with the bright red canopies; the unique wall of bird cages, filled with beautifully colored parakeets; and the red and white medallions of roses mounted on the wall. The gay entrance was developed by the use of huge bird cages, filled with tropical greenery and birds. All of the accessories used in this room were of original Mocambo design.

What trip to Hollywood would be complete without a visit to the Film Set. The Film Studio, placed in the teenage room, was designed by Mrs. Fred Fudickar, assisted by Mrs. Ben Marshall, Mrs. W. J. Riley Jr., Mrs. Harold Woods, Mrs. W. J. Riley Sr., Pat Riley, Miss Mary Anita Lennon, Mrs. Lon Heuer and Mrs. Jack M Cook. Caricatures of Bob Hope, Ingrid Bergman, James Stuart, Jane Russell, Marilyn Monroe, and Frank Sinatra were placed around the walls with The Stars of Tomorrow cleverly depicted "On the Set." A Western scene, typical of the Wyatt Earp and Dodge City movies, was used as a background. Adding to the professional look of a real film studio were cameras, lights and the directors chairs.

A gala evening in the star studded city was enjoyed by all the masqueraders, many of which derived the ideas for their costumes from the original verse invitations designed by Mrs. George Weaks.

MR. AND MRS. WENDELL IRVING MOORE

Miss Hancock Becomes Bride Of Wendell Moore

Miss Dorothy Jean Hancock, daughter of Mrs. M. D. Hancock of Ruston, became the bride of Wendell Irving Moore of Shreveport, in an impressive double ring ceremony Saturday, January 25, at the Rock Corner Baptist Church near Ruston.

The wedding was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and out of town friends, by Rev. Arnold Lee Norsworthy. The couple stood beneath a white arch entwined with ivy and scattered with white carnations. Large bouquets of white stock interspersed with green fern were placed at the base of the arch. Candelabra entwined with ivy, holding white tapers, flanked each side of the altar which was banked with green palms. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

Guests were seated by the ushers, James Elton Frasier, cousin of the bride, and Frazier Bratton. Last to be seated was the mother of the bride, who was dressed in a black princess styled suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Arnold Norsworthy rendered a program of music and accompanied Miss Sherry Williamson as she sang "Because" and "Always." The candles were lighted by the ushers.

The maid of honor, Miss Lorenne Frasier, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jo LaNelle Rigdon, bridesmaid, wore identical waltz-length gowns of lavendar lace over pleated net and taffeta with sleeveless fitted bodice and a net stole. They wore matching bandeaux, short gloves and white satin slippers. Their cascading bouquets were of white carnations.

Prior to the entrance of the bride, Miss Jean Hancock, flower girl entered wearing a white waltz - length gown and carrying a colonial bouquet of white carnations and diasies.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Jewell Kierbow, looked radiant in her gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. It was fashioned on princess lines with mandarin neckline and long sleeves ending in calla points over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with an orchid and white lace.

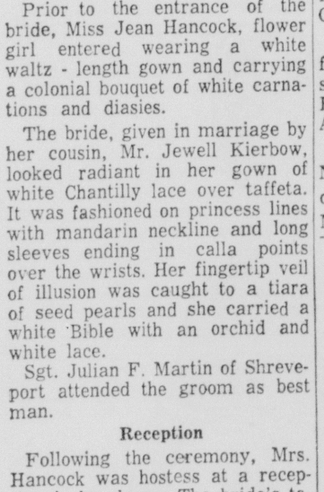

Sgt. Julian F. Martin of Shreveport attended the groom as best man.

Reception

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Hancock was hostess at a reception in her home. The bride's table was covered with a pale green cloth with a white crocheted overskirt.

The three - tiered wedding cake was embossed with pink and white roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bride placed her bouquet on one end of the table for added beauty. Mrs. Elton Frasier presided at the punch bowl, while Mrs. Billy R. Cassel served the cake. Assisting in the courtesies were Miss Pam Brewster and Miss Sheila Williamson.

Mrs. Ragan Brewster registered guests in the bride's book.

MISS PEGGY JOYCE HAMILTON'S engagement to Richard Joe Runnels has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hamilton, of Kilbourne. He is the son of Mrs. C. H. Runnels of Eudora, Ark., and the late Mr. Runnels. The wedding will take place on February twenty-eighth, in the Omega Baptist Church, Eudora, Ark.

MR. AND MRS. RUDY RAMSEY

Miss Flanigan And R. Ramsey Exchange Vows

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hessick was the scene of the marriage of Miss Willie Mae Flanigan, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Flanigan, and Mr. Rudy Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ramsey of West Monroe.

The Rev. D. F. Anders performed the double ring ceremony on February 3 at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, before a mantle embanked with white stock and southern smilax, and flanked on either side by branched candelabra with burning white tapers.

The candles were lighted by Master Terry Hessick and Miss Belinda Schmidt.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather. She was lovely in a waltz length gown of chantilly lace. The bodice was accented by a short fitted jacket with long sleeves and the voluminous skirt was designed with tiers of chantilly lace. Her veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She wore pearl earrings, a gift from the groom. She carried a white orchid caught with white satin streamers and carnations, mounted on a white bible.

Mrs. Carl Hessick, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a lime green waltz length dress with matching bandeau, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom chose as best man, his brother, Mr. Pierce Ramsey.

The grandmother of the bride was wearing a powder blue silk suit with black accessories and corsage of white ranuculas.

The groom's mother was attired in a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white ranuculas.

Reception

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The bride's four tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the table with the crystal punch service at the opposite end. Presiding here were Mrs. Paul Schmidt and Miss Martha Jane Oden. Miss Joyce Lanier presided at the guest book.

The bride chose for travel, an electric blue suit accented by the orchid from her bouquet, and a small white feather hat.

Serving the groom as best man will be Earl Stanley with Reggie Guice and Jim Antley as ushers.

Miss Martin is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Tinsley and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Martin. She graduated from West Monroe High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society.

The couple plans to make their home in West Monre after the wedding ceremony. In June they will leave to make their new home in Beaumont, Texas.

Miss Vita Jean Zagone And Travis A. Maxwell Exchange Wedding Vows

At nine o'clock in the morning, January twenty-nineth, in St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Miss Vita Jean Zagone and Travis A. Maxwell were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor P. Zagone and the groom's parents are Mr. Jesse E. Maxwell of Fresno, Calif., and the late Mrs. Maxwell.

Father John Wakeman performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and tall burning white tapers. At various places about the church, were lighted tapers. At the organ was Mrs. Della Williamson.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was gowned in a white velveteen waltz length model with a wide white cummerbund. The veil fell from a velvet headdress. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Miss Evy Lee Ritter served as maid of honor and wore a gown of grey velveteen with a bandeau headdress of pink velvet. The matron of honor, Mrs. Carey Messina, was dressed identical to the maid of honor.

J. C. Zagone served as best man and the ushers were A. F. Canizaro, Carey Messina and Glenn Johnston.

Mrs. Zagone chose for her daughter's wedding, a periwinkle blue crepe dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Home.

The bride's table was centered with a three - tiered cake, flanked by silver candelabras. Presiding here were Mrs. E. L. Ritter and Mrs. Charles Marsala. Miss Margaret Costanza presided at the bride's book.

The bride chose for travel, a navy crepe suit with matching accessories At her shoulder was a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of St. Matthew's High School. The groom is a graduate of Rayville High School and attended LSU and Northeast State College.

New color combinations are on the way in the jewelry industry. The Fashion Coordination Institute said two "comers" are white combined with rhinestones for daytime suits and dresses, and silver jewelry worn with beige casual clothes.

The Truth About Hormones To Make Skin Look Young

As I write this article, I can look through the doorway and see a woman of 45 waiting in the outer office. The light is good and I see her clearly.

She looks 10 years younger today than she did a month ago. What brought about this amazing change? Estrogenic hormones. Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they are 20 again? Only in a way I shall explain later.

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: 1. The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of menopause begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic homones to feed the skin — less and less as you grow older. 2. Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied the same way.

These are the reports in simple words:

Skin lines (or wrinkles quickly dimmed or disappeared from sight as creases and hollows filled out.

Blotches and "old-age freckles" faded on hands, face and neck.

Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness, and take on revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Still another scientist reports in effect, improvement in the skin of women past menopause was striking. These women looked like the years had been turned back toward their youthful "pre-change" appearance.

I've seen this myself. I have seen the improvement so rapid that in just two days women looked younger. And, what a lift to the spirits! I cannot truthfully say that women, of 60 felt like they were 20 again. But I have seen the light come back into their eyes—their chins raised with proud confidence—the zest for living return — because — I presume — to look younger is to feel younger.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: the strength of the hormone preparations must appear on the label. The recommended daily allotment for the skin is 330 Innternational Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in lanolin and vegetable oils to permit fast penetration and deep absorption and when "rubbed in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a 36-year-old laboratory that has produced over 80 million packages of pure, fine cosmetics.

What is more, it is guaranteed to bring you joyous, noticeable results in 5 days or your money back. HORMONEX Beauty Serum is really a bargain at $3.50. So, if you want to see if your dreams of a younger-looking skin — with wrinkles dimmed, color and texture improved, can come true, I suggest you get a 100-day supply now. Use HORMONEX Beauty Serum for 5 days—then look for amazing results.

A single drop is so potent

A 100-day supply costs only $3.50 plus tax

The most potent hormone preparation we know of for beauty culture — 33,000 I. U. per ounce—equal to three and one-half 1-ounce jars of standard hormone cream. One bottle lasts about 100 days. Just 7 drops daily gives you the maximum allotment of female hormones. Contains large percentage of Lanolin and Sesame Oil — it penetrates. ... ... ...

Miss Stewart, S. Richardson Exchange Vows

The Tallulah Methodist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Saturday Feb. 1 at four o'clock in the afternoon when Miss Mary Elizabeth Stewart and Stephen Lowrey Richardson were united in marriage. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Madison Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Richardson of Franklinton, La. The Rev. William F. Mayo officiated at the double ring ceremony assisted by the Rev. James T. Harris of Monroe, uncle of the bridegroom.

White cathedral candles and masses of greenery formed a back ground for the chancel and at either end of the communion rail a branched candelabrum held glowing white candles. Bouquets of white gladioli, stock and mums in floor baskets stood with n the chancel. White ribbon bows with sprigs of white blossoms marked the family pews.

Preceding the entrance of the wedding party Mrs. J. C. Sherwin played selections of appropriate nuptial music and accompanied Miss Gail Waugh who sang "Because" and at the end of the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer."

The bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Barnes of Crowley and Mrs. Richard Magee, of Franklinton, sister of the groom; matron of honor, Mrs. James W. Deaton of Austin, Texas and maid of honor, Miss Emma Lou Stewart, of Springhill, La., cousin of the bride, wore identical sheath gowns of aqua brocade satin fashioned with cummerbunds of deeper toned satin forming bows in the back and hem length streamers. Bows of matching satin were worn on their hair and they wore short white gloves and carried nosegays of white carnations and florets of stock.

Escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage, the radiant bride was lovely in her wedding gown of peau de ange styled with molded bodice extending to a point below the waistline in the back and featuring a princess line front. A panel enhanced by re - embroidered Rosepoint lace extended to the hem and also framed the graceful V shaped neckline. Tiny self covered buttons were used to fasten the back of the bodice and the long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. The voluminous skirt swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl trimmed headdress. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, French carnations and florets of stock. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Bobby Miller of Baton Rouge served as best man and the ushers were Richard Morgan and Richard W. Richardson both of Franklinton, La., and Archie Stewart, Jr.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stewart chose a gray lace dress over taffeta with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Richardson, mother of the bridegroom was attired in Dior blue crepe with satin and chiffon trim, matching accessories and a pale blue flowered hat. She also wore an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart entertained with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church which was beautifully decorated with magnolia foliage, white candles and arrangements of white flowers. Receiving with the bride and groom were their mothers and the wedding attendants.

The refreshment table covered with an imported embroidered cut work linen cloth was centered with white Dutch iris and tulips in a crystal basket. A crystal punch bowl stood at one end and at the opposite end the three tiered embossed wedding cake.

Alternating at the punch service were Mrs. F. S. Wells of Lewisville, Ark., Mrs. H. O. Simmons Jr., of Kentwood, La., Mrs. W. D. Stewart of Springhill and serving the cake were Mrs. William C. Higbee of Jackson, Miss., Miss Julia Wooley of Monroe, Mrs. Robert L. Morris of Lewisville, Ark., and Mrs. J. H. Powell of Poplarville, Miss.

Miss Harriet Smith of Monroe and Miss Nettie Lou Wells of Lewisville, Ark., invited the guests to register in the bride's book at a small table featuring a bridal decoration. Floating hostesses who assisted in the courtesies were Mrs. J. Roy Medlin, Mrs. J. C. Sherwin, Mrs. W. F. Mayo and Mrs. R. C. Randall. Tea girls were Miss Gail Waugh, Miss Barbara Loe, Miss Beth Brown and Miss Gwen Fortenberry of Hattiesburg, Miss.

When the couple left for their honeymoon trip to an undisclosed destination the bride was wearing an electric blue and white silk print dress with matching blue wool jacket and blue velvet hat, white gloves and black patent accessories. A white orchid was pinned to her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will reside in Ruston where both are upper-classmen at Louisiana Polytechnic Institue.

MRS. TRAVIS A. MAXWELL

Miss Vita Jean Zagone And Travis A. Maxwell Exchange Wedding Vows

At nine o'clock in the morning, January twenty-nineth, in St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Miss Vita Jean Zagone and Travis A. Maxwell were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor P. Zagone and the groom's parents are Mr. Jesse E. Maxwell of Fresno, Calif., and the late Mrs. Maxwell.

Father John Wakeman performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and tall burning white tapers. At various places about the church, were lighted tapers. At the organ was Mrs. Della Williamson.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was gowned in .. white velveteen waltz length model with a wide white cummerbund. The veil fell from a velvet headdress. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Miss Evy Lee Ritter served as maid of honor and wore a gown of grey velveteen with a bandeau headdress of pink velvet. The matron of honor, Mrs. Carey Messina, was dressed identical to the maid of honor.

J. C. Zagone served as best man and the ushers were A. F. Canizaro, Carey Messina and Glenn Johnston.

Mrs. Zagone chose for her daughter's wedding, a periwinkle blue crepe dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Home.

Miss Jerelyn Garrett Becomes The Bride Of Walter D. Edwards Jr.

Dignity and simplicity was evident at the First Baptist Church of Ruston, on Saturday evening, January 18, at 7 o'clock when Miss Jerelyn Alice Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Eugene Garrett, became the bride of Walter David Edwards, Jr., son of Mr. & Mrs. Walter David Edwards, Sr.

Tall candelabras entwined with southern smilax holding burning white tapers shed a soft light over the garlands of white pom-mums, white stock and chrysanthemums, that formed the background for the altar before which the impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Avery Lee.

Large white mums tied with white satin ribbons marked pews for members of the family.

Miss Barbara Ward, at the organ, played traditional prenuptial music as the guests were seated. She also accompanied Mr. Tommy Nix who sang, Always and Because after which the candles were lighted by the ushers.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was a picture of beauty in her exquisite waltz length gown of candlelight Italian silk with accents of alencon lace. The elongated bodice that came to a point at the waist featured a low cut neckline appliqued with alencon lace in a scollop design and outlined with sequins and seed pearls. The long sleeves buttoned at the wrist extended into petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt fell from a tiny waist over hoops and crinolines. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with a cascading bouquet of lilly of the valley, feathered carnations and centered with a white orchid. For something blue she carried a blue handkerchief, a gift of Mrs. J. A. Edwards the grooms grandmother. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom.

Mrs. J. A. Fraser of New Orleans attended the bride as Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Blair and Miss Martha Nicol both of Shreveport. Their gowns were of rich American Beauty velvet with scooped necklines, elbow length sleeves and flared skirts that fell from the new elongated waistline. They wore tiny hats of velvet leaves fashioned as crowns with tiered net. They carried cascading bouquets of shaded pink carnations and Columbia Roses. The bridesmaids only ornaments were cultured pearl earings, which were the gift of the bride.

MARJORIE DULL

Marjorie Dull, E. T. Holloway Engaged To Wed

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Irvin R. Dull of Connellsville, Pennsylvania of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjorie Ann, to Lt. Edwin Till Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Holloway, Cole Avenue.

Miss Dull graduated from Connellsville High School and is presently employed by the Federal Government in Washington, D. C. Lt. Holloway, a West Pointer of the class of 1956, is stationed in Washington where he is the Battery Executive officer of a Nike Missile Battery. He is also serving as a White House Social Aide to the President and the First Lady.

The wedding plans have been made for March 8, in the First Methodist Church of Connellsville.

MRS. WALTER DAVID EDWARDS, JR.

Mr. John Ward Edwards attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Gene Garrett of Fort Worth, Texas, brother of the bride and Fred Price of Shreveport.

The brides mother chose a wedgewood blue lace with matching accessories. Mrs. Edwards wore a blue lace sheath with matching accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Home Reception

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of the brides parents. The table was covered with an imported cutwork linen cloth and was centered with the brides bouquet. Silver candelabra holding all pink burning tapers flanked the lovely centerpiece of pink snapdragon and white mums. The four-tiered wedding cake embossed with pink roses and topped with two white wedding bells, was placed at one end of the table, and the crystal punch service was at the opposite end.

Other decorations in the home were carried out in the white and pink color scheme. The bridesmaids bouquets ornamented each end of the mantle. The table for the bridesbook was illuminated by an anniversary candle, and was presided over by Miss Loyce Garrett. Members of the house party included Mrs. J. A. Edwards, Mrs. B. T. Buntyn, Mrs. G. T. Shinpoch, Mrs. L. J. Garrett, Mrs. Guy Baker, Mrs. G. B. Hogg, Mrs. Gene Garrett, Fort Worth, Texas, Mrs. Lloyd Millard, Mrs. James T. Best, Shreveport, Miss Teresa Flores, Mrs. L. C. Bloxom both of Shreveport and Mrs. Helen Williams. Tiny bags of rice wrapped in white tulle and tied with white satin ribbon were distributed among the guests by little Miss Dianna Bloxom of Shreveport and Miss Jerelyn Joiner of Simsboro.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mrs. Edwards was wearing a beige wool sheath, complimented by a mink stole, to which she pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return they will be at home in Shreveport, Louisiana where Mr. Edwards is employed by Murphy Corporation.

Miss Copland, Tommy E. Nix Exchange Vows

The wedding of Alice Coplen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Coplen, and Tommy Eugene Nix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Nix, was solemnized on February 1 at six o'clock in the evening in the home of her parents in Ruston. The Rev. A. H. Johnson officiated.

Arrangements of white gladioli and palm in tall baskets against a background of emerald smilax enhanced the beauty of the room. Floor candelabra wreathed in greenery, held glowing white tapers.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in her traditional wedding gown of creamy white Chantilly lace and tulle. The bouffant skirt was ballerina length. Tiny self - covered buttons closed the back and the tight - fitting sleeves, which came to points over the hands. From her tiara of pearls fell a veil of white illusion.

Miss Mary Jo Coplen was her sister's only attendant. She wore a soft blue sheath and her flowers were pink carnations. Charles Johnson served the groom as best man.

Th reception was held immediately following the double ring ceremony. Serving the lovely wedding cake was Judy Zachary, and Joyce Ann Lyles presided at the punch bowl. Also, aiding in the serving courtesies were Mrs. W. B. Evans, Miss Norma Jean Terrill, Miss Linda Coplen, and Miss Peggy Terrill.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a fitted pink wool suit with a fur collar. Her hat was of matching velvet.

The young couple will be at home in Ruston at 1909 Nelson Avenue where will continue his studies at Louisiana Tech.

MRS. TOMMY EUGENE NIX

LIVING® GIRDLES

Unlike ordinary girdles that sag, Playtex holds its shape like new month after month —thanks to miracle material Fabricon

No other girdle holds its original shape—the way a Playtex does! The reason is Fabricon—airy blend of latex and cotton. A unique material that gives every Playtex girdle the same perfect shape and slimming power six months later as the day you bought it! You have to wear a Playtex to know how it slims and smooths your figure—so naturally, so beautifully. And in heavenly comfort—without a bone, seam or stitch! Washes in seconds, pats dry in minutes. Nothing like it anywhere!

When ordinary—or even expensive—girdles get limp and sag, they lose their support and control . . . do nothing for your figure. But the lasting all-way stretch of miracle Fabricon makes Playtex girdles hold their shape like new, month after month. Never sag, never wrinkle, never ride up!

No wonder so many women of fashion prefer a Playtex. It does so much more for your figure —to make all the newest fashions fit and look better. There is a Playtex girdle for every figure.

Miss Jerelyn Garrett Becomes The Bride Of Walter D. Edwards Jr.

Dignity and simplicity was evident at the First Baptist Church of Ruston, on Saturday evening, January 18, at 7 o'clock when Miss Jerelyn Alice Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Eugene Garrett, became the bride of Walter David Edwards, Jr., son of Mr. & Mrs. Walter David Edwards, Sr.

Tall candelabras entwined with southern smilax holding burning white tapers shed a soft light over the garlands of white pom-mums, white stock and chrysanthemums, that formed the background for the altar before which the impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Avery Lee.

Large white mums tied with white satin ribbons marked pews for members of the family.

Miss Barbara Ward, at the organ, played traditional pre-nuptial music as the guests were seated. She also accompanied Mr. Tommy Nix who sang, Always and Because after which the candles were lighted by the ushers.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was a picture of beauty in her exquisite waltz length gown of candlelight Italian silk with accents of alencon lace. The elongated bodice that came to a point at the waist featured a low cut neckline appliqued with alencon lace in a scollop design and outlined with sequins and seed pearls. The long sleeves buttoned at the wrist extended into petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt fell from a tiny waist over hoops and crinolines. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with a cascading bouquet of lilly of the valley, feathered carnations and centered with a white orchid. For something blue she carried a blue handkerchief, a gift of Mrs. J. A. Edwards the grooms grandmother. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom.

Mrs. J. A. Fraser of New Orleans attended the bride as Matron of Honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Blair and Miss Martha Nicol both of Shreveport. Their gowns were of rich American Beauty velvet with scooped necklines, elbow length sleeves and flared skirts that fell from the new elongated waistline. They wore tiny hats of velvet leaves fashioned as crowns with tiered net. They carried cascading bouquets of shaded pink carnations and Columbia Roses. The bridesmaids only ornaments were cultured pearl earings, which were the gift of the bride.

Marjorie Dull, E. T. Holloway Engaged To Wed

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Irvin R. Dull of Connellsville, Pennsylvania of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjorie Ann, to Lt. Edwin Till Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Holloway, Cole Avenue.

Miss Dull graduated from Connellsville High School and is presently employed by the Federal Government in Washington, D. C. Lt. Holloway, a West Pointer of the class of 1956, is stationed in Washington where he is the Battery Executive officer of a Nike Missile Battery. He is also serving as a White House Social Aide to the President and the First Lady.

The wedding plans have been made for March 8, in the First Methodist Church of Connellsville.

MRS. WALTER DAVID EDWARDS, JR.

Mr. John Ward Edwards attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Gene Garrett of Fort Worth, Texas, brother of the bride and Fred Price of Shreveport.

The brides mother chose a wedgewood blue lace with matching accessories. Mrs. Edwards wore a blue lace sheath with matching accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Home Reception

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of the brides parents. The table was covered with an imported cutwork linen cloth and was centered with the brides bouquet. Silver candelabra holding all pink burning tapers flanked the lovely centerpiece of pink snapdragon and white mums. The four-tiered wedding cake embossed with pink roses and topped with two white wedding bells, was placed at one end of the table, and the crystal punch service was at the opposite end.

Other decorations in the home were carried out in the white and pink color scheme. The bridesmaids bouquets ornamented each end of the mantle. The table for the bridesbook was illuminated by an anniversary candle, and was presided over by Miss Loyce Garrett. Members of the house party included Mrs. J. A. Edwards, Mrs. B. T. Buntyn, Mrs. G. T. Shinpoch, Mrs. L. J. Garrett, Mrs. Guy Baker, Mrs. G. B. Hogg, Mrs. Gene Garrett, Fort Worth, Texas, Mrs. Lloyd Millard, Mrs. James T. Best, Shreveport, Miss Teresa Flores, Mrs. L. C. Bloxom both of Shreveport and Mrs. Helen Williams. Tiny bags of rice wrapped in white tulle and tied with white satin ribbon were distributed among the guests by little Miss Dianna Bloxom of Shreveport and Miss Jerelyn Joiner of Simsboro.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mrs. Edwards was wearing a beige wool sheath, complimented by a mink stole, to which she pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return they will be at home in Shreveport, Louisiana where Mr. Edwards is employed by Murphy Corporation.

Miss Copland, Tommy E. Nix Exchange Vows

The wedding of Alice Coplen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Coplen, and Tommy Eugene Nix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Nix, was solemnized on February 1 at six o'clock in the evening in the home of her parents in Ruston. The Rev. A. H. Johnson officiated.

Arrangements of white gladioli and palm in tall baskets against a background of emerald smilax enhanced the beauty of the room. Floor candelabra wreathed in greenery, held glowing white tapers.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in her traditional wedding gown of creamy white Chantilly lace and tulle. The bouffant skirt was ballerina length. Tiny self - covered buttons closed the back and the tight - fitting sleeves, which came to points over the hands. From her tiara of pearls fell a veil of white illusion.

Miss Mary Jo Coplen was her sister's only attendant. She wore a soft blue sheath and her flowers were pink carnations. Charles Johnson served the groom as best man.

Th reception was held immediately following the double ring ceremony. Serving the lovely wedding cake was Judy Zachary, and Joyce Ann Lyles presided at the punch bowl. Also, aiding in the serving courtesies were Mrs. W. B. Evans, Miss Norma Jean Terrill, Miss Linda Coplen, and Miss Peggy Terrill.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a fitted pink wool suit with a fur collar. Her hat was of matching velvet.

The young couple will be at home in Ruston at 1009 Nelson Avenue where he will continue his studies at Louisiana Tech.

MRS. TOMMY EUGENE NIX

Engagement Announced

Announcement is made of the engagement of Mrs. Alfred Ross Brin of 2760 Point Drive, to Morris Wright of New Orleans.

She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hirsch of Dallas, Texas, and he is the son of Mrs. Louis Wright of Eunice, and the late Mr. Wright.

The wedding is to be an event of March sixth, in New Orleans, at Temple Sinai, with Rabbi Julian Feibleman performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Albert Hirsch of Dallas will serve as matron of honor. Serving as best man will be Sidney Wright of Houston, Texas.

The bride - elect is a graduate of the University of Texas and a member of Alpha Epsilon Phi.

The groom - elect attended Tulane University, college of law and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Order of the Coif Board of Editors of the Tulane Law Review.

The couple will make their home in New Orleans.

On Dit'

by Denise

On dit - - - they say - - - everyone is talking about - - - holidays, holidays, holidays! Glorious, gay, February, with Valentine's Day and Mardi Gras in the same week, and other assorted great days throughout. Even the Boy Scouts have their official birthday this month.

The week opened with snow on the ground and freezing winds, but the Monroe Garden club little camellia show Monday made spring indoors. Arrangements using flowers against wallpaper or material suitable for various rooms and types of tables were shown.

For an entrance hall, Carrie McKenzie arranged stock, Japanese magnolias, camellias and jonquils in a black compote, the whole correlating perfectly with the picture hanging above to complete the grouping . . . A crescent of pink camellias used with a white figurine against mauve raw silk was Mary Lee Milam's idea for a modern living room . . . Katherine Foster used three varieties of red camellias with driftwood in an arrangement suitable for a den . . . The formal dining table was developed entirely in white, Silver, and crystal. Dit Cutler, Bessie Biedenharn, and Lela Shattuck used white and blush camellias in two mutually complementary diagonal arrangements in matching silver compotes . . .

Invitations in the mail this week remembered St. Valentine with hearts and flowers. A spray of red roses fanned across the cards which were delivered to the junior high set announcing the formal dance honoring Shawn McBride and Linda Engstrom at the Forge Friday night . . . Lora Carson and Dot Rorex's invitations to a coffee at the Lotus club were formally printed — in red, yet, and with a lacy heart overprinted in the center.

Real Valentine cards set the theme for Lyn Wattley's party, where red hearts, balloons, and a heart - shaped cake contributed to the atmosphere. The little guests were incarnate Valentines in their party frocks. Among the early arrivals were Brenda Bell in red velvet with a lace collar, and Pat Sanders in pink velvet appliqued with a mink poodle dog on a rhinestone leash.

Playing stick - the - arrow - on-the heart were Louise Terzia in a grey and white cord trimmed in white linen; Barbara Smith; Holly Heuer; and Vee Marshall in red velvet with angora trim . . . Bethia Brown won the musical chairs game edging out such contenders as Karen Hayward, Cindy Easterling, Wendy Williams, Kelsie Lyons . . . The little hostess, wearing pink pima embroidered with rosebuds, was assisted in cutting cake by her sister Catherine, in a red, white and green jumper with a white blouse . . . Heartbroken at missing this party were Becky Heunefeld and Jeanne Frazer.

Tony Veazey triumphed over various obstacles including husband Bill's illness, an indisposed maid, and the weather to host the loveliest of Valentine coffees at her home on Wednesday. Her hundreds of African violets were used throughout the reception suite, with dozens of them in bloom in varying shades of pink, lavender, and white.

"Beautiful" is the only word to describe the food, all of which tasted as good as it looked. The guests had difficulty in picking a favorite from the tempting array. Voting for the hot baked cheese balls was Carol Layton, while Merrill Thompson picked the tiny tarts filled with lemon creme. Laura Johnson and Biddy Taliaferro were sampling the seasonal sandwiches of coconut, almonds, and cream cheese on pink bread. Wilhemina Inabnet and Polly Parchais game, edgng out such rish passed trays of tiny hot biscuits filled with ham and plates of heart-shaped cinnamon cookies.

The table was a feast for the eyes, covered in white imported Swiss organdy, and centered with a standing heart of ruffled white tulle used with stock and red carnations. Coffee and sherry were served at opposite ends of the table. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. B. Dawkins, Mrs. D. L. Anderson, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, Mrs. R. M. Kittering.

Mardi Gras is the event, the season, the spirit. Out - of - towners coming here; Monroyans going to New Orleans. Among those leaving for the Crescent City is Nancy Snellings, who went down by train for the ball of the Krewe of Apollo on Friday evening . . . Zette and George Trousdale and Mary Louise and George Snellings left this weekend and will attend the balls of Proteus and Comus . . . Going down in time for the big day Tuesday and the Comus ball will be Nancy and George Weaks . . .

Here for the Mardi Gras party at the Bayou DeSiard Country club are Mamie Scott's sister, Mrs. Guy Holloway of Laredo, Texas, and Mrs. W. R. Stevens of San Antonio. During their visit of several days they have been honored at three dinner parties and have also found time for a quick trip to Shreveport. Their hosts have included the A. D. Bernhardts, the Leon Suttons, and the Ernest Cruses.

Among the arrivals for the weekend have been several of our own college - age lovelies to grace the court which presided at the country club ball. Coming the long way around was Helen Theus, who went from the University of Alabama to visit Ann Jarrell at Newcombe. The girls and their escorts attended the ball of the Krewe of Apollo Friday night. Saturday morning the whole group drove to Monroe.

Working clothes have been high style at the country club this week, where nails and cardboard and tinsel and paper and paint and glitter transformed the whole building into an outpost of Hollywood. The committees and the workers have been listed elsewhere, but Denise took note of some outfits which proved that one may work and still look stylish . . . Mary Anita Lennon was nattily attired in charcoal walking shorts with a a gray - on - gray sweater, while Mary Jean McCook chose plaid Bermudas with her black sweater and high socks . . . Adele Ransom wore a bright blue chemise - line blouse with a tweed skirt, and Ellen Mintz, a beige cashmere sweater and matching pedal pushers . . . All in long tapered plaid slacks were Charlotte Ethridge, Helen Wallace, and general chairman Florence Garretson . . . The men were also working, though we have no notes on their apparel. Noted after office hours were Fred Amman, Jack McCook, Fred Marx.

Not much room for the poetry corner this week, so we will content ourselves with this short work by Ogden Nash, entitled "Biological Reflection".

A girl whose cheeks are covered with paint,
Has an advantage with me over one whose ain't.

MR. AND MRS JON MURRAY SCHOEDER were married in Carmi, Illinois. She is the former Miss Marjorie McMahon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. McMahon of Carmi, and Mr. Schroeder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schroeder of West Monore, Louisiana. They will be at home after March first in Monroe, where Mr. Schroeder is a student at Northeast State College.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Peggy Grimes to James Edward Ginn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ginn, of Mer Rouge, is announced today by her mother, Mrs. C. W. Grimes, also of Mer Rouge. Her father is the late Mr. Grimes. Mr. Ginn is a graduate of Northeast State College where Miss Grimes was also a student. The Mer Rouge Methodist Church will be the scene of the wedding on March twenty-first, at 7:00 p.m.

No Sandwich Bread-Try Pancake Mix

NEW YORK — Cheese sandwiches for lunch? They'll get raves when made with pancake mix.

Cut 2 tablespoons of shortening into 2 cups o your favorite mix. When the mixture resembles coarse crumbs, add two-thirds cups milk and stir until just dampened. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll to a scant ⅛-inch thickness.

Cut 12 4-inch squares. Put a slice of cheese between two squares, sealing the edges with a fork. Fry in a small amount of shortening over medium heat. Turn once to brown both sides. Serve with soup, crisp relishes and milk.

Less Work For Mother These Modern Days

ST. PAUL — Kathleen Jeary, assistant professor of home economics at the University of Minnesota, suggested these short-cuts to add to the homemaker's leisure hours.

1. Select proper equipment. As an example, use a long-handled rather than short-handled dust pan.

2. Watch your body mechanics. Use leg muscles instead of back muscles to lift.

3. Rearrange kitchen supplies and equipment to help banish housework fatigue, keeping them at point of use.

4. Get the whole family to cooperate.

Add a bouquet garni to canned tomato soup and heat it very slowly. The bouquet can contain parsley, thyme and bay leaf and should be tied in a muslin bag.

Some cooks like to use both chili sauce and catchup in a sauce forseafood along with prepared horseradish, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice and Tabasco sauce.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Allen And Frederick Schneider, III

LAKE PROVIDENCE — In a candlelight ceremony January 21st at the St. James Episcopal Church Miss Constance Ann Allen became the bride of Mr. Frederick Hall Schneider III of Lake Providence. The Rev. Phillip Werlein officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cook Allen of this city, Mr. Schneider is the son of Mrs. Frederick H. Schneider Jr. and the late Mr. Schneider.

A reception at the St. James Parish House followed the ceremony. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Schneider left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will reside in the city where they both are students at LSU.

Altar vases filled with white stock were used as decorations along with branched candelabra at the end of the choir stalls. Ivy and white camellias entwined the altar rail. Pew markers were of tulle and lilies of the valley. Mrs. D. C Hardesty, organist, presented nuptial music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of pure silk bombazine with cream puff sleeves. The fitted bodice was highlighted with an alencon lace yoke and the front of the dress was heavily beaded. The bouffant skirt of yards and yards of silk bombazine extended into a chapel train.

A tiara type headpiece encrusted with tiny pearls and jewels held in place the bride's fingertip veil of illusion. For "something old" the bride wore an antique pin, an heirloom of the Schneider family. She borrowed her veil from Mrs. Roberts Spotswood Morris. Also included in the bride's attire was the traditional detail of blue.

Miss Anne McClelland Williamson, maid of honor, wore a dress of mist blue taffeta with a large velvet collar. The fitted pointed bodice was attached to a billowing waltz - length skirt. Miss Williamson wore a pilgrim - type headdress of velvet matching the collar of her dress. She carried a single white glamellia entwined with ivy.

In identical attire were the bridesmaids, Miss Gay Schneider and Miss Nanette Schneider. Their bouquets were also identical to that carried by the maid of honor.

M.. Dickie Dalfiume served as best man. Ushering were Wayne Tieschmann, Joe Mott, Jim McCullough and Jim Bradford. Ring bearer was Lee Cook Allen, Jr

As she received guests at the reception Mrs. Allen, mother of the bride, wore a dress made with a beige lace bodice, chiffon skirt and satin cummberbund. She wore cocoa satin shoes, a matching bag, a satin hat trimmed with cocoa colored flowers and long kid gloves. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Schneider, was attired in a mauve chiffon dress worn with a matching ostrich hat, shoes, bag and long kid gloves.

The bride's table was covered with taffeta and white net caught at intervals with white camellias and blue satin streamers. The three - tiered wedding cake was topped with silver bells.

Large urns filled with magnolia leaves decorated the parish house. The punch table was centered with an arrangement of white leaves, camellias, wedding bells and blue tapers. A silver coffee service was used at one end and a punch bowl at the other end.

Members of the house party for the reception were Mrs. Phillip Werlein, Mrs. Kenneth Jones, Mrs. Maurice Rourke, Mrs. Robert Tucker and Mrs. Payne Breazeale, Jr. Tea girls were Miss Marilyn Macari, Miss Carroll Wilson, Mrs. Robin Luneborg, Miss Janet Meyer, and Miss Martha Brown.

For traveling the bride changed to an ivory wool suit with matching hat trimmed in blue silk print, also used at the neckline of the suit. Her accessories were navy.

The bride is a graduate of Baton Rouge High School and is attending LSU where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Schneider is a graduate of Lake Providence High School and is attending LSU. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Marguerite Bass, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, of Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mott, Jr., Oak Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Parker, Mrs. Ada Copeland, Mrs. Theo Mashburn, Mrs. Milton McPherson and Mrs. William Donham and daughters, Mimmi and Judy, all of Little Rock.

MISS BETTY LAYNE HOWIE'S engagement to Charles R. Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Pierce is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Howie, all of Crossett, Ark. Miss Howie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Toney, and the late Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Howie of Crossett. Mr. Woods is a student at Arkansas A. and M. College and the grandson of the Honorable C. W. and Mrs. Woods. The wedding will be an event of April fourth, in the Temple Baptist Church in Crossett.

UNDERMINED BY SNOW

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UP) — It snowed in northern Florida Thursday, the U. S. weather bureau reported, but according to a Chamber of Commerce official:

"Anybody who says it was is just trying to undermine sunkissed Florida's tourist business."

Cooks who like a soft crust on their yeast bread brush the loaves with melted butter as soon as they are turned out of their pans, then they cover the bread with a towel for a few minutes.

Bethia Brown won the musical chairs game edging out such contenders as Karen Hayward, Cindy Easterling, Wendy Williams, Kelsie Lyons . . . The little hostess, wearing pink pima embroidered with rosebuds, was assisted in cutting cake by her sister Catherine, in a red, white and green jumper with a white blouse . . . Heartbroken at missing this party were Becky Heunefeld and Jeanne Frazer.

Tony Veazey triumphed over various obstacles including husband Bill's illness, an indisposed maid, and the weather to host the loveliest of Valentine coffees at her home on Wednesday. Her hundreds of African violets were used throughout the reception suite, with dozens of them in bloom in varying shades of pink, lavender, and white.

"Beautiful" is the only word to describe the food, all of which tasted as good as it looked. The guests had difficulty in picking a favorite from the tempting array. Voting for the hot baked cheese balls was Carol Layton, while Merrill Thompson picked the tiny tarts filled with lemon creme. Laura Johnson and Biddy Taliaferro were sampling the seasonal sandwiches of coconut, almonds, and cream cheese on pink bread. Wilhemina Inabnet and Polly Parchais game, edgng out such rish passed trays of tiny hot biscuits filled with ham and plates of heart-shaped cinnamon cookies.

The table was a feast for the eyes, covered in white imported Swiss organdy, and centered with a standing heart of ruffled white tulle used with stock and red carnations. Coffee and sherry were served at opposite ends of the table. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. B. Dawkins, Mrs. D. L. Anderson, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, Mrs. R. M. Kittering

Mardi Gras is the event, the season, the spirit. Out - of - towners coming here; Monroyans going to New Orleans. Among those leaving for the Crescent City is Nancy Snellings, who went down by train for the ball of the Krewe of Apollo on Friday evening . . . Zette and George Trousdale and Mary Louise and George Snellings left this weekend and will attend the balls of Proteus and Comus . . . Going down in time for the big day Tuesday and the Comus ball will be Nancy and George Weaks . . .

Here for the Mardi Gras party at the Bayou DeSiard Country club are Mamie Scott's sister, Mrs. Guy Holloway of Laredo, Texas, and Mrs. W. R. Stevens of San Antonio. During their visit of several days they have been honored at three dinner parties and have also found time for a quick trip to Shreveport. Their hosts have included the A. D. Bernhardts, the Leon Suttons, and the Ernest Cruses.

Among the arrivals for the weekend have been several of our own college - age lovelies to grace the court which presided at the country club ball. Coming the long way around was Helen Theus, who went from the University of Alabama to visit Ann Jarrell at Newcombe. The girls and their escorts attended the ball of the Krewe of Apollo Friday night. Saturday morning the whole group drove to Monroe.

Working clothes have been high style at the country club this week, where nails and cardboard and tinsel and paper and paint and glitter transformed the whole building into an outpost of Hollywood. The committees and the workers have been listed elsewhere, but Denise took note of some outfits which proved that one may work and still look stylish . . . Mary Anita Lennon was nattily attired in charcoal walking shorts with a a gray - on - gray sweater, while Mary Jean McCook chose plaid Bermudas with her black sweater and high socks . . . Adele Ransom wore a bright blue chemise - line blouse with a tweed skirt, and Ellen Mintz, a beige cashmere sweater and matching pedal pushers . . . All in long tapered plaid slacks were Charlotte Ethridge, Helen Wallace, and general chairman Florence Garretson . . . The men were also working, though we have no notes on their apparel. Noted after office hours were Fred Amman, Jack McCook, Fred Marx.

Not much room for the poetry corner this week, so we will content ourselves with this short work by Ogden Nash, entitled "Biological Reflection".

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Allen And Frederick Schneider, III

LAKE PROVIDENCE — In a candlelight ceremony January 21st at the St. James Episcopal Church Miss Constance Ann Allen became the bride of Mr. Frederick Hall Schneider III of Lake Providence. The Rev. Phillip Werlein officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cook Allen of this city, Mr. Schneider is the son of Mrs. Frederick H. Schneider Jr. and the late Mr. Schneider.

A reception at the St. James Parish House followed the ceremony. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Schneider left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will reside in the city where they both are students at LSU.

Altar vases filled with white stock were used as decorations along with branched candelabra at the end of the choir stalls. Ivy and white camellias entwined the altar rail. Pew markers were of tulle and lilies of the valley. Mrs. D. C Hardesty, organist, presented nuptial music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of pure silk bombazine with cream puff sleeves. The fitted bodice was highlighted with an alencon lace yoke and the front of the dress was heavily beaded. The bouffant skirt of yards and yards of silk bombazine extended into a chapel train.

A tiara type headpiece encrusted with tiny pearls and jewels held in place the bride's fingertip veil of illusion. For "something old" the bride wore an antique pin, an heirloom of the Schneider family. She borrowed her veil from Mrs. Roberts Spotswood Morris. Also included in the bride's attire was the traditional detail of blue.

Miss Anne McClelland Williamson, maid of honor, wore a dress of mist blue taffeta with a large velvet collar. The fitted pointed bodice was attached to a billowing waltz - length skirt. Miss Williamson wore a pilgrim - type headdress of velvet matching the collar of her dress. She carried a single white glamellia entwined with ivy.

In identical attire were the bridesmaids, Miss Gay Schneider and Miss Nanette Schneider. Their bouquets were also identical to that carried by the maid of honor.

Mr. Dickie Dalfiume served as best man. Ushering were Wayne Tieschmann, Joe Mott, Jim McCullough and Jim Bradford. Ring bearer was Lee Cook Allen, Jr.

As she received guests at the reception Mrs. Allen, mother of the bride, wore a dress made with a beige lace bodice, chiffon skirt and satin cummberbund. She wore cocoa satin shoes, a matching bag, a satin hat trimmed with cocoa colored flowers and long kid gloves. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Schneider, was attired in a mauve chiffon dress worn with a matching ostrich hat, shoes, bag and long kid gloves.

The bride's table was covered with taffeta and white net caught at intervals with white camellias and blue satin streamers. The three - tiered wedding cake was topped with silver bells.

Large urns filled with magnolia leaves decorated the parish house. The punch table was centered with an arrangement of white leaves, camellias, wedding bells and blue tapers. A silver coffee service was used at one end and a punch bowl at the other end.

Members of the house party for the reception were Mrs. Phillip Werlein, Mrs. Kenneth Jones, Mrs. Maurice Rourke, Mrs. Robert Tucker and Mrs. Payne Breazeale, Jr. Tea girls were Miss Marilyn Macari, Miss Carroll Wilson, Mrs. Robin Luneborg, Miss Janet Meyer, and Miss Martha Brown.

For traveling the bride changed to an ivory wool suit with matching hat trimmed in blue silk print, also used at the neckline of the suit. Her accessories were navy.

The bride is a graduate of Baton Rouge High School and is attending LSU where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Schneider is a graduate of Lake Providence High School and is attending LSU. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Marguerite Bass, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, of Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mott, Jr., Oak Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Parker, Mrs. Ada Copeland, Mrs. Theo Mashburn, Mrs. Milton McPherson and Mrs. William Donham and daughters, Mimmi and Judy, all of Little Rock.

MISS BETTY LAYNE HOWIE'S engagement to Charles R. Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Pierce is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Howie, all of Crossett, Ark. Miss Howie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Toney, and the late Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Howie of Crossett. Mr. Woods is a student at Arkansas A. and M. College and the grandson of the Honorable C. W. and Mrs. Woods. The wedding will be an event of April fourth, in the Temple Baptist Church in Crossett.

UNDERMINED BY SNOW

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UP) — It snowed in northern Florida Thursday, the U. S. weather bureau reported, but according to a Chamber of Commerce official:

"Anybody who says it was is just trying to undermine sunkissed Florida's tourist business."

Cooks who like a soft crust on their yeast bread brush the loaves with melted butter as soon as they are turned out of their pans, then they cover the bread with a towel for a few minutes.

No Sandwich Bread-Try Pancake Mix

NEW YORK — Cheese sandwiches for lunch? They'll get raves when made with pancake mix.

Cut 2 tablespoons of shortening into 2 cups o your favorite mix. When the mixture resembles coarse crumbs, add two-thirds cups milk and stir until just dampened. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll to a scant ⅛-inch thickness.

Cut 12 4-inch squares. Put a slice of cheese between two squares, sealing the edges with a fork. Fry in a small amount of shortening over medium heat. Turn once to brown both sides. Serve with soup, crisp relishes and milk.

Less Work For Mother These Modern Days

ST. PAUL — Kathleen Jeary, assistant professor of home economics at the University of Minnesota, suggested these short-cuts to add to the homemaker's leisure hours.

1. Select proper equipment. As an example, use a long-handled rather than short-handled dust pan.

2. Watch your body mechanics. Use leg muscles instead of back muscles to lift.

3. Rearrange kitchen supplies and equipment to help banish housework fatigue, keeping them at point of use.

4. Get the whole family to cooperate.

Add a bouquet garni to canned tomato soup and heat it very slowly. The bouquet can contain parsley, thyme and bay leaf and should be tied in a muslin bag.

Some cooks like to use both chili sauce and catchup in a sauce forseafood along with prepared horseradish, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice and Tabasco sauce.

SGT. & MRS. DONALD CASWELL

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Farrar And Sgt. Donald Caswell

A double ring ceremony united in marriage, Miss Betty Lou Farrar of Shreveport and Donald Caswell of Barksdale Air Base.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Farrar of Lillie, and Mr. Caswell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Caswell of Hampton, Virginia.

The Rev. M. R. Rainbolt performed the ceremony February first, at seven o'clock in the evening at the Lillie Baptist Church, before tall baskets of white gladioli flanked by candelabra entwined with southern smilax.

Mrs. Dorothy Travis of Minden, was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Nelson at the organ.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned in imported chantilly lace and tulle over white satin. The basque bodice was molded to the figure, and fashioned with a dainty neckline of tiny scallops outlined in tulle with long sleeves that came to a point over the hands. The bouffant skirt was arranged with pointed panels in front and back of sheer lace over tulle. The veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap covered with sequins. Her one piece of jewelry was a strand of pearls at her neck, a gift of the groom. she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Shirley Walker served as maid of honor. She wore a navy velvet model with a fitted bodice and off - the - shoulder neckline, with full ballerina length skirt. On her wrist was a corsage of white carnations.

The candlelighters were Louise Goss of Shreveport and Jane Bivins, who wore identical dresses of blue velvet, fashioned with a low neckline and bouffant overskirts of lighter blue tulle. They also wore wrist corsages of white carnations.

David L. Sayers served the groom as best man. The ushers were Sam Booker and J. W. Woody, both of Barksadle Air Base.

The bride's mother chose to wear for the wedding, a suit of blue crepe with white accessories.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a lace cloth and held a cake in the form of a wedding ring, decorated with yellow orchids.

The bride chose for travel, a two piece aqua suit with white accessories and a corsage from her bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Shreveport.

The out - of - town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Mark Moore and Sallie Ann of Winnsboro, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Tucker, Mrs. F. C. Moore, and Don Mashaw of Farmerville, Mrs. Bulah Goss and M. L. ## Marriage Ceremony Unites Miss Bryan, Thomas Creech Jr.

In an early evening double ring ceremony in the Downsville Baptist Church on January 30, Miss Thelma Yvonne Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Bryan, and Buel Thomas Creech Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Creech of Bastrop, were united in marriage. The Reverend Ardis Smith heard the vows pledged.

Baskets of white gladioli stood before the altar banked with greenery. Burning white tapers in branched candelabra flanked the altar. Miss Marlyn Hammons presented a selection of traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white embossed faille street-length dress fashioned with a bolero jacket and a tiny white hat. Her flowers were white feathered carnations caught with satin streamers and mounted on a Bible.

Miss Julia Faye Hamilton was the bride's only attendant and wore a dress of palest blue floral print, accented by a corsage of white carnations.

Claud Fuqua served the groom as best man. Ushers were Billy D. Bryan, cousin of the bride, and Ottis N. Bryan, brother of the bride.

A wedding reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlor. Southern smilax graced the parlor for the occasion. The bride's table, overlaid in white linen, held the square tiered wedding cake and punch service at alternate ends. Miss Ola May Bryan, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Fannie Whitten, sister of the bride, assisted with the serving.

After a brief wedding trip to Shreveport, the couple will make their new home in West Monroe.

PARK FALLS, Wis. (UP) —Dan Vicker, chairman of a homecoming celebration here, today invited the abominable snowman of the Himalayas to join the returning natives.

Vicker said the legendary snowman "originated at Park Falls but migrated in the early days when we had a mild winter."

This winter, he said should prove attrastively "normal" to the obominable expatriate.

Valentine Coffee Honors The New WSCS Members

A Valentine coffee was held in honor of the new members of the Women's Society of Christian Service in the lovely new parsonage home of Mrs. George Pomeroy.

Greeting guests at the entrance were Mrs. Pomeroy, in a royal blue sheath and Mrs. Warren Breard, general chairman of the coffee, in a brown frock. Also in the receiving line were Mrs. Paul Ransom, president of the local society in a red wool sheath and Mrs. W. N. Inabnet, vice president, in a black and white creation.

Alternating at the silver service in the dining room were Mrs. E. P. Cudd and Mrs. E. N. Jackson.

The table overlaid in an imported cut work cloth carried out the Valentine motif as did the assorted cookies.

Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Neville assisted guests in signing the guest book.

Those serving in the dining room were Mrs. A. C. Ransom, Mrs. Bob Ellen, Mrs. Marvin Dubos, Miss Juanita Porter, Mrs. Dwight Petty, Mrs. Roy Hale, Mrs. H. S. Stansell, Mrs. Neal McHenry and Mrs. J. E. Walsworth.

New members honored were: Mesdames Donald Hugh, J. S. Bassett, N. E. Robert, N. R. Spencer, Ed Routt, Fred Sartor, Harold Woods Jr., W. W. Artt, Donald Duffey, James Welch, Dean Barton, Joe Rabun, J. W. Folk, Harold Burress.

Billy Seale, V. S. Garnett, Willie Mae Porter, Bid Causey, George Spencer, W. E. Nolan, Thad Ryan and Clyde Stuntz.

MR. and MRS. FRANK WARNER, JR.

Miss Peggy Goodson, Frank Warner Jr. Are United In Ceremony

The Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, West Monroe, was the setting for the quiet evening ceremony, which united in marriage Miss Peggy Goodson and Frank Warner, Jr. Miss Goodson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Goodson and Mr. Warner, of the U. S. Air Force, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warner of Lake Charles. The Reverend A. T. Mitchell heard the vows exchanged in the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white gladioli stood against a rich background, with tall slender white tapers burning in branched candelabrum.

Miss Jodie Reppond was the bride's only attendant. She wore a midnight blue sheath with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white feathered carnations.

Serving the groom as best man was Sonny Williams.

Reception

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a tailleur in softest blue with matching hat, fashioned of flowers. Her accessories were of the hues and she wore a corsage of white feathered carnations caught with loops of satin ribbon.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McPhink on Tulane Street.

The bride's table was overlaid in white lace and centered white chrysanthemums interspersed with confection was placed at one end of the table, with the punch service at the alternate end. Miss Carol Cooper of Shreveport served the wedding cake, while Miss Reppond presided at the punch bowl. More than seventy-five registered in the bride's book.

The couple left immediately on their wedding trip to the southern part of the country.

The bride attended Northeast College and the groom attended Southmost Junior College in Brownsville, Tex., and Northeast College, prior to entering the service. Mr. Warner is scheduled to report for overseas duty within the near future.

Farmerville Couple Pledge Marriage Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus B. Baughman of Farmerville announce the marriage of their daughter, Billie John Dukes, to Mr. Robert Harvey Beauchamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Boughton Beauchamp of Shreveport, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp are presently residing at 410 North Trenton Street, Ruston, La. while attending Louisiana Tech.

Marriage Vows Pledged In A Home Ceremony

In a quiet evening ceremony marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Kay Frances Brown and Glen Ray Stevens. The wedding took place before a mantel banked with greenery and white lilies and flanked by burning white tapers in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Brown on the Arkansas Road. Mr. Stevens is the son of Mrs. C. Langley and the late Tom Stevens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a suit of soft blue wool trimmed with a dainty fur collar. Her tiny hat was of matching blue and she wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations touched with blue.

Miss Sybil Antley attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a pale blue sheer with a corsage of white carnations. Little Miss Rosemary Brown was flower girl for her sister. She was also dressed in blue and carried a white basket, trimmed with pink satin, and filled with white petals.

Hurland Antley served the groom as best man.

A wedding reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the home.

Mrs. Brown chose for her daughter's wedding a turquoise crepe with black accessories. she wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Langley was in a black sheer accented with an identical white corsage.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the home. The dining room was graced with pink chrysanthemums framed with greenery. The bride's table was covered with white lace and bore the three-tiered wedding confection, beautifully decorated with pink sugar roses at one end. Placed at the opposite end of the table was the crystal punch service. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Prentice Gaston and Mrs. Lena McKinney.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Saturday of this week, the 22nd, is observed in Girl Scouting as International Thinking Day. It is a day of Great Brithdays, our own George Washington, of course, but also of both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide Movement in England. Juliette Low became friends of these two, learned of their work, and brought the idea to the United States in 1912.

Most troops devote at least one of their February meetings to some part of the International field in Girl Scouting. It is a good time for each girl to take her offering to the Juliette Low Friendship Fund to her troop meeting, if she has not already done so. These pennies will be presented at the Girl Scout Birthday program and are used to spread Scouting and to further friendships among girls.

Troop 48, we hear, is planning a particularly interesting International meeting next week in observance of Thinking Day. The girls have invited Brownie troop 26 to share in the observance. It is good to hear of inter-troop activities, and we'll be sure to have the details for you next week.

As this is written, we don't know how the tree planting day at Pine Woods went off. With all the cold weather and sickness it is likely that not too many troops participated. We know now, however, that one or two in Bastrop, several in Farmerville, and several from Monroe have planned to go. After all, if the girls dress properly for the out of doors, they can be comfortable in any weather. At Pine Wood, with a big fireplace inside and places on the grounds for fires to warm by, it is not necessary to postpone activities on account of the weather.

With tree planting, the outdoor activities begin for Girl Scouts, whatever the weather. Already leaders are asking if there will be a play day in March. It has become a custom to have one each spring and each fall, so one will be scheduled for March by the camp committee. The youngest Brownies and the most experienced Scouts have fun and learn a lot on these occasions.

The day camp committee for Pine Wood meets Tuesday. It shouldn't be long after that until folders on the camp will be sent to troops and dates for registration set up. It seems likely, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, chairman, says, that there will probably be two sessions at Pine Wood. After all, 246 girls is a big camp, and girls had to be turned down, too.

Leaders who have not yet had any out of door training are especially urged to attend the training session Thursday at the office at 9:30. Simple outdoor skills, and a cook-out (cook-in, if the weather is bad) will be demonstrated.

MRS. ELIZABETH OXFORD

Open House Honors Mrs. Elizabeth Oxford On Her 90th Birthday

Mrs. Elizabeth Oxford was honored recently with an open house in celebration of her 90th birthday in the First Methodist Church of West Monroe. It was hosted by her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Puckitt; with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Oxford, all of West Monroe. The occasion was held on her day, February 2 between the afternoon hours of two and four o'clock.

A red and white theme was used throughout the reception room. The serving table, covered with white lace over red linen, was centered with a lovely arrangement of white stock and vivid red carnations. The punch service and trays of confections, some bearing the miniature number '90,' were placed on the table.

A smaller table, covered in white and decorated with bright red Valentines, was placed near the entrance which held a beautiful hand-embroidered picture, made by Mrs. Oxford, and presented to her daughter at Christmas time. A bright red potted geranium also was placed on the table, a birthday gift for the honoree.

Mrs. Charles Oxford, Mrs. Mignon Manuel, and Miss Carol Puckitt were members of the house-party and Miss Joyce Roberts presented a lovely program of background music for the afternoon.

Other members of Mrs. Oxford's family present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oxford, Alana and Alison Oxford, Charles Manuel, Miss Sarah Puckitt, Woody Puckitt and Mrs. Eva McClintock of Jonesboro.

Guests enjoying the occasion with the family and honoree were Mrs. J. D. Puckitt, Mrs. Nora V. Hobbs, Mrs. Carly P'illips, Mrs. H. C. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Banby, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jordan, Jr., Miss Lillian Collins, Mrs. J. R. Henry, Mrs. D. F. Dennis, the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Milton, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rutledge, Miss Alline Hall, Mrs. Mollie Hall, Mrs. O. J. Hall, Mrs. Ivy Willis, Mrs. L. L. Johnson, Mrs. Jack Willis, Miss Joyce Roberts, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Evelyn Bledsoe, Mrs. Audrey Brosset, Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Sid Simmons, Miss Margueriite Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Zola Mae Osborn.

Miss Lipp, Mr. Womble Wed In Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

The First Methodist Church of Winnsboro was the setting for a lovely wedding, uniting in marriage Miss Marion Louise Lipp and John Thomas Womble. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marion Trousdale Lipp of Winnsboro, and Marion T. Lipp of Monroe and Washington D. C. The groom is the son of Mrs. Neill Dosson Womble of Winnsboro and the late Neill D. Womble, Sr.

The Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor of th church, read the impressive double - ring ceremony before an altar beautiful in its pristine beauty of pink and white development. Wrought iron candelabra bearing Dresden pink cathedral tapers alternated with tall floor wiker baskets of white, with arrangements of pink stock and eucalyptus leaves. These were placed behind the chancel in a semi-circle, culminating in an arrangement of the stock in a large basket in the rear.

Mrs. C. L. Moore, Jr. presented a program of pre - nuptial music and accompanied Miss Margie Bengtson who sang "Because." Both wore becoming pastel originals and wore corsages of champagne pink carnations tied with silver ribbons.

Before the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Johnnie Guice and Thomas Stodghill, Jr. Pre eding the bride was her only attendant, her sister, Miss Joanna Lipp of New Orleans. She wore a bouffant ballerina-length dress of melon colored silk chiffon over taffeta with tight, fitted bodice. Featured in the back were floating panels of the chiffon from shoulder to hemline. She wore a matching circlet hat of chiffon, and melon pink slippers to match her ensemble. She carried a cascase bouquet of Virginia pink carnations tied with melon pink satin ribbons.

The bride, who entered with her father, who gave her in marriage, was lovely in her bridal gown of blush pink silk peau de soie original, the bodice of which was designed with deep V-shaped yoke outlined with Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls. The bouffant ballerina - length skirt, worn over hoops, had insertions of the lace in flower shapes.

The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion cascaded from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations centered with a corsage of Thalaenopsis orchids and tied with cascading streamers of white satin ribbands, accented with smilax.

The groom was attended by his brother, Neill D. Womble, Jr., as best man and chose for his ushers, Messrs. Thomas Stodghill, Johnnie Guice and Clifford Sturdivant of Baton Rouge.

Following the exchange of vows, the bridal pair knelt for the benediction. Adding to the sacred theme of the Rev. Bengtson's service was the beautifully sung "The Lord's Prayer" by Miss Bengtson accompanied by Mrs. Moore at the organ.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlours. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Lipp, becomingly attired in an ice blue sheath style model of lace with bracelet-length sleeves, and bodice accented with tiny ice blue satin buttons. A small Delft blue featured hat and slippers dyed to match and corsage of split white carnations completed the attire.

Mrs. Womble, who chose a royal blue crepe with white hat and gloves with navy shoes and corsage of white carnations, also greeted the guests as did Mrs. Joe W. Robertson, maternal grandmother of the bride of Little Rock, Ark., who was gowned in mauve crepe with accessories en suite, and Mrs. M. H. O'Connell of Oak Grove, great aunt and godmother of the bride, who wore a deep rose crepe dress with deep rose carnations tied with silver ribbons as her corsage.

The bride's table was arranged before a white wrought - iron arch entwined with maiden - hair fern. The table was covered with a pink net cloth over pink taffeta and garlanded with rosettes of pink sweetheart roses and garlands of southern smilax. It was centered with a three - tiered square wedding cake, developed in white and pink with varied shades of pink roses and latticed hearts of spun sugar and silver draguettes, the top layer of which was embossed with a spray of spun sugar roses in champagne pink. A silver punch bowl and goblets, containing pink punch, was presided over by Miss Jean Filhiol of Monroe. The cake was served by Miss Martha Anna Lipp of Oak Grove, cousin of the bride.

Tiny assorted sandwiches in pink and white, pink mints and petit fours were served by the tea girls, Misses Marietta Rhein, June Lang and Mesdames Raymond Taliaferro and Thomas Stodghill, Jr. They wore pastel frocks and corsages of white carnations tied with silver, as was that of Mrs. James McGraw of Baton Rouge who was in charge of the bride's book for registering the guests.

A supplementary table was centered with a fan - shaped floral arrangement of white and pink stock and carnations. Its central theme was a silver wedding bell and marriage circlet.

Mrs. S. J. Browning and Mrs. Jaime Taylor Cruse assisted in the courtesies. Their corsages were of Virginia pink carnations.

After cutting their cake and drinking from the coupe de marriage together and being appropriately toasted by the groom's brother, the couple left for a wedding trip to Dallas, after which they will reside in Baton Rouge, where both are attending Louisiana State University.

Mrs. Womble is a graduate of Winnsboro High School and is majoring in journalism at L. S. U. She is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority and Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity.

Mr. Womble is also a graduate of winnsboro High Sshool and is majoring in architectural engineering. He is a member of La Clef, Architectural club.

Out - of - town guests who are personal friends of the newlyweds attending the wedding were: Miss Rose Marie Maranto, Shreveport and LSU; Miss Ramonda Resweber, Opelousas and LSU; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Haller, Baton Rouge and LSU.

Two - thirds meat and one-third bone is a good rule to keep in mind when you are making soup stock.

Miss McNeely, W. N. Walker Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McNeely of Jonesville announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Angie Marbeth McNeely, to Wallace Nelson Walker of Jena.

Miss Cusimano Is Honored At Bridal Shower

Miss Angeleen Cusimano of Birmingham, Alabama and bride-elect of Julius Fontana of this city was honoree at a shower given by her aunt, Mrs. George Romano and cousins Mrs. Leo J. Purvis and Mrs. J. A. Marsala at the home of Mrs. George Romano on Speed Drive on Sunday February 9 between 3 and 5 p.m.

Miss Cusimano was attractive in a lovely semi - formal of pink nylon chiffon accented by a beautiful corsage of white feathered carnations presented to her by her hostesses.

Receiving the guests with the honoree and her hostesses was the bride-- elect's mother Mrs. B. C. Cusimano who wore a model of charcoal grey, Miss Diane Cusimano, the honoree's sister and Mrs. N. Fontana who was attired in beige.

Beautiful white chrysanthemums and stock were placed at vantage points in the spacious living room, dining room annd den.

The dining room table attracted attention as it was centered with a unique parasol made of white nylon net from which fell satin streamers. White chrysanthemums placed on a mirrored base surrounded the arrangement and completed the centerpiece. Each corner of the cut - work linen tablecloth was brightened with huge pink satin bows.

Miss Cusimano was presented with a piece of china in her chosen pattern by her hostesses.

Miss Frankie Williams presided at the punch bowl and Miss Dolores Fontana registered the guests.

Out - of - town guests included: Mrs. B.C. Cusimano, mother of the bride - elect, Miss Diane Cusimano and Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Cusimano, all of Birmingham, Ala.

The bidding:

North, 3 no trump; East, Pass; South, 4 spades; West, Pass.

North, Pass; East, Pass.

Opening lead: Queen of diamonds.

At the card table, as elsewhere, the time for courage is when the outlook is dark. But when a hand appears to be a cinch, that is the point at which to take time out for a moment of pessimistic reflection.

It was fortunate indeed that North took no further action over partner's four spade response. He argued that he had shown the full strength of his hand by the opening bid of three no trump, with a point count of just 25, and that since partner was unable to bid five spades he did not choose to risk a slam contract.

The queen of diamonds was opened and taken by the king. There was nothing to it but getting out the trumps, so South promptly fired the ace of spades on the table. When East showed void of the suit, there was no way to avoid the loss of three trump tricks and the ace of hearts.

When a contract appears to be as ironclad as this one, the proper procedure is for declarer to take a moment to inquire, "What accident could possibly befall me?" The answer would be, "Only four trumps in one hand." But if they are in the East hand, the contract is secure. If, however, they happen to be in the West hand, caution must be exercised.

The winning play is a low spade away from the ace. When East fails, the six is played and West wins with the ten. The jack of diamonds will be continued, and further care is required. Declarer must not run out of trumps too soon, before all his work is done. At this time the king of hearts must be led to establish a trick in that suit. West will win and presumably return a club. Declarer ruffs himself in with a diamond and leads a spade. The jack forces the ace, and dummy's last spade is led. West wins, and declarer has two high trumps left. Nothing can prevent him from ruffing himself in to draw the last trump to cash all the high tricks.

Miss Carpenter And W. Taylor Are Married

The couple is residing in Ruston where they are now enrolled as students at Louisiana Tech.

Shorten Hem For Sack Look

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — A University of Illinois clothing specialist has some suggestions for the long-suffering male faced with buying a new wardrobe for his mate to meet the sack look.

Karlyne Anspach says putting new hems in clothes will give them a new outlook — and will fit the bill or Parisienne lines.

If the fabric is wool or linen, first overcast the raw edge of the hem. Otherwise stitch the seam tape to the edge.

Next, hold the skirt wrong side out. Turn up the hem to the length marked and press thoroughly. With the skirt wrong side out, fold the overcast edge back into the hem allowing one-eighth to one-fourth inch, depending on the weight of the fabric.

Catch the folded portion of the hem to the material with a running stitch about one-half inch long, and finally press the garment again. The final step, Miss Anspach said, is stitching between the material and the hem.

Sung For Princes And Presidents For Many Years

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK — Babs Caulkins, a society matron and grandmother, has sung for princes and presidents for years. Now she's singing for the public.

"It's the only thing I never worked at, so I'm more startled than anyone at starting this new career," said tall, youthful - looking Mrs. Caulkins, a new recording star.

As a society hostess, she sang informally at parties for Winston Churchill, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Cole Porter, the Lunts, and Ethel Merman. Then her husband, banker Dan Caulkins, persuaded her to forsake the drawing room for the recording studio. Now she would like to aim for night clubs.

Though cutting a record is new to Mrs. Caulkins, she has cut quite a figure around the world for years.

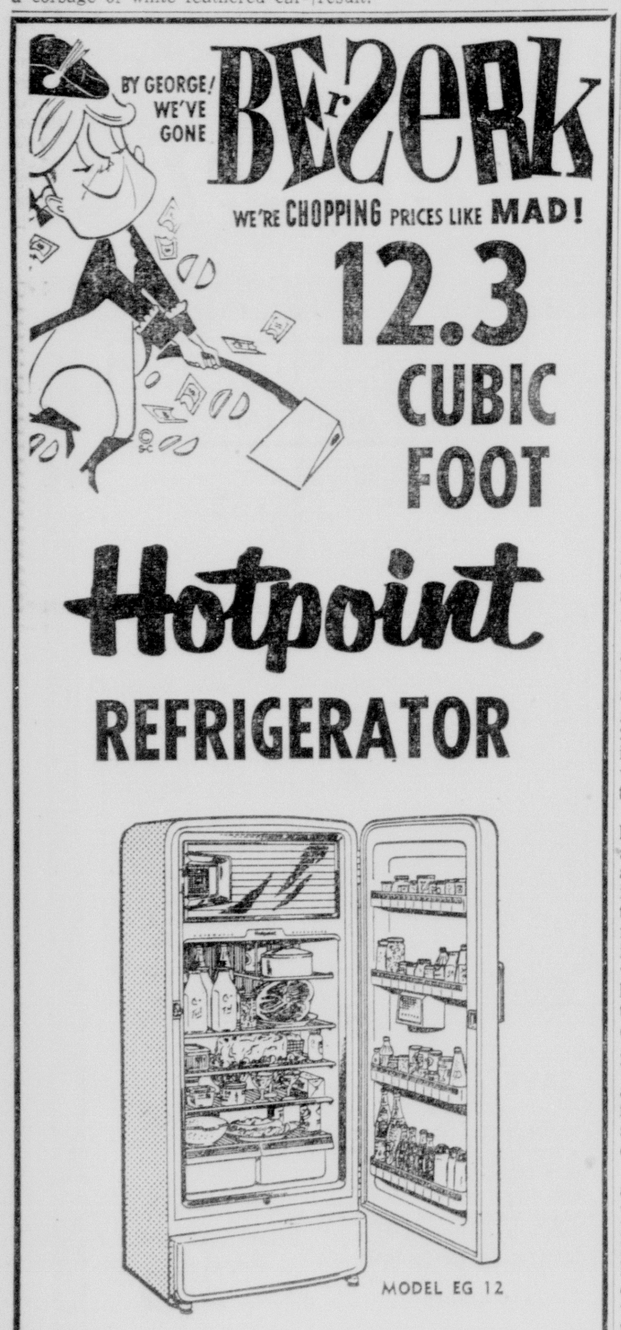

She hunted giant lizards, braved a civil war in China, went tiger shooting in Bali, treked across deserts, and camped on an erupting volcano. She starred in a Broadway play, "Holiday," in which her understudy was a young actress named Katharine Hepburn.

The attractive singer also brought up three children and served as a nurse's aide during World War II in Washington, D.C. where her husband was stationed. She received a Red Cross citation for saving a surgical patient's life.

Born Katherine Curtin White in Syracuse, N.Y., she is the niece of Horace White, once governor of New York, and the granddaughter of Andrew White, former American ambassador to Germany and Russia.

Her adventurous life began when she married W. Douglas Burden, an explorer and scientist. They later were divorced.

Reception

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a tailleur in softest blue with matching hat, fashioned of flowers. Her accessories were of the hues and she wore a corsage of white feathered carnations caught with loops of satin ribbon.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McPhink on Tulane Street.

The bride's table was overlaid in white lace and centered white chrysanthemums interspersed with confection was placed at one end of the table, with the punch service at the alternate end. Miss Carol Cooper of Shreveport served the wedding cake, while Miss Reppond presided at the punch bowl. More than seventy-five registered in the bride's book.

The couple left immediately on their wedding trip to the southern part of the country.

The bride attended Northeast College and the groom attended Southmost Junior College in Brownsville, Tex., and Northeast College, prior to entering the service. Mr. Warner is scheduled to report for overseas duty within the near future.

Farmerville Couple Pledge Marriage Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus B. Baughman of Farmerville announce the marriage of their daughter, Billie John Dukes, to Mr. Robert Harvey Beauchamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Boughton Beauchamp of Shreveport, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp are presently residing at 410 North Trenton Street, Ruston, La. while attending Louisiana Tech.

Marriage Vows Pledged In A Home Ceremony

In a quiet evening ceremony marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Kay Frances Brown and Glen Ray Stevens. The wedding took place before a mantel banked with greenery and white lilies and flanked by burning white tapers in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Brown on the Arkansas Road. Mr. Stevens is the son of Mrs. C. Langley and the late Tom Stevens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a suit of soft blue wool trimmed with a dainty fur collar. Her tiny hat was of matching blue and she wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations touched with blue.

Miss Sybil Antley attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a pale blue sheer with a corsage of white carnations. Little Miss Rosemary Brown was flower girl for her sister. She was also dressed in blue and carried a white basket, trimmed with pink satin, and filled with white petals.

Hurland Antley served the groom as best man.

A wedding reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the home.

Mrs. Brown chose for her daughter's wedding a turquoise crepe with black accessories, she wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Langley was in a black sheer accented with an identical white corsage.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the home. The dining room was graced with pink chrysanthemums framed with greenery. The bride's table was covered with white lace and bore the three-tiered wedding confection, beautifully decorated with pink sugar roses at one end. Placed at the opposite end of the table was the crystal punch service. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Prentice Gaston and Mrs. Lena McKinney.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Saturday of this week, the 22nd, is observed in Girl Scouting as International Thinking Day. It is a day of Great Brithdays, our own George Washington, of course, but also of both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide Movement in England. Juliette Low became friends of these two, learned of their work, and brought the idea to the United States in 1912.

Most troops devote at least one of their February meetings to some part of the International field in Girl Scouting. It is a good time for each girl to take her offering to the Juliette Low Friendship Fund to her troop meeting, if she has not already done so. These pennies will be presented at the Girl Scout Birthday program and are used to spread Scouting and to further friendships among girls.

Troop 48, we hear, is planning a particularly interesting International meeting next week in observance of Thinking Day. The girls have invited Brownie troop 26 to share in the observance. It is good to hear of inter-troop activities, and we'll be sure to have the details for you next week.

As this is written, we don't know how the tree planting day at Pine Woods went off. With all the cold weather and sickness it is likely that not too many troops participated. We know now, however, that one or two in Bastrop, several in Farmerville, and several from Monroe have planned to go. After all, if the girls dress properly for the out of doors, they can be comfortable in any weather. At Pine Wood, with a big fireplace inside and places on the grounds for fires to warm by, it is not necessary to postpone activities on account of the weather.

With tree planting, the outdoor activities begin for Girl Scouts, whatever the weather. Already leaders are asking if there will be a play day in March. It has become a custom to have one each spring and each fall, so one will be scheduled for March by the camp committee. The youngest Brownies and the most experienced Scouts have fun and learn a lot on these occasions.

The day camp committee for Pine Wood meets Tuesday. It shouldn't be long after that until folders on the camp will be sent to troops and dates for registration set up. It seems likely, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, chairman, says, that there will probably be two sessions at Pine Wood. After all, 246 girls is a big camp, and girls had to be turned down, too.

Leaders who have not yet had any out of door training are especially urged to attend the training session Thursday at the office at 9:30. Simple outdoor skills, and a cook-out (cook-in, if the weather is bad) will be demonstrated.

MRS. ELIZABETH OXFORD

Open House Honors Mrs. Elizabeth Oxford On Her 90th Birthday

Mrs. Elizabeth Oxford was honored recently with an open house in celebration of her 90th birthday in the First Methodist Church of West Monroe. It was hosted by her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Puckitt; with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Oxford, all of West Monroe. The occasion was held on her day, February 2 between the afternoon hours of two and four o'clock.

A red and white theme was used throughout the reception room. The serving table, covered with white lace over red linen, was centered with a lovely arrangement of white stock and vivid red carnations. The punch service and trays of confections, some bearing the miniature number '90,' were placed on the table.

A smaller table, covered in white and decorated with bright red Valentines, was placed near the entrance which held a beautiful hand-embroidered picture, made by Mrs. Oxford, and presented to her daughter at Christmas time. A bright red potted geranium also was placed on the table, a birthday gift for the honoree.

Mrs. Charles Oxford, Mrs. Mignon Manuel, and Miss Carol Puckitt were members of the house-party and Miss Joyce Roberts presented a lovely program of background music for the afternoon.

Other members of Mrs. Oxford's family present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oxford, Alana and Alison Oxford, Charles Manuel, Miss Sarah Puckitt, Woody Puckitt and Mrs. Eva McClintock of Jonesboro.

Guests enjoying the occasion with the family and honoree were Mrs. J. D. Puckitt, Mrs. Nora V. Hobbs, Mrs. Carly P'illips, Mrs. H. C. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Banby, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jordan, Jr., Miss Lillian Collins, Mrs. J. R. Henry, Mrs. D. F. Dennis, the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Milton, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rutledge, Miss Alline Hall, Mrs. Mollie Hall, Mrs. O. J. Hall, Mrs. Ivy Willis, Mrs. L. L. Johnson, Mrs. Jack Willis, Miss Joyce Roberts, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Evelyn Bledsoe, Mrs. Audrey Brosset, Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Sid Simmons, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Zola Mae Osborn.

Miss Lipp, Mr. Womble Wed In Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

The First Methodist Church of Winnsboro was the setting for a lovely wedding, uniting in marriage Miss Marion Louise Lipp and John Thomas Womble. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marion Trousdale Lipp of Winnsboro, and Marion T. Lipp of Monroe and Washington D. C. The groom is the son of Mrs. Neill Dosson Womble of Winnsboro and the late Neill D. Womble, Sr.

The Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor of th church, read the impressive double - ring ceremony before an altar beautiful in its pristine beauty of pink and white development. Wrought iron candelabra bearing Dresden pink cathedral tapers alternated with tall floor wiker baskets of white, with arrangements of pink stock and eucalyptus leaves. These were placed behind the chancel in a semi-circle, culminating in an arrangement of the stock in a large basket in the rear.

Mrs. C. L. Moore, Jr. presented a program of pre - nuptial music and accompanied Miss Margie Bengtson who sang "Because." Both wore becoming pastel originals and wore corsages of champagne pink carnations tied with silver ribbons.

Before the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Johnnie Guice and Thomas Stodghill, Jr. Preceding the bride was her only attendant, her sister, Miss Joanna Lipp of New Orleans. She wore a bouffant ballerina-length dress of melon colored silk chiffon over taffeta with tight, fitted bodice. Featured in the back were floating panels of the chiffon from shoulder to hemline. She wore a matching circlet hat of chiffon, and melon pink slippers to match her ensemble. She carried a cascase bouquet of Virginia pink carnations tied with melon pink satin ribbons.

The bride, who entered with her father, who gave her in marriage, was lovely in her bridal gown of blush pink silk peau de soie original, the bodice of which was designed with deep V-shaped yoke outlined with Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls. The bouffant ballerina - length skirt, worn over hoops, had insertions of the lace in flower shapes.

The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion cascaded from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations centered with a corsage of Thalaenopsis orchids and tied with cascading streamers of white satin ribbands, accented with smilax.

The groom was attended by his brother, Neill D. Womble, Jr., as best man and chose for his ushers, Messrs. Thomas Stodghill, Johnnie Guice and Clifford Sturdivant of Baton Rouge.

Following the exchange of vows, the bridal pair knelt for the benediction. Adding to the sacred theme of the Rev. Bengtson's service was the beautifully sung "The Lord's Prayer" by Miss Bengtson accompanied by Mrs. Moore at the organ.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlours. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Lipp, becomingly attired in an ice blue sheath style model of lace with bracelet-length sleeves, and bodice accented with tiny ice blue satin buttons. A small Delft blue featured hat and slippers dyed to match and corsage of split white carnations completed the attire.

Mrs. Womble, who chose a royal blue crepe with white hat and gloves with navy shoes and corsage of white carnations, also greeted the guests as did Mrs. Joe W. Robertson, maternal grandmother of the bride of Little Rock, Ark., who was gowned in mauve crepe with accessories en suite, and Mrs. M. H. O'Connell of Oak Grove, great aunt and godmother of the bride, who wore a deep rose crepe dress with deep rose carnations tied with silver ribbons as her corsage.

The bride's table was arranged before a white wrought - iron arch entwined with maiden - hair fern. The table was covered with a pink net cloth over pink taffeta and garlanded with rosettes of pink sweetheart roses and garlands of southern smilax. It was centered with a three - tiered square wedding cake, developed in white and pink with varied shades of pink roses and latticed hearts of spun sugar and silver draguettes, the top layer of which was embossed with a spray of spun sugar roses in champagne pink. A silver punch bowl and goblets, containing pink punch, was presided over by Miss Jean Filhiol of Monroe. The cake was served by Miss Martha Anna Lipp of Oak Grove, cousin of the bride.

Tiny assorted sandwiches in pink and white, pink mints and petit fours were served by the tea girls, Misses Marietta Rhein, June Lang and Mesdames Raymond Taliaferro and Thomas Stodghill, Jr. They wore pastel frocks and corsages of white carnations tied with silver, as was that of Mrs. James McGraw of Baton Rouge who was in charge of the bride's book for registering the guests.

A supplementary table was centered with a fan - shaped floral arrangement of white and pink stock and carnations. Its central theme was a silver wedding bell and marriage circlet.

Mrs. S. J. Browning and Mrs. Jaime Taylor Cruse assisted in the courtesies. Their corsages were of Virginia pink carnations.

After cutting their cake and drinking from the coupe de marriage together and being appropriately toasted by the groom's brother, the couple left for a wedding trip to Dallas, after which they will reside in Baton Rouge, where both are attending Louisiana State University.

Mrs. Womble is a graduate of Winnsboro High School and is majoring in journalism at L. S. U. She is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority and Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity.

Mr. Womble is also a graduate of winnsboro High Sshool and is majoring in architectural engineering. He is a member of La Clef, Architectural club.

Out - of - town guests who are personal friends of the newlyweds attending the wedding were: Miss Rose Marie Maranto, Shreveport and LSU; Miss Ramonda Resweber, Opelousas and LSU; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Haller, Baton Rouge and LSU.

Miss McNeely, W. N. Walker Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McNeely of Jonesville announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Angie Marbeth McNeely, to Wallace Nelson Walker of Jena.

He is the son of Mrs. Matilda Edwards Smith of Jena and John D. Walker of New Orleans.

The marriage was solemnized in Fayette, Miss.

Miss Cusimano Is Honored At Bridal Shower

Miss Angeleen Cusimano of Birmingham, Alabama and bride-elect of Julius Fontana of this city was honoree at a shower given by her aunt, Mrs. George Romano and cousins Mrs. Leo J. Purvis and Mrs. J. A. Marsala at the home of Mrs. George Romano on Speed Drive on Sunday February 9 between 3 and 5 p.m.

Miss Cusimano was attractive in a lovely semi - formal of pink nylon chiffon accented by a beautiful corsage of white feathered carnations presented to her by her hostesses.

Receiving the guests with the honoree and her hostesses was the bride-- elect's mother Mrs. B. C. Cusimano who wore a model of charcoal grey, Miss Diane Cusimano, the honoree's sister and Mrs. N. Fontana who was attired in beige.

Beautiful white chrysanthemums and stock were placed at vantage points in the spacious living room, dining room annd den.

The dining room table attracted attention as it was centered with a unique parasol made of white nylon net from which fell satin streamers. White chrysanthemums placed on a mirrored base surrounded the arrangement and completed the centerpiece. Each corner of the cut - work linen tablecloth was brightened with huge pink satin bows.

Miss Cusimano was presented with a piece of china in her chosen pattern by her hostesses.

Miss Frankie Williams presided at the punch bowl and Miss Dolores Fontana registered the guests.

Out - of - town guests included: Mrs. B.C. Cusimano, mother of the bride - elect, Miss Diane Cusimano and Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Cusimano, all of Birmingham, Ala.

The bidding:

North, 3 no trump; East, Pass; South, 4 spades; West, Pass.

North, Pass; East, Pass.

Opening lead: Queen of diamonds.

At the card table, as elsewhere, the time for courage is when the outlook is dark. But when a hand appears to be a cinch, that is the point at which to take time out for a moment of pessimistic reflection.

It was fortunate indeed that North took no further action over partner's four spade response. He argued that he had shown the full strength of his hand by the opening bid of three no trump, with a point count of just 25, and that since partner was unable to bid five spades he did not choose to risk a slam contract.

The queen of diamonds was opened and taken by the king. There was nothing to it but getting out the trumps, so South promptly fired the ace of spades on the table. When East showed void of the suit, there was no way to avoid the loss of three trump tricks and the ace of hearts.

When a contract appears to be as ironclad as this one, the proper procedure is for declarer to take a moment to inquire, "What accident could possibly befall me?" The answer would be, "Only four trumps in one hand." But if they are in the East hand, the contract is secure. If, however, they happen to be in the West hand, caution must be exercised.

The winning play is a low spade away from the ace. When East fails, the six is played and West wins with the ten. The jack of diamonds will be continued, and further care is required. Declarer must not run out of trumps too soon, before all his work is done. At this time the king of hearts must be led to establish a trick in that suit. West will win and presumably return a club. Declarer ruffs himself in with a diamond and leads a spade. The jack forces the ace, and dummy's last spade is led. West wins, and declarer has two high trumps left. Nothing can prevent him from ruffing himself in to draw the last trump to cash all the high tricks.

Shorten Hem For Sack Look

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — A University of Illinois clothing specialist has some suggestions for the long-suffering male faced with buying a new wardrobe for his mate to meet the sack look.

Karlyne Anspach says putting new hems in clothes will give them a new outlook — and will fit the bill or Parisienne lines.

If the fabric is wool or linen, first overcast the raw edge of the hem. Otherwise stitch the seam tape to the edge.

Next, hold the skirt wrong side out. Turn up the hem to the length marked and press thoroughly. With the skirt wrong side out, fold the overcast edge back into the hem allowing one-eighth to one-fourth inch, depending on the weight of the fabric.

Catch the folded portion of the hem to the material with a running stitch about one-half inch long, and finally press the garment again. The final step, Miss Anspach said, is stitching between the material and the hem.

Two - thirds meat and one-third bone is a good rule to keep in mind when you are making soup stock.

Sung For Princes And Presidents For Many Years

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK — Babs Caulkins, a society matron and grandmother, has sung for princes and presidents for years. Now she's singing for the public.

"It's the only thing I never worked at, so I'm more startled than anyone at starting this new career," said tall, youthful - looking Mrs. Caulkins, a new recording star.

As a society hostess, she sang informally at parties for Winston Churchill, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Cole Porter, the Lunts, and Ethel Merman. Then her husband, banker Dan Caulkins, persuaded her to forsake the drawing room for the recording studio. Now she would like to aim for night clubs.

Though cutting a record is new to Mrs. Caulkins, she has cut quite a figure around the world for years.

She hunted giant lizards, braved a civil war in China, went tiger shooting in Bali, treked across deserts, and camped on an erupting volcano. She starred in a Broadway play, "Holiday," in which her understudy was a young actress named Katharine Hepburn.

The attractive singer also brought up three children and served as a nurse's aide during World War II in Washington, D.C. where her husband was stationed. She received a Red Cross citation for saving a surgical patient's life.

Born Katherine Curtin White in Syracuse, N.Y., she is the niece of Horace White, once governor of New York, and the granddaughter of Andrew White, former American ambassador to Germany and Russia.

Her adventurous life began when she married W. Douglas Burden, an explorer and scientist. They later were divorced.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Farmerville Wins First

By MARY M. JARDINE

Regardless of the snow and ice our flower show arrived on schedule at the Garden Center. We are proud of the blue ribbon arrangements presented by members of the Farmerville Garden Club.

In keeping with the Valentine season Mrs. L. M. Holder, Sr., designed a composition for a party table. A large red styrofoam heart wos edged with a ruffle of white lacelon. A beautiful bisque Cupid was wired to the upper curve of the heart with a design of white camellia buds and deep red Professor Sargent camellias bordering the left side of the heart. Very lovely for a Valentine tea table or it could be used as a wall decoration.

Mrs. Frank Yelton's triangular line arrangement was awarded high score. Mrs. Yelton selected a slender East Indian brass vase in which she skillfully placed three graceful pieces of ivy in a triangular pattern. Sprigs of variegated euonymus were used as secondary placements with yellow acacia as a center of interest. The arrangement was set on an ebony base. The emphasis here was on simplicity of line and it was most distinctive.

Mrs. Layton Hester designed a most pleasing vertical arrangement. The container was a frosted green compote. Background placements were of grey green yucca, with the vertical pattern emphasized with glossy Buford holly. Red camellia buds and half open flowers with self foliage were used low as a center of interest. There was good transition in textures and size of materials here. Staged against a rosy pink background this was most effective.

Green and White

Mrs. Frank Yelton and Mrs. L. M. Holder, Sr. combined their talents in creating a sparkling green and white arrangement. A large black compote of modern design was selected. The line placements were of clipped pine with buds and blooms of small white chrysanthemums emphasizing the line. Larger white mums were placed low in the design. Paper white narcissus were tucked behind the mums as filler material. The combination of materials with this container was excellent.

How are your daffodils faring? Wednesday morning after the ice had melted I picked a large bouquet and would like to report the following varieties seem "weatherproof": Narcissus minor, the little early blooming miniature, Fortune, Carlton, Silver Star and the deep blue hyacinths all were in full bloom when the snow and ice arrived. They are just as fresh and crisp as they can be. Another variety, not in bloom at the present, is Carbineer. It, too, is supposed to be weather proof.

In spite of the almost impossible travel conditions on Monday the Monroe Garden Club Little Camellia Show was staged as scheduled. A valiant effort was made by all exhibitors and the show, while smaller than planned, was most beautiful. More than 50 varieties of camellias were on display. In the arrangement section, the traditional arrangement was made by Mrs. C. E. McKenzie and Mrs. Ben nMarshall. Arrangements for the living room of today were made by Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. George Guerriero and Mrs. P. A. Colvin. Arrangements for the den featuring driftwood were created by Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. Edward Dalton and Dr. Katherine Foster.

Design for the formal dinner table was in the talented hands of Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Sr., Mrs. Elizabeth Cutler and Mrs. Lela Shattuck. Mrs. Warren Taylor and Mrs. Henry Bernstein shared honors on the delightful buffet table. An informal patio table was designed by Mrs. D. V. Loftin and Mrs. Robert Wood. Mrs. C. C. Lucky and Mrs. Grayson Guthrie combined their talents in decorating a lovely tea table. Let's hope for better weather next year. Don't forget the landscape school on Feb. 20, next Thursday. Classes begin at 9:30 a. m. at Northeast College, Recital Hall, Music Building. Open to all interested persons without charge. Miss Winona Chauffe will open the discussion with the subject, Developing the Landscape.

Spring Heralded By Delivery Of Seed Catalogues

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

The first day of spring is brought to our house by the postman. It comes early in an unobtrusive beige envelope which hints not at all of the delights within: The first seed catalogue.

In truth, seed catalogue is a fairly inaccurate term for these colorful brochures which start arriving a few weeks after the official start of winter. The first one that comes to my house is a seed catalogue, but there are also catalogues from nurserymen, catalogues from rose growers, catalogues from other specialists Some are to be had for the asking; others are such delightful concoctions of color and garden lore that they cost a small amount — the garden people have learned there is a large body of catalogue readers who never go near a garden.

When gardeners get together at this time of the year, the catalogues and their contents are certain to be discussed with enthusiasm. Among the great mysteries in the world of nature, we have decided are (a) where on earth are grown the glorious, colorful, unblemished and gleaming fruit and flowers used in the color photographs illustrating the books and (b) who are the photographers.

One year — so long ago that the statute of limitations has run on my crime or I wouldn't dare confess — I was so impressed by the illustrations of delphinium in an English seed catalogue that I brought a couple of packets on my next visit there and literally smuggled them home. (Later I learned that the seed was grown in California by the same company from which I routinely buy seed.)

At any rate, seed catalogue illustrations are out of this world — which is exactly what we gardeners want at this time of the year, for we are dreamers all. And we are dreaming of next season's spectacular when the garden beds will be as perfect, as weed-free and as pest - free as the illustrations.

However, catalogue reading is an art acquired by trial and error methods. My own procedures are the result of long experience with mid - winter garden madness. When the first catalogue arrives, I don't even take off the wrapper until I am prepared to sit down leisurely and slowly read through the book. In the seed department this carries me from achillea through zinnia. Photgraphically, I move from a cover closeup of a colorful annual to a back - page, full - color illustration of an impossibly perfect tomato. In between I've considered crow repellent, rubber - toothed rakes, and African violet food, among other general garden aids.

This is a delightful, relaxing period, when in the mind's eye every plant is tried in the garden for size and color, when every tool or aid is considered in terms of results. But this is just a first reading — done without the garden plan at hand and certainly without writing any orders.

Now Is Time To Control Blight

Azalea petal blight can be controlled, and the first two weeks in February is the time to do the job.

Petal blight comes from spores thrown by a fungus which has wintered in the soil or litter under azalea plants. The fungus usually is confined to an area near the plant.

Research at the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bureau of Plant Industry at Beltsville, Md., shows that a lawn and garden grade of Cyanamid is an effective weapon against the blight.

The first step in control is to rake out all old organic matter from under the azalea plants, then burn the refuse. Under no circumstances should it be added to the compost pile. Cyanamid should be applied at the rate of one pound to each 100 square feet, spread evenly on top of the soil under the plants for about two or three feet beyond the branch spread.

For treating individual plants or small groupings of plants, use the material at the rate of three scant tablespoonsful to each nine square feet of soil. Cyanamid should be applied when the plants are dry and the surface soil has been moist for a couple of days. Care must be taken to keep it off the leaves of the plant.

In addition to its fungicide action Cyanamid supplies nitrogen in a form which resists leaching and is long lasting.

Since azalea blight usually is a neighborhood problem, neighbors should cooperate to wipe out the fungus. Cyanamid will prevent a primary outbreak, but a secondary outbreak may occur from spores which are carried by wind or insects if neighbors do not treat their plants.

Gardening Can Give Fun To Whole Family

The urge to grow things is inherent in the human race.

Prehistoric man first realized by accident the potential in wild berries and plants in his efforts to supplement his almost 100 per cent meat diet. Ancient man's tiger - skinned garbed wife was probably our first gardener when she planted seeds from bushes and plants which grew in the vicinity of her cavern apartment.

Gradually as her skill improved, her meals of mammoth steaks and sabre - toothed tiger cutlets were accompanied by vegetables grown by a primitive cultivation.

The present day gardener has an easier job of it. He's got the experience of scientists and top gardeners the world over to draw upon. He doesn't have to go after his meat with a stone axe and spear. The gardener today practices his hobby to add freshness to his larder with vegetables direct from his own garden and to add beauty to his home with flowers.

And the seeds are no problem, he can buy packet seeds for practically every kind of flower and vegetable he might want from supermarkets, department stores, seed stores or hardwares.

Now is the time after a winter long session with the television set has begun to wane and the view from the picture window is especially bleak, that man's thoughts turn to the prospect of a change, something different to do and occupy one's time.

Gardening can provide that change and at the same time offer a rewarding hobby for the entire family.

Among the first bits of advice for the novice gardener from those who know is not to be too ambitious at first. Start small and as you gain experience, begin expanding your efforts.

Gardening, like many hobbies, can be much easier and afford additional interest with a little advance planning.

The cold months when outdoor work is at a standstill is the best time for the family to get together around the dining room table and decide who is going to plant what and where.

For the novice interested in growing flowers and vegetables from seed the first suggestion would be to pick up a book on gardening, there are scores available in your local library or book store. Many of them are designed for the beginner and carry a step-by-step outline of what a new gardener needs to start a garden.

If the garden is to be a family project, it might be a good idea for Dad to gather the family around and read excerpts from the gardening book.

Then draw in the shape of your sheet of paper, a shirt board from the laundy is excellent for this scale the area of your lot.

Thre draw in the shape of your house in its approximate position on the lot and inscribe exactly where you want flowers and where you will plant vegetables. It's wise to remember here that most vegetables require all of the sunshine they can get so pick a spot for your carrots, beets, radishes, etc. that has little or no shade throughout the day.
purpose, and sketch out in rough

With your lot laid out, you can then collect flower and vegetable seed catalogs which can be obtained in seed stores or hardwares, or by writing any of the packet seed companies.

In the case of flowers, the catalogs, many in full - color, will help you in selecting floral arrangements whose colors will complement and beautify your house.

Certain flowers like sweet alyssum and moss roses make excellent borders for walks, patios and the like, while others such as zinnias, chrysanthemums and petunias are taller and designed for bigger plots or as screens for the foundation.

Planting seeds and watching the tiny green plants shoot from the groud and blossom into things of beauty not only provides an exciting and worthwhile hobby but also adds to the beauty and value of your property and freshens the interior of your home with cut flowers all summer long.

(Next month: Suggestions as to what to plant where and how much seed is needed for a simple garden of flowers and vegetables.)

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

French Give Rose Hints

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Southerners can learn a great deal about how to display roses, especially the climbers, from some of the best French rose gardens. Two gardens which your columnist likes so much that he has visited them several times are the Bagatelle garden in the Bois de Boulogne in Paris and the great rose collection at L'Hay, just outside Paris. If you go to that wonderful city, by all means visit these two gardens. They are easy to reach, and real rose "fans" will want to see them even if they are not in bloom.

At both of these gardens, you will see roses displayed in every imaginable way. However, one of the most elegant sights is a long walk at L'Hay (pronounced Lay) covered with intermittent arches of pillar roses. Each arch is actually supported by two metal arches placed in the ground about two feet apart and made fast by cross pieces which also support the roses.

Arch Rhythm

The ten foot spaces between the arches, as you go down the path, allow you to see the rest of the garden. They give the gardeners room to tie up and prune the roses. Instead of being under an arbor where you cannot see the roses, you stand under the shade of one arch and look at the roses on the next one in the sunlight. Down the path, the alternate shade and light and the graceful rhythm of flowers, foliage, lights and shadows compose a veritable fairyland before your eyes. When viewed from across the garden, the effect is: arch, space, arch and so on. This arrangement requires only about two-thirds as many plants it would take to cover an arbor, and the effect is much lighter and more elegant than that of an arbor.

Pillar Roses

Pillar roses are just the right length for arches because they do not run rampant like the true climbers. At L'Hay many of the old pillars are growing on the arches. Though it was not labelled, one of the most effective bright deep pinks looked like the old Excelsa. Dorothy Perkins was there, too, and quantities of Paul's Scarlet which is as popular on the Continent as it is here. Mildew and blackspot do not bother roses much in France and England. Here in the muggy hot South, the spaces between arches let in air and light that help to keep down these diseases.

At LaHay, you can see all that they have been able to collect of the old roses that Josephine grew in her famous garden at Malmaison. There is also a collection of the wild roses of the world, the ancestors of our modern roses. Something we might well copy is the beautiful blue-green color of the trellises and the benckes in French parks and gardens. On some of the beaches, the benches and seats are a light greenish blue that is kind to the eye. It blends in well with the beds of flowers in the parks, too.

EXTENSION NEWS AND VIEWS

Bug Killer Is Synthetic

By AUDREY DAWSON

Old Man Winter just is not ready to give us weather to spend a day in our yards. It has either rained or been awfully cold every day since the first of the year, so we will have to be satisfied with making plans, ordering our caladium bulbs, etc. Be sure to attend our landscape school this week, Feb. 20 at Northeast State College in the Recital Hall of the New Music Building. I know your problem will be answered. This meeting is free and open to the public.

Safe Insecticides

The new synthetic insecticide, being hailed as among the safest for man in the control against malaria mosquitos, moths and southern Army worms, have been announced by chemists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The new synthetic insecticides are derived from a synthetic material similar to an acid found in flowers of the "mum" family. The new "mum" insecticides far outdo the older safe materials and equal them as insect killers and are even less toxic to warm blooded animals, said the chemist. An effective insect killer that is safe for man to use should be a great boon toman in his fight against insects.

I visited Mrs. Spielman last Saturday. She is enjoying life, doing all the things she did not have time to do while she was your Home Demonstration agent, reading books, making her granddaughter's spring clothes, and curtains for her apartment.

Freezing Pork

I was working in the Bosco Community and Mrs. Jeter, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Hodnett were discussing freezing of pork and length of time it kept the flavor — so here are some suggestions. With careful treatment our specialist says pork can be kept in freezers as long as seven or eight months but flavor changes with longer storage. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is studying the chemical reactions between air and pork fat that bring about unpleasant changes in flavor and color. They hope that better understanding of the causes of rancidity will lead to better ways to prevent it. It's important to use the best freezer wrapping material available one that is air tight and moisture resistant. Press wrapping close to meat to keep out as much air as possible and seal tightly.

Pork may be frozen either raw or precooked. Studies show that pork roasts frozen without cooking had better flavor.

Handicraft

Those interested in reed work are invited to attend a meeting at the Agriculture Building, 704 Cypress, West Monroe, Friday, February 21st. Mr. Wayne Robichaux, Associate Extension Sociologist (Recreation), from LSU and Mrs. J. D. Collier, member of Lamkin Home Demonstration Club, will be on hand to give instructions on how to make trays, bottoms of chairs, etc. Mr. Robichaux will bring the material to work with. Mrs. Collier suggests you bring a tape measure, ice pick, scissors, wire cutters and a sponge. This meeting is open to anyone interested in reed work. If you are looking for a hobby, here's an excellent one.

Hints for Homemakers

You can stand more if you stand less. The most restful way to work is sitting down, especially hand ironing now that sit-down ironing boards are on the market.

Your posture as you work, day in and day out has much to do with the way you feel at the end of each day. Do you slump when working because your work table is not the correct height. Comfortable standing heights will vary from 31 to 32 inches for short persons, 36 to 37 inches for tall persons. If you are tired at the end of each day, check your working heights. There is no standard heights. Tables and portable chairs can be raised by adding casters, blocks or extensions to legs. They can be lowered by shortening legs. If counters are too high they can be lowered an inch or two by reducing drawer or cabinet space underneath or by cutting down on "toe space." Be careful however, to leave enough toe space at least 2½ inches.

Good Memory Thought

Remember good, remember truth, remember Heaven's above you, and you will find through age and youth that many hearts will love you.

Upholster Old Chairs In New Vinyl Fabrics

By VIVIAN BROWN

Perk up an old chair with a stylish new cover. If you upholster it of vinyl, you'll have the added advantage of easy care, especially important in the home with children, pets and party-giving adults.

It'll take about three yards of material in 54 - inch width to do an average sized armless chair Choose one of the colorful, fabrics available, equip yourself with hammer, screwdriver and shears, as well as burlap and cotton filling, and get to work.

How To Do It

Here are some hints for expert upholsterers on using vinyl fabrics.

Remove all old upholstery and tacks carefully. Put burlap over the springs, cutting the burlap slightly larger than that area so that you can pull it taut and double the edges over before tacking it. Trim off the surplus after it is tacked. Throw away the old burlap and cotton filling.

Use the old seat cover as a rough pattern for the new upholstery. It's a good idea not to try to cut it exactly as vinyl fabric upholstery has a lot of stretch and should be fitted directly on the chair to be sure there are no wrinkles. It's best to use oversize pieces and trim after tacking

Put new cotton filling over the springs. Then take your rough piece for the seat cover and fit it lightly over the chair seat. Mark the exact line of the edge of the seat as the line for sewing. Cut out about one-half inch beyond this line. Then cut out the side and front panels, make welting and you are ready to sew.

Welting is an important item in upholstering with vinyl. It is made by sewing a narrow strip of vinyl fabric, about 1½ inches wide, around a fairly heavy cord. Make plenty of it and make all you are going to use at one time.

The top of the seat should be sewn to the welting, then the welting sewn to the side and front panels. On all four pieces you should fold under about one-half inch and sew it to the welting face to face. (When sewing vinyl fabrics on the sewing machine, regulate it so that the stitches are about six to an inch, not closer together. Use a 18 or 20 needle.)

Keep the seat cover pulled taut as you tack it to the bottom frame of the chair with the front corners and then do the back.

Cut notches for fitting after the seat cover has been put in place. Do this carefully. After you make the notches, tuck the seat cover through the opening between chair back and seat. Pull it taut in back and tack it to the frame of the chair back. Finish tackig, around the bottom, placing tacks one inch apart.

For the inside chair back cut a piece 6 to 8 inches oversize in both dimensions. Put tacks in two or three places at the top and pull it toward the bottom and tack it to the chair frame. Get the material as tight as possible from top to bottom first, then work from side to side.

Back Is Easy

The outside back of the chair is usually easy. The welting can be carried up the sides of the chair and across the top and tacked with regular upholsters' tacks. Then the large piece for the outside back can be brought right up to the welting, folded under, and tacked with decorative tacks in a color matching the fabric.

A few buttons may be added as an interesting touch and also because they help keep the vinyl tight.

Plants Eat New Type Flower Pot

For several years, experienced gardeners have been curious about a new type of flower pot made of peat and fiber.

They found that greenhouse operators and garden centers were using these for growing tomato seedlings and bedding plants, as well as for starting bulbs and other types of plant material. However, these pots were not for sale at retail.

When transplanted, these started seedlings seemed to grow unusually well. They were set out, pot and all, without disturbing the root. Often when sold, the roots had already started to grow through the pot wall. As a result, the transplanted seedlings suffered no shock from transplanting. One man could drop seedlings into the holes about as fast as he could dig them, saving hours of labor in a good-sized garden.

No starter solution or transplanting fertilizer was needed because the plants fed on the pot itself. They needed no additional food to help them recover from transplant shock. In the garden, they grew even faster than when old-fashioned clay pots were used, and often matured a week or two earlier.

At first, two things prevented the sale of these pots to home gardeners. Supplies were so limited (they were imported from Europe) that commercial growers took all that were offered. Second, greenhouse supply firms discovered that amateurs unaccustomed to working with the thin-walled European type peat pot often tore them in ordinary handling.

Now, these peat-and-fiber pots are being made in America in a thick-walled version for home gardeners use. The major drawback of the old-time fiber pot — the quick exhaustion of food supply in the soil — has been overcome. By incorporating a slow-acting fertilizer in the pot itself, the Vaughan'a Seed Company has developed a wall which keeps on feeding the plant for several weeks after it has been set out in the garden.

Peat-and fiber pots present no special problems in their use: they are handled in exactly the same way as were old-fashioned clay pots, except that when the plant is ready to set out, the pot does not have to be removed. This preserves the fine mass of hair roots which was always pulled away by the clay pot wall in the old-fashioned type.

Use is not limited to bedding and vegetable transplants. African violet growers are producing small plants in this type container, dropping them inside an ornamental pottery cover for display. Nurseries use peat-and-fiber pots to produce superior types of small shrubs and trees. It is estimated that by 1959, most of the green plants (practically all house plants) grown in the United States will be sold in this type of container. Last Christmas, millions of Poinsettias, Christmas begonias and other ornamental plants were started for this holiday in peat-and-fiber pots, at a tremendous saving in labor for commercial growers.

STRANGE CALL

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State University firemen answered a strange call for help. They found four ducks frozen in a campus pond, unhurt but squawking loudly. An hour of gentle work freed the birds.

THE HOME SHIFT

Begin Some Garden Work

By MILDRED SWIFT

The Ouachita Parish Juvenile Home managers, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel thank you for your response to their call for shrubs. They have all they can plant, now, so hold up your generous offerings until we hear from them.

Mr. Blue at the Cerebral Palsy Center is doing a lovely piece of work on the grounds there, where the children play. His purpose is not only to beautify the landscape but teach the children appreciation of nature. If you've never visited this school, you should take time out to do just that. My! the wonderful work they are doing.

Some Garden Work

Get your beds ready for planting nasturtium seed late this month or around the first of March. They like cool weather. When the hot months come, they die. Children love nasturtiums.

Do we overlook the vibernum family when we need screen plantings? Some varieties grow as tall as fifteen feet. The Seiboldi variety grows about ten feet, has willow green leaves and bears clusters of pink blossoms. You'll see macrophyllum on the court house square. The leaf is large and coarse and it will grow as high as fifteen feet. All the vibernum family likes some sun but they will thrive with less of old Sol's rays than most plants. Many plants in Ouachita parish are growing in pretty dense shade.

Bottle Brush is one of our loveliest small blooming shrubs. We've come to think of this plant as not doing too well here, and the wide leaf variety is subject to freeze. It's the most spectacular bloomer, but the narrow leaf is the hearty one we want to use in north Louisiana. The flower is crimson and in shape looks exacly like the brush you use to clean the baby's bottle. They grow four to six feet tall. Several of these planted in a row make a gorgeous picture.

The cold will probably get our Japanese magnolia blooms. Even if they're not in bloom, often a freeze will cause bud drop.

In our daffodil bulletin, the authors say: "Sometime when bulb blossoms are cut, some leaves are also cut to add some green to an arrangement. This is definitely injurious to the plant." The leaves manufacture food to store in the bulb for next year's bloom. That's why we do not cut or mow the tops down, after the bulbs have quit blooming.

We're not having as many blooms this year from our old established bulbs. The last five years they have bloomed in profusion because of the dry summers. You'll notice that after a rainy season (like last summer), the next year's blooms are scarce. Bulbs like to stay dormant and sleep all summer. If they're constantly watered (either by nature or artificially) they just can't stay as dormant as they should to finish manufacturing blooms. That's why we don't recommend planting bulbs in the beds with shrubs that must be kept watered. That is if you're going to leave the bulbs in the beds year after year.

Planting

Remember the secret to good planting is thorough breaking of the soil. That means breaking the hardpan and subsoil. Add plenty of humus (decayed vegetable matter) to the soil. Plants get through a drowth better with plenty of humus. Incorporate this in the soil well. We've talked about the actual planting of the shrub or tree. Now, after the planting, use a mulch of pine straw, leaves, or well - rotted sawdust.

Let me remind you again to plant, prune and spray your roses this month. When buying your roses, don't forget a few continuous blooming climbers. A stake is a good support and a locust post is excellent. Nail a few cross arms on the post. This is more satisfactory than a trellis that has to be painted so often.

There are many advantages in planting climbing roses. First they give color in the landscape picture. They are less subject to disease and insects, they bloom more freely and don't have to be pruned so often. Four of my favorite climbers are Columbia, Picture, Pinky and Radiance. Your Nurseryman will help you with your selection of tea roses. There are too many varieties to list. Do you have our rose bulletin? This will give you recommended varieties.

Just a Housewife

That reminds me of just how valuable a housewife's time is. Be proud you're just that — a housewife — even though you don't receive a monthly pay check. One statistician figured up that if a homemaker is paid for her services as a cleaning woman, cook, baby - sitter, dish washer, laundress, purchasing agent, interior decorator, dietician, child psychologist, textile expert, seamstress, practical nurse, secretary, and human relations expert, her salary would be $20,000 a year. You're pretty important, Mrs. Housewife. Your job calls for talent that keeps the entire world turning.

Announcements

Sunday, Feb. 23, is Heart Sunday and the entire month is heart month. Give, so that research can continue to find ways of preventing and curing heart disease. On Heart Sunday be ready with your contribution. The women are taking their time and it's your job and mine as well as theirs.

If you want to make one of those gorgeous new purses, go to the Recreation Center each Friday afternoon. Peggy Garnett will teach you to make them and you can learn most any other handicraft you like, free.

Be sure to come and bring others to the special interest landscape demonstrations Thursday. Time is 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. This will be held in the Recital Hall of the New Music Building at Northeast Louisiana State College. body is invited.

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Betty Jane Hodgkins will put in a zipper; Tuesday, Betty Lou Sheppard will show us how to clean a range; Wednesday, John Wright from Louisiana Tech will do flower arrangements; Thursday, Anne Baxter from United Gas will give us some of her fine food preparation; Friday, marketing with Mildred.

Are you following "Spotlight on Foods" column each Thursday afternoon in the News-Star and each Friday morning in the Morning World? Those are my two new avenues of visiting with you. You'll get the good food buys that can save you pennies and some fine recipes, many from Ouachita Parish homemakers. Clip the recipes. They're printed in small form and will take up little room in your files.

See you next Sunday.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Farmerville Wins First

By MARY M. JARDINE

Regardless of the snow and ice our flower show arrived on schedule at the Garden Center. We are proud of the blue ribbon arrangements presented by members of the Farmerville Garden Club.

In keeping with the Valentine season Mrs. L. M. Holder, Sr., designed a composition for a party table. A large red styrofoam heart wos edged with a ruffle of white lacelon. A beautiful bisque Cupid was wired to the upper curve of the heart with a design of white camellia buds and deep red Professor Sargent camellias bordering the left side of the heart. Very lovely for a Valentine tea table or it could be used as a wall decoration.

Mrs. Frank Yelton's triangular line arrangement was awarded high score. Mrs. Yelton selected a slender East Indian brass vase in which she skillfully placed three graceful pieces of ivy in a triangular pattern. Sprigs of variegated euonymus were used as secondary placements with yellow acacia as a center of interest. The arrangement was set on an ebony base. The emphasis here was on simplicity of line and it was most distinctive.

Mrs. Layton Hester designed a most pleasing vertical arrangement. The container was a frosted green compote. Background placements were of grey green yucca, with the vertical pattern emphasized with glossy Buford holly. Red camellia buds and half open flowers with self foliage were used low as a center of interest. There was good transition in textures and size of materials here. Staged against a rosy pink background this was most effective.

Green and White

Mrs. Frank Yelton and Mrs. L. M. Holder, Sr. combined their talents in creating a sparkling green and white arrangement. A large black compote of modern design was selected. The line placements were of clipped pine with buds and blooms of small white chrysanthemums emphasizing the line. Larger white mums were placed low in the design. Paper white narcissus were tucked behind the mums as filler material. The combination of materials with this container was excellent.

How are your daffodils faring? Wednesday morning after the ice had melted I picked a large bouquet and would like to report the following varieties seem "weatherproof": Narcissus minor, the little early blooming miniature, Fortune, Carlton, Silver Star and the deep blue hyacinths all were in full bloom when the snow and ice arrived. They are just as fresh and crisp as they can be. Another variety, not in bloom at the present, is Carbineer. It, too, is supposed to be weather proof.

In spite of the almost impossible travel conditions on Monday the Monroe Garden Club Little Camellia Show was staged as scheduled. A valiant effort was made by all exhibitors and the show, while smaller than planned, was most beautiful. More than 50 varieties of camellias were on display. In the arrangement section, the traditional arrangement was made by Mrs. C. E. McKenzie and Mrs. Ben nMarshall. Arrangements for the living room of today were made by Mrs. DeWitt Milam, Mrs. George Guerriero and Mrs. P. A. Colvin. Arrangements for the den featuring driftwood were created by Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. Edward Dalton and Dr. Katherine Foster.

Design for the formal dinner table was in the talented hands of Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Sr., Mrs. Elizabeth Cutler and Mrs. Lela Shattuck. Mrs. Warren Taylor and Mrs. Henry Bernstein shared honors on the delightful buffet table. An informal patio table was designed by Mrs. D. V. Loftin and Mrs. Robert Wood. Mrs. C. C. Lucky and Mrs. Grayson Guthrie combined their talents in decorating a lovely tea table. Let's hope for better weather next year. Don't forget the landscape school on Feb. 20, next Thursday. Classes begin at 9:30 a. m. at Northeast College, Recital Hall, Music Building. Open to all interested persons without charge. Miss Winona Chauffe will open the discussion with the subject, Developing the Landscape.

Spring Heralded By Delivery Of Seed Catalogues

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

The first day of spring is brought to our house by the postman. It comes early in an unobtrusive beige envelope which hints not at all of the delights within: The first seed catalogue.

In truth, seed catalogue is a fairly inaccurate term for these colorful brochures which start arriving a few weeks after the official start of winter. The first one that comes to my house is a seed catalogue, but there are also catalogues from nurserymen, catalogues from rose growers, catalogues from other specialists Some are to be had for the asking; others are such delightful concoctions of color and garden lore that they cost a small amount — the garden people have learned there is a large body of catalogue readers who never go near a garden.

When gardeners get together at this time of the year, the catalogues and their contents are certain to be discussed with enthusiasm. Among the great mysteries in the world of nature, we have decided are (a) where on earth are grown the glorious, colorful, unblemished and gleaming fruit and flowers used in the color photographs illustrating the books and (b) who are the photographers.

One year — so long ago that the statute of limitations has run on my crime or I wouldn't dare confess — I was so impressed by the illustrations of delphinium in an English seed catalogue that I brought a couple of packets on my next visit there and literally smuggled them home. (Later I learned that the seed was grown in California by the same company from which I routinely buy seed.)

At any rate, seed catalogue illustrations are out of this world — which is exactly what we gardeners want at this time of the year, for we are dreamers all. And we are dreaming of next season's spectacular when the garden beds will be as perfect, as weed-free and as pest - free as the illustrations.

However, catalogue reading is an art acquired by trial and error methods. My own procedures are the result of long experience with mid - winter garden madness. When the first catalogue arrives, I don't even take off the wrapper until I am prepared to sit down leisurely and slowly read through the book. In the seed department this carries me from achillea through zinnia. Photgraphically, I move from a cover closeup of a colorful annual to a back - page, full - color illustration of an impossibly perfect tomato. In between I've considered crow repellent, rubber - toothed rakes, and African violet food, among other general garden aids.

This is a delightful, relaxing period, when in the mind's eye every plant is tried in the garden for size and color, when every tool or aid is considered in terms of results. But this is just a first reading — done without the garden plan at hand and certainly without writing any orders.

Gardening Can Give Fun To Whole Family

The urge to grow things is inherent in the human race.

Prehistoric man first realized by accident the potential in wild berries and plants in his efforts to supplement his almost 100 per cent meat diet. Ancient man's tiger - skinned garbed wife was probably our first gardener when she planted seeds from bushes and plants which grew in the vicinity of her cavern apartment.

Gradually as her skill improved, her meals of mammoth steaks and sabre - toothed tiger cutlets were accompanied by vegetables grown by a primitive cultivation.

The present day gardener has an easier job of it. He's got the experience of scientists and top gardeners the world over to draw upon. He doesn't have to go after his meat with a stone axe and spear. The gardener today practices his hobby to add freshness to his larder with vegetables direct from his own garden and to add beauty to his home with flowers.

And the seeds are no problem, he can buy packet seeds for practically every kind of flower and vegetable he might want from supermarkets, department stores, seed stores or hardwares.

Now is the time after a winter long session with the television set has begun to wane and the view from the picture window is especially bleak, that man's thoughts turn to the prospect of a change, something different to do and occupy one's time.

Gardening can provide that change and at the same time offer a rewarding hobby for the entire family.

Among the first bits of advice for the novice gardener from those who know is not to be too ambitious at first. Start small and as you gain experience, begin expanding your efforts.

Gardening, like many hobbies, can be much easier and afford additional interest with a little advance planning.

The cold months when outdoor work is at a standstill is the best time for the family to get together around the dining room table and decide who is going to plant what and where.

For the novice interested in growing flowers and vegetables from seed the first suggestion would be to pick up a book on gardening, there are scores available in your local library or book store. Many of them are designed for the beginner and carry a step-by-step outline of what a new gardener needs to start a garden.

If the garden is to be a family project, it might be a good idea for Dad to gather the family around and read excerpts from the gardening book.

Then draw in the shape of your sheet of paper, a shirt board from the laundry is excellent for this scale the area of your lot.

Thre draw in the shape of your house in its approximate position on the lot and inscribe exactly where you want flowers and where you will plant vegetables. It's wise to remember here that most vegetables require all of the sunshine they can get so pick a spot for your carrots, beets, radishes, etc. that has little or no shade throughout the day.

purpose, and sketch out in rough

With your lot laid out, you can then collect flower and vegetable seed catalogs which can be obtained in seed stores or hardwares, or by writing any of the packet seed companies.

In the case of flowers, the catalogs, many in full - color, will help you in selecting floral arrangements whose colors will complement and beautify your house.

Certain flowers like sweet alyssum and moss roses make excellent borders for walks, patios and the like, while others such as zinnias, chrysanthemums and petunias are taller and designed for bigger plots or as screens for the foundation.

Planting seeds and watching the tiny green plants shoot from the groud and blossom into things of beauty not only provides an exciting and worthwhile hobby but also adds to the beauty and value of your property and freshens the interior of your home with cut flowers all summer long.

(Next month: Suggestions as to what to plant where and how much seed is needed for a simple garden of flowers and vegetables.)

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

French Give Rose Hints

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Southerners can learn a great deal about how to display roses, especially the climbers, from some of the best French rose gardens. Two gardens which your columnist likes so much that he has visited them several times are the Bagatelle garden in the Bois de Boulogne in Paris and the great rose collection at L'Hay, just outside Paris. If you go to that wonderful city, by all means visit these two gardens. They are easy to reach, and real rose "fans" will want to see them even if they are not in bloom.

At both of these gardens, you will see roses displayed in every imaginable way. However, one of the most elegant sights is a long walk at L'Hay (pronounced Lay) covered with intermittent arches of pillar roses. Each arch is actually supported by two metal arches placed in the ground about two feet apart and made fast by cross pieces which also support the roses.

Arch Rhythm

The ten foot spaces between the arches, as you go down the path, allow you to see the rest of the garden. They give the gardeners room to tie up and prune the roses. Instead of being under an arbor where you cannot see the roses, you stand under the shade of one arch and look at the roses on the next one in the sunlight. Down the path, the alternate shade and light and the graceful rhythm of flowers, foliage, lights and shadows compose a veritable fairyland before your eyes. When viewed from across the garden, the effect is: arch, space, arch and so on. This arrangement requires only about two-thirds as many plants it would take to cover an arbor, and the effect is much lighter and more elegant than that of an arbor.

Pillar Roses

Pillar roses are just the right length for arches because they do not run rampant like the true climbers. At L'Hay many of the old pillars are growing on the arches. Though it was not labelled, one of the most effective bright deep pinks looked like the old Excelsa. Dorothy Perkins was there, too, and quantities of Paul's Scarlet which is as popular on the Continent as it is here. Mildew and blackspot do not bother roses much in France and England. Here in the muggy hot South, the spaces between arches let in air and light that help to keep down these diseases.

At LaHay, you can see all that they have been able to collect of the old roses that Josephine grew in her famous garden at Malmaison. There is also a collection of the wild roses of the world, the ancestors of our modern roses. Something we might well copy is the beautiful blue-green color of the trellises and the benckes in French parks and gardens. On some of the beaches, the benches and seats are a light greenish blue that is kind to the eye. It blends in well with the beds of flowers in the parks, too.

Often when sold, the roots had already started to grow through the pot wall. As a result, the transplanted seedlings suffered no shock from transplanting. One man could drop seedlings into the holes about as fast as he could dig them, saving hours of labor in a good-sized garden.

No starter solution or transplanting fertilizer was needed because the plants fed on the pot itself. They needed no additional food to help them recover from transplant shock. In the garden, they grew even faster than when old-fashioned clay pots were used, and often matured a week or two earlier.

At first, two things prevented the sale of these pots to home gardeners. Supplies were so limited (they were imported from Europe) that commercial growers took all that were offered. Second, greenhouse supply firms discovered that amateurs unaccustomed to working with the thin-walled European type peat pot often tore them in ordinary handling.

Now, these peat-and-fiber pots are being made in America in a thick-walled version for home gardeners use. The major drawback of the old-time fiber pot — the quick exhaustion of food supply in the soil — has been overcome. By incorporating a slow-acting fertilizer in the pot itself, the Vaughan'a Seed Company has developed a wall which keeps on feeding the plant for several weeks after it has been set out in the garden.

Peat-and fiber pots present no special problems in their use: they are handled in exactly the same way as were old-fashioned clay pots, except that when the plant is ready to set out, the pot does not have to be removed. This preserves the fine mass of hair roots which was always pulled away by the clay pot wall in the old-fashioned type.

Use is not limited to bedding and vegetable transplants. African violet growers are producing small plants in this type container, dropping them inside an ornamental pottery cover for display. Nurseries use peat-and-fiber pots to produce superior types of small shrubs and trees. It is estimated that by 1959, most of the green plants (practically all house plants) grown in the United States will be sold in this type of container. Last Christmas, millions of Poinsettias, Christmas begonias and other ornamental plants were started for this holiday in peat-and-fiber pots, at a tremendous saving in labor for commercial growers.

Upholster Old Chairs In New Vinyl Fabrics

By VIVIAN BROWN

Perk up an old chair with a stylish new cover. If you upholster it of vinyl, you'll have the added advantage of easy care, especially important in the home with children, pets and party-giving adults.

It'll take about three yards of material in 54 - inch width to do an average sized armless chair Choose one of the colorful, fabrics available, equip yourself with hammer, screwdriver and shears, as well as burlap and cotton filling, and get to work.

How To Do It

Here are some hints for expert upholsterers on using vinyl fabrics.

Remove all old upholstery and tacks carefully. Put burlap over the springs, cutting the burlap slightly larger than that area so that you can pull it taut and double the edges over before tacking it. Trim off the surplus after it is tacked. Throw away the old burlap and cotton filling.

Use the old seat cover as a rough pattern for the new upholstery. It's a good idea not to try to cut it exactly as vinyl fabric upholstery has a lot of stretch and should be fitted directly on the chair to be sure there are no wrinkles. It's best to use oversize pieces and trim after tacking

Put new cotton filling over the springs. Then take your rough piece for the seat cover and fit it lightly over the chair seat. Mark the exact line of the edge of the seat as the line for sewing. Cut out about one-half inch beyond this line. Then cut out the side and front panels, make welting and you are ready to sew.

Welting is an important item in upholstering with vinyl. It is made by sewing a narrow strip of vinyl fabric, about 1½ inches wide, around a fairly heavy cord. Make plenty of it and make all you are going to use at one time.

The top of the seat should be sewn to the welting, then the welting sewn to the side and front panels. On all four pieces you should fold under about one-half inch and sew it to the welting face to face. (When sewing vinyl fabrics on the sewing machine, regulate it so that the stitches are about six to an inch, not closer together. Use a 16 number thread with a size 18 or 20 needle.)

Keep the seat cover pulled taut as you tack it to the bottom frame of the chair with the front corners and then do the back.

Cut notches for fitting after the seat cover has been put in place. Do this carefully. After you make the notches, tuck the seat cover through the opening between chair back and seat. Pull it taut in back and tack it to the frame of the chair back. Finish tacking, around the bottom, placing tacks one inch apart.

For the inside chair back cut a piece 6 to 8 inches oversize in both dimensions. Put tacks in two or three places at the top and pull it toward the bottom and tack it to the chair frame. Get the material as tight as possible from top to bottom first, then work from side to side.

Back Is Easy

The outside back of the chair is usually easy. The welting can be carried up the sides of the chair and across the top and tacked with regular upholsters' tacks. Then the large piece for the outside back can be brought right up to the welting, folded under, and tacked with decorative tacks in a color matching the fabric.

A few buttons may be added as an interesting touch and also because they help keep the vinyl tight.

THE HOME SHIFT

Begin Some Garden Work

By MILDRED SWIFT

The Ouachita Parish Juvenile Home managers, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel thank you for your response to their call for shrubs. They have all they can plant, now, so hold up your generous offerings until we hear from them.

Mr. Blue at the Cerebral Palsy Center is doing a lovely piece of work on the grounds there, where the children play. His purpose is not only to beautify the landscape but teach the children appreciation of nature. If you've never visited this school, you should take time out to do just that. My! the wonderful work they are doing.

Some Garden Work

Get your beds ready for planting nasturtium seed late this month or around the first of March. They like cool weather. When the hot months come, they die. Children love nasturtiums.

Do we overlook the vibernum family when we need screen plantings? Some varieties grow as tall as fifteen feet. The Seiboldi variety grows about ten feet, has willow green leaves and bears clusters of pink blossoms. You'll see macrophyllum on the court house square. The leaf is large and coarse and it will grow as high as fifteen feet. All the vibernum family likes some sun but they will thrive with less of old Sol's rays than most plants. Many plants in Ouachita parish are growing in pretty dense shade.

Bottle Brush is one of our loveliest small blooming shrubs. We've come to think of this plant as not doing too well here, and the wide leaf variety is subject to freeze. It's the most spectacular bloomer, but the narrow leaf is the hearty one we want to use in north Louisiana. The flower is crimson and in shape looks exacly like the brush you use to clean the baby's bottle. They grow four to six feet tall. Several of these planted in a row make a gorgeous picture.

The cold will probably get our Japanese magnolia blooms. Even if they're not in bloom, often a freeze will cause bud drop.

In our daffodil bulletin, the authors say: "Sometime when bulb blossoms are cut, some leaves are also cut to add some green to an arrangement. This is definitely injurious to the plant." The leaves manufacture food to store in the bulb for next year's bloom. That's why we do not cut or mow the tops down, after the bulbs have quit blooming.

We're not having as many blooms this year from our old established bulbs. The last five years they have bloomed in profusion because of the dry summers. You'll notice that after a rainy season (like last summer), the next year's blooms are scarce. Bulbs like to stay dormant and sleep all summer. If they're constantly watered (either by nature or artificially) they just can't stay as dormant as they should to finish manufacturing blooms. That's why we don't recommend planting bulbs in the beds with shrubs that must be kept watered. That is if you're going to leave the bulbs in the beds year after year.

Planting

Remember the secret to good planting is thorough breaking of the soil. That means breaking the hardpan and subsoil. Add plenty of humus (decayed vegetable matter) to the soil. Plants get through a drowth better with plenty of humus. Incorporate this in the soil well. We've talked about the actual planting of the shrub or tree. Now, after the planting, use a mulch of pine straw, leaves, or well - rotted sawdust.

Let me remind you again to plant, prune and spray your roses this month. When buying your roses, don't forget a few continuous blooming climbers. A stake is a good support and a locust post is excellent. Nail a few cross arms on the post. This is more satisfactory than a trellis that has to be painted so often.

There are many advantages in planting climbing roses. First they give color in the landscape picture. They are less subject to disease and insects, they bloom more freely and don't have to be pruned so often. Four of my favorite climbers are Columbia, Picture, Pinky and Radiance. Your Nurseryman will help you with your selection of tea roses. There are too many varieties to list. Do you have our rose bulletin? This will give you recommended varieties.

Just a Housewife

That reminds me of just how valuable a housewife's time is. Be proud you're just that — a housewife — even though you don't receive a monthly pay check. One statistician figured up that if a homemaker is paid for her services as a cleaning woman, cook, baby - sitter, dish washer, laundress, purchasing agent, interior decorator, dietician, child psychologist, textile expert, seamstress, practical nurse, secretary, and human relations expert, her salary would be $20,000 a year. You're pretty important, Mrs. Housewife. Your job calls for talent that keeps the entire world turning.

Announcements

Sunday, Feb. 23, is Heart Sunday and the entire month is heart month. Give, so that research can continue to find ways of preventing and curing heart disease. On Heart Sunday be ready with your contribution. The women are taking their time and it's your job and mine as well as theirs.

If you want to make one of those gorgeous new purses, go to the Recreation Center each Friday afternoon. Peggy Garnett will teach you to make them and you can learn most any other handicraft you like, free.

Be sure to come and bring others to the special interest landscape demonstrations Thursday. Time is 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. This will be held in the Recital Hall of the New Music Building at Northeast Louisiana State College. body is invited.

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Betty Jane Hodgkins will put in a zipper; Tuesday, Betty Lou Sheppard will show us how to clean a range; Wednesday, John Wright from Louisiana Tech will do flower arrangements; Thursday, Anne Baxter from United Gas will give us some of her fine food preparation; Friday, marketing with Mildred.

Are you following "Spotlight on Foods" column each Thursday afternoon in the News-Star and each Friday morning in the Morning World? Those are my two new avenues of visiting with you. You'll get the good food buys that can save you pennies and some fine recipes, many from Ouachita Parish homemakers. Clip the recipes. They're printed in small form and will take up little room in your files.

See you next Sunday.

Bug Killer Is Synthetic

By AUDREY DAWSON

Old Man Winter just is not ready to give us weather to spend a day in our yards. It has either rained or been awfully cold every day since the first of the year, so we will have to be satisfied with making plans, ordering our caladium bulbs, etc. Be sure to attend our landscape school this week, Feb. 20 at Northeast State College in the Recital Hall of the New Music Building. I know your problem will be answered. This meeting is free and open to the public.

Safe Insecticides

The new synthetic insecticide, being hailed as among the safest for man in the control against malaria mosquitos, moths and southern Army worms, have been announced by chemists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The new synthetic insecticides are derived from a synthetic material similar to an acid found in flowers of the "mum" family. The new "mum" insecticides far outdo the older safe materials and equal them as insect killers and are even less toxic to warm blooded animals, said the chemist. An effective insect killer that is safe for man to use should be a great boon toman in his fight against insects.

I visited Mrs. Spielman last Saturday. She is enjoying life, doing all the things she did not have time to do while she was your Home Demonstration agent, reading books, making her granddaughter's spring clothes, and curtains for her apartment.

Freezing Pork

I was working in the Bosco Community and Mrs. Jeter, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Hodnett were discussing freezing of pork and length of time it kept the flavor — so here are some suggestions. With careful treatment our specialist says pork can be kept in freezers as long as seven or eight months but flavor changes with longer storage. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is studying the chemical reactions between air and pork fat that bring about unpleasant changes in flavor and color. They hope that better understanding of the causes of rancidity will lead to better ways to prevent it. It's important to use the best freezer wrapping material available one that is air tight and moisture resistant. Press wrapping close to meat to keep out as much air as possible and seal tightly.

Pork may be frozen either raw or precooked. Studies show that pork roasts frozen without cooking had better flavor.

Handicraft

Those interested in reed work are invited to attend a meeting at the Agriculture Building, 704 Cypress, West Monroe, Friday, February 21st. Mr. Wayne Robichaux, Associate Extension Sociologist (Recreation), from LSU and Mrs. J. D. Collier, member of Lamkin Home Demonstration Club, will be on hand to give instructions on how to make trays, bottoms of chairs, etc. Mr. Robichaux will bring the material to work with. Mrs. Collier suggests you bring a tape measure, ice pick, scissors, wire cutters and a sponge. This meeting is open to anyone interested in reed work. If you are looking for a hobby, here's an excellent one.

Hints for Homemakers

You can stand more if you stand less. The most restful way to work is sitting down, especially hand ironing now that sit-down ironing boards are on the market.

Your posture as you work, day in and day out has much to do with the way you feel at the end of each day. Do you slump when working because your work table is not the correct height. Comfortable standing heights will vary from 31 to 32 inches for short persons, 36 to 37 inches for tall persons. If you are tired at the end of each day, check your working heights. There is no standard heights. Tables and portable chairs can be raised by adding casters, blocks or extensions to legs. They can be lowered by shortening legs. If counters are too high they can be lowered an inch or two by reducing drawer or cabinet space underneath or by cutting down on "toe space." Be careful however, to leave enough toe space at least 2½ inches.

Good Memory Thought

Remember good, remember truth, remember Heaven's above you, and you will find through age and youth that many hearts will love you.

Now Is Time To Control Blight

Azalea petal blight can be controlled, and the first two weeks in February is the time to do the job.

Petal blight comes from spores thrown by a fungus which has wintered in the soil or litter under azalea plants. The fungus usually is confined to an area near the plant.

Research at the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bureau of Plant Industry at Beltsville, Md., shows that a lawn and garden grade of Cyanamid is an effective weapon against the blight.

The first step in control is to rake out all old organic matter from under the azalea plants, then burn the refuse. Under no circumstances should it be added to the compost pile. Cyanamid should be applied at the rate of one pound to each 100 square feet, spread evenly on top of the soil under the plants for about two or three feet beyond the branch spread.

For treating individual plants or small groupings of plants, use the material at the rate of three scant tablespoonstul to each nine square feet of soil. Cyanamid should be applied when the plants are dry and the surface soil has been moist for a couple of days. Care must be taken to keep it off the leaves of the plant.

In addition to its fungicide action Cyanamid supplies nitrogen in a form which resists leaching and is long lasting.

Since azalea blight usually is a neighborhood problem, neighbors should cooperate to wipe out the fungus. Cyanamid will prevent a primary outbreak, but a secondary outbreak may occur from spores which are carried by wind or insects if neighbors do not treat their plants.

Judge Collects Toy Soldiers

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—When Municipal Court Judge Frank E. Southard, Jr. tires of fighting lawyers, he relaxes with battling soldiers.

Unlike the courtroom strategists, Judge Southard's soldiers don't talk back: they are a part of a toy army of 1,400 wearing the uniforms and bearing the colors of military units that made world history.

Judge Southard is a student of military history who combines this interest with his toy soldier collection. In his bookshelf army are units of the Coldstream Guards, the Royal Scots, the Welch Fusiliers, the Twelfth Lancers. Besides this substantial British empire contingent are representatives of ancient Roman, Greek and Egyptian forces, the Crusaders, "New World" Spaniards, and both Yankee and Rebel armies of the Civil War.

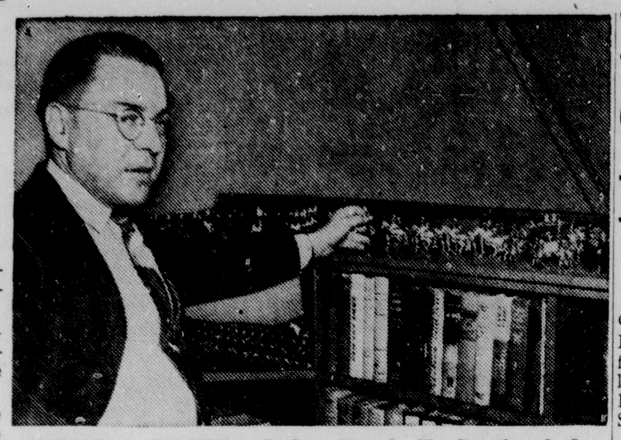

Some of the troops are complete with generals: George Custer of Little Big Horn fame, Lee and Meade of the Civil War.

The judge, a colonel in the Maine National Guard, took up soldiering as a hobby in 1953. He attends collector conventions and meetings all over the northeast.

Southard doesn't hold the family monopoly on hobbies. His wife has a large collection of sea shells and 11-year-old Frank boasts a scale model railroad with hundreds of feet of track.

Where does the family get the time for all this collecting:

Judge Southard's summation is succinct: "We don't have television."

JUDICIAL HOBBY: Judge Frank E. Southard Jr. surveys a segment of the 1,400-man army of toy soldiers which march around bookshelves in his Augusta, Maine, home.

BODY FOUND

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The body of Druis J. Boudreaux, 31-year-old trapper from Chauvin, was found in marshland about 15 miles south of here yesterday by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Packard of Plaquemines Parish said Boudreaux and a companion, Aire LeBouff, were thrown into water near Lake Hermitage Wednesday when their boat was swamped.

Packard said LeBouff made it to shore, but Boudreaux died of exposure.

Pole Post Office Is Excellent

By RENNIE TAYLOR

AT THE SOUTH POLE (AP) — A corner of the mess hall at this IGY station contains the post office with a magic name for millions of people around the world. It has the coveted postmark "Pole Station, Antarctica."

It is the target of stamp collectors everywhere. People stirred by curiosity write to the station to find out how its 18 men live in the world's most hostile climate. Lonely women write in the hope of striking up "pen pal" friendships. And the station always gets its full share of official mail and packages from home.

Occupying a space less than 10 feet square, this post office probably is the most elemental of all operated by Uncle Sam. Its equipment consists of a hand-operated stamp cancelling machine, a bathroom scale, a letter box, a cabinet containing about 50 pigeonholes and a few rubber stamps.

The pigeonholes are for out-going, not incoming mail, because the Pole station sends back more letters than it receives. Stamp collectors send their covers to the station in packages. The covers, stamped and addressed by the bundles according to the states or countries of their destination.

This means more work than the postmaster, Louis B. deWit, Navy commissary steward from Ogden, Utah, can do. So other men of the station take turns helping him.

The stamp collecting part of the operation has become so heavy that the Navy has imposed a limit. Individuals are held to no more than five covers in each consignment. However, some of them have circumvented this by sending packages of five to several of the men here.

But the abuses are being over come gradually. When deWit gets a package obviously containing large numbers of covers, he stamps it for return to the sender and it goes back unopened. Sometimes the scattered consignments from one person are collected, repackaged and returned to the sender without benefit of the magic postmark.

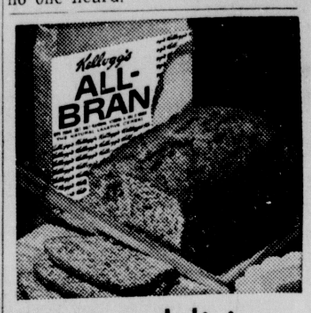

From the financial standpoint, deWit says, the government is doing well on its polar post office. This is mainly because it has no scales that will weigh ounces or fractions of an ounce. A man who mails in a letter hefts it and guesses its weight. To make sure it won't be stopped en route for insufficieint postage the sender always errs on the side of generosity in using stamps.

Since Nov. 16, when deWit took charge, the polar post office has received 1,036 pounds of mail. In that time it has sent out 645 pounds of mail and has another 200 pounds ready to go. About 75 per cent of the outgo is addressed to stamp collectors.

DEATH OF THE CAT

NEW YORK (UP) — The body of a man was found on the first floor setback of an apartment building Thursday.

Police recognized him immediately as Harry (The Cat) Santiago, an accomplished burglar. On the seventh floor of the building, they found how he died. A fire escape faced the bathroom window of an apartment on the other side of a four-foot areaway. The windowsill of the bathroom was stained with blood. "The Cat" had missed his jump, just barely. If he cried for help, no one heard.

HIS HOBBY

Judge Collects Toy Soldiers

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—When Municipal Court Judge Frank E. Southard, Jr. tires of fighting lawyers, he relaxes with battling soldiers.

Unlike the courtroom strategists, Judge Southard's soldiers don't talk back: they are a part of a toy army of 1,400 wearing the uniforms and bearing the colors of military units that made world history.

Judge Southard is a student of military history who combines this interest with his toy soldier collection. In his bookshelf army are units of the Coldstream Guards, the Royal Scots, the Welch Fusiliers, the Twelfth Lancers. Besides this substantial British empire contingent are representatives of ancient Roman, Greek and Egyptian forces, the Crusaders, "New World" Spaniards, and both Yankee and Rebel armies of the Civil War.

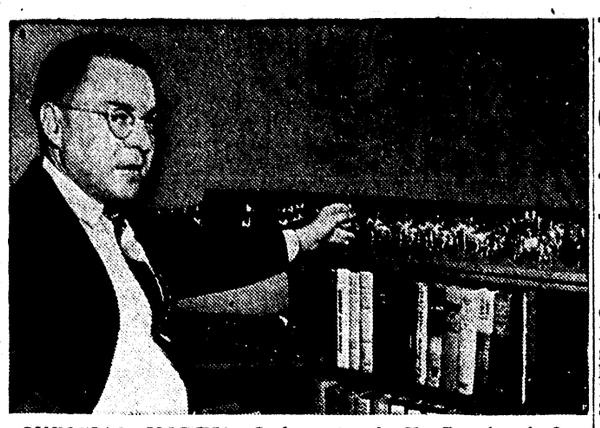

Some of the troops are complete with generals: George Custer of Little Big Horn fame, Lee and Meade of the Civil War.

The judge, a colonel in the Maine National Guard, took up soldiering as a hobby in 1953. He attends collector conventions and meetings all over the northeast.

Southard doesn't hold the family monopoly on hobbies. His wife has a large collection of sea shells and 11-year-old Frank boasts a scale model railroad with hundreds of feet of track.

Where does the family get the time for all this collecting:

Judge Southard's summation is succinct: "We don't have television."

JUDICIAL HOBBY: Judge Frank E. Southard Jr. surveys a segment of the 1,400-man army of toy soldiers which march around bookshelves in his Augusta, Maine, home.

BODY FOUND

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The body of Druis J. Boudreaux, 31-year-old trapper from Chauvin, was found in marshland about 15 miles south of here yesterday by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Packard of Plaquemines Parish said Boudreaux and a companion, Aire LeBouff, were thrown into water near Lake Hermitage Wednesday when their boat was swamped.

Packard said LeBouff made it to shore, but Boudreaux died of exposure.

Pole Post Office Is Excellent

By RENNIE TAYLOR

AT THE SOUTH POLE (AP) — A corner of the mess hall at this IGY station contains the post office with a magic name for millions of people around the world. It has the coveted postmark "Pole Station, Antarctica."

It is the target of stamp collectors everywhere. People stirred by curiosity write to the station to find out how its 18 men live in the world's most hostile climate. Lonely women write in the hope of striking up "pen pal" friendships. And the station always gets its full share of official mail and packages from home.

Occupying a space less than 10 feet square, this post office probably is the most elemental of all operated by Uncle Sam. Its equipment consists of a hand-operated stamp cancelling machine, a bathroom scale, a letter box, a cabinet containing about 50 pigeonholes and a few rubber stamps.

The pigeonholes are for out-going, not incoming mail, because the Pole station sends back more letters than it receives. Stamp collectors send their covers to the station in packages. The covers, stamped and addressed by the bundles according to the states or countries of their destination.

This means more work than the postmaster, Louis B. deWit, Navy commissary steward from Ogden, Utah, can do. So other men of the station take turns helping him.

The stamp collecting part of the operation has become so heavy that the Navy has imposed a limit. Individuals are held to no more than five covers in each consignment. However, some of them have circumvented this by sending packages of five to several of the men here.

But the abuses are being over come gradually. When deWit gets a package obviously containing large numbers of covers, he stamps it for return to the sender and it goes back unopened. Sometimes the scattered consignments from one person are collected, repackaged and returned to the sender without benefit of the magic postmark.

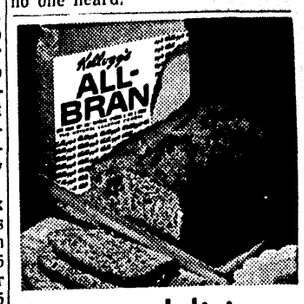

From the financial standpoint, deWit says, the government is doing well on its polar post office. This is mainly because it has no scales that will weigh ounces or fractions of an ounce. A man who mails in a letter hefts it and guesses its weight. To make sure it won't be shorted en route for insufficieint postage the sender always errs on the side of generosity in using stamps.

Since Nov. 16, when deWit took charge, the polar post office has received 1,036 pounds of mail. In that time it has sent out 645 pounds of mail and has another 200 pounds ready to go. About 75 per cent of the outgo is addressed to stamp collectors.

DEATH OF THE CAT

NEW YORK (UP) — The body of a man was found on the first floor setback of an apartment building Thursday.

Police recognized him immediately as Harry (The Cat) Santiago, an accomplished burglar. On the seventh floor of the building, they found how he died. A fire escape faced the bathroom window of an apartment on the other side of a four-foot areaway. The windowsill of the bathroom was stained with blood. "The Cat" had missed his jump, just barely. If he cried for help, no one heard.

Monroyan Recalls Search For Pirate's Treasure

Stranger Wins Quest For Coins

By JIMMY HATTEN
Staff Writer

Pirate treasure - - two of the most exciting words in the English language - - linger on Monroyan M. E. Dupont's mind.

Both in the south Louisiana Parish of Livingston, Dupont, whose grandfather came from France, became entangled in a treasure hunt as a lad of 12.

The treasure was that hidden by the famed (or infamous) pirate Jean Lafitte of Louisiana's Gulf Coast. In addition to his adventure, Dupont recalls many tales of searches for the treasure in South Louisiana's colorful bayou country.

Dupont's father and two older brothers in the fall of 1904 were employed to cut timber on the banks of the Amite River. Dupont served as one of the saw hands.

They spent several months camping in the swamp, unsuccessfully looking for the treasure while not working.

Lafitte, as legend goes, buried a large part of his treasure in the Amite River swamp between two sweet gum trees. Another story says that he sank it in an iron chest in the river, marked with a brick pillow.

Casual Remark

Late one evening, with work done, a drifter came to the camp seeking work. After standing around for a time, he made a casual remark that he was going to look for Lafitte's buried treasure.

Dupont said, "he walked several hundred feet from the tent camp, cut down several small bushes and stuck the axe in the ground several times and came back to the camp.

"The next morning when we got up, our drifter could not be found. He was gone without saying anything to anyone about leaving." We thought it was funny the way he had acted and we went out where he had stuck the axe in the ground the evening before."

The group discovered a small cast iron pot that would hold about one half gallon.

"The pot, Dupont said, "was of the kind that was made in the 18th century. We could not tell what kind of coin had been in it — it could have been gold, silver or copper doubloons.

"The print of some kind of money was very plain to see. What the drifter got out of it, we never knew, because we never saw him again."

Another Experience

Dupont also told of an experience his uncle, L. T. Watson related:

"Just after the end of the War Between the States, when my uncle had just returned home from serving three years in the Confederate Army, he literally stumbled on what might have been Lafitte's treasure."

While fishing, Watson became lost near Spike Nail Landing on the Amite River.

"At the time," says Dupont, "the river swamp was a solid wild cane brake over a mile through. He did not go far before he became lost with night fast approaching.

"Working his way through a very thick place, he stumbled over something and fell. He discovered he had tripped on a brick pillow about one foot high and about a brick length square.

"It was covered with a green moss and was located between two large sweet gum trees some 15 or 20 feet apart. He stated that he tried to mark the place but as he was lost he was only interested in getting home.

After rambling around in the swamp six or seven hours Watson finally found his way out. Days afterward, he searched the swamp trying to locate the brick pillow, but to no avail.

Discovery Claimed

Another party, Dupont says, claimed that they found the brick pillow and Lafitte's treasure.

Dupont remembers another story about a man who he said had become involved in a shooting and was wanted dead or alive.

The man hid out in the Amite River swamp, and on a visit to his wife told her he had located Lafitte's treasure.

But, Dupont went on, he never got to dig for it. Officers of the law shot him down as he was making his way back to the swamp and possibly Lafitte's treasure. Clutched in his hands were a spade and pick.

Thus is M. E. Dupont's story of pirate treasure — and thinking it over, he wonders "will it all ever be found?" And he harks back to the days when, as a lad of 12 he stood within a few feet of pirate's treasure. . . .

Dupont lives at 810 Alabama St.

Monroe Joins In Engineers' Week Program

Monroe joins with the rest of the nation tomorrow in the beginning of a week-long tribute to the engineers of America.

"Engineers' Week" for the city has been proclaimed by Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard, starting tomorrow and continuing through Feb. 24.

Pointing to the engineering contributions which have greatly affected economic advancement in the United States, Mayor Howard slated "the development of our present day society has been due largely to the engineering profession."

Experience, technological skill, training and scientific genius of this country's engineers have been used for the benefit of humanity, the mayor added.

He concluded by asking that the residents of Monroe join in honoring engineers during the special week.

NUTSHELL COMPARISON OF EAST - WEST

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

There's a popular saying that you can prove anything with statistics.

The truth in the saying nowhere apples better than in a comparison of the United States and Russia. Both are gaint countries and both busily collect statistics. By judicious choice of coverage, either can be made to look like a poor relation.

But despite the hazards of limited comparison, a statistical form sheet on the principal contenders in the East-West battle turns up some interesting facts, significant and otherwise.

In America, for example, the divorce rate is over three times that in the Soviet Union. But oddly — and a divorce court judge might wonder about this — the per capita consumption of hard liquor in the Soviet Union apparently is more than 25 per cent higher than in the U. S.

It also turns out that in the United States the death rate is 25 per cent higher than in the Soviet Union. But this is an example of how careful one must be in judging situations by statistics alone. For it's clear that one of the important reasons for the low Soviet death rate is the fact that so many older Soviet citizens were killed off during World War II.

There are fewer left to die now.

Another possible factor, however and this will surprise many Westerners, is that the U. S. S. R. has more than 40 per cent more physicians than the United States. But the U.S. leads in hospital beds.

Just as significanty the Soviet Union has more than twice as many graduate engineers at work than the United States, a foreboding statistic for Sputnik - conscious Americans.

Currently, too, the U.S.S.R. is graduating almost three times as many engineers from its universities and institutes.

But it is in the rate of industrial growth that the Soviet Union shows up best in comparison with America. During the seven years from 1950 through 1957, the Russians have increased their industrial production over - all by 125 per cent, while the United States boosted its industrial output only 28 per cent.

Comparing individual industries such as steel, coal, petroleum, cement and the like, you find the same thing holding true — that the Soviet Union has been increasing production much more rapidly than the U. S.

This is the dynamics of the situation. But the figures on absolute production tell another story. They show the United States has a much larger production of all important basic industrial materials except coal. Soviet mines equaled and perhaps even slightly surpassed American coal mines last year.

Some of the more important figures necessary for a complete statistical comparison of the United States and Russia are lacking. The Soviet Union publishes no figures, for example, on the strength of its armed forces, on the number of fighters or bombers it is able to put on the line for air war, on the number of missiles it possesses.

However, one thing is abundantly clear from a table of relative Soviet - American statistics: the United States produces far more automobiles, radio sets, TV sets, home refrigerators and other durable goods for consumers than the Soviet Union.

PIONEER SETTLEMENT

History Of Gaar's Mill Extends Over Century

MRS. J. M. GAAR
Dodson Correspondent

A century and one year ago Michael Adam Gaar loaded his household belongings in an ox wagon, helped his wife, five sons and two daughters climb in, then lifted the reins urging his lumbering oxen on the long trek from Atlanta, Ga., to new land.

After cold months of slow traveling, the pioneer arrived in the spring and in Winn parish beside one of the numerous creeks.

There his family went to work tilling the virgin soil. After his crop was laid by, he built a one - horse grist mill. Thus the settlement gained the name — Gaar's Mill — by which it is known today.

In 1872 a steam mill and gin were erected. A huge, 40-foot long boiler was salvaged from a steamboat which had sunk on Red River and utilized at the mill.

Other families were attracted to the practically self-supporting community. Among the first to drive up in their creaking wagon was the James Faith family who had been the Gaar's friends in Atlanta. Then came the Smiths, Dark, Kelly, Burnetts and Jones.

Records show that the land purchased by these families had been obtained from the government by Guain L. Brown on what was then called "entered" land. Brown sold it for the "princely sum" of 50 cents per acre. Receipts were signed by C. H. Dobbs, receiver.

The families created a bustling community out of the virgin forest. One of the first steps was a post office. Next came a church which was also used as a school until separate facilities were built.

To Miss Carolyn Gaar and Dr. Horace Caldwell were assigned the task of instructing children in their wilderness homes.

Gaars' Church was later renamed New Hope. The growing community began to feel the need of a larger and better school, so they set to work to organize and build one. Contributing time and labor they soon had a two - story structure. The frst floor was used for school while the top floor was used as a meeting place for the Masonic and Woodman Lodges.

On the fourth Saturday of each month the Circuit Rider came and all business was suspended while people attended church services. Some of these first ministers to traverse the wild area by horseback or in buggies were the Rev. Oliver Hearne, the Rev. J. M. Patton and the Rev. J. L. Strickland. The descendants of the circuit riders gave evidence of the early training instilled in them. Three generations of Pattons have served the church and the Rev. Strickland was a grandfather of two and a father-in-law of one.

The "old peddler" made his seasonal treks through the community, bringing a spirit of gaiety along with kitchen utensils, dress materials, known then as calico, and trinkets. Calico sold for 5 cents a yard which was probably a good thing since it took at least 10 ypards to make one of the trailing dresses that were the height of fashion then.

The peddler left the village with very little cash but with an ample supply of chickens, eggs, vegetables and other barter.

An annual affair was the "Grange Store Dance," held on May 19 of each year to celebrate the day the Grange Store opened. P. E. Gresham, who wed one of Michael Gaar's daughters, built, owned and operated the store which sold everything from a pin to a plow and was considered the community meeting place.

For some reason, obscure in history, Gresham moved his store to Dodson in 1897, but moved it back eight years later. It still stands in Gaar's community. His great grandson has erected a new store several miles from the site of the original one.

All was not work for the families. Their days and nights were brightened with play parties, square dances, candy pulls, Sunday singings and special parties when the mill ground the first syrup of the season and many other occasions.

But work the settlers did.

At the gin cotton was pressed into bales by hand with wooden screws. John Hammond, who must have been a giant of a worker, felled most of the trees for a sawmill and towed them out of the forest using a cart with wheels seven feet tall. The engine of the sawmill was fired by pine knots hauled in on an ox wagon.

The tranquility of the peaceful, God - conscious community was shattered when a man identified only as Brady arrived on the scene and erected a saloon. But the primitive hand of justice, in this case an Indian full of firewater, ended the black blot on the history of Gaar's Mill by slaying Brady.

On July 28, 1953, an election was held and the district schools consolidated, marking an end to one episode of the history of Gaar's Mill.

A grandson of Michael Gaar, J. M. Gaar, is 77 years old but still active. He is town marshal of Dodson and has been a ward officer or constable for 40 years. Many descendants of Pioneer Gaar still reside in the Winn Parish area.

The church is kept in excellent condition. The graves of the hardy pioneers who conquered the wilderness are well kept by descendants. Each year the Gaars, many who have moved to different sections of this large United States, return for a family reunion. And some old-timer starts reminiscencing, keeping the people alive in memory.

"The next morning when we got up, our drifter could not be found. He was gone without saying anything to anyone about leaving." We thought it was funny the way he had acted and we went out where he had stuck the axe in the ground the evening before."

The group discovered a small cast iron pot that would hold about one half gallon.

"The pot, Dupont said, "was of the kind that was made in the 18th century. We could not tell what kind of coin had been in it — it could have been gold, silver or copper doubloons.

"The print of some kind of money was very plain to see. What the drifter got out of it, we never knew, because we never saw him again."

Another Experience

Dupont also told of an experience his uncle, L. T. Watson related:

"Just after the end of the War Between the States, when my uncle had just returned home from serving three years in the Confederate Army, he literally stumbled on what might have been Lafitte's treasure."

While fishing, Watson became lost near Spike Nail Landing on the Amite River.

"At the time," says Dupont, "the river swamp was a solid wild cane brake over a mile through. He did not go far before he became lost with night fast approaching.

"Working his way through a very thick place, he stumbled over something and fell. He discovered he had tripped on a brick pillow about one foot high and about a brick length square.

"It was covered with a green moss and was located between two large sweet gum trees some 15 or 20 feet apart. He stated that he tried to mark the place but as he was lost he was only interested in getting home.

After rambling around in the swamp six or seven hours Watson finally found his way out. Days afterward, he searched the swamp trying to locate the brick pillow, but to no avail.

Discovery Claimed

Another party, Dupont says, claimed that they found the brick pillow and Lafitte's treasure.

Dupont remembers another story about a man who he said had become involved in a shooting and was wanted dead or alive.

The man hid out in the Amite River swamp, and on a visit to his wife told her he had located Lafitte's treasure.

But, Dupont went on, he never got to dig for it. Officers of the law shot him down as he was making his way back to the swamp and possibly Lafitte's treasure. Clutched in his hands were a spade and pick.

Thus is M. E. Dupont's story of pirate treasure -- and thinking it over, he wonders "will it all ever be found?" And he harks back to the days when, as a lad of 12 he stood within a few feet of pirate's treasure. . . .

Dupont lives at 810 Alabama St.

Monroe Joins In Engineers' Week Program

Monroe joins with the rest of the nation tomorrow in the beginning of a week-long tribute to the engineers of America.

"Engineers' Week" for the city has been proclaimed by Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard, starting tomorrow and continuing through Feb. 24.

Pointing to the engineering contributions which have greatly affected economic advancement in the United States, Mayor Howard slated "the development of our present day society has been due largely to the engineering profession."

Experience, technological skill, training and scientific genius of this country's engineers have been used for the benefit of humanity, the mayor added.

He concluded by asking that the residents of Monroe join in honoring engineers during the special week.

NUTSHELL COMPARISON OF EAST - WEST

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

There's a popular saying that you can prove anything with statistics.

The truth in the saying nowhere apples better than in a comparison of the United States and Russia. Both are gaint countries and both busily collect statistics. By judicious choice of coverage, either can be made to look like a poor relation.

But despite the hazards of limited comparison, a statistical form sheet on the principal contenders in the East-West battle turns up some interesting facts, significant and otherwise.

In America, for example, the divorce rate is over three times that in the Soviet Union. But oddly — and a divorce court judge might wonder about this — the per capita consumption of hard liquor in the Soviet Union apparently is more than 25 per cent higher than in the U. S.

It also turns out that in the United States the death rate is 25 per cent higher than in the Soviet Union. But this is an example of how careful one must be in judging situations by statistics alone. For it's clear that one of the important reasons for the low Soviet death rate is the fact that so many older Soviet citizens were killed off during World War II.

There are fewer left to die now.

Another possible factor, however and this will surprise many Westerners, is that the U. S. S. R. has more than 40 per cent more physicians than the United States. But the U.S. leads in hospital beds.

Just as significanty the Soviet Union has more than twice as many graduate engineers at work than the United States, a foreboding statistic for Sputnik - conscious Americans.

Currently, too, the U.S.S.R. is graduating almost three times as many engineers from its universities and institutes.

But it is in the rate of industrial growth that the Soviet Union shows up best in comparison with America. During the seven years from 1950 through 1957, the Russians have increased their industrial production over - all by 125 per cent, while the United States boosted its industrial output only 28 per cent.

Comparing individual industries such as steel, coal, petroleum, cement and the like, you find the same thing holding true — that the Soviet Union has been increasing production much more rapidly than the U. S.

This is the dynamics of the situation. But the figures on absolute production tell another story. They show the United States has a much larger production of all important basic industrial materials except coal. Soviet mines equaled and perhaps even slightly surpassed American coal mines last year.

Some of the more important figures necessary for a complete statistical comparison of the United States and Russia are lacking. The Soviet Union publishes no figures, for example, on the strength of its armed forces, on the number of fighters or bombers it is able to put on the line for air war, on the number of missiles it possesses.

However, one thing is abundantly clear from a table of relative Soviet - American statistics: the United States produces far more automobiles, radio sets, TV sets, home retrigerators and other durable goods for consumers than the Soviet Union.

PIONEER SETTLEMENT

History Of Gaar's Mill Extends Over Century

MRS. J. M. GAAR
Dodson Correspondent

A century and one year ago Michael Adam Gaar loaded his household belongings in an ox wagon, helped his wife, five sons and two daughters climb in, then lifted the reins urging his lumbering oxen on the long trek from Atlanta, Ga., to new land.

After cold months of slow traveling, the pioneer arrived in the spring and in Winn parish beside one of the numerous creeks.

There his family went to work tilling the virgin soil. After his crop was laid by, he built a one - horse grist mill. Thus the settlement gained the name — Gaar's Mill — by which it is known today.

In 1872 a steam mill and gin were erected. A huge, 40-foot long boiler was salvaged from a steamboat which had sunk on Red River and utilized at the mill.

Other families were attracted to the practically self-supporting community. Among the first to drive up in their creaking wagon was the James Faith family who had been the Gaar's friends in Atlanta. Then came the Smiths, Dark, Kelly, Burnetts and Jones.

Records show that the land purchased by these families had been obtained from the government by Guain L. Brown on what was then called "entered" land. Brown sold it for the "princely sum" of 50 cents per acre. Receipts were signed by C. H. Dobbs, receiver.

The families created a bustling community out of the virgin forest. One of the first steps was a post office. Next came a church which was also used as a school until separate facilities were built.

To Miss Carolyn Gaar and Dr. Horace Caldwell were assigned the task of instructing children in their wilderness homes.

Gaars' Church was later renamed New Hope. The growing community began to feel the need of a larger and better school, so they set to work to organize and build one. Contributing time and labor they soon had a two - story structure. The frst floor was used for school while the top floor was used as a meeting place for the Masonic and Woodman Lodges.

On the fourth Saturday of each month the Circuit Rider came and all business was suspended while people attended church services. Some of these first ministers to traverse the wild area by horseback or in buggies were the Rev. Oliver Hearne, the Rev. J. M. Patton and the Rev. J. L. Strickland. The descendants of the circuit riders gave evidence of the early training instilled in them. Three generations of Pattons have served the church and the Rev. Strickland was a grandfather of two and a father-in-law of one.

The "old peddler" made his seasonal treks through the community, bringing a spirit of gaiety along with kitchen utensils, dress materials, known then as calico, and trinkets. Calico sold for 5 cents a yard which was probably a good thing since it took at least 10 ypards to make one of the trailing dresses that were the height of fashion then.

The peddler left the village with very little cash but with an ample supply of chickens, eggs, vegetables and other barter.

An annual affair was the "Grange Store Dance," held on May 19 of each year to celebrate the day the Grange Store opened. P. E. Gresham, who wed one of Michael Gaar's daughters, built, owned and operated the store which sold everything from a pin to a plow and was considered the community meeting place.

For some reason, obscure in history, Gresham moved his store to Dodson in 1897, but moved it back eight years later. It still stands in Gaar's community. His great grandson has erected a new store several miles from the site of the original one.

All was not work for the families. Their days and nights were brightened with play parties, square dances, candy pulls, Sunday singings and special parties when the mill ground the first syrup of the season and many other occasions.

But work the settlers did.

At the gin cotton was pressed into bales by hand with wooden screws. John Hammond, who must have been a giant of a worker, felled most of the trees for a sawmill and towed them out of the forest using a cart with wheels seven feet tall. The engine of the sawmill was fired by pine knots hauled in on an ox wagon.

The tranquility of the peaceful, God - conscious community was shattered when a man identified only as Brady arrived on the scene and erected a saloon. But the primitive hand of justice, in this case an Indian full of firewater, ended the black blot on the history of Gaar's Mill by slaying Brady.

On July 23, 1953, an election was held and the district schools consolidated, marking an end to one episode of the history of Gaar's Mill.

A grandson of Michael Gaar, J. M. Gaar, is 77 years old but still active. He is town marshal of Dodson and has been a ward officer or constable for 40 years. Many descendants of Pioneer Gaar still reside in the Winn Parish area.

The church is kept in excellent condition. The graves of the hardy pioneers who conquered the wilderness are well kept by descendants. Each year the Gaars, many who have moved to different sections of this large United States, return for a family reunion. And some old-timer starts reminiscencing, keeping the people alive in memory.

CAPTURED 'JAILBIRDS'—These two pigeons, along with 94 other "jailbirds" have been taken into custody by Louis Patton, left, and Leon Whitten. The boys have made three raids into the belfry tower of the Monroe Police station, intend to raise the birds as pets. New custodian will be Jimmy Cascio, 3409 Polk St., who will care for the pigeons. Sacks are full of 29 pigeons. (Staff photo by Bill Coleman)

Pigeons Gathered From City Tower

Some towns have bats in their belfries. Monroe has pigeons.

A tribe of the cooing, sharp-eyed birds have made their home in the belfry tower of the Monroe Police station for years.

However, 94 of the feathered brethren and sisters have departed from their roosting grounds within the last few weeks, "kidnapped" by two Twin City youngsters, who are making pets of the pigeons.

Louis Patton, 13, of 1000 Crosley St., West Monroe and his cousin Leon Whitten, also 13, of 3200 Polk St. Monroe first attempted to capture some of the birds several weeks ago.

"That first raid was unsuccessful," they commented, but revealed that three other night trips into the tower netted them the 94 birds.

Using a flashlight, the boys captured 53 pigeons on the first try, 10 on the second raid, and 31 more last night.

"We just pick them up and put them into a potato sack," they revealed.

Four of the birds taken into custody last night were turned over to Mrs. Eloise Haywood, dispatcher at the police station.

The others headed for 3409 Polk St. and the T. D. Cascio residence.

"Jimmy Cascio has a large enclosure in his back yard where he keeps the birds," the teenagers stated, adding that Jimmy previously had 10 of his own birds, before the jailbirds moved in.

The section of the tower where the birds roost was condemmed last summer by the inspector, so the pigeons have the domain to themselves. Below them, separated by a flooring, is the police radio antenna.

"Our parents don't mind us catching the pigeons, just as long as we don't keep them" the boys stated. The pigeons, brought into the Morning World editorial room Saturday night for their first and only publicity picture, don't seem to mind their captivity either.

Reading Like Tripod, Says Expert Here

Reading resembles a tripod, J. Kendall Hoggard, visiting consultant, told the Northeast Louisiana Reading Association during yesterday's conference at Northeast State.

The reading process involves three factors — word recognition, comprehension, and interpretation, the speaker said. Each represents a part of the tripod.

Hoggard, director of instruction, El Dorado schools, demonstrated methods of testing reading and directed a discussin of school personnel on improving the reading program in schools.

The conference was co-sponsored by Northeast State and the Northeast Louisiana Reading Association, headed by Dr. Clint Hanna director of admissions and special services at the host college.

Every instructor is a reading teacher, Hoggard stressed. This type of instruction is a part of the job, whether ahe teacher is handling geography, grammar, history or reading.

Many children read on lower levels than their class grades indicate, the speaker pointed out. Where seventh grade pupils have difficulty in otaining content material from books on their grade level they should be given books used in lower grades to secure material.

The consultant emphasized the follacy of relying reading ability tests to measure reading ability. He poitned to children's inability to read under such pressures as sight difficulty and attempts to read material above their levels.

Hoggard stressed the value of testing for independent reading level, instructional level, and capacity grade. He emphasized the weakness of many ojective tests in determining the individual's capacity level.

CAPTURED 'JAILBIRDS'—These two pigeons, along with 94 other "jailbirds" have been taken into custody by Louis Patton, left, and Leon Whitten. The boys have made three raids into the belfry tower of the Monroe Police station, intend to raise the birds as pets. New custodian will be Jimmy Cascio, 3409 Polk St., who will care for the pigeons. Sacks are full of 29 pigeons. (Staff photo by Bill Coleman)

BY INDUSTRIOUS YOUTHS

Pigeons Gathered From City Tower

Some towns have bats in their belfries. Monroe has pigeons.

A tribe of the cooing, sharp-eyed birds have made their home in the belfry tower of the Monroe Police station for years.

However, 94 of the feathered brethren and sisters have departed from their roosting grounds within the last few weeks, "kidnapped" by two Twin City youngsters, who are making pets of the pigeons.

Louis Patton, 13, of 1000 Crosley St., West Monroe and his cousin Leon Whitten, also 13, of 3209 Polk St. Monroe first attempted to capture some of the birds several weeks ago.

"That first raid was unsuccessful," they commented, but revealed that three other night trips into the tower netted them the 94 birds.

Using a flashlight, the boys captured 53 pigeons on the first try, 10 on the second raid, and 31 more last night.

"We just pick them up and put them into a potato sack," they revealed.

Four of the birds taken into custody last night were turned over to Mrs. Eloise Haywood, dispatcher at the police station.

The others headed for 3409 Polk St. and the T. D. Cascio residence.

"Jimmy Cascio has a large enclosure in his back yard where he keeps the birds," the teenagers stated, adding that Jimmy previously had 10 of his own birds, before the jailbirds moved in.

The section of the tower where the birds roost was condemned last summer by the inspector, so the pigeons have the domain to themselves. Below them, separated by a flooring, is the police radio antenna.

"Our parents don't mind us catching the pigeons, just as long as we don't keep them" the boys stated. The pigeons, brought into the Morning World editorial room Saturday night for their first and only publicity picture, don't seem to mind their captivity either.

Reading Like Tripod, Says Expert Here

Reading resembles a tripod, J. Kendall Hoggard, visiting consultant, told the Northeast Louisiana Reading Association during yesterday's conference at Northeast State.

The reading process involves three factors — word recognition, comprehension, and interpretation, the speaker said. Each represents a part of the tripod.

Hoggard, director of instruction, El Dorado schools, demonstrated methods of testing reading and directed a discussin of school personnel on improving the reading program in schools.

The conference was co-sponsored by Northeast State and the Northeast Louisiana Reading Association, headed by Dr. Clint Hanna director of admissions and special services at the host college.

Every instructor is a reading teacher, Hoggard stressed. This type of instruction is a part of the job, whether ahe teacher is handling geography, grammar, history or reading.

Many children read on lower levels than their class grades indicate, the speaker pointed out. Where seventh grade pupils have difficulty in otaining content material from books on their grade level they should be given books used in lower grades to secure material.

The consultant emphasized the follacy of relying reading ability tests to measure reading aility. He poitned to children's inability to read under such pressures as sight difficulty and attempts to read material above their levels.

Hoggard stressed the value of testing for independent reading level, instructional level, and capacity grade. He emphasized the weakness of many ojective tests in determining the individual's capacity level.

North Louisiana Deaths

B. B. LOGAN

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in Mulhearn Funeral Home chapel for B. B. Logan of 3418 Lee Ave., who died at his home Friday night of a heart ailment. The Rev. James E. Horton will officiate, assisted by the Rev. C. Roger Johnson.

Masonic Rites will be held at the graveside and burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Martha Logan, he is survived by two sons Donald E. Logan and B. B. Logan Jr., both of Monroe; two daughters, Mrs. Martha Hinton, Memphis; Mrs. Mary Ann Strong, Baltimore; five brothers, Wilbur, Willis and John Pink Logan of Mississippi; J. D. of Monroe, and Wilda Wildy Logan of Lisbon; two sisters, Mrs. Matt Wetzel, Monroe, and Mrs. Ruby Lee Young, Mississippi.

ELLIS LEE MCDONALD

FARMERVILLE (Special) —Funeral services for Ellis Lee McDonald, 72, who died early yesterday at his Rayville home, are scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday.

Death came about 6 a.m. yesterday following a long illness.

Services will be in the Junction City Baptist Church with the Rev. Mr. Boyette officiating. Interment will follow in the Roselawn Cemetery near Junction City, Ark., under direction of Kilpatricks Funeral Home, here.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. E. L. McDonald, Rayville; two sons, Leonard of Rayville, and Donald of Bureas; a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Clary of Rayville; three brothers, R. J. and H. S. McDonald, both of Junction City, and B. T. McDonald, of Texarkana, Tex.; a sister, Mrs. Fannie Mae Carter of Junction City; 14 grandchildren, and two great - grandchildren.

YOU have probably wondered many times lately as to just what has happened to business. It's natural that when volume falls off, one starts asking himself many questions because, after all, our store and stock represents a most previous investment and is the results of many previous years of hard labor and, of course is our present success as well as our hope for the future. We have every right in the world to wonder if it's us, our sales personnel, competition, in fact, we have asked ourself these questions and many more. As a concern of retail furniture and appliances, we cannot do the impossible, in fact, no one can. We can, however, point with pride to the good many hundreds of satisfied customers we have enjoyed serving in past years. We claim to be Monroe's greatest Dsiscount house. To prove our claim, it will cost you nothing except a few minutes of your time to have one of our sales representatives talk to you. If we can be of aid to you, we will tell you. If we can't, we will tell you that also. Remember no one can sell you anything if you do not want to buy, and we do not believe or utilize sales pressure to sell merchandise that will not fit your need. We cordially invite you to visit our store, we are big enough to serve you . . . . small enough to know you.

YOU have probably wondered many times lately as to just what has happened to business. It's natural that when volume falls off, one starts asking himself many questions because, after all, our store and stock represents a most previous investment and is the results of many previous years of hard labor and, of course is our present success as well as our hope for the future. We have every right in the world to wonder if it's us, our sales personnel, competition, in fact, we have asked our self these questions and many more. As a concern of retail furniture and appliances, we cannot do the impossible, in fact, no one can. We can, however, point with pride to the good many hundreds of satisfied customers we have enjoyed serving in past years. We claim to be Monroe's greatest Dsiscount house. To prove our claim, it will cost you nothing except a few minutes of your time to have one of our sales representatives talk to you. If we can be of aid to you, we will tell you. If we can't, we will tell you that also. Remember no one can sell you anything if you do not want to buy, and we do not believe or utilize sales pressure to sell merchandise that will not fit your need. We cordially invite you to visit our store, we are big enough to serve you . . . small enough to know you.

Vital Statistics On Army's Successful Satellite Team

Here are thumbnail sketches of the key men in the army satellite team, now working to top their achievement in putting the Explorer in orbit on their first try. Many came to the United States from Germany and most work at the Redstone Arsenal and Army Ballistic Missile Agency in Huntsville, Ala.:

DR. WERNHER VON BRAUN

Dr. Wernher Von Braun, German- born scientist who masterminded the U. S. satellite program, probably ranks as the nation's top missile man. He is 45. Von Braun in his earlier years directed development of the German V1 and V2 rockets which blasted the heart of England and nearly turned the tide of World War II.

He came to the United States in 1945, under a contract with the U. S. Ordnance Corps. He has been at Redstone Arsenal since 1950 as technical director for guided missile development.

MAJ. GEN. JOHN MEDARIS

Maj. Gen. John Bruce Medaris commands the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone. Born in Mildord, Ohio, May 12, 1902, he enlisted in the marine corps in 1918. He served in France during World War I, later studying mechanical engineering at Ohio State University. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the regular army (infantry) in 1921. He served widely in the European theater during World War II and was promoted to major general in 1955. He was designated commanding general of ABMA in November, 1955.

Brig. Gen. John A. Barclay is deputy commanding general of ABMA. He was born Aug. 27, 1909 in Colorado Springs, Colo. Graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1931, his army duty has been in artillery and ordnance fields.

Dr. W. H. Pickering is director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology, which designed the solid - fuel stages of the rocket which hung the satellite in the heavens. Born in Wellington, New Zealand, he received a doctorate in physics at Cal Tech in 1936. Associated with the Jet Propulsion Laboratory since 1944, he has been director since 1954.

Dr. James A. Van Allen is a pioneer in high altitude research. He is head of the department of physics at State University of Iowa. He designed the cosmic ray equipment being flown in the satellite.

Dr. Gilford G. Quarles is the scientific and technical consultant to the commanding general at ABMA. He joined the agency staff last November. He formerly was director of the Ordnance Research Laboratory at Pennsylvania State University. He was graduated by the University of Virginia, receiving a doctorate degree in 1934. He became acting professor of physics at Mercer University, Macon, Ga., in 1934, and joined the University of Alabama faculty as assistant professor of physics in 1935.

Dr. Ernest Stuhlinger heads the research projects office at ABMA. Prior to his present assignment he was chief of the technical feasibilities studies office at Redstone Arsenal.

He was born in Niederrimbacr, Germany, Dec. 19, 1913, and was graduated from the University of Tuebingen in Germany.

Dr. Ernest D. Geissler is chief of the Aeroballistics Laboratory at ABMA. He was born in Chemnitz, Germany, on Aug. 3, 1915, and studied at the Technical University of Dresden. He formerly worked under Von Braun at the German Guided Missile Center at Peenemuende, Germany, on the theory of control and stability in guided missiles. He was among the first German scientists to come to this country.

Heinz Herman Koelle is chief of the preliminary design section, ABMA. Born July 22, 1925, in freestate Danzig, he is a graduate of Bender Oberschule in Breslau and the Institute of Technology, Stuttgart.

Dr. Kurt H. Debus directs ABMA's firing laboratory. He prepares tests and fires experimental controlled ballistic missiles. He was born Nov. 29, 1908, in Frankfurt, Germany. He worked as an assistant professor at the Technical University, Darmstadt, Germany, on development contracts for the Peenemuende Guided Missile Center before coming to the United States.

Dr. Hans F. Gruene is deputy chief of the missile firing laboratory at ABMA. He was born in Braunschweig, Germany, on May 24, 1910. He formerly was a research engineer with the Siemens Corp. in Germany. He is a graduate of the Technical University in Braunschweig, Germany.

Eberhard Rees is deputy director of the ABMA development operations division. He was born April 28, 1908 in Trossingen, Wuerttenburg, Germany. He received his technical education in Stuttgart and at the Dresden Institute of Technology.

Dr. Walter Hauessermann serves as chief of the guidance and control laboratory of the development operations division at ABMA. Born March 2, 1914 in Kuenzelsau, Germany, he received his B. S. degree in electrical engineering from the Technical University at Stuttgart, and his master's degree in electrical engineering at the Technical University of Darmstadt.

William Mrazek is director of the agency's structures and mechanics laboratory of the development operations division. He was born at Lukovac, Austria, Oct. 20, 1911, and holds a degree from the Technical University in Bruenn in mechanical engineering.

Robert E. Lindstrom, who coordinated the participation of the ABMA in the satellite program, is director of the agency's structures and mechanics laboratory. A native of Sycamore, Ill., he heads one of nine laboratories supervised by Von Braun.

Hans H. Maus is chief of the ABMA fabrication laboratory. He was born Sept. 6, 1905 in Worms, Germany, participated in Germany's missiles and rocket program before coming to the United States in 1945.

HOT MIX, GRAVEL

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Bids on road materials in seven parishes will be opened here Feb. 19.

Most of the work involves bituminous hot mix or washed gravel.

Parishes receiving the road materials include St. Helena, Vermillion, St. Landry, Evangeline, Jackson, Winn and Livingston.

RICE MEET SLATED

JENNINGS — UP — The Louisiana farm bureau is sponsoring a meeting of rice growers Friday here according to Alfred Marshall. Discussion of recent rice production and marketing is the purpose of the meeting. This is one of several such meetings being held throughout the state for rice growers.

ANSWER MAN

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (UP) — George Timmons figures he answers 91,000 questions a year. Timmons works at the U.S. Courthouse here, and is the first man people see when entering the building.

10 Seek Office In Providence City Election

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Ten have filed candidacy in the April 8 municipal election to be held in Lake Providence. Deadline for filing was Friday.

Incumbent Mayor W. B. Cone will be opposed by J. L. Johnson, who served as mayor for two terms from 1946 until 1954. In the 1954 election Cone defeated Roy Abernethy, former alderman and city clerk, by a wide margin.

Incumbent Marshal Ben F. Carter will be unopposed. He will start his sixth term June 30 marking 20 years of service as town marshal.

Alderman's Office

Four incumbent aldermen have filed as candidates. They are Devall Purdy, L. E. Walters, Howard C. White and Leon Minksy. Alderman Ernest L. Parra did not seek another term.

Opposing incumbents will be W. D. Baker, Kiley Thames Jr., J. D. White and C. A. Williams.

Mayor Cone said his platform will be based on developments he has attained during his first term.

Tri-State Soya Bean Forum Set

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — George M. Strayer, of Hudson, Iowa, executive vice president and secretary - treasurer of the American Soya Bean Association, and editor of "The Soya Bean Digest" will be one of the featured speakers at the Tri-State Soya Bean Marketing Forum to be held in Lake Providence Thursday.

The program, which will begin at 1:30 p.m., will be held at the American Legion home and will have as guest speakers, in addition to Strayer, Loyd Graving, manager of Cargill, Inc. of Baton Rouge; Garlon Harper, director of research and education division, National Cottonseed Products Association, Dallas, Tex., and Dr. E. E. Hartwig, USDA, research agronomist, Mississippi Delta Experiment Station, Stoneville, Miss.

The Tri-State Soya Bean Forum will bring together producers, research scientists, buyers, processors, buyers, exporters and leading promoters of the industry from the states of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The forum is being sponsored by the Louisiana Agricultural Extension Service, the Cottonseed Products Association and the Louisiana Delta Council. The goal of the meeting is expansion of the Delta's soya bean producing, processing and marketing facilities with resulting improvement of the area economy.

Invitations to this meeting have been sent to all leading soya bean producers of this area and plans at present call for approximately 300 visitors to the tri-state meeting, which is planned to be an annual affair.

10 Seek Office In Providence City Election

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Ten have filed candidacy in the April 8 municipal election to be held in Lake Providence. Deadline for filing was Friday.

Incumbent Mayor W. B. Cone will be opposed by J. L. Johnson, who served as mayor for two terms from 1946 until 1954. In the 1954 election Cone defeated Roy Abernethy, former alderman and city clerk, by a wide margin.

Incumbent Marshal Ben F. Carter will be unopposed. He will start his sixth term June 30 marking 20 years of service as town marshal.

Alderman's Office

Four incumbent aldermen have filed as candidates. They are Devall Purdy, L. E. Walters, Howard C. White and Leon Minksy. Alderman Ernest L. Parra did not seek another term.

Opposing incumbents will be W. D. Baker, Kiley Thames Jr., J. D. White and C. A. Williams.

Mayor Cone said his platform will be based on developments he has attained during his first term.

Tri-State Soya Bean Forum Set

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — George M. Strayer, of Hudson, Iowa, executive vice president and secretary - treasurer of the American Soya Bean Association, and editor of "The Soya Bean Digest" will be one of the featured speakers at the Tri-State Soya Bean Marketing Forum to be held in Lake Providence Thursday.

The program, which will begin at 1:30 p.m., will be held at the American Legion home and will have as guest speakers, in addition to Strayer, Loyd Graving, manager of Cargill, Inc. of Baton Rouge; Garlon Harper, director of research and education division, National Cottonseed Products Association, Dallas, Tex., and Dr. E. E. Hartwig, USDA, research agronomist, Mississippi Delta Experiment Station, Stoneville, Miss.

The Tri-State Soya Bean Forum will bring together producers, research scientists, buyers, processors, buyers, exporters and leading promoters of the industry from the states of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The forum is being sponsored by the Louisiana Agricultural Extension Service, the Cottonseed Products Association and the Louisiana Delta Council. The goal of the meeting is expansion of the Delta's soya bean producing, processing and marketing facilities with resulting improvement of the area economy.

Invitations to this meeting have been sent to all leading soya bean producers of this area and plans at present call for approximately 300 visitors to the tri-state meeting, which is planned to be an annual affair.
